Ward 6 Councillor Thomas J. Nutley and members of the Atlantic Neighborhood Association will hold a "Get Acquainted Meeting" with Asian residents of North Quincy Sunday, Nov. 16, 2 to 4 p.m.

The meeting will be held at the Atlantic Neighborhood Center, 12 Hunt St.

"I hope that we have a large turnout of interested Asian residents," said Nutley

"because we will have several speakers who are anxious to provide valuable information to our new Asian neighbors."

Those speakers will include representatives from the Atlantic Neighborhood Center, the Quincy Community Action organization, Police and Fire Departments and utility companies.

They will speak about community programs available to the Asian residents including fuel subsidies, day care, children's early education, the legal rights of consumers, safety and so forth.

"I hope that many of our new Asian neighbors will attend," said Nutley. "We are looking forward to an informative and pleasant afternoon with free refreshments to be served after the speaking presentations."

Snug Harbor Court To Be Renamed In Crowley's Honor

Snug Harbor Court in Germantown will be renamed in memory of late City Councillor "Jim" Crowley during ceremonies Monday at 10:30 a.m.

The public is invited. Crowley, who died in 1978 at age 71, established the first Quincy Housing Authority in 1946.

According to Leo Kelly, chairman of the ceremonies, Mayor Francis McCauley, John Comer, executive director of the Quincy Housing Authority, and Rosemary Wahlberg, chairwoman of the Quincy Housing Authority Commission Board will attend.

The North Quincy High School Band, Houghs Neck Legion Post Color Guard and Snug Harbor School students will also participate.

There will be a stone memorial at the corner of Shed and Palmer St. in memory of Crowley, Kelly said.

Ceremonies will also celebrate the 40th year of the Quincy Housing Authority, he said.

Crowley was active in municipal politics and served as city councillor from Ward 1 under the old Plan A form of government from 1946 to 1949. For the next five years he was a councillor at large under Plan E.

A Democratic National Committeeman in 1952, he served as a ward committeeman and on the Quincy Democratic City Committee.

Crowley was also vice-mayor during the Plan E years of city government.

Will Sheila Run?

The McIntyre name -- as in James -- spelled special political magic in Quincy for nearly three decades.

Is the McIntyre name -- as in Sheila -- about to return to the political arena?

Speculation is growing that the wife of the late Quincy mayor-senator may run for mayor herself next year.

Will she?

"Yes, there are times I would like to run," she frankly admits.

"Right now, though, I would say probably not."

But:

There are people who want her to run. They have been urging her to do so the past two years.

However, there are others who think she should wait and maybe start with a City Council bid.

During her husband's administration she was more than a ceremonial First Lady. She was his confidant and shared in discussions and some of the decisions on issues in that area.

She probably was closer to the mayor's office and its workings than any other mayor's wife in many years if not in the city's history.

Mrs. McIntyre has been active since her husband's death in March, 1984 -- especially in the cause of the hungry and homeless.

"I would like to do something positive for the city from a government standpoint," she says.

As, say, mayor?

"Jim cared for the city. His family and friends still do. I do. I have concern and a very sentimental feeling for our city."

"I recognize the fact that there has been change in recent years. There are new people here. And there are new issues. And I would like to do something positive about those issues."

The City Council will have at least one at-large open seat next year as Richard Koch, Jr. who now lives on the Cape will finish out his present term and step down. And there could be two open seats.

Former Mayor Joseph LaRaia says he is planning to run for mayor which would open up his present City Council at-large post.

Some friends think Mrs. McIntyre should consider a run for the City Council and, if she wins, make a run later for mayor.

They think it would be better for her to start in the City Council "than at the top."

Whether she runs for any elective office she wants to do it on her own and not just being the wife of one of the city's most powerful mayors.

"Jim's good name would not hurt me," she acknowledges. "But I would hope my good name would help me."

Will she step into the political arena next year or later?

Well, she didn't say yes.

But, she didn't say no.

IT DIDN'T TAKE the insurance vultures long to try to add dollar signs to the defeat of the mandatory seat belt law.

The referendum votes had hardly been counted when the insurance industry announced it would seek an increase of about $10 a policy because of the repeal.

The industry had already been looking for an approximate $150 hike.

The $150 and $10 hikes would bring the average automobile policy to the $660 neighborhood for the year.

Just because the seat belt law was repealed doesn't mean that every Massachusetts driver is going to go unbuckled.

A lot of people have gotten used to seat belts and will continue to buckle up.

What a lot of people resented was Big Brother telling them they had to buckle up. They would like to make that decision themselves.

People we have talked with who voted against the seat belt law say they will still use them. They just don't want somebody telling them they have to.

If the insurance industry succeeds in winning the $10 increase, those using seat belts are going to be penalized. Doesn't seem fair.

Let's hope our local Beacon Hill delegation speaks out on this.

Council Committee To Meet On Police Study Report

unjustly." An $8 million addition and renovation of the police station is scheduled to begin in the spring.

Accreditation is expensive, about $8,000 to $9,000 for fees, and would take about two years, according to Finn. Only two police departments, the MBTA Police and town of Danvers, have such accreditation, he said.

The accreditation would involve the implementation of national standards. It would also help any officers involved in civil action since adherence to national standards would be a legal defense, according to Finn.

"We have a lot of things to do in the meantime so we'll be ready for accreditation," he said.

Committee member Lt. Dennis Mannix said, "The department read the report, or actually the account in the papers, and took it rather personally."

"But not now, we're approaching it in a positive way."

"We don't want the citizens to think that they have an inadequate police department."

"The men care about the people of Quincy, and treat them with respect."

"There's an absence of complaints made to the Quincy Police Department compared to a number of comparable other cities," he noted.

Capt. William Murphy said those who conducted the survey failed to ask other police departments if the QPD is respected.

"We have police officers from other departments trying to get in here," Murphy said.

Lt. William Curran cited a Boston Magazine article which noted that while the Quincy Police Department may be the third highest paid police department in the state, it outproduces the first and second highest paid departments.

Police Capt. Paul Nestor said he didn't think the report's authors adequately took into consideration the QPD's position in planning to continue services during the addition and renovation to the police station.

Finn said the committee will "put out some sort of a report" when it concludes its meetings.

"It will be put in a positive, not a negative way," he said.

"We want to accent the positive."

Other members of the committee are Capt. Frederick Laracy, Capt. David Rowell, Capt. Walter Fraser, Lt. Francis Mullen, Sgt. James Buhl, Sgt. Thomas Casey, Sgt. William Falco, Officer David Doherty, Crime Prevention Officer Robert Hanna, Det. Richard Bergeron, and Nancy Griffin, recording secretary.

Among the recommendations in the report, which cost the city $19,500, was to reduce the number of police officers from 210 to 174.

However, Mayor Francis McCauley said that it was "not do-able" to reduce that many officers.

"We are not saying we unanimously endorse the recommendations," noted McCauley.

"They are not written in stone, they are just recommendations."

Bellevue Rd. Area Named In Memory Of Sgt. Michael Barry

A section of land off Bellevue Rd., Squantum, was dedicated in honor of the late Quincy Police Sgt. Michael Barry Tuesday as snow fell softly on those attending.

Barry died Aug. 15, at the age of 53 at Carney Hospital, Boston after a long illness. He was a 33-year veteran of the department.

"I think it is a tribute to Sgt. Barry and his family that in a matter of hours so many people were able to gather to honor him," said Ward 6 Councillor Thomas Nutley.

Mayor Francis McCauley praised Barry as a "fine individual, father and husband, police officer, and veteran."

"I know I will personally miss him, and I know his friends and relatives and the citizens of Quincy he served so long as a Quincy Police Officer will miss him."

Sen. Paul Harold noted that it is "appropriate on Veteran's Day that we pay tribute to Mike, a Korean War veteran, and that we take this time to remind future generations of the dedication and sacrifices made by Mike Barry and other veterans who are called upon to protect our liberties and freedoms here in Quincy, in Massachusetts and the United States."

"He was a great person and always fair," said Rep. Michael Morrissey.

Council president Stephen McGrath called Barry "an outstanding police officer who will be missed by all of us."

Nutley noted that a plaque and stone will be erected in the spring.

He also thanked the Elks for being "instrumental in making the ceremony such a success."

Lt. John Doyle, president of the Police Relief Association, presented a plaque to Barry's wife, Helen, in appreciation of his service to the department. Barry's children, Michael and Susan, were also present.

A wreath was placed on the site.

"God love Mike Barry," said Doyle. "He'll always live in our hearts."

Quincy's Yesterdays

Dever Loses Quincy On Recount

Upon re-checking the votes of last week's election, City Clerk Hattiemay Thomas announced that Arthur Coolidge defeated Paul Dever for Governor by 82 votes in Quincy.

Nov. 13-19 1950
36 Years Ago

A re-check of the returns showed a 500-vote mistake. Mrs. Thomas said the mistake probably resulted when blank votes were being transferred. Ballots were impounded because Fred Ayer, candidate for Attorney General was considering a recount.

DOUGHBOY STATUE RE-DEDICATED
The Doughboy Statue, Quincy's World War I monument was re-dedicated this week at its new location on the lawn of the Adams Academy.

The bronze statue was designed by Quincy veteran Bruce Wilder Saville. It originally stood in front of the Coddington School.

Unveiling the statue at the re-dedication was Mrs. Victoria Morrisette of West Quincy, mother of Cyril Morrisette, the first Quincy boy killed in the war and for whom Morrisette Legion Post was named. Charles Ross, president of the City Council made the dedication address.

CORNERSTONE LAID AT WOLLASTON LUTHERAN
The cornerstone was laid for the new $80,000 addition to the Wollaston Lutheran Church at Hancock St. and Ellington Rd.

The cornerstone was actually the original stone laid in 1934 with the date 1950 added. When finished, the addition would furnish a superstructure above the basement church building. On hand for the ceremony were members of the building committee: Rudolph Sittiger, chairman, Robert Just, Lawrence Ordway, Gunnar Munick, Alfred Finger and Pastor Rev. Elmer Kettner.

SQUANTUM WOMEN URGED TO FIGHT POLLUTION OF BAY

Mrs. William Voight, president of the Squantum Women's Club, urged members to attend the public hearings on pollution of Quincy Bay in the State House.

"Pollution is such a vital problem to the people of Squantum that residents should make a special effort to attend the hearings," she said.

QUINCY-ISMS

Rep. Thomas O'Neill, speaker of the Massachusetts House of Representatives was the guest speaker at the dedication of Snug Harbor veterans' housing project. James Donovan of Putnam St. was named superintendent of the water works by City Manager William Deegan. Dr. Esther Davidson announced the opening of her office at 34 Kemper St. Congressman Richard Wigglesworth reported spending $1,989 for his re-election campaign. Ken Coleman was a disc jockey on WJDA. A fire, believed to have started from flying sparks, caused $500 damage to the steps of Beth Israel Synagogue. Hunting School PTA held a Thanksgiving whist party to raise money for a children's Christmas party. The Quincy Market at 18 Chestnut St. advertised Hopalong Cassidy cookies for 29 cents a box. Alwyn Marston was named the new treasurer for the Wollaston Glee Club. Brownie Troop 47 which met at Salem Lutheran Church, held investiture ceremonies under the direction of Miss Louise Roushey, executive director of the Quincy Girl Scout Council. Employees at Sheridan's extinguished a fire in the store's freight elevator. Lincoln Theatre featured Burt Lancaster and Virginia Mayo in "The Flame and the Arrow". Rev. Arthur Whitney, former pastor of the First Parish Church, died in Plymouth. A local newspaper ran a thank you ad from Clifton Baker, who was elected one of the state representatives from Wards 3, 4, 5 and 6. Retiring Senator John McKay was honored at the Quincy Taxpayers Association 15th annual meeting. City building inspector Alrick Weidman issued a permit for an addition to the Procter and Gamble plant in Quincy Point. Firestone advertised brake adjustments for $1.19. Rev. Frank Parisi of the Evangelical Baptist Church in West Quincy was honored at a reception. The Pilgrim Fellowship of Houghs Neck Congregational Church made plans for Sadie Hawkins Day dance. Twenty-seven local men attended a retreat at Miramar, sponsored by the Koch Club of North Quincy.

'We Have To Stand Up For Our Rights' Says Veterans Day Speaker

A retired Air Force lieutenant colonel credited all veterans who marched off to different wars with keeping America's way of life the way we like to have it.

Lt. Col Thomas J. McGrimley, USAF (ret.) of Milton, delivered the keynote address at the Quincy Veterans Day observance, held Tuesday in the Vocational Technical School gymnasium, due to inclement weather.

"We use the word veteran loosely," said McGrimley. "But today we hope we never have to wear that title of veteran again. I hope we never have to go through the tremor of more conflicts that will cause people to be sent overseas."

"But we do have to stand up for our rights and keep this country strong. For if it were not for those veterans we honor here today we wouldn't be standing here as free men and women, able to carry on our businesses, our schools, and our way of life the way we like to have it."

Chief Marshal of the observance was Joseph Zona commander of the Quincy Veterans Council.

Mayor Francis McCauley led city and state dignitaries in a remembrance of veterans of all wars.

Rev. William McCarthy, pastor of St. John's Church in Quincy Center, gave the blessing at the traditional ceremony.

Four Friends Of Education To Be Honored At Central

In conjunction with the observance of American Education Week, four Friends of Education for 1986 will be honored during a 7:45 breakfast ceremony Friday, Nov. 21 at Central Middle School.

Theme for the observance is "Schools and Community United for Excellence."

According to Principal Louis R. DiMartino, those four who have served the school community at Central "above and beyond" and will receive a Friend of Education award are:

Henry W. Bosworth Jr., Publisher and Editor of The Quincy Sun; "his consistent coverage of school activities which promote pride in accomplishments for students and respect for educational achievement."

James Clancy, husband of Central Middle music teacher, Marion Clancy; "he has built scenery, transported props and generally supported the musical productions the students have presented for the past several years."

Frank Santoro, a Brookline school teacher and Quincy School Committee member; "who has choreographed, rehearsed and produced the dance productions at the school."

John Luts, parent of a student at the school; "for his loyalty and delivery at School Committee and Parent Advisory Board meetings. His logic, delivery and wisdom have contributed to the students' sense of school and community united for excellence."

Presentation of awards will be made by DeMartino. Breakfast arrangements, served in the school media center, will be made by students: Meredith Barnes, Holly McDonough, Dale Parry, Anne Wong, Judy Yeung, along with members of the school staff: Lillian Balassale, Marion Clancy, Marianne Cronin, Mary Catherine Iannoni and Virginia McDermott.

Last year's Friends of Education recipients were: Doreen Barrett, Angela Carroll, Ann DesRoche, Deborah Jarnis, Kenneth Panaro, Marie Piccini, Betty Swanton and Tilda Winerip.

Telephone Survey For Class Of 1986

Beginning the week of Nov. 17, a telephone survey will be conducted of all 1986 graduates from Quincy High School, North Quincy High School and Quincy Vocational Technical School.

The questions are brief and, if the graduate is not available at the time of the call, any member of the family may respond.

Information as to what graduates are doing after leaving school is essential for future trends in curriculum planning. Cooperation in this effort will be appreciated.

Quincy Bay Pageant Finalist In State Pageant

Annette Godin, 22, of Weymouth, second runner-up in this year's Miss Quincy Bay Beauty Pageant, is a contestant in the 1987 Miss Massachusetts-USA pageant. Miss Godin, presently working in policyholder services at Commercial Union Insurance Company, North Quincy, admits she "jumped for joy for a week" after judges selected her.

"It was my first pageant," said Annette, who besides having good looks has a very confident outlook on her future and would like a career in modeling.

Annette said after hearing about the state pageant she quickly submitted an application, complete with photographs, and was soon notified of her selection.

The pageant is to be staged at the Sheraton Lincoln Grand Ballroom in Worcester Nov. 28-30, and is held to select the Massachusetts girl to vie in the Miss USA pageant to be nationally televised by CBS-TV in February.

The Weymouth girl was one of 34 contestants in the Quincy Bay Pageant which highlights the yearly Quincy Center Sidewalk Bazaar, and attracted an audience of over 3,000.

ANNETTE GODIN

It was co-sponsored by the Quincy Center Business and Professional Association and the Quincy Bay Race Week

Association.

Some $2,000 in prizes were awarded to the winner, Michelle Toth, 18, also of Weymouth, and runner-up,

Two Residents Among 10 Finalists In 'Most Beautiful Eyes' Contest

Betsy Stringer Cattaneo and Mary Cain, both of Quincy, were recent runner-up in the "Most Beautiful Eyes" contest sponsored by the state affiliate of the National Society to Prevent Blindness.

Cain and Cattaneo were among the 10 finalists that saw an 11-year-old Wakefield boy win the title at the competition held in Lynn.

The Quincy residents were selected from hundreds of entrants whose eyes were judged on the basis of color, clarity, and overall healthy appearance.

Funds raised as a result of the contest will benefit the society's programs of research, professional and

A PROFESSIONAL PHOTOGRAPHER can capture that special moment between the bride and her father.

Professional photographers capture the true wedding spirit

Other professionals charge an hourly rate for photography and an additional fee for prints. Cost ranges from about $200 upward, with the median price hovering somewhere between $350 and $750.

- Your photographer also should be willing to discuss various components of the bridal portrait such as hairstyle and makeup, which reflect your true image. It's a good idea not to change your hairstyle or color for your portrait sitting.

- The location is also an important component of your portraits. Professional photographers can suggest an attractive park location as an alternative to the more traditional church or synagogue setting.

- Once the poses are selected, consider the number and size of the prints you need.

Most professional photographers use Kodak film and paper for quality portraits. Remember that your wedding photographs are also suitable for gift-giving as an album for your parents, personal thank-you notes, gifts and holiday cards. And, wedding portraits can also be enlarged and framed, adding personal elegance to your home.

A wedding is an act of love, a joining of families, a celebration. But once the cake is eaten and the bouquet thrown, what's left of this special day? Your photographs.

Since the photographs are the one thing from your wedding day to have lasting emotional value, all the more reason to contract a professional photographer who has the experience, technical expertise, versatility and imagination to tell your wedding story in photographs.

Here are some suggestions to help you select the right photographer:

- Begin your search early, particularly if you are getting married in the popular months of June, July, August or September—the busiest seasons.

- Interview a variety of photographers before making your final decision. Select a photographer whose style suits the images you'd like to capture.

- Carefully review your photography needs and budget after selecting a photographer. Remember that wedding portraits of the bride and groom can be taken in advance for the newspaper, and some studios offer bridal packages that include candid shots for a set fee.

Planning a wedding is wonderful and exciting, but it's costly as well. Proper planning and setting your priorities straight early on can help you to cut down on costs.

Concentrate on those things that you feel make your wedding special and unique. That way you can cut corners on those things that aren't as important to you. Determining early on what mood you

The '80s is a decade of numerous options, but the only way to feel happy about the type of lifestyle you choose or the type of wedding you plan is to follow your own instincts, because you don't have to follow one formula!

Jewelry gifts for the wedding party

For brides and grooms, wedding plans include the selection of gifts for each other, their families and their close friends, and jewelry is the number one gift item exchanged on this special day.

Jewelers of America (JA), the national association of retail jewelers across the country, would like to offer suggestions to the bride and groom on buying fine jewelry for the special people who are close to them.

Bridal couples often exchange gifts to commemorate their marriage, and the items they choose for each other are worn during the wedding.

The groom should take into consideration the style of his bride's wedding dress when choosing something "new" she can wear that day. For example, a strand of pearls with a scoop-neck wedding dress, a gold bracelet on a bare arm, diamond earrings, the discreetly elegant watch all complement a wedding dress.

Some gift suggestions for the bride:

- A strand of cultured pearls, choker or princess length (18");

- Sapphire or ruby earrings;
- Gold or diamond bracelet;
- Locket;
- Diamond stud earrings;
- Gold and diamond thin watch.

For the Groom:

- Cufflinks in gold with onyx are the most popular gift;

- Pocket watch with gold chain;
- Gold tie clasp;
- Belt buckle;
- Gold watch;
- Gold cigarette lighter;
- Money clip;
- Gold and diamond tie pin;
- Studs in gold or in onyx to match cufflinks.

For the maid of honor, some gifts include:

- Colored stone ring;
- Pearl bracelet.

Some suggestions for bridesmaids' gifts:

- Gold chain necklace or bracelet;
- Freshwater pearl necklace or bracelet;

- Lapel pins in gold or silver;
- Colored stone earrings or pendant in bridesmaid's birthstone;
- Gold hoop earrings;
- Charms with wedding date;
- Watch in new vibrant color;
- Wall clock.

For the best man, couples can consider:

- Signet ring;
- Credit card case;

- Pocket watch.
- For ushers, popular gift ideas are:
- Pen and pencil sets;
- Key chains;
- Cufflinks;
- Tie pins, or personalized tie tacks;
- Cigarette lighters;
- Collar bars;
- Gold chain or bracelet;
- Money clip;
- Mustache comb;
- Desk clock;
- Travel alarm.

To learn more about fine jewelry, couples can obtain Jewelers of America's brochures by writing to Jewelers of America, Department CS, 1271 Avenue of the Americas, New York, NY 10020.

Money And Temptation

Money is a temptation to a thief. An older person carrying money around is an opportunity to a thief.

How can that opportunity be reduced, that temptation taken away?

If you get Social Security or certain other retirement payments, you can have them deposited directly into your account. That way you will eliminate the chance that they will be taken from your mail box, or worse, that you will be observed taking your month's livelihood to or from the bank.

Once you have the money deposited in the bank, use cash as little as possible and don't ever carry large amounts of cash. Better yet, use a checking account to pay bills and to pay for groceries and other purchases as well.

If you need to withdraw savings for a special purpose, get the amount as a check from the bank, not in cash.

Many banks in our state provide checking accounts with no monthly service charge to persons over 65 (you pay only for the printing of the checks). Thus, you can use this safe way of paying for items at virtually no cost at all.

Note: Up to this time the "Senior Power" program has been presented to over 2000 Quincy seniors. If you have a senior group that would be interested in this program please call me, Officer Bob Hanna, at 479-1212 ext. 368. This program is sponsored by the South Shore Bank and the Quincy Police Department and is free of charge.

Festival Parade Needs Temporary Motor Home

The Quincy Christmas Festival Committee is seeking the temporary use of a motor home to be used Sunday, Nov. 30, to evaluate and score bands in the annual Christmas parade.

By providing the vehicle, the owner will have a prime viewing spot where all the marching bands must play as they go by.

For those interested call Bill Morrill after 6 p.m. at 773-1439.

The parade, expected to draw some 300,000 spectators, will start at School and Hancock Sts., Quincy Center, at 12:30 p.m.

Blood Pressure Screenings At Quincy Hospital

Quincy City Hospital will conduct a free blood pressure screening for the public Tuesday, Nov. 18, in the Ambulatory Care Department from 1:30 to 3 p.m.

The screenings, performed by nursing staff, will enable individuals to keep track of their blood pressure, and be aware of dangerous elevations in the pressure. Persons in need of referral to a physician, will be advised to do so.

The screenings, which will take place on the first and third Tuesday of each month, are free of charge.

Roger Williams Subject At First Squantum Church

Worshippers at the second service Sunday at the First Church of Squantum heard their pastor, the Rev. Dr. Gene Langevin, preach on the subject, "Soul Liberty," a sermon rooted in the historical experience of Roger Williams, the father of religious liberty in America.

Rev. Dr. Langevin said it was because of the religious persecution to which Williams was being subjected as pastor of the Puritan church in Salem that he fled the Massachusetts Bay Colony in January, 1635, and made the difficult trek through the snow to a place in the wilderness to the south where he could establish a new community in which religious liberty would be absolute.

Because he had been led to this new place by the "providence" of God, that was the name he gave to the new settlement, Dr. Langevin said.

Experiences such as that of Roger Williams led to the enunciation of the principle of "separation of church and state" and, on the local and personal level, the idea that coercion ought never to be used in extending the Christian religion.

Greeters at that service were Pat and Henry Sorensen. Ushers were Tore Wallin and Stewart Scott. The Fellowship Hour after the service was hosted by Ruth Swenson and Evelyn Ahern.

The Chancel Choir was directed by Mary Ruth Scott. At the guitar service, which was held earlier, Dr. Langevin preached on the subject, "The Commercial Exploitation of the Christian." Included in this sermon was continuing instruction in how to read the Bible in personal devotions.

The call to worship was given by Scott Catton, Krista and Kim Olson, Kristen Reister, Lori Ogilvie and Marci Hurd led the congregation in a trial shout of joy. Guitarists Steve Williams, Mary Ruth Scott, Andy Ogilvie, David Williams and Robert Dixey accompanied the singing of the congregation. Mindi Hurd and Bonnie MacRitchie were the ushers.

A special collection was taken during the morning service to begin a fund to underwrite the expenses of the "Hanging of the Greens," a Christmas crafts and decorating party for the whole church, to be held Saturday night, Nov. 29, from 6 to 8 p.m. A bake sale sponsored by the Board of Christian Education for the same purpose will be held this Sunday after the second service.

This Sunday there will be two services: the guitar service at 8:30 a.m. and the traditional service at 10:30 a.m.

REV. WILLIAM MCCARTHY, pastor of St. John's Church, Quincy Center, was honored recently as the Quincy Jewish War Veterans "Citizen of the Year." From left, are Nancy Powers, executive director of the Quincy Interfaith Sheltering Coalition of which Fr. McCarthy is a member; Fr. ## 'An Affair Of The Heart' Sermon Topic At Bethany

There will be two worship services this coming Sunday, Nov. 16, at Bethany Congregational Church, Coddington and Spear Sts., Quincy Center, at 9 a.m. in the chapel and 10 a.m. in the sanctuary.

The Rev. J. William Arnold, senior minister, will preach at both hours on the topic, "An Affair Of The Heart," based on scriptural texts from the Gospels of Matthew 6:19-33 and Mark 12:41-44. The associate minister, Rev. Joel F. Huntington will serve as liturgist at both services.

The lay scripture readers will be Robert Lockwood at the early service and Kathryn Roberts at the late service.

This is Stewardship Sunday and two lay leaders, Jean Rose, chairwoman of Finance, and Louise B. Forsyth, moderator, will make comments on giving.

During the sanctuary service the chancel choir, under the direction of Peter E. Krasinski, organist, will present two anthems, "O Lord, Support Us" by Samuel Walter, and "O Sing All Ye Lands" composed by Jean Berger.

The worship service is broadcast live over WJDA, 1300 kc at 10 a.m. In addition a cassette tape of the service and sermon can be obtained for $2 by contacting the church office.

Sunday School will be in session from 10 to 11 a.m. with classes for children of pre-school through eighth grade. Nursery care and a Toddlers class for very young children are also provided under the supervision of Bethany's Early Childhood Coordinator, Denise Fleming.

At 11 a.m. there will be a fellowship hour in the Allen Parlor. Individuals and families from the community are welcome to share in the worship and fellowship and to enroll children in the Sunday School.

Youth Fellowship meets with Rev. Huntington at 7 p.m. Sunday at the Church.

For additional information about Bethany's ministries and programs, please contact the church office, 479-7300.

Weymouth Firm To Reconstruct Drainage Outfall, Tidegate

Quincy will award a contract to D and C Construction Company of Weymouth to reconstruct the drainage outfall and tidegate at the intersection of Turner St. and Edgewater Drive, Houghs Neck.

The D and C Construction Company is the low bidder in the amount of $42,400, according to an announcement by Mayor Francis McCauley and Councillor Michael Cheney.

The existing tide gate will be replaced with an 18-inch "duck bill" type tidegate and the outfall will be extended 20 feet to prevent sand infiltration of the line due to tidal activity.

A "duck bill" gate is one made of rubber and is considered an engineering advancement over the traditional cast iron type gates which are prone to corrosion, according to McCauley.

Intent of the work is to alleviate flooding on Turner St. which occurs when the tide flows into the drainage system at high tide due to the malfunctioning cast iron gate.

This project will not prevent flooding from all sources, such as heavy rains, as the area is low, noted McCauley. However, this project will improve conditions, he said.

The project was designed by Weston and Sampson Engineers under the direction of the Department of Public Works.

Presidents Place

Project Meeting Thursday

There will be a meeting of the Citizens Advisory Committee for the President's Place Project today.

Thursday, at 4 p.m., in the Conference Room of the Planning Department.

City Advertising For Bids For Ross Parking Deck

Quincy's Department of Planning and Community and Development will be advertising for bids for the construction of the Ross Parking Deck during the week of Nov. 10, according to Mayor Francis McCauley. The bids are to be received during the week of Dec. 15.

The Ross Deck will be constructed over the existing parking area with access from the Ross parking garage.

The parking facility, which has been designed by the engineering firm of Seelye Stevenson Value and Knecht, will include a pedestrian walkway which will connect the deck to the Parkingway entrance of the Quincy Fair (former Sears) building.

McCauley stated that the deck will not only provide an additional 117 needed parking spaces in the downtown but also that the walkway will provide direct access for shoppers through the Quincy Fair Mall to the retail stores along Hancock St. south of Quincy Center.

Funding for the construction has been provided through a $1,040,000 grant from the state's Division of Capital Planning and Operations and $300,000 from the 200 Newport Avenue UDAG Project revenue.

Community Development Block Grant monies have also been allocated to the project in order to provide roadway and landscaping improvements along the Parkingway to help create an attractive shopping environment in downtown Quincy, McCauley said.

A THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK

Though suffering is the lot of everyone along the pathway of life, many people use the experience to strengthen their faith and their character. Suffering has much to teach us if we would but learn. One may let suffering break him, and many do.

Yet others, with God's help, use suffering to develop and enrich their lives.

One such man was Edward Trudeau. He was in medical school with a promising career ahead of him when he was struck down with tuberculosis. He was forced to give up his plan to practice medicine, and in weakness and pain he went to the Adirondack Mountains.

Instead of giving up in despair, Trudeau made friends and became interested in others who suffered as he did. He regained his health and organized a laboratory for the study of tuberculosis.

We, too, may learn through suffering. By endurance of pain, we may become more aware of our need for God; for often "man's extremity is God's opportunity." In facing up to suffering, we need to learn that we are not in it alone. With God's help, we can turn even the hurtful into the helpful...

Registry Still Possible As Homeless Shelter

December to discuss its space needs, he said, since it has been proposed that the center share the space at the registry. No decision has been made on that.

Smith said the State Welfare Agency will send Quincy a letter of intent to continue funding 65 to 70 percent of the cost of the shelter.

The Interfaith Sheltering Coalition is currently running a temporary shelter for women at Quincy Point Congregational Church and for men at Wollaston Lutheran Church.

However, Smith added that the state has indicated any costs for renovation of the building would have to be borne by the center.

"It was an extremely positive meeting," said Smith. "The committee is very enthusiastic."

The next meeting is scheduled for sometime in January, he said.

Council Hearings

The City Council was scheduled to hold public hearings last night (Wednesday) starting at 7 p.m. in the Council Chambers at City Hall.

The first hearing was to be on reviewing various city properties to open space.

The second hearing, at 7:05 p.m., was to concern a special permit off Willard St. - Blueberry Ridge F.I.D. Realty for 156 residential units.

Hancock Flower Shop A Blooming Business For Ruth, Jay Nestor

Ruth and Jay Nestor have something a lot of us wish we had, a blooming future.

Yes, the Nestors have, in a sense, a beauty of a business. They own and operate Hancock Flower Shop at 400 Hancock St. in the North Quincy business community, one of the most artistic, all occasion and reasonably priced florist shops on the South Shore.

Jay made the transition from shop manager to owner two years ago when George Bossi of Quincy, decided to retire. Bossi didn't have far to look to turning his business over to someone he knew had the right credentials to be a success in this profession.

Jay, a native of Wollaston, attended the Norfolk County Agricultural School. He also was selected to participate in a one-year horticultural program at prestigious Longwood Gardens in Pennsylvania. Sponsored by The Dupont Family this program is open to students who have shown a special talent in this field.

Ruth, who holds a BA degree in health education from Northeastern University in Boston, says: "Since Jay bought the business, I've grown (pardon the pun) into a pretty good florist if I do say so myself."

"Being a florist involves a tremendous amount of time and hard work. We're here six, sometimes seven days a week. But we accept it because we're working for each other and especially for our 16-month-old son, Justin," said the Nestors.

Shop hours are 8:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. on Monday, Wednesday, Friday, and Saturday. Tuesday and Thursday the store hours are 8:30 a.m. to 8 p.m.

The Nestors' day starts well before the crack of dawn in their Dorchester home. Soon after, all three are at the Boston Flower Mart shopping for fresh inventory and picking up orders. After a light breakfast there, it's off to North Quincy.

"Since he was a week old, Justin has shared our work hours at the shop when not being tended by a babysitter. There's a special spot set aside on the counter where my son lives to watch as we make flower arrangements. No, he's not strange with the customers."

What is your busiest time of the year?

"Valentine's Day. But the Christmas season keeps us on our toes. It gets so busy that friends pitch in and help ease the work load of our delivery van," Ruth said.

RUTH AND JAY Nestor feel quite proud to be in the blooming business...

Any new business trends? "Surprise, surprise! It's becoming quite fashionable for milady to send her best man flowers. And, people are buying fresh flowers on a regular basis to decorate their homes as a cheerful touch," Ruth added.

Bob's Speed & Auto Parts Is Now In High Gear

By DAN CONNELLY
When Bob Pacino was 19, he started a business in a Quincy cellar that specialized in servicing the parts and equipment for the racing auto enthusiastic's needs.

Some 20 years later Bob's Speed & Auto Parts at 471 Hancock St. in North Quincy has come a long way. Last March he acquired another automotive parts business, Quincy Shore Auto at 94 Franklin St. in South Quincy.

Pacino, a former speed racer, recalls that when he moved his business upstairs, so to speak, and added a full line of all automotive parts "it was a day I'll never forget."

"Our guest of honor on that February 1967 day was the late Jim McIntyre, the former Quincy mayor," reminisced Bob.

The years flew by and the business prospered requiring moving across Hancock St. to the present address (the former Turner Hardware store).

Today, Bob employs 15 people, five of whom staff the new acquisition in South Quincy. His wife, Joann, handles the firm's secretarial duties. Their son, Bob Jr., 16, works on Saturday at the store "and is showing more than a passing interest in the business," says Bob. Daughter, Jennifer, 14, completes the family who reside in Braintree.

Four delivery vans are never idle; with stops at gasoline stations and auto repair shops in the Quincy, Weymouth, Dorchester, and Milton communities.

Bob's philosophy for the key to success is to treat all his customers the way he would want to be treated if he were on the other side of the counter.

Pacino's upbeat approach to business includes keeping his inventory updated with the newest products. He and his staff have the ability to identify, interpret, and analyze automotive problems which helps to determine how they can best serve the clients. In other words they walk in their clients' shoes.

These, and so many other responsibilities, are the tools Pacino uses to create good customer relations, and which has attributed to the lucrative rewards of the business.

It is his business outlook and positive approach to problems that has handcuffed a lot of the market for him in auto parts sales.

As an example, when the automobile buying public turned his or her pocket books to foreign cars, Bob's

Speed & Auto Parts was right in tune with that demand, stocking their shelves with parts for those imports.

His North Quincy business also features a machine shop; installed to turn drums, rotors and pressing axles.

Two years ago it became apparent to Pacino that his business had to be revamped. A computerized system was installed - and the cost easily justified. With its unique 'brain' it gives him answers and data and is a better way of managing office information and communication.

Pacino keeps the word 'Speed' in his corporate log because it's a reminder, with fondness, of those early speed racing days and how he got started in business.

It is also perhaps suggests what type of service one can expect when doing business with Bob's Speed & Auto Parts.

City Officials Unhappy Over Reagan Water Veto

Mayor Francis McCauley said he will urge citizens to send a message "loud and clear" to President Reagan next year when the $18 billion Clean Water Act the president vetoed is expected to be re-enacted in Congress.

"We have to get the word to the White House that this fund is important," said McCauley.

The act included $100 million for the cleanup of Boston Harbor.

The veto could result in higher rate increases for communities, including Quincy, served by the Massachusetts Water Resources Authority which is under court order to clean up the harbor, according to an MWRA spokesman.

"It's not practical in the long run for cities and towns in the MWRA district to foot the bill," said McCauley. "I'm hopeful it will be passed in the next Congress, and there will be a change of heart from the president."

Reagan said he rejected the bill because it was too expensive.

McCauley said he had spoken to White House aide Andy Card and made a strong pitch to have the president sign the legislation.

Leo Kelly of the MWRA Advisory Board said, "The only way to clean the harbor is through funds."

"To pull out $100 million is pretty devastating."

Kelly said he hoped the legislation would have more success next year.

"I don't think this should be used as an example of cutting spending," said Kelly.

"Hopefully, it will be corrected," he said.

Councillor Michael Cheney noted that the MWRA intends to go forward with the cleanup of Boston Harbor and Quincy Bay.

"However, this means approximately a $400 increase per rate payer and that's extremely distressing."

"My fear is that the people, especially the elderly, the people who are on low income, can not afford this increase, let alone the rest of us."

Red Line Parking To Be Resolved

A number of commuter annoyances at MBTA Red Line parking facilities will be resolved as a result of complaints by State Senator Paul D. Harold, (D-Quincy,) and State Rep. Suzanne Bump, (D-Braintree.)

Harold said he wrote to MBTA General Manager James O'Leary after he and Bump received numerous complaints about parking facilities at MBTA garages.

As a result, several remedial steps either have been or will be taken, Harold said. These include:

- Opening both toll booths at Quincy Center station to expedite the flow of existing traffic during rush hours. Harold said the use of only one booth caused traffic to back up the spiral exit ramp at the station. The MBTA will also assign a policeman when needed to help existing motorists enter Burgin Parkway from the garage.

- Repair and maintenance of electronic "Full" signs for both Quincy-Adams and Braintree parking garages. Harold said commuters are inconvenienced by exiting the expressway only to learn that the garages are full.

- Use of a "Full" sign at the "community" parking lot at Quincy Adams station as needed so commuters will not have to exit Burgin Parkway only to find the lot is full. Concrete blocks and sawhorses now blocking the "community" lot exit will be removed and new signs installed to direct motorists to the far end of the Newport Ave. parking lot at North Quincy station, and extra police details in the area.

- Repair of a deep hole in the pavement at the entrance to Quincy-Adams station which was dangerous to cars entering the garage.

North Quincy 18, Cambridge Rindge 13

Raiders Host Brookline Friday Night

The North Quincy football team has had its troubles this fall, but the Raiders proved to be good mudders last Saturday as Ryan Craig and Dave Lawless sparked them to an 18-13 victory over Cambridge Rindge and Latin at Cambridge, snapping a three-game losing streak and improving their record to 3-5.

North Quincy, with an eye on a .500 season, will host Brookline (1-7) Friday night at 7 p.m. at Veterans Memorial Stadium in the final game before the Quincy classic. The game was originally scheduled for Saturday afternoon but was shifted at North Quincy's request.

"The whole team played well today," said North coach Ken McPhee. "It was Craig and Lawless who sparked us with outstanding two-way games. Both ran well and played excellent defense. Lawless was unbelievable, running well, intercepting a pass, having a great day on defense and his punting was tremendous. And Craig also was excellent both ways.

North Quincy Season Scoring

|           | TD | PAT | Pts. |
|-----------|----|-----|------|
| McCormack | 3  | 0   | 18   |
| Craig     | 3  | 0   | 18   |
| McDougall | 2  | 0   | 12   |
| Casey     | 1  | 0   | 6    |
| Ainsley   | 1  | 0   | 6    |
| Lawless   | 0  | 2   | 2    |
| Patch     | 0  | 1   | 1    |

Also, Joe Mulvey's ball handling was excellent and we didn't give up a fumble despite the wet ball."

McPhee had good words for the defensive play of Scott Chansky, who had an interception and knocked down three other passes; John Pacino, Tom Dolan, Paul Hogan, Craig, Lawless, Paul Moody, John Rodophele, Kevin and Keith Segalla, Scott Sacchetti, Ainsley and Brian Callow.

The often-maligned offensive line which had been poor in the loss to Waltham, came up with an outstanding game and McPhee lauded Dolan, Paul Nimeskern, who filled in well at center; Tom McDonald, who moved from center to tackle; Tim Kelly, Ainsley, who blocked well; and Hogan, who had a great day offensively.

Lawless did some more fine punting. On one occasion he dropped the low pass from center, was almost downed, picked the ball up and got off a 50-yard punt that rolled dead inside Cambridge's five-yard line.

North took a 12-0 lead with two touchdowns in the second quarter. Craig capped a drive by scoring from the nine.

Soon after Mulvey hit Ainsley with a 46-yard touchdown pass.

Cambridge scored late in the half on a 25-yard run by Waldy Clark. Gary Ezell kicked the point and North led, 12-7, at the half.

In the final quarter Paul McCormack scored on a 10-yard run and late in the game Cambridge scored its second touchdown when Clark went in from the three.

North Jayvees Defeat Waltham For Fifth Win

By PETE ZOIA

The North Quincy junior varsity football team improved its record to 5-2 with a 24-20 victory over Waltham.

Waltham started fast and scored early on a 56-yard pass play to the North seven and an off-tackle run for the touchdown.

North came right back to tie the score, aided by some fine running by Steve Shoap. His 16-yard run put the ball on Waltham's 15 from where Bob Sylva passed to Mike Shields for the score. It was the first of his four scoring passes.

In the second quarter Sylva hit Ted Stevenson for 33 yards, Chris Mendes for 16 and Jack Mullen in the end zone for 15 yards and the touchdown.

Mullen intercepted a Waltham pass and ran it back to Waltham's 28. Sylva lost no time and passed to Lou Sisso for another touchdown.

Waltham threatened before halftime but Joe Mulvey halted the threat with an interception.

North added its final touchdown in the third quarter with a 51-yard drive. Shoap picked up 20 yards on two carries, Chuck Peck added five and a 15-yard penalty pushed the ball closer to the goal line. Sylva then threw his fourth scoring pass to Mullen.

Waltham came back with a 23-yard touchdown pass and the two-point conversion to make it 24-14. Following the kickoff Sylva hit Stevenson for 31 yards to the five-yard line only to have a Waltham defender intercept the next pass and run it back 94 yards to North's one from where the Hawks scored to make the final score 24-20.

"This was a wide-open game and Waltham was tough," said North coach Kevin Cobban.

Constas On Curry Hockey Team

Steve Constas of Quincy, a freshman forward, is a member of the varsity hockey team at Curry College.

Last year Curry, under coach Bill Stewart, had its best season in some time as it won the ECAC North Region championship and faced Trinity College in the North-South title game with a 24-9-1 record.

Most of last year's players are back as the Colonels look forward to another successful season.

Baby Raiders Roll By Cambridge

The North Quincy freshman football team, coached by Tom Carter, after a slow start improved to 2-3 with a 28-16 victory over Cambridge Rindge and Latin.

In their previous game the Baby Raiders had topped Waltham, 16-0.

Cambridge opened the scoring with a 55-yard touchdown run and a rush for the two-point conversion.

North retaliated with Jeff Galvert going 30 yards for a touchdown and Keith Gott added the tying two points.

A 37-yard pass from Jason Doyle to Ernie Barrissi set up a four-yard touchdown run by Dave Kiley. Gott again added the points to give North a 16-8 lead.

Gott raced 25 yards for the first of his two touchdowns to make it 22-8 at halftime.

In the third quarter North fumbled the kickoff, giving Cambridge good field position but the young Raiders held and took over. Gott raced 35 yards for his second touchdown and North's final score.

Cambridge added eight points with less than a minute to go.

Gott rushed for 150 yards for the second game in a row.

Carter praised John Keegan, Scott Kemp, Bill Early, Kevin Heffernan, Greg Runge, Mike Iacobacci and Alex Malasi. "They all blocked well throughout the game," he said. He also had good words for Doyle, Calvert and Chris Ballerino for their work on defense.

Saturday Night At Stadium

Apaches, Panthers In Youth Football Title Showdown

The undefeated North Quincy Apaches and the second place Quincy Point Panthers will meet for the Quincy Youth Football League championship Saturday night at 7 p.m. at Veterans Memorial Stadium, the first league game played under the lights.

The Apaches finished unbeaten last Sunday with an 8-0 victory over the Squantum Sailors, while the Panthers finished up with an impressive 28-8 win over the West Quincy Elks.

The Apaches' score against the Sailors came on a 30-yard pass from Barry Glynn to Kevin McDougall and Dan Gilmarin added the two-point conversion.

The defenses dominated the game. The Apaches were led on defense by McDougall, who had two interceptions; Barry Glynn, Gary Glynn, Gilmarin, Joel Campbell, Mike Doherty, Brian Halpin, George Walsh, Steve Lombardi, Chris Murray, Mark Kelleher and Rob Rogers.

The Panthers wasted no time as it took the opening kickoff and drove to their first score in 12 plays. Ken Staskyewicz, Evan Kiley and Bob Crespi led the way and Feeley scored from the two. John Barkas added the two-point conversion.

In the second quarter the Elks took a punt and drove to the 40 but on the third play Ralph Bevilacqua stopped them for a loss. On fourth and 10 Bevilacqua intercepted a pass to halt the Elks.

The Panthers made it 14-0 with a 28-yard pass from Joe Crespi to Staskyewicz. The try for points failed.

The Elks took over but fumbled and Mike Bamber recovered and, with seconds to go in the half, they ran out the clock.

In the last quarter the Elks punted and the Panthers scored on the first play from scrimmage as Crespi again hit Staskyewicz for a 35-yard scoring pass. Tempesta's kick for the point was partially blocked but a penalty gave the Panthers another chance and Crespi passed to Sean Sugrue for the points.

Brian Jennette, Jason Simon, Tom Foley and Mike Staf held the Elks until the final seconds when the Elks' Mike Brown scored and also added the extra points.

Quincy Girl Swimmers Optimistic For Next Fall

Girls' swimming at Quincy High was on the verge of extinction three years ago due to a lack of interest.

However, since Janet Keyes took over three years ago as coach, interest has built up every year and this season, despite only two wins, the First Ladies had their most competitive team in years.

"Everyone will be back next year and we hope to continue improving," said Keyes. "More girls are coming out every year and this year we were very competitive. Several of our losses were by close scores as we still lack the depth of the other teams. Several of the girls had outstanding seasons."

In the season-ending loss to North Quincy, Quincy's 200-yard medley relay team of Cindy Galman, Renee Gaura, Patti and Janet Morrell, turned in its best time of the year (2:21.64), but was edged by North (2:20.53).

Keri Mortimer (30.11) and Galman (30.49) placed one-two in the 50 yard freestyle and Galman won the 100-yard breaststroke in a school record time of 1:23.59.

Earlier Janet Morrell had broken the school record in the 100-yard backstroke with a time of 1:19.57.

First Ladies, Raiderettes Off To Good Starts

The Quincy girls' volleyball team, the Suburban League champion for the fifth year in a row and in quest of its third state championship in five years, and the North Quincy team, in the state tournament for the first time in history, got off to good starts Monday with victories in the quarterfinals of the Division One South Sectionals.

Quincy's First Ladies, coached by Tom Henderson and seeded second, defeated Bishop Stang, 3-1, while Jim Rendle's North girls, with only two seniors and seeded fifth, scored an impressive 3-0 win over fourth-seeded Braintree.

In other Division One South sectional games Barnstable defeated Bishop Feehan, 3-2, and Duxbury

Fall River defeated Fontbonne, 3-1.

The Quincy girls, who finished 16-1 this year, won the state title in 1982 and 1984, lost to Chelmsford in the championship game a year ago and lost to Stoneham in the state semifinals in 1983.

North Quincy had its best season and finished third in the Suburban League with a 13-5 record.

YMCA Boys Under 8 Win Mini-Swim Meet

The South Shore YMCA boys 8 and under team won the annual Great Pumpkin mini-swim meet at the West Roxbury Y for the second year in a row. The South Shore girls' team placed second to the host team.

The boys' 80-yard medley relay team of James Keyes of Quincy, Terrance Roche of Quincy, Corey Madera of Sharon and Jay Magno of Randolph won in 1:07.63 and the same quartet won the 80-yard freestyle relay in 58.59.

For the girls Maryanne Blake of Quincy, Meaghan Powers of Quincy, Jill Stonehouse of Hingham and Maureen Leary of Milton won the 80-yard individual medley relay and Powers won the 80-yard individual medley and the 20-yard breaststroke.

Information about joining the Y 8 and under group competition can be had by calling coach Janet Keyes at 479-8500.

Mastro Team Leads St. John's League

Dan Mastro's team leads St. John's Holy Name Bowling League with a 32-10 record, followed by Bob Saluti's team at 24-18.

The rest of the standings: Lou Faiella, 20-22; Dick Guerriero, 19-23; Joe Marini, 19-23; Mike Panarelli, 14-28.

Mastro rolled the weekly high single of 111 and Don Giuliano had 109. Saluti had the high three of 309 and Dick Guerriero had 302.

Mastro's team had the high single of 477 and Marini had 459. Saluti's team had the high three of 1366 and Mastro had 1364.

The Top Ten: Dick Guerriero, 110.5; Marini, 110.2; Saluti, 106.9; Panarelli, 102.1; Faiella, 100.1; Frank Guerriero, 95.9; Tom Darcy, 93.8; Rich Comeau, 93.6; Art DiTullio, 93.6; John O'Donnell, 92.9.

Quincy 12, Arlington 0

Presidents Eye Third In Row At Somerville

By TOM SULLIVAN

The Quincy football team's defense played the game of its life last Friday night and, combined with the Steve Austin-to-Joe Innello pass connection, led the Presidents to a 12-0 upset victory over Arlington at Veterans Memorial Stadium.

The win, Quincy's biggest in some time, evened its record to 4-4 and it was only the second loss for Arlington, ranked eighth in Eastern Massachusetts, whose only previous loss was to undefeated Peabody.

The Presidents will seek their third straight win Saturday when it plays at Somerville at 1:30 p.m. in the final game before the North Quincy game.

"This was just a great effort," said elated Quincy coach Jack Raymer. "I said that we had lacked consistency and had to put everything together. We did that in our win over Weymouth North and tonight was a tremendous team effort. The defense was just immense and the passing of Austin and the receiving of Innello was outstanding. Innello is the toughest 140-pounder around and was again outstanding both ways.

Quincy Season Scoring

|            | TD | PAT | Pts. |
|------------|----|-----|------|
| Cardarelli | 6  | 0   | 36   |
| Ryan       | 2  | 0   | 12   |
| Innello    | 2  | 0   | 12   |
| Gardner    | 1  | 2   | 8    |
| Farrand    | 0  | 7   | 7    |
| Austin     | 1  | 0   | 6    |
| Bogan      | 1  | 0   | 6    |

The offensive line did a fine job protecting Austin and the secondary was tremendous.

"Our aim was to stop their fine fullback (Ed Chalmers), who had been running wild, and force them into passing. We really bottled him up and the secondary did a great job covering their receivers. (Jim Rigazio was only six for 23 for 47 yards). I don't know how many times the defense stopped them on fourth and short yardage and I'm happy they got the shutout, they deserved it."

Quincy-Somerville Game On WJDA

Radio station WJDA will do the play-by-play broadcast of Quincy's game at Somerville at 1:30 Saturday

Austin was 11 for 17 for 208 yards and both touchdowns. Innello, who has developed into the top receiver, had another big night with seven receptions for 115 yards and a touchdown. Joe Cardarelli, hard-running fullback who is closing in on 1000 yards, was held to 59 hard-earned yards, and now has 850 yards rushing with two games to go.

He also caught a screen pass and galloped 67 yards for Quincy's second touchdown.

Quincy completely dominated play in the first half, despite having only a 6-0 lead on a last-second touchdown. Arlington failed to reach the 50-yard line in the opening half.

Defensive coach John Taglieri couldn't say enough for his players. He praised the performances of Chris Mackey, Ernie Light (two fumble recoveries) and Jay Dennett in the secondary. They knocked down passes all over the place.

He also lauded Dave Savage, Steve Picarski, Frank Calabro, Mike Eastwick, Rick Smith, Dennis DeCoste, Innello, Tom Bjork, and Rob Cabezas.

The offensive line gave Austin the best protection of the year and Raymer singled out Calabro, Innello, Bill Ryan, Norm Hassan, Bjork, Smith, Jeff Sprague and Steve Gardner. John Bogan also had a good night in the backfield.

Quincy stopped an early Arlington drive when Light recovered a fumble on Arlington's 49. Quincy moved to the Arlington 29 but missed a first down by less than a yard and Arlington took over on the 20.

The Presidents recovered another fumble on Arlington's 24, but Quincy immediately fumbled back to the visitors.

Quincy took over on its 18 following a punt and drove 82 yards for a touchdown, which came with just 1:09 remaining in the half.

Austin completed five passes, all to Innello. The final one was a perfectly-thrown 36 yarder which Innello took over his shoulder at the five. A bad pass from center foiled Mark Farrand's kick for the extra point.

Arlington, held to 36 yards rushing, three first downs and two pass completions for 16 yards in the first half, came out roaring in the second half. Taking the kickoff, Arlington clicked off four first downs and had a first down on Quincy's 15. Here the Presidents' defense dug in.

Light knocked down a pass in the end zone. Chalmers was halted twice and on fourth and one, Rigazio was held for no gain as Quincy took over on the six. Arlington ate up nearly seven minutes on the drive.

Later Arlington had fourth and two on Quincy's 16 but again was stopped as the Presidents took over on the 17.

On the first play of the fourth quarter Quincy's Bogan went for a first down but the gain was voided by a holding penalty. On third down Ryan made his only pass reception and it was a big one as the play went for 19 yards and took Quincy out of danger on the 32. Quincy was held and Chris Noble, who did some excellent punting, kicked to Arlington's 30.

Again Arlington had fourth and two on Quincy's 31 but the Presidents did it again and took over on a pass completion.

After Cardarelli gained two yards and a pass was incomplete, Austin flipped a screen pass to Cardarelli, who found a hole and raced 67 yards for an insurance touchdown which clinched the big win. A pass for two extra points failed.

Smith recovered an Arlington fumble for Quincy and, with Cardarelli carrying six times for small yardage, Quincy went to Arlington's 39 but was held.

Four Arlington passes went incomplete as Quincy's secondary was superb and Quincy took possession on Arlington's 40 and two plays later Quincy had its biggest win in some time in the books.

Quincy had 69 yards rushing to 109 for Arlington and had nine first downs to eight for Arlington.

Mite B's Lose, 7-2

Quincy's Mite B team dropped to 1-2 in the Greater Boston League when it lost to a more experienced Allston-Brighton team, 7-2.

Quincy, coached by John Ryan, had worked out for only three weeks and is showing steady improvement. Allston-Brighton, leading the league, improved to 3-0. Quincy kept the puck in A-B's end for the first three minutes and A.J. Carthas scored to give Quincy a quick lead. John Ryan and Jeff Coleman assisted.

Allston-Brighton took a 2-1 lead but Quincy tied it up on a power play goal by Jim Gallagher, assisted by Sean Johnson and Mike O'Brien.

A-B's experience began to tell as it scored five unanswered goals for the victory. The team was led by Brian Coyle's hat trick. Quincy lost a close decision to Hyde Park in its opener and defeated South Boston in its second game.

Evening Of Magic At Sterling Nov. 21

Sterling Middle School in Quincy will be under a magical spell Friday, Nov. 21 at 7:30 p.m. when the Parent Teacher Organization sponsors an Evening of Magic.

This 90 minute show will be presented by Zauber & Company, a magical troupe consisting of Episcopal clergyman Edward Schultz, his son, Christopher, daughter, Jennifer, and Michael Sherwood. All three young people are students at Sterling.

Schultz, while a resident of the South Shore, performed magic for schools, churches and other organizations.

The show, which will be open to the public, is a benefit performance for the school on Granite St. Tickets are available at the door at $3 for adults and $2 students. Doors will open at 7 p.m.

EDWARD SCHULTZ rehearses his magic act assisted by daughter Jennifer and son Christopher.

CONCERT REHEARSAL -- Members of the Quincy Symphony Orchestra rehearse for their season concert opener Nov. 21, at 8 p.m. in North Quincy High School Auditorium. Donald Currier of Milton, a professor of music at Yale University will be the featured piano soloist. For season tickets call 479-2408.

QSO To Open Concert Series Nov. 21

The Quincy Symphony Orchestra will open its 33rd concert season Friday, Nov. 21 at 8 p.m. in the North Quincy High School Auditorium.

The program will consist of Tchaikovsky's Triumphant Overture, Symphony No. 4 by Dvorak, and Mozart's Piano Concerto No. 23 featuring Donald Currier as guest soloist.

Donald Currier, a resident of Milton for many years, began his concert career in the city of Quincy with a recital at Christ Episcopal Church. He was, at that time, a student of Edward B. Whittredge, a prominent musician in the Quincy area.

Later that year he was the first winner of a competition sponsored by the Wollaston

Glee Club for a scholarship to the New England Conservatory of Music. He graduated from Milton High School and the New England Conservatory of Music, and received the Master of Music degree from the Yale School of Music where he is presently Professor of Music.

By Clare Annswell

WEEK OF: NOVEMBER 13

AQUARIUS — January 21-February 19
Added prestige may come your way by Wednesday. Diplomacy is a current strength; you may find yourself mediating a family disagreement. In money matters, avoid impulsive moves.

PISCES — February 20-March 20
Careerwise, week favors a subtle new approach for gaining a promotion. Moneymaking opportunity requires further development. Travel planning may undergo some late changes.

ARIES — March 21-April 20
Rewards from a highup encourage you to take on new challenges, but be sure not to overextend yourself. Recent theory wins you praise. Keep bossy streak in check.

TAURUS — April 21-May 22
Delays may impede work progress, but friendship and romance are on a steady track. Reunions are highlighted through the weekend. Family-related mystery is solved.

GEMINI — May 23-June 21
Think again before parting with objects—especially those with a family history. Confidential news arrives through the weekend. Social life perks up during the period.

CANCER — June 22-July 22
Social pressures are easing and you can finally enjoy some time to yourself. Relationships are highlighted; this is a good week for patching up an injured friendship.

LEO — July 23-August 22
Week finds you making a difficult but important decision. You're currently enjoying the limelight, thanks to a recent accomplishment. Youngsters see you as a role model.

VIRGO — August 23-September 22
Week's cancellations may provide you with productive private time. Decision making is your present strong suit, especially where family and financial matters are involved.

LIBRA — September 23-October 22
oved one responds to your suggestions on an intellectual level, though you're unusually emotional at this time. Financial picture begins to brighten gradually.

SCORPIO — October 23-November 21
Taking the initiative brings results through the week. Weekend travel plans are rearranged, probably to your advantage. Intuition proves unusually keen after Sunday Monday.

SAGITTARIUS — November 22-December 22
In reviewing property and other legal matters, be sure to read between every line. Conferences are highlighted over much of the period, providing a good forum for presenting ideas.

CAPRICORN — December 23-January 20
Relationships remain on an even keel; this is not the week for taking controversial stand. Make an added effort to catch up on correspondence and family obligations.

BIRTHDAY THIS WEEK
You're secretive, intense, highly driven, and utterly loyal. Relationships are highlighted over the next six or seven months; a new friendship is forged while an injured one is ready to be repaired. Financial activities dominate the latter part of 1987.

BORN THIS WEEK
November 13th, actor Charles Bronson; 14th, actor Brian Keith; 15th, singer Petula Clark; 16th, actor Burgess Meredith; 17th, writer Bev Stewart; 18th, actress Brenda Vaccaro; 19th, host Dick Cavett.

According to Eric W. Porter, senior vice president, the new rate applies to all new purchases and cash advances that begin with the November billing.

At the same time, the bank is introducing, free of charge, three new features of considerable benefit to cardholders. The first is credit card registration. This means that when any credit card carried by the bank's customer is lost or stolen, the issuer will be notified and arrangements will be made for replacement cards. Customers may register as many cards as they wish.

Second, effective immediately, customers using their MasterCard or VISA to purchase travel tickets will receive up to $200,000.00 life insurance when traveling either on business or pleasure.

Third, customers using South Shore Bank's MasterCard and VISA will be entitled to a discount at Hertz, Avis and National Car Rental agencies worldwide.

In commenting on these improvements, Porter said that the "15.9% rate makes us one of the lowest if not the very lowest in our market area. Further, these new registration, life insurance and car rental discount features will add real benefits to carrying our cards versus those of our competitors. These actions are part of a series of steps designed to make all our consumer banking products among the most competitive and beneficial."

Multibank Financial Corp. is a registered bank holding company with six Massachusetts banks and several related financial service companies. The Corporation's stock is traded on the over-the-counter market and is listed and quoted through the NASDAQ National Market System (NMS) under the symbol MLTF.

Promotions, Transfers At Quincy Savings

Quincy Savings Bank announces the promotion of Joyce Robinson to branch manager of the Quincy Point office.

Miss Robinson had been serving as assistant manager at the Hanover office of the bank for two years. Previously she was branch manager of the Quincy Cooperative Bank in Cohasset.

In related personnel moves, Donald Almeida, previously manager of the Quincy Point office, has become branch manager of the Quincy Center office, and Paul Swart, formerly manager at the main office at 1200 Hancock St., assumed responsibility as branch manager at the South Quincy office.

Douglas Tomkinson, who was manager at South Quincy, has been named manager of the main office.

"The moves provide bank personnel the opportunity to interact with a larger percentage of our customer base," said Charles R. Simpson, president.

Quincy Professor Addresses National Conference

Professor Joan F. Hallisey of Quincy, coordinator of the English department at Aquinas Junior College, Milton, recently presented a study at the Conference on Christianity and Literature in New Orleans. Conference was sponsored by the University of New Orleans, Lakefront.

Her presentation, "Denise Levertov and Catherine DeVine's Response to Nuclearism," represented a part of the research she is doing on American women in the visionary tradition.

Denise Levertov of Somerville is one of America's foremost contemporary poets; Catherine DeVine was commissioned to write the libretto for the Peace Cantata performed last spring at Regis College in Weston.

Alternative Sites Sought For Logan Shuttle Bus

Massport and MBTA officials are seeking alternative sites for the Logan Airport Shuttle Bus program to relieve overcrowding in the Quincy Adams and Quincy Center MBTA parking garages, reports State Senator Paul D. Harold.

In response to a letter from Harold, MBTA General

Manager James O'Leary said he is aware of the overcrowding problems in both parking facilities and will emphasize to Massport the urgency of finding alternative sites.

The Logan Shuttle runs from Quincy-Adams Station direct to Logan Airport for a $4 fare, with half-price fares for people who work at the airport.

It has proven so popular that people who work on the line, or start work later than the normal rush-hour, or who want to take the train Boston want to take the train to Boston after the rush, have trouble finding parking.

Harold said that besides searching for alternative sites, the MBTA will seek to encourage Logan Shuttle users to arrange to be dropped off at the MBTA station, rather than parking there.

Harold said he was relieved to learn that although forthcoming repairs to the Quincy Center garage will result in a loss of between 40 and 45 parking spaces, the MBTA plans to move its employee parking from Quincy Center to the MBTA bus maintenance garage on Hancock St., thereby freeing 71 spaces for commuters.

This will mean a net gain of 25 or 30 spaces in the Quincy Center garage for commuters, at least for the first phase of the reconstruction program, Harold said.

Word Still Awaited On GD Decision

Evelyn Murphy, spokesperson for General Dynamics Quincy Shipyard, said Tuesday she has not been told when the corporation will announce its selection of a buyer for the 102-year old shipyard which closed last spring.

She also said she has not been told whether an announcement will be on a final selection, or a group of finalists.

General Dynamics has been evaluating 17 proposals since the deadline Sept. 30.

Among the proposals is a joint venture bid by Massachusetts Shipbuilders, Inc., a corporation established by former managers and the unions representing the workers of the shipyard, and Reilly/Athy Associates of Boston.

Quincy Sun will be published a day earlier.

On Police Dept. Changes

Finn: 'We Really Want To Do It Ourselves'

By NANCY McLAUGHLIN

Mayor Francis McCauley said Tuesday he thinks the authors of a report which criticized the Quincy Police Department can work with members of that department in instituting recommendations.

"They don't have to be adversaries," said McCauley.

However, Police Chief Francis Finn had a different opinion at Monday night's City Council meeting when he asked that the Police Department be allowed to institute changes itself.

"We really want to do it ourselves," said the chief.

The council and its Public Safety Committee discussed the study and a request by the mayor for a $12,000 appropriation to hire the authors of the report to institute recommendations.

No action was taken.

The study was done under the direction of the Massachusetts Municipal Association which put together a seven-member consulting team at a cost of $19,500 to the city.

The result was a lengthy report which criticized the department for such things as lack of leadership and use of favoritism.

Finn said the department would rebut the study with its own report, and he submitted a 68-page report to the mayor and the council Monday night.

It contains "examples of actions that will be taken to comply with the recommendations of the MMA," stated Finn in a letter of explanation.

"The actions are standards required to become a nationally accredited police agency."

In a prepared statement, Finn told the council, "We have opted to take a positive approach to the study and present a plan of action that will address not only the deficiencies enumerated by the MMA, but also will enable us to look into every area of our managerial and operational policies and procedures."

"We will then bring them into compliance with the most up-to-date in contemporary policing.

"We have chosen accreditation as the vehicle to accomplish this goal," he said.

The process of national accreditation would cost about $10,000 and would take about two years, he said.

"We've come a long way since the report came out," said Finn, who told the council he would report back to the Public Safety Committee on a regular basis as to the department's progress.

Among the actions the report said the department would take would be to form a cohesive management team, authorize a full time internal affairs unit, implement one-officer patrol cars, and reorganize to provide a more logical allocation of staff and a clear distinction between line, staff and support functions.

Several of the councillors praised the police department

Kinney Systems To Appear Before City Council On Ross Garage Litter

City Council President Stephen McGrath has requested that a representative of Kinney Systems appear at the next council meeting to discuss the "disgraceful litter and unkempt appearance" of the Ross Parking Garage.

"The Kinney people are supposed to be responsible for the condition and appearance of the garage as part of their contract," said McGrath.

"On two Sunday afternoons I personally reviewed the garage and its condition is disgraceful," said McGrath.

"Empty liquor bottles, beer bottles and trash are strewn throughout the garage.

"The stairwell is filthy and badly in need of maintenance.

"As we approach the shopping season, I believe it is imperative to have Kinney clean up its act in the garage," said McGrath.

Who Is Quincy's 'Citizen Of The Year' For 1986?

Who is Quincy's "Citizen Of The Year"?

You can help decide.

Nominations can now be submitted for The Quincy Sun second annual "Citizen Of The Year Award."

Sun readers have the opportunity to nominate the person they feel is the most deserving.

After the nominations close Dec. 31, a judging panel will be selected to make the final choice from the nominations submitted.

A nomination ballot to help the selection process is on Page 4.

If you know someone you would like to see recognized with this award, please fill out the form and mail it to:

Citizen Of The Year Award
The Quincy Sun

1372 Hancock St.

Quincy, Mass. 02169

Nominations may also be dropped off at The Sun office. A reasonable facsimile of the form may also be used.

Those submitting nominations may also attach to the form a letter describing in more detail the reason for the nomination.

Last year's winner was Tony Siciliano, Deputy Director of Civil Defense and Auxiliary Police Chief. He was selected from among 31 nominees.

The award was established last year by The Sun to recognize an individual for outstanding community service.

Nominees can be someone in elective office, a member of an appointed board, a member of the clergy, a teacher or principal, a police officer or firefighter, a businessman or woman, a sports figure or someone who has given freely of her or his time to a worthy project or cause.

The honor may be for a single achievement or for community service over a period of time.

Those nominated last year

Christmas Lighting, Drawing Wollaston Festival To Open Nov. 29

The Wollaston business center will take on a holiday glow Nov. 29, as Christmas lights are turned on at 5:45 p.m. to officially open the center's Holiday Festival.

Some 64 members of the Wollaston Business Association have united this year to make the holiday season one of the grandest ever for their customers with a multitude of fine products and bargains galore.

The festivities get underway at 5 p.m. when Santa Claus, chauffeured in a Quincy fire truck, arrives at Hancock and Beale Sts., with balloons and bundles of lollipops.

Joining him shortly after in the parking lot at Hancock Bank on Beale St., will be the Wollaston Glee Club, who will sing popular carols.

The Quincy Symphony Orchestra will separate in groups and stroll like minstrels about the business district.

Mayor Francis McCauley, Rep. Michael Morrissey, Sen. Paul Harold, City Council president Steve McGrath will participate in the ceremonies.

The Christmas lighting ceremonies will be at Hancock and Beale Sts. where a switch will be pulled at 5:45 p.m.

Another highlight of the festival will be at 7:45 p.m., when participating stores will hold drawings for prizes to lucky shoppers.

Coupons for these prizes, donated by participating merchants, will appear in the Nov. 26 issue of The Quincy Sun. When filled out they can be deposited in clearly marked containers in each of the businesses prior to the drawing.

The festival will end at 8 p.m. when merchants close their shops and stores after greeting old and new customers.

RECEIVING AWARDS at the annual Honor Awards dinner of the Houghs Neck Community Council were "Good Neighbors" Jackie and Frederick Price; Patricia Shea Ridlen, Community Service; Eleanor Burke, Senior Citizen. Harvey's Salt Water Fishing Club representative (not pictured) Daniel Boyd.

Houghs Neck Council Honors Five Neighbors

Plaques, citations and symbolic "Houghs Neck Flounders" were received Sunday, Nov. 16, at St. Thomas Aquinas Hall by five persons recognized for their achievements by the Houghs Neck Community Council.

Frederick and Jackie Price were identified as "Good Neighbors," Patricia Shea Ridlen, "community service," Eleanor Burke, "senior citizens" and Daniel Boyd, president of Harvey's Salt Water Fishing Club.

Mayor Francis McCauley

spoke. Arnold Beresen emceed the ceremonies and presented Community Council plaques. Rev. M. Alicia Corea, a member of the Quincy Council on Aging, awarded certificates from that group; Sen. Paul Harold brought State Senate citations; and Ward One Councillor Michael Cheney awarded personalized City Council citations and "flounder" pins, particularly mentioning all good neighbors as the "unsung heroes of the community."

An original verse lauding the volunteers of the Houghs Neck Community Council's "Bulletin" newsletter was read by Dorothy Laing.

Devotions were led by Rev. Daniel O'Leary of Most Blessed Sacrament Church and the Rev. Dr. Peter V. Corea of the Houghs Neck Congregational Church.

Daniel Bythrow and David DiBona were chairmen for the event which included a dinner attended by some 150 members and friends of Houghs Neck.

License Board Briefs

The City License Board took the following action at Tuesday's meeting at City Hall:

- Granted a request from the Sacred Heart Parish Council for a one-day all-alcoholic license for their annual Appreciation Evening Friday, Nov. 21, beginning at 7 p.m. in the school auditorium.
- Approved the transfer of a retail wine and malt license, as held by Dairy Mart Inc., 542 East Squantum St., to Mary Geraldine Gaugin, who is opening The Yacht Stop at that location. The new business will function as a convenience store and delicatessen.

- Continued to Dec. 2 a request from Fred Koopman for a Motor II license for 111 Brook Rd.

- Granted a request from St. Ann's Mariannes, St. Ann's Rd., Wollaston, for a permit to conduct a flea market Saturday, Nov. 29, at the parish school. Eleanor M. Desmond petitioned the board for the permit.

- Granted permission to the Quincy Football Parents Club to conduct two canning days, Nov. 27-28, for fundraising purposes. The board reminded the club soliciting at traffic intersections is forbidden.

- Granted the Litre and Wedge, Wine and Cheese Shoppe at 230 Washington

St., a common victualer license for take out only food.

- Denied a request from the South Shore Commuter Services, Inc., doing business as Sea Shore Business, 24 Raymond St., for storage of 500 gallons of gas in tanks of buses stored and repaired at that Quincy Point location. The board also ordered petitioner David F. Barry to desist from continuing this type of work there because their records show no license was ever issued. Barry had been renting a section of the property which once housed the Piccarini Auto Sales.

- Continued to Nov. 25 a request from the Creative Gourmets, 859 Willard St., for a common victualer license.

4 Firefighters Risk Lives Mother In Serious Condition, Baby 'Good' After Rescue

A 34-year-old North Quincy woman who was rescued from her burning home early Saturday by the heroic actions of four firefighters was on the danger list in poor condition Tuesday at Quincy City Hospital.

Her three-week old daughter, who was also saved from the fire, was listed in good condition.

The two-alarm fire, listed as accidental, resulted in an estimated $60,000 damage to the single family, two-story, wood frame house of the Lentini family at 28 Milton Road, North Quincy.

Husband John, 38, and children Janna, 6, and Alexander, 2½, were able to flee the fire.

But wife Dianna and daughter Paige had to be rescued from the second floor bedroom where both lay unconscious.

Acting Fire Chief Carl Valenti said Lt. Paul Daley,

Lentini Family Fund Established

A fund has been set up to assist the family.

Donations may be sent to the Lentini Family Fund, c/o Boston Trade Bank, P.O. Box 3661, Boston, Ma., 02101.

Firefighters John Martell, Timothy Pettinelli and Daniel Sullivan risked their lives to make the rescue.

"They entered the building without hesitation and proceeded to the second floor," said Valenti. "There was very, very heavy smoke and extreme heat."

"There was fire below the staircase.

"The men searched through very thick smoke to find the mother on the floor, and then the baby.

"They performed under very dangerous conditions at risk to their own lives," said Valenti.

"Two more minutes and the mother and baby would have died."

Deputy Chief Joseph Jackson said he couldn't recall "a more spectacular" rescue during his 36 years with the department.

Jackson has recommended that the four men receive the roll of honor, the department's highest honor.

Cause of the fire, which apparently started in the kitchen, is still under investigation.

The first alarm came in at 1:44 a.m., the second at 1:48 a.m. All out was at 4:02.

There were seven pieces of apparatus at the fire.

No other injuries were reported.

However, the family's pet cat perished in the fire.

Over 40 Attend Seminar For Southeast Asians

More than 40 southeast Asian residents of Quincy attended a Sunday afternoon informational seminar hosted by Ward 6 Councillor Thomas J. Nutley and the Atlantic Neighborhood Association.

The event was held at the Atlantic Community Center.

"We devoted this seminar to safety in the home and human service issues," said Nutley.

"Our speakers included Quincy Police Dept. representative William L. Morgan, State Senator Paul

Harold, Patricia Yovino, director of the Community Center, and Ward 3 Councillor Jack Lydon.

"Jonathan Leung of the Quincy School Department served as the interpreter."

Nutley provided the guests with informational brochures from Boston Gas and spoke on methods of communicating with utility companies, safety in the home and the detection and prevention of hypothermia to the elderly.

"We had a most pleasant session," said Nutley. "I believe that our guests learned a lot here today, particularly regarding safety precautions to take in their households and the realization that recently-arrived southeast Asian residents are welcome members of the Atlantic and Quincy community.

"Several of our guests expressed interest in attending our community Christmas party, and we look forward to their attendance and participation in our community activities," said Nutley.

Creedon Enters Innocent Plea To Rape

Former Quincy School Supt. Lawrence P. Creedon entered a plea of innocent Not 14 on charges of rape and conspiracy to rape.

During a brief arraignment in Norfolk County Superior Court, Creedon, 54, pleaded innocent on one charge of rape and one charge of conspiracy to commit rape on a homeless woman earlier this year.

Dennis M. Anderson, 31, of Boston's South End district, also pleaded innocent to the same charges. Both were released on their own recognizance.

Their cases were continued to Dec. 5 for a pre-trial conference. The two men were earlier indicted by a Norfolk County grand jury.

The alleged rape reportedly took place March 21, in Creedon's South Quincy home.

Mayor To Seek N.Y. Credit Upgrading

Mayor Francis McCauley, members of his administration and representatives of Shawmut Bank will travel to New York Dec. 15-16, to seek an upgrading of the city's credit rating.

McCauley said the group will visit Moody's and Standard & Poor's financial rating firms during the overnight trip.

Making the trip with McCauley will be his executive secretary Peter Kenney, Auditor Robert Foy and Richard Meade, who will then be Planning Director.

Meade, now principal planner, will replace Planning Director James Lydon who is leaving Dec. 5 to take a job in the private sector.

McCauley said he will give an update on the city's financial statement and show "a financial upward swing."

Meade will discuss projects in the city such as Presidents' Place, Marina Bay and Crown Colony. McCauley said.

McCauley said he will show at the meeting that the city is generating a lot of tax revenue by expanding its tax base.

He said he expects to receive an answer from the two firms at the beginning of February.

Last year, the city's rating was raised from a low Baa to Baa by Moody's.

Standard & Poor's, which had never rated the city, gave a comparable triple B.

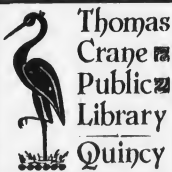

The higher the credit rating, the lower the city's cost of borrowing.

A Decision For McGrath

The 1987 City Council at-large race could be one of the best in recent years.

With one guaranteed open seat and likely two, there could be a stampede of candidates.

Incumbent Richard Koch, Jr., as everyone knows, will not be seeking re-election now that he has moved to and is working on the Cape.

And councillor Joseph LaRaia says he intends to run for mayor which would create the second open seat.

for mayor.

A council at-large seat is an ideal springboard. Most of Quincy's mayors have sprung to the mayor's office from there.

Lone recent exception was Walter Hannon who made it as a ward councillor, from coincidentally, Ward 5.

But times were different then, and Hannon had the backing of the powerful James McIntyre.

If there are two open at-large seats next year, McGrath is certain to make his bid for one of them.

If there is only one, however, will he go? Would he step aside to let Iacobucci, who has paid his dues as a candidate, have a better third shot at it?

If McGrath decides to stand pat and hopes to run for mayor in 1989 will he have another opportunity between now and then to win an at-large seat?

You can be sure he's going to be doing some mental wrestling in the next couple of months. He has to make what is a big political decision.

Businessman Tim Cahill, former Quincy High School wrestling coach looks like a sure candidate.

Ward 4 Councillor James Sheets is a possibility, along with Ward 1's Michael Cheney.

So is Sheila McIntyre, wife of the late Quincy mayor. And Tom Koch, brother of the departing councillor at-large who ran for the Ward 6 seat in 1985. And, Peter Colson, Germantown activist.

Now, if McGrath should run at-large that would create an open seat in Ward 5.

One name being mentioned as a possible candidate is Kathy Roberts, Republican state committeewoman.

Ah, politics. Never a dull moment.

The number of candidates running would depend, of course, on whether there are one or two open seats.

A number of names are being mentioned.

Ron Iacobucci, who has made two impressive but unsuccessful runs in the last two elections will definitely make a third bid. There's no doubt about that. He'll be announcing in January -- if not before.

Council President Steve McGrath may have the most thinking to do about making a run.

He wants to be mayor someday -- and not too far in the future. He knows he needs more visibility than as Ward 5 councillor to make the run for mayor.

He has extra visibility now as council president but he can only serve one more year at that post before turning the gavel over to someone else.

So, if he wanted to run for mayor in 1989 he would not be council president at the time. He needs more exposure than that of a ward councillor campaigning

4528 Get Flu Shots

The Quincy Health Department reports that some 4528 residents were immunized in its successful recent flu vaccine program that saw the public response higher than in previous years.

In a breakdown of statistics, the department said a total of 2599 senior citizens received immunization at elderly housing and other sites in the city in the program which began Oct. 6.

Nursing homes were supplied with 540 doses for residents and staff. The department made available to city physicians, free of charge, some 410 doses for distribution. Medical East in Braintree received 200 doses to accommodate patients who were Quincy residents.

The department's nurses immunized 300 shut-ins, and accommodated 38 people in the nursing office at the JFK Health Center, who were unable to receive the vaccine at the clinics.

Some 60 staff members of Quincy City Hospital and public schools took advantage of the program as did 41 city employees. At WJDA radio station and the Patriot Ledger, 31 employees were immunized.

During a general clinic, held Oct. 18, some 913 residents were vaccinated. Volunteers from the Red Cross and the health department's special volunteer unit assisted.

On Oct. 30, a make-up clinic was held at the health center and 501 people were accommodated.

and questioned consultant Brent A. Wilkes about some aspects of the report.

Councillor John Lydon said there has not been a "hint of corruption within the Police Department" since he has been a councillor and noted the "extremely good" response to emergency calls.

Lydon also cautioned the council against voting the appropriation for the consultants too quickly.

"If you vote to stuff this down the throat of the department, you've got problems," he said.

Councillor Richard Koch, Jr., who had suggested the study, said, "It's difficult for any department to accept a study, and difficult for any individual to accept criticism."

"We have a good department, and we don't want a bad department."

"I think this will prevent it in the future."

Council president Stephen McGrath questioned the report's recommendation that the chief of police be exempted from civil service.

"It might create instability if a new mayor could bring in his own person," said McGrath.

Councillor Theodore DeCristofaro said the "Quincy Police Department is a top-notch outfit, and always has been."

He questioned the use of unsigned questionnaires in compiling the report.

"I think you get more negative answers," he said explained.

Councillor James Sheets said the report "casts a long shadow, and will for a long time."

"The object was to produce the best possible police service."

"But that can't happen when it begins in an atmosphere of criticism exploding in the newspapers."

Committee chairman Michael Cheney said, "We knew the police report wasn't going to come out with a pink cover stating 'everything is roses'."

"We know we have a good police department, we only want to make it better."

Councillor Patricia Toland said, "We're very lucky in this city to have a police department which is so responsive."

"We have a good police department—the question is of management update."

"There isn't a department in the city which couldn't benefit from a review and recommendations."

Councillor Thomas Nutley said, "I hope Chief Finn will look at the shadow that has been cast."

"Here is a terrific opportunity, with help from an outside consultant, to remove that shadow and show that the Quincy Police Department is one of the finest in the state."

Koch and Cheney made a motion to grant the appropriation, but Lydon objected and the motion was tabled until the next meeting.

Cheney said he will schedule another meeting of the Public Safety Committee before the next council meeting.

Sheets asked for more information on the accreditation process.

Gerald Nichols, president of the Police Betterment Association, commented that he was pleased with the council's attitude.

"It showed they were upset with the negativism," said Nichols who expressed optimism that something positive could come out of the report.

Quincy's Yesterdays

First Draft Quota Goes Off To World War II

At ceremonies in the council chambers, Quincy said good-bye to nine young men who made up the city's first draft quota.

The farewell included speeches by Mayor Thomas Burgin, war time former mayor Joseph Whitton and Colonel George Adams, veteran of the Spanish-American War and W.W.I. Rev. Carleton Easton of Quincy Point Congregational Church gave the invocation.

The young men, all volunteers were, Robert Cutler, George Gorbunoff, Herbert Blanchette, Joseph Coode Jr., Edmund McCarron, Henry Tucker, Paul Sheridan, Joseph Cummings and Donald Knowles.

NEED FOR HOTEL CITED

"Quincy not only needs a hotel, but the city can support one," said Mrs. Florence Crone, a hotel executive living here temporarily.

She pointed out the city, with hotel accommodations, would be in a position to go out after many conventions which do not consider the city.

"A central location, possibly near the courthouse would be the best site," she said. She noted Quincy was one of the few cities of its size in the country without adequate hotel facilities.

TAXPAYERS ASSOCIATION BACKS ABOLITION OF RESERVE FIRE LIST

The Quincy Taxpayers Association announced its support of Mayor Burgin's recommendation to abolish the reserve list for the fire department.

William Edmonston, executive secretary of the association said his group supported the recommendation because the department would soon become an organization of old men. In place of the reserve list, it was suggested that an eligible list be set up instead.

LATE STARTING TIME OF THANKSGIVING GAME PROTESTED

The late starting time of this year's Quincy-North Quincy Thanksgiving Day game was protested.

Instead of starting at the usual 10:30 a.m., this year's game time was changed to 11 a.m. so that the game would not interfere with church services. Football fans, however, argued that the late starting time would interfere with Thanksgiving dinner. Fans wanted the 1941 game pushed back to the 10:30 time or even 10.

John Bowen.

Wollaston Chinese Restaurant Runs Into Opposition

By DAN CONNELLY

A request from Edwin Chin for a common victualer license to open the Kiki Chinese Restaurant at 687 Hancock St., Wollaston Center, was continued by the License Board to Nov. 26.

Chin's request for the continuance will enable him time to obtain legal counsel after it was brought out at the hearing he faces strong opposition from the neighborhood and Council President Steve McGrath.

The Ward 5 councillor told the board that another restaurant there is just not conducive to the will of the neighborhood. "I can not support it and those residents have also reflected their opposition."

"They would like to see the center get away from this type of enterprise and focus instead on an office type business," McGrath added.

Board Chairman John Gillis and Police Chief and board member Francis Finn, told Chin that another restaurant in Wollaston Center would have serious impact on an already saturated traffic situation there.

Chin's contention to the board was his request for a common victualer license was just continuing an established business pattern at 687 Hancock St., which formerly housed a delicatessen and donut shop.

Winners of the Ninth Annual Christmas Festival Poster Contest have been announced.

They include the following elementary school students:

Grades 1-3: Michael Burns, 157 Standish Rd., third grade student at Sacred Heart School - first prize; Gena Bermingham, 130 Brook St., third grade student at Sacred Heart School - second prize; and Linda Jellison, 22 Squanto Road, third grade student at the Merry Mount School - honorable mention.

Grades 4-6: Maura Crowley, 73 Woodcliff Rd., fourth grade student at the Lincoln Hancock School, was first prize winner, Jennifer Antoniazzi of 42 Russell St., a fifth grade student at Sacred Heart School, was second prize winner and Kaie Rogan of 101 Merry Mount Rd., fourth grade student at Merry Mount School, was chosen for honorable mention.

Richard J. Koch is chairman of the Quincy Festival Annual Foster Contest while George Whites is general chairman of all Christmas Festival Events.

The six students recognized are the choice of approximately 1500 submitted participants with 200 submitted for final judging. The finalists in many cases represented the top poster in the classroom selected by the teachers or students as recommended. Theme for the 1986 contest was "Christmas Fantasy."

First place winners will be presented with a $100 U.S. Savings Bond, second place winners with a $50 U.S. Savings Bond.

The honorable mention winners will be the recipients of citations in recognition of their achievement.

The winners will be introduced at the Christmas Lighting Ceremony Friday, Nov. 28, at 7 p.m. at McIntyre Mall and will ride in the Christmas Parade Nov. 30, in military jeeps.

Mrs. Clara Yeomans was responsible for the final judging and was assisted by Mrs. Marilyn Brooks, Christine Tedeschi and Mrs. Nancy Joyce.

The winning posters will be on display in the windows of The Quincy Sun office, 1372 Hancock St., Quincy Center, during the week of Nov. 30.

Thanksgiving Dinner

Prepare It Ahead To Enjoy The Day!

Here it is holiday time again, is that possible? And everyone wants to relax and enjoy them right?

It can only be done by preparing ahead, certain entrees that take too much time on that special day. Take for instance Thanksgiving Day. Most of us have to stuff the turkey, make the vegetables and if you're cooking a large turkey as I do, (more than 16 pounds), it will require lots of stuffing. Just make it a day or two before and you got it made!

Here is a tried and true recipe that I've used for a long while and one that is not too difficult to prepare. The following recipe for turkey stuffing is for a 10-12 pound turkey.

TURKEY STUFFING

1/2-1/4 pound ground beef (mixed with ground pork is nice)

1 stalk of celery, cut up

1 small onion, cut up livers from the turkey, finely chopped (optional)

1 egg

2 cups of stuffing mix (any kind) or 2 cups of plain bread

1 cup of season bread crumbs

1-1/2 tablespoons Bell's seasoning

2 tablespoons of oil

1/4 cup grated cheese (any kind)

1/4 cup white wine

In a large frying pan or pot, heat the oil and saute the celery and onion. Add hamburger and livers and the wine and cook until blended. Add the stuffing mix that you have soaked in water. Stir for a couple of minutes and then add the seasoned bread crumbs, Bell's seasoning, the egg, grated cheese and stir briefly. If the mixture looks watery, add more bread crumbs (even plain if you want), if too thick a little more water. Store overnight in the refrigerator. If you want to stuff it immediately, just let it cool first. (about 1 hour in the refrigerator.)

I always prepare my turkey for roasting the day before by placing the stuffed turkey in its baking pan along with salt, pepper and other seasonings you prefer, cover the pan and put it in the refrigerator. I also usually place a sliced onion, stick of margarine or butter and about a cup of water in the bottom of the roasting pan to provide a starter liquid for basting.

Next morning, pop the turkey with some foil loosely draped around the top, in a 350 degree F oven (I prefer to put the stuffing in the cavity of the bird, and let both cook together).

(Some experts advise putting the stuffing in a separate baking dish in the oven.) If you do this, the stuffing will take about an hour at 350 degree F to cook. Cover the dish.

If you have a 20 pound turkey and dinner is at 1:30, you will have to start baking in the wee hours. Just turn the oven on and go back to bed, there will be plenty of time to baste the bird when you get up. Figure on cooking the turkey 20 minutes to the pound.

With most of my cooking done ahead (I even make the butternut squash and then heat in a baking dish) ahead, and if I can con my daughters into helping set the dining room table the night before, Thanksgiving Day can almost be as enjoyable for the cook as well as for everyone else. Happy Holiday!

(Marie D'Olimpio is the author of "Simply Italian--And Then Some," a collection of her own recipes. Copies of the book are available at That's Italian, Franklin St., and Previte's Market, Summer St., both in Quincy, and Joy of Cooking at South Shore Plaza.)

DOVE Offering Holiday Donation Cards

Holiday donation cards are now available from Dove, Inc. The non-profit Quincy-based agency, which serves battered women and their children from Norfolk County has added this effort to strengthen their Christmas appeal.

"In the past, many people have asked if they could make a donation to DOVE as a holiday gift for a friend or relative. We have formalized this giving with our new donation cards," said Rosemary Kirwin, executive director.

"Christmas is a particularly difficult time for battered women and their children. It is gratifying for us to have so many people support our efforts during the holiday season."

Persons wishing to receive the donation cards should contact 471-5087.

Drinking And Driving

Today drinking and driving is the major factor on our highways. There are 157 million drivers in this country and 110 million drinkers. Each year 44,000 people die on U.S. highways. Alcohol is a factor in at least half of these deaths. Another 650,000 people are seriously injured as a result of drinking and driving. The cost of this runs into several billion dollars each year.

About 60 percent of the U.S. adult population drinks alcoholic beverages at least occasionally. Most of these drinkers use alcohol carefully and responsibly. Others may be heavy drinkers that have a problem with alcohol and still others may be social drinkers that may have had one too many.

Alcohol affects the central nervous system and causes a loss of concentration. This can cause drowsiness and increase the chances of having an accident. Alcohol also causes blurring or double vision which can increase the chances of an accident. Alcohol also causes a slower reaction time. If a driver can't react quick enough he further increases his chance of an accident.

Once a person stops drinking it takes more than three hours for his blood alcohol level to begin to drop, and more than six hours for all the alcohol to be eliminated from his body. (depending on your body size). When an individual has his last drink his blood alcohol level will continue to rise for a period of time.

Blood alcohol level is the amount of alcohol in the blood expressed as a percentage. Your blood alcohol level is determined by a breath, blood or urine test. In Massachusetts a blood alcohol level of 10 percent or higher in an individual, that individual is presumed to be intoxicated.

When discussing alcohol you should understand that nothing can sober you up. There are some fallacies that a cold shower, exercise or black coffee will help to sober you up. These are just fallacies. The system must process the alcohol, and that takes time. All that you succeed in doing with the shower, exercise and coffee is waking the individual and creating a wide awake drunk.

There are only two ways to keep from being arrested for drunk driving. The first is to have a designated driver. While everyone else is drinking alcohol the designated driver drinks soft drinks or fruit juices and everyone is assured of a safe ride home. The second way is to drink only one drink every hour and 15 minutes. This will allow your body time to consume and process the alcohol. Next week: . . . The Drunk Driving Law.

Church News

Thanksgiving Eve Service At St. John's Church

St. John the Baptist Church, Quincy Center, invites parishioners and area residents to participate in its festive annual Thanksgiving observance, Wednesday, Nov. 26 at 7:30 p.m.

A special Mass of Thanksgiving will be celebrated by pastor and principal celebrant, Rev. William McCarthy, and St. John's associate pastors, Rev.

Daniel Graham, Rev. Edward G. Carroll, Rev. Theodore Fortier, and deacon, Rev. Mr. Charles Sullivan.

Liturgical and patriotic hymns of the season will be provided by the choir, under the direction of John Cice and the folk group, led by Mary and Jeff Bonish and Tricia and Brian London.

The liturgy, prepared by members of the Spiritual Development Commission, will include an Offertory procession, presentation of the fruits of the harvest and a Thanksgiving narration.

The Parish Activities Commission will host a reception in the lower Church Hall following the liturgy.

St. John's only other Thanksgiving Mass will be celebrated Thursday, Nov. 27, at 8:30 a.m.

Thanksgiving Service Sunday At United First Parish

United First Parish Unitarian Church, Quincy Center, will celebrate Thanksgiving on Sunday, Nov. 23, at the 10:30 a.m. service.

Rev. Dr. Cynthia Edson, the church's interim minister for the past year and a half, will preach a sermon titled "Thanks for the Memories." Dr. Edson's interim ministry concludes Nov. 30.

The Braintree native comments, "It's been a privilege to be able to serve during the 250th birthday celebrations for John Adams and to see the congregation observe the 350th anniversary of the first sermons here by John Wheelwright.

"Not many ministers get the opportunity to experience such a dramatic worship space first hand while the people who occupy it are struggling to make their religious observances relevant for the 21st century. No matter where I'll end up when I move, I'll always have a soft spot in my heart for the time we spent together here."

The Thanksgiving Service will include an ingathering of non-perishable food for the P.S.S.B. and the Church School children processing down the aisle with fresh vegetables for the Thanksgiving dinner at DOVE.

Members of the Youth Choir, under the direction of Sally Bohl, will sing "Canticle of the Sun." Members include Lauren Davidson, Zoe, Angela, and Miranda Bohl, Leigh and Stephanie Williams, Marc Adams, Rebecca and Valerie Chin, Alyssa Costello, Jenny Post, Matthew Rankin, Bethany Savella, and Gisele Edwards.

The Church School children will also bake bread to be given to the congregation after the church service.

A reception will be held for Dr. Edson at 11:30 a.m. following the worship service.

Stewardship Sermon Topic At Covenant Congregational

Acolyte Amanda LaCoste lit the altar candles to begin the 10:45 a.m. worship service Sunday at Covenant Congregational Church, Whitwell and Granite Sts.

The organ prelude, "In Peace and Joy I Trust in God" by Whitlock, was played by Richard Smith, Minister of Music.

Rev. Fred Lawson's sermon was "Unappreciated Values in Christian Giving" and was based on the scripture lesson, Mark 14:3-9, the story of the woman who anointed Jesus' head with costly perfume.

The choir was directed and accompanied on the organ by Mr. Smith.

Greeters were Mrs. Helen Hodgkinson and Mr. Charles Sylvester. Ushers were Ruth Johnson, Virginia Sylvester, Don Johnson, and Charles Sylvester. The nursery, available every Sunday for children age five and under, was attended by Mrs. Lynn White. Junior Church was held by Mrs. Linda Day.

Activities for the coming week include a meeting of the Naomi Society Monday at 7:30 p.m., the Evening Bible Study Tuesday at 7 p.m., choir rehearsal Wednesday at 7 p.m. and a meeting of the Diaconate Friday at 7:30 p.m. On Wednesday, Nov. 26 a Thanksgiving Eve service will be held at 7 p.m. with a picnic social afterwards.

Next Sunday, Nov. 23, Sunday School starts at 9:30 a.m. with classes for all ages, and the morning worship service begins at 10:45 a.m. The sermon topic will be "Thankful for God's Best." More information about any of the church's activities is available from the church office by calling 479-5728.

Thanksgiving Day Service At Christian Science Church

Quincy Christian Scientists are inviting the community to join with them in a special service to be held Thanksgiving Day, Nov. 27, at 10 a.m.

The service at the church on 20 Greenleaf St., will include gratitude, testimonies of healing, prayer, and singing.

A verse from Psalms will sound the keynote for Thanksgiving: "...thy saints shall bless thee. They shall speak of the glory of thy kingdom, and talk of thy power..."

Each year, a portion of the hour-long Thanksgiving Day service is set aside especially for spontaneous sharing of thanks to God. It's not unusual for Christian Scientists to briefly relate how prayer has brought them release from various difficulties, including sickness.

Music and hymn singing also have a part in the service as does the prayer commended by Christ Jesus to his followers and now called "the Lord's Prayer."

A special sermon, composed of passages from the Bible and accompanied by selections from Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures by church founder Mary Baker

JOHN J. MACDONALD Jr. of Milton and Linda Davis of Weymouth, Readers at First Church of Christ, Scientist in Quincy, discuss a Bible passage in preparation for a special Thanksgiving service.

Eddy, will be read by John J. MacDonald Jr. and Linda Davis, the First and Second Readers. Christian Science churches have no clergy, and laypersons are elected from the membership as "Readers" to conduct services.

LOVE Ministry To Conclude Sunday At Good Counsel Church

LOVE (Lay ministry of Visitors to the Elderly) will conclude with the commissioning of the participants at the 9:30 a.m. Mass Sunday, Nov. 30, at Our Lady of Good Counsel Church, Merry-mount.

Lay Ministry of Visitors to the Elderly has been coordinated by Debora Nigro. The training sessions have been under the direction of Leo Donoghue, Parish Social Ministry, Director of Catholic Charities in Quincy.

The Rev. James F. Curtin, pastor, will present the certificates to Bridget Cloonan, Margaret Egan, Mary Flaherty, Eleanor Flibotte, Ruth Gallagher, Marney Hagerty, Sr. Regina Harrington, Mildred Johnson, Sr. Lillian MacDonald, Debora Nigro, Ruth Rugg and Kathleen Sullivan.

Following the Mass, there will be coffee and Danish served in the parish Hall for everyone.

Christian Parenting Topic At First Squantum Church

Responsible Christian parenting was the subject of the sermon preached Sunday morning by church pastor Rev. Dr. Gene Langevin at the second service of the First Church of Squantum.

The sermon was entitled "Building the Whole Person." Vanessa Stanton Zaehring, daughter of Craig Zaehring and Cynthia Stanton, was baptized by the Rev. Francis E. Miller, pastor emeritus of the Roxbury Presbyterian Church. Deacons Stewart Scott and Hazel Mayne assisted.

Vanessa's parents were also welcomed into the congregation as members, receiving the right hand of fellowship from the pastor, Dr. Langevin, and various other leaders of the church including Stewart Scott and Hazel Mayne, Board of Deacons; Helen Miller, Board of Trustees; Patti Hurd, Board of Christian Education; and Eva Martin, Board of Benevolences. The couple bring the number of new persons who have joined the Squantum church since January to sixteen.

Greeters at that service were Mary and Stewart Scott. Ushers were Tore Wallin and Stewart Scott. The Fellowship Hour after the service was hosted by Edna Swanson and Doris Longmire.

In the early service, Dr. Langevin assisted in the sermon by Steve Williams, Barbara Edgar and Marci Hurd. The subject was "Reading the Bible to Encounter Christ." Kristen Reister and Steve Cattan were the ushers. Guitarists Steve Williams, Mary Ruth Scott, Andy Ogilvie, and Robert Dixey accompanied the singing of the congregation.

A bake sale was held to raise money for the "Hanging of the Greens," a Christmas crafts and decorating party for the whole church, to be held Saturday, Nov. 29, from 6 to 8 p.m. The sale was sponsored by the Board of Christian Education.

At 9:15 a.m. this Sunday, Thanksgiving Sunday, the young people of the church are sponsoring a special Thanksgiving breakfast to be followed by a single worship service for everyone in the church. Reservations for the breakfast can be made by calling Hazel Mayne at 328-4367.

Church members are invited, this Sunday and next, to bring canned goods for people in need in the community.

Ecumenical Service At Houghs Neck Congregational

Sister Regina Harrington, of Our Lady of Good Counsel Church, will speak on "Thanksgiving Reflections" at the 11th annual Ecumenical Thanksgiving Service, to be held at Houghs Neck

Congregational Church Sunday, Nov. 23, at 7:30 p.m. Clergy and Choirs from St. Boniface, Most Blessed Sacrament, Quincy Community United Methodist, and Bethel Nazarene Churches, as well as Our Lady of Good Counsel and Houghs Neck Congregational will participate.

Following the service a fellowship hour will be held. The public is invited to attend.

Thanksgiving Celebration Sunday At Bethany Church

The Bethany Congregational Church, Coddington and Spear Sts., Quincy Center, will gather for a Thanksgiving Celebration on Sunday at 10 a.m. in the sanctuary.

Individuals and families in the community are welcome to come and share in this worship service. The usual early Chapel service will not be held.

The altar and chancel will be decorated with fruits, flowers, vegetables, corn stalks and pumpkins, arranged by a committee from the Mother's Club of Bethany, chaired by Sandra Jones.

Those attending the worship service are requested to bring along a food offering. Canned goods, dried and packaged food, in family or individual size would be most useful, including baby food, dried milk in packets, canned meats, spaghetti, soups, and canned vegetables.

All the food will go to the Protestant Social Service Bureau's "Pantry Shelf" to be distributed to the needy.

The children of the church school will attend the first portion of the service and will present their food gifts at the altar during the worship. Later, the children will go to their classrooms for half-hour sessions. Provisions are also made for babies and toddlers under the professional supervision of Bethany's Early Childhood Coordinator, Denise Fleming.

The pledges of giving by members and friends toward the support of the Church's 1987 budget, will also be collected, brought forward, placed on the altar and dedicated as a "thank-offering."

The Chancel Choir under the direction of Peter F. Krasinski, organist, will present the anthem, "Sing to the Lord of harvest" by Healey Willan. The Youth Choir will also have as a special selection, "Sing a New Song" composed by Dan Schutte. Caroline Calabro, flutist, will accompany the prelude, postlude and choral numbers.

The Rev. J. William Arnold, senior minister, will preach the sermon titled "Gratitude for God," based on scriptural texts from Colossians 3:12-17 and the Gospel of Mark 10:17-22. Harry F. Massey, Jr. will be the lay reader. The associate minister, Rev. Joel F. Huntington will serve as liturgist.

A fellowship time with light refreshments will take place in the Allen Parlor following the worship. This Thanksgiving Celebration will be broadcast live over radio station WJDA, 1300 kc at 10 a.m.

Bethany's Bazaar, the annual fall fair, will be held on Saturday, Nov. 22, 9 a.m. to 4 p.m., including a "Kid's Carnival."

Beginning Tuesday, Nov. 25 for three consecutive Tuesday evenings, 7:30 to 9 p.m., an adult membership class will be held by Rev. Arnold. This is for persons considering church membership and inquirers. The class will cover basic Christian beliefs and church practices.

For additional information concerning any of Bethany's programs and ministries please contact the church office at 479-7300.

TICKETS TO BERMUDA were presented by Charles R. McIntyre, son of the late Mayor-Senator James McIntyre, to Cindy and Chris Phelan. The Phelans won the tickets at a drawing held at the McIntyre Memorial Clambake in September. The event was to raise funds for a James R. McIntyre Scholarship.

A THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK

Which is the greatest day of one's life? A young man might say: "The day I was born." A groom in the presence of his bride might say: "The day I met her." A young mother might say: "The day I gave birth to my child." We agree, but add: "The greatest, most important day in one's life is tomorrow." What is tomorrow? Tomorrow is the day we're going to spend with our children. Tomorrow is the day we're going to call a friend. Tomorrow is the day we're going to do many things we have been putting off. Then tomorrow becomes today and today there is always a tomorrow. And all of life is tomorrow and tomorrow and tomorrow. No, we postpone most often just those things which can bring to our life beauty, joy, satisfaction, and meaning... We put off a few precious moments of togetherness and communion with family and friends.

Nature doesn't wait for us. We can't say to the blooming flower, "Hold on, remain fragrant, don't lose your beauty. Tomorrow we will enjoy you." The flower fades and withers. Children grow up and leave us. We are not in November what we were in June. Oh, the wisdom to know that today is yesterday's tomorrow!

The greatest, most important day is, of course, tomorrow...

Yesterday's tomorrow... TODAY...

Mr. Nee, a former driller for Pneumatic Tools Corp. at the Boston Navy yard, died Nov. 14 at Quincy City Hospital.

He was a native of County Galway, Ireland, and lived in Quincy for 40 years.

He retired in 1972 after working for Pneumatic Tools for 30 years.

He is survived by his wife,

Mary G. (Keohane) Nee; two sons, Thomas R. Nee of Hingham and Michael G. Nee of Halifax, Nova Scotia; two daughters, Mary G. Gardiner of Milton and Margaret M. Richter of San Francisco; and two sisters, Catherine Connors of Quincy and Polly Lovell of Ireland.

Burial was in Milton Cemetery.

Funeral arrangements were by the Keohane Funeral Home, 785 Hancock St., Wollaston.

Paul Duffy, 61

A funeral Mass for Paul F. Duffy, 61, formerly of Quincy, will be celebrated at 10 a.m. today (Thursday) in the Sacred Heart Church, North Quincy.

Mr. Duffy, a retired garage foreman for the MBTA, died Nov. 16 at his home in Morrisett, Fla., after a short illness.

Born in Boston, Mr. Duffy had lived in North Quincy for 18 years and also had been a resident of Freeport, Me.

Mr. Duffy had been employed by the MBTA for 35 years, working at the Albany Street garage.

He was a member of Local 264 of the Machinists' Union, a life member of the Lincoln F. Clement Jr. Amvets Post in Durham, Me., and a parishioner of Sacred Heart Church in North Quincy.

He is survived by his wife, Margaret (Kline-Mahoney) Duffy; two sons, John Duffy of Dedham and Michael Mahoney of West Roxbury; a brother, John L. Duffy of Littleton; a sister, Anna Cox of Dorchester; five grandchildren and many nieces and nephews.

Burial will be in St. Joseph's Cemetery in West Roxbury.

Funeral arrangements were by the Wickens and Troupe Funeral Home, 26 Adams St., Quincy.

Memorial donations can be made to a charity of choice.

Gertrude Holdstock, 93

A funeral service for Gertrude (Smith) Holdstock, 93, formerly of Quincy and Dorchester, was held Tuesday at the Deware Funeral Home, 576 Hancock St., Quincy.

Mrs. Holdstock died Nov. 10 at Kingsway Nursing Home in Schenectady, N.Y.

A native of Nova Scotia, she lived in Quincy and Dorchester most of her life before moving to Schenectady three years ago.

Wife of the late Henry C. Holdstock, she is survived by a son, Norman Holdstock of Florida, four grandchildren, five great-grandchildren and several nieces and nephews.

Burial was in Cedar Grove Cemetery in Dorchester.

Raider Mistakes Let One Get Away

By TOM SULLIVAN

The North Quincy football team was its own worst enemy last Friday night as it let one get away.

Brookline, winner of only one previous game, took advantage of numerous North mistakes to post a 20-12 victory before a sparse crowd at Frigid Veterans Memorial Stadium.

With hopes of a .500 season now gone, the Raiders (3-6) will try to regroup for the 'second season; the Thanksgiving classic with Quincy.

"This was unforgivable, we handed it to them," said North coach Ken McPhee. "It will take me a few days to get over this loss. I know we are better than they are but we made too many mistakes and they took advantage of them."

"A good team doesn't let a club come back like they did after we scored twice. I just hope we'll bounce back on Thanksgiving. We will find out what we are made of when we play Quincy. I feel we will put this one behind us and will be all set for them."

North made several mental mistakes and some costly penalties hurt its cause.

"Joe Mulvey played an outstanding game at quarterback," said McPhee. "He threw some pinpoint passes and some of those that missed were perfectly thrown."

Mulvey was seven for 16 for 99 yards and a touchdown and had one interception. One of the missed passes was in the end zone when the wide-open receiver couldn't hold on to the ball.

Ryan Craig had a fine night rushing with a net 82 yards and Paul McCormack also ran well. He had 71 yards, including a 60-yard run.

North Quincy Season Scoring

|           | TD | PAT | Pts. |
|-----------|----|-----|------|
| Craig     | 4  | 0   | 24   |
| McDougall | 3  | 0   | 18   |
| McCormack | 3  | 0   | 18   |
| Casey     | 1  | 0   | 6    |
| Ainsley   | 1  | 0   | 6    |
| Lawless   | 0  | 2   | 2    |
| Patch     | 0  | 1   | 1    |

"Billy McDougall and Steve Happas made nice catches (McDougall's was for a touchdown) and the offensive line did a good job, giving Mulvey good protection and opening some good holes for Craig and McCormack," McPhee said.

"The defense did a good job, also, and they beat us with long bombs. They beat our strength. Scott Chansky came up with some big plays (a pass interception and some fine open field tackles.)"

Following a North punt midway in the opening quarter, North recovered a fumble on its own 33 but on the next play fumbled the ball back to the Indians on North's 25.

On the opening play of the second quarter Brookline punted to North's 25. On the next play McCormack broke into the open and galloped 60 yards before being brought down from behind on Brookline's 15.

On fourth and 15 Mulvey hit McDougall, who made a fine catch and went the distance for the touchdown. The try for the two-point conversion was no good.

It took Brookline just four plays to take the lead. Starting on their own 47 following the kickoff, Phil Polishuk passed long to Derek Walker, who carried several defenders to the North five. Brookline was penalized 10 yards but on third down John Burke scored from the one. Steve Fay kicked the point and Brookline led, 7-6.

A few minutes later Chansky stopped Dwayne Clark with a fine tackle as Clark threatened to break away. Led by Burke and Clark, the Indians moved to North's 15. On the final play of the half Chansky intercepted a pass in the end zone.

North Quincy came out strong in the second half and, led by Craig and McCormack, picked up four first downs and had a first down on Brookline's nine. Held for three downs, Steve Patch was called upon to try a 28-yard field goal but it was short and wide.

North recovered a Brookline fumble on the Indians' 24 and, after the Raiders were penalized five yards, Happas made an outstanding catch of a Mulvey pass, just managing to stay in bounds before going out on the two. Craig carried twice for the touchdown. A pass was no good in the try for the points.

Again Brookline came back to score, this time just 16 seconds after the North touchdown. Roland Mendez returned the kickoff from his 25 to North's 43 and immediately Polishuk hit Walker with another bomb that went all the way. A pass for the two points failed and it was 13-12.

The next kickoff sealed North's fate. The kick deflected off a North player and Brookline recovered on the 35. Four plays later Brookline scored on an eight-yard pass from Polishuk to Walker and Fay kicked the final point.

"We work on kickoffs and I tell the boys to always keep their eyes on the ball until it gets past them. This is one loss that is very tough to accept," McPhee said.

DAN GILMARTIN, who rushed for 129 yards to lead the North Quincy Apaches over the Quincy Point Panthers for the Quincy Youth I league championship, goes through the right side for a sizeable gain.

Cap Perfect Season

Apaches Edge Panthers, 8-0 For Crown

By STEVE KAVANAGH

The North Quincy Apaches edged the Quincy Point Panthers, 8-0, to wrap up the Quincy Youth Football League championship under the lights at Veterans Memorial Stadium Saturday.

It was their 14th title. The Panthers have won 19 championships.

Dan Gilmartin raced 54 yards with a screen pass to provide all the scoring the Apaches would need with just 3:12 remaining in the game.

The victory capped off a perfect 9-0 season for the defending champions, but it didn't come easy.

Aside from Gilmartin's touchdown scamper, the Apaches never got the ball inside the Panther 25. The Quincy Point defense came up with a number of big plays including two fumble recoveries.

On the other hand, the North Quincy defense was just as stingy as it had been all season. The Panthers never got closer than the Apache 25.

In fact, Panther John Barkas was the only player in the league to penetrate the Apache 20-yard line all season. He scored on a 41-yard reverse early in the season—the only points the Apaches allowed all year.

"We have a great defense," said Apache coach Tom Carter.

Coach Bill Peters agreed. "The defense allowed only six points in nine games."

Panther coach Frank Brillo was proud of his squad.

"It was a good team effort. They gave 110 percent," he said. "I congratulate the Apaches, they are a great team." Brillo is stepping down as head coach after 27 years.

The Panthers proved to be worthy opponents. Mid-way through the third quarter linebacker Ralph Bevilacqua sacked Gilmartin for a seven-yard loss which forced the Apaches to punt.

Quincy Point took over at its own thirty-five and mounted a long drive into Apache territory.

Bob Crespi and Steve Feeley rushed the ball well and Joe Crespi hit Ken Staskyewicz with a nine-yard pass to give the Panthers a first down at the North Quincy 26.

The drive stalled, however, as Mark Kelliher intercepted a fourth down pass.

On the next play, Apache quarterback Barry Glynn connected with Kevin MacDougall for a 24-yard gain.

Three plays later Glynn tossed the screen to Gilmartin who appeared to be stopped by four or five Panthers as he caught the ball. But the speedy halfback broke free and cut to the outside where he outran the Panther secondary.

Glynn then passed to Mike Doherty for the two-point conversion.

The Apaches got solid efforts from Gary Glynn, Steve Lombardi, Brian Halpin, Kevin Mullay, George Walsh, Matt Ryan,

Gilmartin rushed for 129 yards on 24 carries.

Carter had praise for Quincy Point. "They were well prepared as all Panther teams seem to be," he said.

Brillo singled out running backs Feeley and Crespi. "They both ran well and blocked well for each other."

Brillo also praised his right end Staskyewicz. "He played with sore ribs and a bad back. He made some key plays and had an outstanding season for us."

Defensively, Brillo gave high marks to Evan Kiley and Rich Burns.

Other Panthers who played well were Tom Norton, Bevilacqua, Mike Bamber, Joe Crespi, Mike Tempesta, Barkas, and Steve Sumpter.

Chris Shaughnessy and Tom Corliss. Bill Myers is the team owner.

The Apache coaching staff included Peters, Carter, Paul Moody, Bubba Williams, Mike Peters, Steve McGonagle, and Steve "P.N. Guin" Healy.

Denise McLellan coached the Apache cheerleaders. The varsity included, Karen Grafton, AnnMarie Montgomery, Tracey Tobin, Julie Buckley, Alison Vidoli, Sara Buckley, Lori Santoro, Kara Feeney, Jenny White, Maggie Ryan, Jill McLellan and Laurie Connolly.

The junior varsity consisted of Lynne Carter, Leanne Morris, Angela Favallori, Kelli Gott, Adrienne Morash, Jamie Vidoli, Diane Monteith, Kerry Connolly, Amy Echelle, Pam Francouer, Nicole Fasoli, Jessica Murphy and Mary Ellen Greene. Mascots were Jill Favallori and Lisa Vidoli.

Patti Myers, Kathy Myers and Tricia Shaughnessy coached the Panther cheerleaders.

The varsity included Robin Parker, Beth Barter, Janet DiTullio, Kerry Wood, Lina Russo, Jennifer Barnard, Colleen Skehan, Jennifer LaRaia, Kerry O'Brien, Jen Bonvie, Eileen Kelley, Sheila Cronin, Beth Sullivan, Carrie Carney, Sherree Mackie and mascot Mandy Barter.

The junior varsity cheerleaders are Michelle Minichello, Lynne Feeley, Maureen Wood, Marianne McSweeney, Debbie Russell, Maureen Mancuso, Jennifer Walsh, Vicky Comeau, Cindy Cedeno, Amy Murphy and mascot Ashley Peterson.

Officials for the championship game were referee Kevin Mahoney, umpire Stan Livingstone, linesman Stan Shaw, field judge Frank Sayers and clock operator John Reid.

An estimated 500 fans attended the title game.

"It was a great shot in the arm for Quincy Youth Football," Carter said.

"It was great playing under the lights," Brillo agreed.

Both coaches extended thanks to the Stadium Lighting Committee.

Carter also thanked the North Quincy and Quincy High School Booster Clubs, the Quincy School Committee and the City of Quincy for their cooperation in making the league's first night game a success.

Thanksgiving Football Tickets On Sale At Schools

Tickets for the Thanksgiving football game are on sale at all elementary, middle and high schools.

The cost is $3 for student tickets, and $5 for adults.

Tickets for the reserved seat section can be purchased from Bill Dolan, North Quincy Boosters Club; Rick Hutchins, North Quincy

All tickets at the stadium will be $5.

Thursday Deadline For Koch Youth Basketball

Seventy-five boys and girls have registered for the Koch Club youth basketball program held Thursday nights at the Atlantic Middle School gym, Hollis Ave., North Quincy.

Deadline for applications is tonight (Thursday), and youth between the ages of 7-9 years should report at 6:30 p.m. while the 10 to 12 year olds start their program at 7:45 p.m.

Simone J. Koch is director of the program and she is assisted by Robert Woods, treasurer; Edward Leary, Thomas Bowes, David Barnes and Michael Bowes.

The program is conducted every Thursday evening through March 26 when an awards program will close out the 37th season of winter recreational basketball activity of the Koch Club.

The Thanksgiving, Christmas and New Year's Day holidays fall on Thursdays and the Koch Club basketball program will not be conducted on these dates.

Somerville 36, Quincy 14

Presidents' Defense Cracks, Offense Stalls

Quincy's football team started off well last Saturday at Somerville, driving to a touchdown after taking the opening kickoff, but the Presidents' defense, which was so good against Arlington, was unable to stop the home team's devastating running attack as Somerville handed Quincy a 36-14 defeat, dropping the Presidents to 4-5.

Coach Jack Raymer hopes his team will bounce back against North Quincy on Thanksgiving and end up with a 5-5 record after going 0-10 a year ago.

"We were just terrible on defense today," Raymer said. "The defense which played against Arlington didn't show up today and we helped them on several long gainers with sloppy tackling. They must have gained almost 300 yards on the ground and many times we had four and five shots at the ball carriers. Steve Picarski was the only player who did well defensively."

"We didn't do a bad job on offense and Joe Cardarelli had another big day (114 yards rushing) and John Bogan also ran well. The offensive line gave Steve Austin some good protection and he was eight for 13 passing for 134 yards."

Quincy Season Scoring

Cardarelli, a senior playing his first year of football, scored both Quincy touchdowns and, with 964 yards rushing, needs just 36 yards against North Quincy to pass 1000 yards for the season.

Raymer praised Joe Innello, who had four more pass receptions for 65 yards and the offensive line of Picarski, Norm Hassan, Jeff Sprague, Dave Savage, Frank Calabro, Rick Smith, Bill

Ryan, who had a nice pass reception, and Steve Gardner, who had two catches.

Quincy started impressively, marching 60 yards after receiving the opening kickoff and Cardarelli, who did most of the rushing, scored from the two. Mark Farrand's kick for the extra point, after Quincy was penalized five yards, was no good.

Somerville came right back and Bill McClure capped a nice drive by scoring from the two and Jim Perry added the two-point conversion.

After the kickoff Austin hit Gardner for 14 yards and, with fourth down and two on Somerville's 44, Quincy gambled and lost as the Highlanders took over.

Aldo Verra, who ran for 90 yards, scored from the four early in the second quarter and Scott Abbott passed to his brother Boh for the two points and Somerville led, 16-6.

Somerville started from Quincy's 48 following the second half kickoff and Verra capped the drive with a five-yard scoring run. This time the try for points failed.

Quincy came back as Austin hit Innello for 15 yards and then 14 yards to the Somerville two and two plays later Cardarelli scored, capping a 66-yard march. Austin hit Innello for the two-point conversion.

Late in the third quarter Verra scored from the one after quarterback Scott Abbott raced 59 yards to the Quincy five. Abbott passed to Steve Smith for the two points.

Minutes later Somerville's Eric Conlon intercepted an Austin pass on Somerville's 25.

Early in the final quarter Verra, shaking off several defenders, went for 16 yards and Perry scored from the eight.

Quincy started a good drive as Austin hit Ryan for 28 yards and Cardarelli gained 10 yards, but an Austin pass was intercepted at the goal line.

With the second unit, Somerville drove again with time running out and the game ended with the Highlanders on Quincy's two.

North Jayvees Defeat Cambridge, Brookline

By PETE ZOIA

The North Quincy junior varsity football team continued its winning ways as it defeated Cambridge Rindge and Latin, 31-6, and Brookline, 14-0, to improve its record to 7-2.

Steve Shoap was the running star for North against Cambridge with touchdown runs of 33 and 10 yards. Shoap also added a pair of two-point conversions.

Coach Kevin Cohan's Raiders led all the way and Cambridge's lone score was on a 60-yard run in the second quarter.

Boh Sylva threw a touchdown pass to Chris Mendes and Chuck Peck added the two-point conversion.

Freshman Keith Gott raced 51 yards to set up another touchdown, which he scored from the nine. Steve Patch kicked the extra point.

Assistant coach Jamie Walsh praised Sean Glennon for his play at center. Also earning praise were Mike Curtin, Paul Jeffers, Bob Herman, Vin Moran and Jack Mullen on defense.

Brookline apparently scored on the opening kickoff but a clipping penalty nullified a 72-yard runback and set the Indians back to their own 12.

Sylva hit his favorite receiver, Ted Stevenson, for a 36-yard touchdown pass the first time North had the ball. Shoap rushed for the two-point conversion.

The Raiders recovered the first of three Brookline fumbles to set up their second score. Mendes raced 24 yards for the touchdown.

Neither team was forced to punt during the entire game.

Quincy, North Jayvees Play Under Lights Friday

The Quincy and North Quincy junior varsity and freshman football squads will play their annual games under the lights for the first time

Friday night at Veteran Memorial Stadium.

The freshmen will play at 4:30, followed by the junior varsity contest at 6.

Early Sports Deadline For Next Week's Sun

Because of Thanksgiving Day, next week's Quincy Sun will be published a day earlier.

Sports releases should be in the Sun office Friday at noon to assure publication.

North Freshmen Win Third In Row

The North Quincy freshman football team, which lost its first three games, has bounced back with three wins in a row, the latest victim being Brookline, 20-14.

Keith Gott again was the big offensive star for the baby Raiders, scoring two touchdowns on runs of 31 and 15 yards and adding a two-point conversion. Gott has rushed for over 100 yards in every game this fall.

The winning touchdown came on a 75-yard kickoff return by Mike Gates.

Interceptions by Heffernan and Chris Ballenno highlighted North's defensive play.

"Jason Doyle and Jeff

Calvert did a great job for us," said Carter.

Meet The Quincy Youth Soccer Champions

By DONNA SULLIVAN

The Quincy Youth Soccer League finished its fall season last weekend with the playoff final.

Alberts and Goodman won the girls under 10 title with a 5-1 victory over Deware Nolan Home.

Karen Manna had a hat trick and Rachael Lovendale two goals. Nancy Shine and Manna had assists and Stephanie Corkery and Jenna Nolan played well. Shannon O'Toole scored for Deware on a direct kick. Goalie Amy Columbus and Heather Wakelin played fine games.

In the semifinals Alberts and Goodman topped Quincy Plumbing and Heating, 4-2, with Manna having another hat trick and Lovendale the other goal. Melissa Ruozzi and Kelly Howard had assists and Kim Fitzgerald and Shine played well. Valerie Chun had both Plumbing goals unassisted. Erin Mawn, Nancy Walker, Jennifer Lewis and Jill LaForest played strong games.

Deware edged That's Italian, 1-0, on O'Toole's goal. Karen Harvey had an assist and Laura Waltz, Nancy DiStasio and Heather Wakelin all played well. For That's Italian goalie Katie Landi, Kim Barry, Katie Lewis, Patricia Wilk and Jill Barbuto played good games.

Villa Rosa took the girls under 12 crown by blanking Sew-Fisticated Fabrics, 2-0. Melissa Johnson and Suzi Hourin scored the goals and Angela Marinilli and Noreen Fewer had assists. The entire team played well. For Sew-Fisticated Julie Barbuto, Angela Healy and Alison Sullivan had good games.

In the semifinals Villa Rosa blanked Quincy Lobster, 3-0, on goals by Debra Callahan, Marinilli and Hourin. Calice Greeley, Hourin and Jennifer Cleary had assists and Christine DePaolo, Leah Rizzitiello and Justine Fagerlund turned in fine games. Eileen McDonough, Amy Echelle, Liz MacLean and Maureen McCarthy had good games for Lobster.

Sew-Fisticated squeaked by the Tom Nutley Club, 1-0, on Lisa Flynn's goal. Kerry O'Donnell assisted and Kerry Evans and Katie Deady had good games. For Nutley Alicia Monahan, Kristin Foley and Michele Bragg played well.

The Bay Area Bombers copped the girls under 14 championship with a 2-0 win over Fleming & Langlois. Patricia Callahan and Karen McCabe had the goals and Maureen Fewer had an assist. For F&L the entire team played well.

Quincy Fire blanked North Quincy K. of C., 3-0,

Killion Wins Diving Competition

Julie Killion of North Quincy took first place in diving last week in the South Sectional swimming and diving championships at the Lincoln-Hancock School pool.

Killion pulled away from Suburban League rival Julianne Hodgins of Brockton to place first.

"Julie was very solid on every dive until the last," said

North coach Bill Walker. "We were thrilled that she was able to beat Hodgins and Andrea Martin of Newton, both of whom beat her in the Suburban League championships."

Killion, a three-time league champion, missed a dive in the league championships but had no such trouble last week, opening a 12-point lead going into her final dive.

Quincy Girls In Good Swim Performance

The Quincy girls' swim team made a creditable showing in the recent Suburban League championships at Brockton High.

The 200-yard medley relay team of Janet Morrell, Cindy Galman, Kerri Mortimer and Renee Gaura finished fourth. Individually, Lisa Olsen placed 10th in the 200-yard freestyle in 2:31.2 and set a school record in the 100-yard breaststroke, finishing in 1:25.00.

The 200-yard freestyle relay team of Olsen, Galman, Mortimer and Gaura lowered its best time by nine seconds, finishing in 4:35.96 and edged out North Quincy by four seconds to finish fifth.

Quincy's Pee Wee B team, sponsored by A&T Movers, took advantage of a 13-day break from Greater Boston League action to play three non-league games against the strongest competition available.

The Pee Wee B's, in third place in the league, had a 2-1-0 record in the non-league contests.

They defeated Weymouth, 6-4, in the first game.

In the second they edged a strong Edgewood, R.I., team, 5-4. Jim Smith and Bobby Fitzpatrick scored in the first period with assists for Sean Vermette, Karen McCabe and Scott McCloy for a 2-1 lead.

In the second period Matt O'Toole had the only goal and Steve O'Brien assisted. Edgewood scored twice and it was 3-3 after two.

Third period scores by Sean McArde and the game winner by Zona enabled Quincy to hang on for the win as Edgewood scored with a second left to play. Vermette had two assists and Smith and Fitzpatrick one each. The defense of Capt. Mike O'Brien, Shane Abboud, Scott McCloy, John Gladu, McCabe and Mark Gilmore was a key factor in all the games. Woburn defeated Quincy, 4-3. McCarthy scored with 11 seconds left in the first period and Woburn scored twice in the period.

Woburn went ahead, 3-1, with the only goal of the second period. Quincy never gave up and outscored the winners, 2-1, in the third period but fell short. Scoring were Mike Christopherson, assisted by O'Brien and O'Toole, and Zona, assisted by McCarthy and Fitzpatrick. Goalies Sean Connolly and Ed Gafanhao played well in the three games.

Grogan, Adams Tie Bearing Rolls, 5-1

Ralph Gibbs scored both goals for Grogan's Business Machines to give his team a 2-2 tie with Adams Sports in Executive Hockey League action Monday night at the Youth Arena.

Ed Grogan and Marty Tolson assisted on Gibbs' goals. Fred Ahearn and Paul Hurley scored for Adams with assists for Hurley, Paul O'Brien and Dennis O'Connell.

South Shore Bearing defeated DiMattia's Sailmakers, 5-1, as Bob Carroll scored twice. Jack Aldred, Chip Linscott and Steve Dymant scored the other goals and Gary Dymant and Linscott had two assists apiece and Aldred and Charlie Chambers one each. Bob McKenna scored for the Sailmakers and Mike Farina and Mike Shea assisted.

Doug McLean scored two goals and added an assist to lead Bob White's Place over Beacon Sports, 5-3. Jim Cooney, Kevin Lewis and Joe Larkin had the other goals. Lewis had three assists and Cooney one. Mike Jago, Artie Boyle and Joe Verlicco scored for Beacon and Art Boyle had two assists and Verlicco one.

In earlier games DiMattia's defeated Bob White's, 8-3; Ed Lenihan, Gibbs and McKenna scored two goals each.

Farina and Mark Matenes had the other goals and Jim Connolly, Al McKay and Farina had two assists apiece and Lenihan and Gibbs one each. Doug McLean, Dennis Mullen and Lewis scored for White's and Lewis, Jack Valle, Cooney and Dave Casey had assists.

Kevin Jago scored four goals and added an assist to spark Beacon Sports over Adams Sports, 7-2. Charlie Watts, Artie Boyle and Jamie Pontremoli had the other goals. Peter Janis and Art Boyle had two assists apiece and Peter DiBona and Artie Boyle one each. Kevin Cobban and Ahearn scored for Adams and Ahearn and Grogan had assists.

Grogan's edged South Shore Bearing, 3-2, on goals by Gary DeCoste, Ralph Gibbs and Dick McCabe. Tolson and Rick Colman had two assists apiece and Jim Kearney one. Steve Dymant and Chambers scored for South Shore and Chuck Hughes and Larry O'Connor had assists.

Mite A's Remain Undefeated

Quincy's Mite A's, sponsored by DAV '79, remain undefeated after last Saturday's 2-2 tie against Westwood at the Skating Club of Boston.

Westwood took a quick 2-0 lead after a hard fought first period. In the second period, Ronnie McGinn's unassisted goal sparked the Quincy team. Center Mark Regan led several scoring drives but came up short. A Quincy penalty gave Westwood a power play advantage, but defensemen Jenna Nolan and Jason Fennelly were able to contain the Westwood attack.

In the third period, Paul

Princiotto's shot from Brendan O'Brien tied the score. But a second penalty left Quincy short-handed again. Once again, defensemen Danny Hughes and Danny Donahue were able to shut Westwood down.

This brings their record to 3-0-1 in the Boston League.

First Ladies Win 5th Straight Sectional Crown

For the fifth year in a row the Quincy girls' volleyball team is the Div. 1 South Sectional champion and the First Ladies continued their quest of their third state championship in five years last night (Wednesday) in the semifinals at Waltham High School.

The Quincy girls, who won their fifth straight Suburban League title with a 16-1 record, losing only their final match of the season, swept North Quincy, 3-0, for the sectional crown last Friday night before a large crowd at Eastern Nazarene College. It was the first time any Quincy and North teams had ever faced each other for a tournament title.

But it is hats off to the North Quincy girls, playing in the state tournament for the first time in history. With only two seniors, both non-starters, the Raiderettes had finished third in the league with a 13-5 record, then proceeded to upset tourney-wise Braintree and top-seeded Durfee to make the sectional finals.

Quincy's experience paid off in the title match with the seniors, playing in their fourth straight tournament, leading the First Ladies past the gallant young Raiderettes. "This is the fourth time around for the girls in this tournament," said Quincy coach Tom Henderson. "When the going got tough the seniors kept everyone calm and poised to pull us through. The whole team played well as a unit and again we received the necessary contributions from each girl's strength."

"It was a little disappointing for us," said North Quincy coach Jim Rendle. "We showed shades of what we were capable of but only played to that potential in spurts, obviously, we weren't consistent enough. Quincy just out-executed us.

"But I am extremely proud of this group of girls. We started only juniors and sophomores and they did a remarkable job. Braintree has been in the tournament several times and Durfee was the top-seeded team in our division. It was a memorable season and we should be even better next year with this year of experience."

A lot of emphasis was placed on the match as both teams filed formally into Eastern Nazarene's Lahue Center gym to the sounds of the Olympic theme, then exchanged red and white carnations at midcourt.

Quincy pulled out a hard-fought 15-13 decision in the opening game. The First Ladies took a 10-5 lead as Standring and Amy Guidice supplied winners for the team. The Raiderettes hung tough and, sparked by Angela Venezia, Fileen Campbell and Jill Caldwell, fought back to move within a point, 14-13. But Guidice's height advantage proved to be one of Quincy's big assets and she blocked successive shots at net to register the winning point.

The second game was almost a duplicate of the first as Quincy expended for seven straight points to build a 10-2 cushion behind four Standring slams and a Duggan spike. The Raiderettes again came back strong and, led by Deirdre Murphy and Holly Rendle, closed to 10-7. However, a Corinne Fitcher slam off a Duggan set and a soft tap-in by Nancy Latinen gave Quincy the win, 15-9.

Quincy again dominated the middle stretches in the third game, piling up an insurmountable 13-3 lead with Duggan's setting, Standring's spiking and the serves of freshman Randi Gaura foiling the Raiderettes as Quincy won, 15-8.

In the semifinals Quincy, seeded second, swept Barnstable, 3-0 (15-3, 15-5, 17-15), while North Quincy, seeded fifth, provided the big upset of the sectionals, shocking top-seeded Durfee, 3-1 (15-10, 15-11, 6-15, 15-13).

"We mixed things up very well and again went with each girl's strength," said Henderson. "We made some tough shots and forced them to make their own mistakes in their own end. That's how you win in this game."

"This could have gone either way," said Rendle. "We came out hot and won the first two, that was a big edge. We had some problems but we didn't quit. They are used to pressure situations and this was a real big win for us."

Quincy had opened the sectionals by defeating Bopop Stang, 3-1 (15-1, 15-0, 14-16) (Quincy played its second unit), 15-6.

North Quincy, playing its first tournament game ever, overcame early jitters to build fourth-seeded Braintree, 3-0 (15-11, 5-8, 15-6).

"I was nervous going in because all our starters are juniors and sophomores," said Rendle. "Plus we've never been here before and I thought we might be struck by the crowd."

Chelmsford swept Dracut, 3-0, to win the North sectional title and Boston Latin eliminated Milford, 3-0, to win the Central sectional crown. Quincy lost to Chelmsford in the state championship match last year and it could be another meeting of the two in the finals. North twice defeated Boston Latin during the regular season.

WEEK OF: NOVEMBER 20

AQUARIUS — January 21-February 19
Overdue payment may arrive by the end of the period. Time is bright for expressing your feelings in a creative form. Lovesick friend may seek you out for advice.

PISCES — February 20-March 20
Your sense of loyalty wins you credit in the community. Intuition is strong now, but avoid impulsive financial moves. In romance, a subtle approach leads to improved relationship.

ARIES — March 21-April 20
This can be a highly productive period both personally and professionally, the key is to be willing to share the limelight. Attention to detail is critical.

TAURUS — April 21-May 22
Making the most of a dull situation can lead to a new awareness of your hidden talents. Relationship with Libra is currently highlighted. Sense of timing is impressive.

GEMINI — May 23-June 21
Some tension with older relatives may be eased thanks to efforts of a new friend. Although bright ideas may not be accepted initially, hold on to them.

CANCER — June 22-July 22
In current projects, be sure to balance imagination with attention to the finer points. Partner is more trusting. Communications network may be blocked over the weekend.

LEO — July 23-August 22
Absentminded streak may surface; be sure to mark down all appointments. In romance, new tactics may bring positive results. Hobbies may include a profitmaking angle.

VIRGO — August 23-September 22
Be sure not to make too many commitments for what looks like an already lively social week. Surprise gift may arrive after the weekend. Friend's suggestions merit consideration.

LIBRA — September 23-October 22
Relationships generally improve thanks to your positive approach. Simplification in general helps you reach a career goal on schedule. Offbeat interests are highlighted.

SCORPIO — October 23-November 21
Taking the initiative may bring desired results, especially in areas of career and education. Last-minute changes in plans may prove blessings in disguise by Tuesday/Wednesday.

SAGITTARIUS — November 22-December 22
You and partner seek similar goals though the methods may be quite opposite. A realistic approach to financial situation can help you out of a bind.

CAPRICORN — December 23-January 20
Compliments coming your way are more sincere than you believe; this is generally a good week for improving your self esteem. Short distance travel is spotlighted.

BIRTHDAY THIS WEEK
You're ever young, because you believe that life is an adventure and there are always things to be learned. You sometimes have trouble making a serious commitment--a difficulty that needs addressing if you are to make serious financial or career achievements by mid-1987.

BORN THIS WEEK
November 20th, host Richard Dawson; 21st, actress Goldie Hawn; 22nd, actress Geraldine Page; 23rd, actress Vera Miles; 24th, actor Howard Dulf; 25th, singer Tina Turner; 26th, singer Robert Goulet.

O'Connell Brothers, Trades Council Reach Major Agreement

The Quincy and South Shore Building Trades Council and O.B.C. Inc., have announced an agreement of historical significance for Quincy's labor management relations in the private sector of construction development.

In the past, contracts and or agreements, were between construction unions and general contractors.

Carmen D'Olimpio, president of the Quincy and South Shore Building Trades Council, said "We believe this is the first written agreement in this city between the construction unions and a developer. It contains a no-strike clause by the unions, and a no-lockout by the developer or their subcontractors. This guarantees a continuity of employment, job scheduling and job completion."

He added, "It also contains area standards for hours, wages, benefit payments and working conditions, as well as affirmative action provisions."

The agreement further provides employment for skilled area construction workers of all trades, working in harmony with O.B.C. Inc., a joint developer of Marina Bay.

MAJOR AGREEMENT -- William O'Connell (left), partner, O'Connell Brothers Construction, Inc., and Carmen D'Olimpio representing the area trade unions, sign major agreement between O.B.C. Inc. and the unions which includes all union workers on the Marina Point East and Planned Unit Development projects at Marina Bay in Quincy.

As a prototype, the first in Quincy, these negotiations were difficult and lengthy. However, both the Quincy and South Shore Building Trades Council, and O.B.C. Inc., represented by William O'Connell, partner, said they believe this agreement will benefit the City, the developer and owners, prospective buyers and tenants of the property, residents of Quincy and especially those in the building trades.

Edward Keohane

Attends National Funeral Directors Conference

Edward J. Keohane, of the Keohane Funeral Homes in Quincy and the Pyne-Keohane Funeral Home in Hingham, recently participated in the National Funeral Directors Association annual conference. The meeting, held in Orlando, Fla., attracted nearly 6,000 funeral service professionals from across the nation.

Keohane, past-president and a member of the Board of Directors of the Massachusetts Funeral Directors Association, and his wife Joan, participated in the numerous educational workshops presented by the organization during the six day session.

Guest speakers included Harriet Sarnoff Schiff, who discussed the importance of including two often overlooked groups of mourners -- friends and step-relatives -- in funeral arrangements and ceremonies; Iris Bolton, who reviewed grief reactions of suicide survivors; William Lamer, a nationally recognized psychiatrist addressed bereavement issues specific to children and Sherokee Ilse, Executive Director of the Pregnancy and Infant Loss Center, who dealt with the need for family members confrontation and validation of perinatal loss.

THE TRIAL COURT
THE PROBATE AND FAMILY COURT
Norfolk Division
Docket No. 85P2029E1
NOTICE OF FIDUCIARY'S ACCOUNT

To all persons interested in the estate of JOSEPH CASTRUCCI late of QUINCY in said County, deceased.

You are hereby notified pursuant to Mass. R. Civ. P. Rule 72 that the First and Final account(s) of CORA M. CASTRUCCI as executrix (the fiduciary) of said estate has been presented to said Court for allowance.

If you desire to preserve your right to file an objection to said account(s), you or your attorney must file a written appearance in said Court at Dedham on or before the third day of December, 1986, the return day of this citation. You may upon written request by registered or certified mail to the fiduciary, or to the attorney for the fiduciary, obtain without cost a copy of said account(s). If you desire to object to any item of said account(s), you must, in addition to filing a written appearance as aforesaid, file within thirty days after said return day or within such other time as the Court upon motion may order a written statement of each such item together with the grounds for each objection thereto, a copy to be served upon the fiduciary pursuant to Mass. R. Civ. P. Rule 5.

Witness, Robert M. Ford, Esquire, First Justice of said Court, this twenty-eighth day of October, 1986.

Proposed Paint Store Draws Opposition

By DAN CONNELLY

A planned paint and wallpaper store in Quincy Point came under stiff opposition at a License Board hearing Tuesday when its request for a permit to store flammable material was continued to next week.

Abutters and Ward Two Councilor Ted DeCristofaro objected to the granting of a permit to The Paint Spot, Inc., 117 Quincy Ave. to store 1,000 gallons in sealed cans of paints, thinner, turpentine, denatured alcohol, and related items.

Permit petitioners John Clark and Richard J. Kaufman, Jr. minimized the risk factor of the flammable material because they contended their product inventory will be properly stored and sealed. They also said the store would not add to the already congested traffic problem that exists in that business-residential area.

Violet Cellucci, 58 Faxon Lane, told the board that for years the residents have had to live next door to an explosive situation. She was referring to oil trucks parked at the former Woodbury Oil Company. "And now we have to worry again," she said.

DeCristofaro said he received numerous calls from residents worried about allowing the storage of this type of material in the neighborhood. He added the store does not have the proper parking facilities for this type of business and will certainly add to an already heavy traffic condition there.

Board Chairman John Gillis continued the hearing to next week after being notified that another abutter, who was unable to attend Tuesday's hearing, wished to be heard

THE TALL SHIP Regina Maris heads toward Marina Bay, Squantum, where it will be outfitted as a restaurant.

Tall Ship Regina Maris Marina Bay Restaurant

The world famous tall ship, Regina Maris, sailed into Marina Bay Saturday, where she will be permanently docked and converted to a restaurant.

On behalf of the Marina Bay joint venture, O'Connell Management has purchased the Regina Maris from the Ocean Research and Education Society in Gloucester where she served as an educational and training vessel.

Following her visit to Marina Bay over the weekend she will undergo minor repairs during the winter and, in the spring, will be permanently docked at Marina Bay, a luxury 640 slip marina.

She will be outfitted with a first class restaurant, and will be open for the public to view and enjoy.

The 114-foot Regina Maris is the largest square-rigger in working condition in the United States today. The vessel was built in 1908 as a cargo carrier, and has since participated in such historical events as the Bicentennial Trans-Atlantic Tall Ship races in 1976, and the recent Liberty Weekend festivities.

"The Regina Maris is one of the most spectacular ships in the country. By bringing her to Marina Bay she will add beauty and charm to our waterfront neighborhood as well as provide an historical landmark to our community," said Peter O'Connell, partner, O'Connell Management Company, spokesperson for the Marina Bay Development.

The first stop for the Regina Maris Saturday was the World Trade Center in Boston. From there she set out, full sail, for Marina Bay.

born in 1651, married Ann Rainsford, daughter of Rev. Edward Rainsford. In addition to Elizabeth, they died leaving sons, Samuel III, born 1676, and Atherton Hough, namesake of his great-grandfather, born in 1678. These young sons became wards of Chief Justice Samuel Sewall. Atherton Hough, the great-grandson, on July 11, 1699 married Mercy Winthrop, youngest child of Deane Winthrop, sixth son of Gov. John Winthrop.

Thus, two descendants of the old foes, as often happens, were united in marriage.

OFFICE OF THE MAYOR

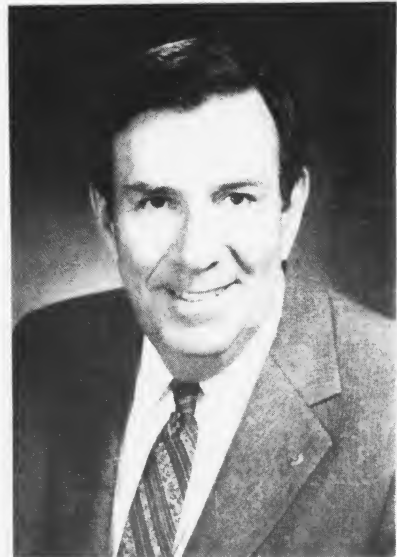

FRANCIS X. MCCAULEY

I would like to join with my Houghs Neck neighbors in the celebration of the 350th Anniversary of our community. Since the arrival of my wife Sandra's mother's family in 1910 and my mother's family in 1920, we have been proud to call Houghs Neck our home.

Houghs Neck, like our other fine Quincy neighborhoods, is a close-knit community of caring, involved individuals and organizations working together to make our community and the City of Quincy a great place to live, work and raise our families.

sons, Samuel III, born 1676, and Atherton Hough, namesake of his great-grandfather, born in 1678. These young sons became wards of Chief sixth son of Gov. John Winthrop. Thus, two descendants of the old foes, as often happens, were united in marriage.

Distinct Neighborhoods And: Every Street Leads To The Water And Beautiful Views

By DOROTHY LAING

Houghs Neck is a peninsula roughly a square mile in area.

It has distinct neighborhoods: Great Hill, Rock Island Hill, Rock Island Cove, etc. Every street leads to the water with beautiful views of Hull, Boston, Weymouth and Hingham, and a few of the islands, as Raccoon and Peddock's.

In early 1600 there were Indians. Many died in the plague of 1616-17.

There seemed to be no inhabitants when Atherton Hough was granted the land. He had to farm the land to retain it, under Colonial rules. It probably was visited for hunting game.

In the early 1700's, Samuel Spear owned it all. Different maps show few houses, up to the late 1880's or so. All houses were located near the water on Edgewater, Bay View and lower Sea St.

When street cars came in 1870, the "Neck" expanded and summer visitors came and enjoyed the waterfront. It was possible to "lease" a lot for the summer and pitch a tent. There were only 40 houses then.

In the 1890's, Houghs Neck's year round residents were a sturdy lot. They lived off soil and beach, farming, hunting and fishing. Water was drawn from a well at Mears' and oil lamps were used for light. Horse and buggy provided land transportation. Small boats were for fishing and steamers provided trips to Boston.

Excess farm produce was sold in South Boston. There was clamming along the shore, especially in the flats at Great Hill School area, and there was an excellent oyster bed under the Quincy Yacht Club. Flounder, cod and lobsters were popular seafoods -- game in season varied the diet.

Houghs Neck was the best resort convenient to Boston. Gradually, the natural attractions were augmented by commercial amusements, flying horses, shooting galleries, dance halls, roller skating rinks and balloon ascensions. Boating and fishing were still big attractions. Among those who rented boats and sold bait were Harvey's, Slaunwhite's on the river side, Powers and Muirheads on the Bay side. Harvey ran a launch to Peddock's.

Hotels thrived from the beginning of the summer season -- Memorial Day until Labor Day.

Many farms were subdivided as more people built homes and businesses were established.

By 1910, Houghs Neck was becoming an established community of year round homes, with churches and school and City services, at least fire services and public transportation. Electricity and gas were available then, although there was less than one mile of accepted streets and only 2500 feet of sewer.

"Club" groups took over in the 1920's. Often whole streets would be singing the ballad of the day.

By the 1950's or so, the summer residency had become year round homes.

Change occurs constantly. Houghs Neck activity still centers around the waterfront -- in spite of Nut Island.

This is an active community, still growing steadily and surely, and enjoying it -- those lucky enough to be here.

Congratulations

Families Lived There

Nut Island Was Originally A High Cliff

By DOROTHY LAING

Nut Island has always been a part of Houghs Neck.

"Atherton Hough given all neck of land adjacent to William Coddington land. 3-31-41 Yielded claim to 60 acres of Marsh at his Neck - to have all the neck of land adjacent to said marsh."

Parker Collection & C.P.L.

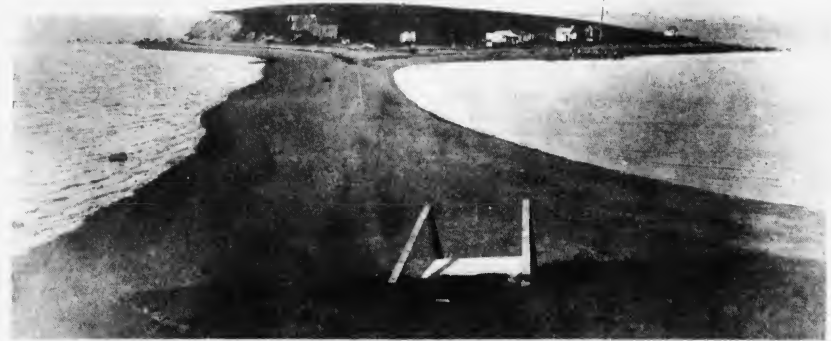

It was known as Houghs Tomb and Hoff's Thumb. Why - is not known, possibly it looks that way on a map.

Nut Island was a high cliff, originally. One of its earliest known visitors was Thomas Morton who went there with friends hunting for game.

Some families lived on Nut Island, as shown in early pictures. Until 1901 a few fisherman's huts, a wharf for coal delivery, and later, Peterson's lobster house were the only structures there.

From 1873 to 1878 many experiments in artillery firing took place here. Normand Wiand spent nearly one-half million dollars in tests of guns aimed at Prince's Head on Peddock's Island. The Alger guns, made in Boston, were also tested here. Remnants of an Alger gun have been mounted in a cement block on a grassy lawn there.

Many famous ships that had outlived their usefulness were burned off Nut Island shore from 1885 to 1900. Ship's fittings, metals, nails and other hardware were sold along with wooden upper decks, to become a part of many Houghs Neck homes.

One ship's cabin became a home on Winthrop St. known as "Eight Bells." Among noted ships burned there were the "Galena" in which President Grant sailed around the world and the "Carroll," which laid the Atlantic Cable.

The plans by the Metropolitan District Commission for a screen house began in 1900 or earlier. The method was simple -- As sewage came in, it was screened. The liquid passed through and the debris burned. The sewage line was well built and dug up a lot of Houghs Neck putting in pipe. These sewer lines get inspected yearly. The brick work done in 1901-1903 has stood up well.

Later in 1939 more expansion took place. It opened in 1951 serving 23 communities. It serves many more now.

Dissatisfaction over the last 20 years, with contamination of the Bay and odors, have caused some possible improvements. It will be many years before our waterfront will be desirable for swimming.

All during the life of Nut Island, it has been a pleasure area for picnics, parties, jogging and other activities families enjoy together. When it has outlived its usefulness as a sewage treatment home, it will become another "open space" to enjoy.

First Fire House Built Here In 1881

Houghs Neck's first Fire House was built in 1881 on Sea St. near Maxim Place. Before that, hand hose manned by volunteers was used.

In 1885 Chemical Engine No. 1 was stationed on land of James Mears, and the next year an old engine house was moved here from Wollaston. Only a steward maintained the engine.

The sum of $600 was appropriated in 1892 for a fire alarm system at Houghs Neck, and in 1893 a volunteer fire company was formed of summer residents who manned the fire engine during summer months.

In 1905 a $5,000 fire station was constructed at Sea St. and Manet Ave. and occupied by a horse-drawn combination hose and chemical wagon, later equipped with ladders. This wagon had won a prize at the 1904 St. Louis World Fair as the best designed piece of fire apparatus.

The present Houghs Neck Fire Station erected in 1947 now has Engine Company No. 6 and Ladder Company No. 4. It was renovated in 1985-86 with a lower tower because the higher tower had become unusable.

Deputy Chief John R. Menz, Administrative Assistant to the Chief, is the highest ranking officer to date from Houghs Neck. He retired in May, 1981 in his 34th year of service.

During the 1978 storm and flood, Houghs Neck firefighters performed heroic deeds around the clock, rescuing marooned residents and taking them to safety.

Quincy Yacht Club 112 Years Young

The 112-year-old Quincy Yacht Club at 1310 Sea St., is Houghs Neck's oldest still operating organization and the oldest yacht club in Quincy.

Organized in 1874 with 69 members and 37 yachts and James H. Slade as commodore, meetings were held at homes of members and later at Quincy Town Hall. The first regatta was held Aug. 15, 1874 off Quincy Point, where the club maintained a float and oar box up until 1909.

On July 28, 1879, a Quincy Yacht Club committee successfully petitioned the Massachusetts Humane Society to recognize with silver medals the rescue by Houghs Neck men William H. Mears and Joseph Veader, of seven persons from the yacht "Undine," which capsized in a July, 1879 storm. Later William Mears had a boat house built on his father's (James Mears') land to house a lifeboat provided by the Mass. Humane Society.

In 1888, erection of a clubhouse was proposed. Eventually, land was purchased at Houghs Neck about 40 feet from the Mears' pier. At this time the club was incorporated so that it could own property. Cost of a clubhouse and float was $1,800. The clubhouse opened Aug. 20, 1888. It was situated on the water's edge facing east at Mears' Beach, where "the view is magnificent," an early member wrote.

A $10,000 addition was added in March, 1910, and the clubhouse moved out over the water. A two-story addition included a dining room with a stairway leading to Norrteman's Pavilion, so that he could serve shore dinners to parties.

That year James Alfred Mears Nash (son of Hattie L. Mears and George N. Nash) was hired as Steward. For 45 years he guided and counselled generations of yachtsmen. Nash Hall at Quincy Yacht Club is dedicated to him.

In 1912, a huge fire broke out across the street at the Pandora Park establishment, threatening the Yacht Club. A dozen members living in the club were awakened and with James Nash, manned whatever fire-fighting apparatus was available and saved the newly enlarged clubhouse from destruction.

The Quincy Yacht Club Challenge Cup, first offered in 1898 to promote yacht racing, is the third oldest in the nation.

Pictures of all Past Commodores line the walls - among them distinguished Commodores: John Quincy Adams, Charles Francis Adams, Henry M. Faxon; Mayors Eugene R. Stone, Joseph L. Whiton, and Thomas S. Burgin.

The great storm and flood of February, 1978 caused the greatest devastation in Quincy Yacht Club history: Roughly $225,000 in damage -- 50 per cent of the club was destroyed. Granted a 3 per cent disaster loan of nearly $200,000 from the Small Business Administration which took a second mortgage on the property, the Club building and pilings were "restored to original condition" by Murray Construction Company.

When the Yacht Club reopened Sept. 30, 1878, plaques of appreciation were presented to Commodore Albert Harvey and Treasurer Ken Lavers (a Past Commodore), for successfully completing negotiations.

The Quincy Yacht Club flag, with red star on white background continues to fly high. Richard Kelley is the current Commodore.

Houghs Neck Happy 350th Year

Leo J. Kelly and Family

... My father ran the Houghs Neck First National during the depression years and then opened his own market in the early forties. After his untimely death, my mother then ran the market for many years. She raised me, my brothers and sister with this Houghs Neck business. The Neck has been good to us and I hope that over the years we have returned some of the good blessings we have received.

At Fanueil Hall, Leo J. Kelly, as a City Councillor in 1976, speaking before an Environmental Protection Agency, regarding Bay Pollution.

... As a Quincy Citizen and former elected official, I have been involved for many years in trying to rid Quincy Bay of pollutants and have tried to restore it to a healthy state. It is my hope that when this history is extracted from the time capsule it can be said that the job was accomplished. The fishing is great. The swimming is healthy and cooling and the wind is brisk for a good sail ....

After Outdoor Services

First Protestant Church Dedicated In 1894

Worship under a great elm on Centre Road and two separate church buildings preceded construction of the Houghs Neck Congregational Church on Manet Ave. in 1931.

In the early 1880's ecumenical services were held by summer residents under the elm, with collections made toward purchase of land and building of a church. By 1884, $100 had been collected to purchase from Chapin Thayer a lot of land on Bay View Ave. opposite Ratchford St. The deed was held by the Houghs Neck Union Christian Association.

By 1893, summer services were being planned by the Christian Endeavor Society of Bethany Congregational Church, with preachers of different faiths, and with money collections continued along with special fund-raising events. The People's Union Chapel at 64 Bay View Ave. was dedicated July 8, 1894 with Theophilus King as one of the speakers. Worship services were held only in July and August.

The Rev. Charles R. McMeeken, first regular pastor, received a salary of $15 per week. The Ladies Aid, Men's Club, Christian Endeavor and Young People's Society all contributed funds for payment of bills and upkeep.

The religious group reorganized and in 1911 became The People's Union Church, "The Little Church with the Big Welcome." A kitchen was added, and in 1913 a bell was secured and a tower built; pews were ordered in April, 1914.

In 1917, need for a new building resulted in purchase of part of the Cavanaugh farm for a parsonage and church. The parsonage at 300 Manet Ave. was constructed in 1921 at a cost of $5,200. Previously, members affiliated with the Congregational Conference in Boston.

Dissension arose. On Oct. 1, 1922, a group of 33 people met at Mr. Wiggins' store at Bell and Sea Sts. to hold services. The next year, they voted to organize as the Congregational Church of Christ with Rev. Charles Clark as pastor. Land was bought and in 1924, a church was erected at the corner of Sea and Ratchford Sts.

In 1928, the breach was healed and the two churches united to become the Houghs Neck Congregational Church. Plans were made with aid from the Mass. Home Missionary Society for construction of the church building which now stands at 310 Manet Ave. Much of the work was done by men of the church. The cornerstone was laid Nov. 8, 1931, and on Easter Sunday, 1932, the new building was dedicated, although incomplete.

THE PEOPLE'S UNION Chapel at 64 Bay View Ave. was dedicated July 8, 1894. It was the first Protestant church in Houghs Neck and a forerunner to present Houghs Neck congregational Church.

Oct. 6, 1940, the first service was held in the new sanctuary, with the Rev. Frank Seymour, minister.

Rev. Peter V. Corea became pastor on Oct. 16, 1947. Rev. M. Alicia Corea was ordained at the church, May 5, 1949, and also serves as pastor. In 1987, they will note their 40th anniversary of service at the Houghs Neck Congregational Church. Many innovations and improvements have been made during the Coreas' ministry.

Served Summer Residents First

First Catholic Church Established In 1893

The first Catholic Church in Houghs Neck was a mission of St. John's Church in Quincy, called St. Francis by the Sea.

It was established in 1893 and served until 1919. After Most Blessed Sacrament Church was completed in 1915, St. Francis by the Sea was then torn down. It was on the corner of Winthrop St. and Manet Ave.

St. Francis served the summer residents at first, and later became year round. In pictures, it was small by today's standards, but many elderly citizens spoke of walking through barely defined pathways to get to it. Fr. John Coan had charge of it.

Unlike the wooden structure of St. Francis by the Sea, the Most Blessed Sacrament Church at the intersection of Sea and Darrow Sts. was built. It is of English Village Gothic style made of granite. At different times it has been ivy covered and most attractive.

It served all up to the Square, now served since 1935 by Our Lady of Good Counsel and St. Boniface, 1956.

The rectory at 1000 Sea St. is two houses joined together in one - is across the street. The lawn there has a lovely Pietà. The church lawn has a statue of the Sacred Heart in Carrara marble. The Church structure has always accommodated the handicapped.

In 1955 the church burned and with reconstruction, an additional sacristy was added. The theme of the Blessed Sacrament is carried out in beautiful stained glass windows.

Over the years Most Blessed Sacrament Parish was known for excellence in sports, baseball, basketball and football. Many championship teams came from this area. The participants were not always Catholic -- as long as they wanted to play in the game. An ecumenical spirit always existed in Houghs Neck. The event was supported by all Houghs Neck, no matter who was running the event.

Fr. William P. McNamara had a large band, well known, and put on plays. Later Ray Sault had a very successful band.

In 1911, four men, Mr. Cleary, Mahoney, Kiley and a friend built the Lyceum across from St. Francis by the Sea. They called it the Houghs Neck Catholic Lyceum. Many social events, card parties, dances, weddings, lawn parties took place there. Later the four builders turned the Lyceum over to the Catholic Church. It continued as the social center until 1950 or so when it became a private home.

In 1963, the present social hall for the Parish was built. It is located on Darrow St. to the rear of the church. Many enjoyable activities are still part of the life of the Parish.

A Study

Property Ownership And Development

By H. HOBART HOLLY
Quincy Historical Society Historian

On Jan. 4, 1635/6, Atherton Hough of Boston received from the town of Boston a grant of 600 acres of land in Mount Wollaston. Grants were generally to contiguous acreage. On Dec. 4, 1637 the Hough grant was changed to 700 acres for reasons not given but quite possibly because of boundary problems. The resultant grant consisted of 450 acres in present North Braintree west of Washington Street just south of the Quincy line, and quite likely part of the original 600 acres, plus 250 acres of Houghs Neck including Rock Island. On Atherton Hough's death in 1659, his son the Rev. Samuel Hough of Reading inherited the properties.

In 1656 the Rev. Mr. Hough sold the 450-acre farm to Thomas Faxon who had been the tenant farmer. The Houghs Neck property passed to his three daughters who in 1670 and 1680 sold it to Richard Harris of Boston. Neither the Houghs nor Harris ever lived on Houghs Neck. They farmed the land with tenant farmers and leasing, setting a farming pattern that continued for some two hundred years. The 1670 deed mentions Samuel Bass as tenant farmer for the 248-acre property.

Richard Harris sold his property to a number of parties. In 1694 he sold 100 acres, generally the easterly half of the Neck, to William Veazie who in turn sold the property with dwelling house and barn to John Webb in 1705. In 1709, Webb sold the property to Samuel Spear who already possessed other farmland on the Neck and been a tenant farmer. Starting at this time, Houghs Neck, except for Great Hill, became essentially a Spear farm for four generations. Successively it was Samuel, John, Seth and Lemuel as the principals with other members of the family owning extensive property. The main Spear dwelling was in the present Wall Street area with two or three other dwellings occupied by Spears or other tenants. There were some other land owners but they did not live on their land.

H. HOBART HOLLY

Great Hill was owned in parts until the late 1700s when the Brackett family, large Quincy landholders, acquired ownership of the whole together with some adjoining farmland to the south. In 1827 the Bracketts sold the 46 acres including Great Hill to George Reed of Boston. In 1835 the "Reed Farm" was sold to Gen. Thomas Taylor of Wollaston. In 1867 his heir sold the 27 acres of Great Hill to James Mears who developed it.

In 1847, 46-acre farm portion of the Taylor property was conveyed to Henry Littlefield, wheelwright of Milton with dwelling, etc. In 1859, the Spears sold to Henry and Rufus Littlefield of Milton, 57 acres with dwelling, etc. Thus the Littlefields came to own generally the half of Houghs Neck south of Sea Street with some land to the north including the old farmhouse still standing at 1162 Sea Street. In 1848, the Spears sold the land generally north of Sea Street and south of lands mentioned above to Josiah Babcock of Milton and others 20 acres. In 1850, 50 acres more were conveyed to Babcock et al.

Activities other than farming developed gradually in the area of the landing and Market Pond. The Mears Hotel was there before 1869 and Quincy people and others started to have summer cottages there. In 1869, the Littlefields sold 21 acres of land in this area to Chapin Thayer, a developer from Weymouth; and the development of Houghs Neck began. In 1890, Babcock et al sold their interests to Manet Land Associates. These properties are defined on development plans and consisted of the land west of Sea Street and south of the Thayer development, plus former Spear land east of Sea Street and south of Chapin Thayer, some 150 acres. In 1883, the Littlefields sold 29½ acres east of Sea Street and south of the above to Charles C. Hodgkinson who farmed it until 1917 when he sold it to developer John T. Cavanagh.

Thus Houghs Neck which had been farm land with few residents for over two centuries, became transformed into a residential community.

Houghs Neck Community Council: 32 Years Of Service

First meeting 3-16-54. Organized 6-15-54. Chartered 6-30-55. Signed by Secretary of Commerce 9-9-55.

Object of Houghs Neck Community Council: "to promulgate the civic, educational and social well being of this community, also the promotion of philanthropic, educational and charitable work."

The Houghs Neck Community Council is a community organization serving Houghs Neck for over 32 years.

The welfare of the community in the field of civic betterment and recreation are the main endeavors. We have been involved in seeking better streets, better sidewalks, seawalls, lights and better playgrounds. We fought for our library, against Nut Island expansion, for community development, against loss of choice in urban renewal. We have been a voice in City wide problems.

We serve young and old with social activities, as dances, auctions, movies, bazaars, birthday celebrations and whist parties, sports events, and sponsoring youth groups, as the Scouts, Rangerettes and Golden Eagles.

The Houghs Neck Community Council has honored the holidays - 4th of July, Houghs Neck Memorial Day (now done by Legion), Halloween parties, and the Christmas tree lighting ceremonies. We have a special night - our Honor Awards Banquet to honor those citizens who have served the community well. Heroism is recognized.

The Houghs Neck Community Council Scholarship Fund began with the discontinued Building Fund in 1964. Over 160 young people have been assisted, with Book Awards amounting to $31,800 to date.

Good communication cements confidence. Our "Bulletin" does an admirable job in transmitting local news, doings and vignettes of local citizens. We present opinions in our "Bulletin" but opinions backed up by the best facts or information we can find on a given subject.

The Houghs Neck Community Council is a public forum whether at meetings or in the "Bulletin." Anyone may express themselves. The Houghs Neck Community Council has served the community and will continue to do so while it has an active membership.

Atherton Hough First School

Built in 1911 at a cost of $24,500, the then-four room Atherton Hough School was the first built in Houghs Neck.

Previous students traveled to a schoolhouse at Palmer and Sea Sts., then by horse-drawn barge to Coddington School. There were 162 pupils.

Additions in 1915, 1929 and 1949 bring the total to 21 rooms and auditorium. Walter H. Bentley was first principal; Edward Baccari has been principal since 1971 to the present.

This October the school will note its 75th anniversary.

350th Committee

It Took 310 Years To Get To City Hall

By RUTH WAINWRIGHT

Houghs Neck history goes back to 1636. But it wasn't until 310 years later that a Houghs Neck resident made it to Quincy's City Hall as an elected official.

David J. (Jim) Crowley (1907-1978) was the first Ward 1 Councillor elected from Houghs Neck. He served from 1946-1955, and was vice mayor under Mayor Thomas S. Burgin during the Plan E form of government.

CROWLEY

During his years in office, he was responsible for many improvements at Houghs Neck and in other sections of Ward 1. Roberta Crowley, his wife served as City Treasurer from 1986 to her retirement in January, 1975.

Crowley was a resident all his life, and the fifth generation of the family lives here today: David Crowley of Rockland St. and Mary Crowley (Mrs. Henry) Gregoire of Lenox St.

Charles L. Shea of Manet Ave. is the first Houghs Neck resident elected to both the Quincy City Council (1956-1962) and the Massachusetts House of Representatives, where he served eight years.

SHEA

He is the son of Mary H. (McCabe) and the late Charles L. Shea, both longtime residents. His mother was first organist at Most Blessed Sacrament Church, and he and his wife Cecilia (Holland) live today in the home where she grew up. At the church, he was treasurer of the Holy Name Society, taught Confraternity of Christian Doctrine classes, was Tombola chairman, and Cubmaster of Pack 36.

He was twice commodore of Quincy Yacht Club and is a life member. From 1975-81, he was Quincy city auditor, retiring in 1981. The Shea's have two sons, Charles and Thomas. Shea is a realtor today.

Leo J. Kelly, first Quincy City Council President from Houghs Neck, represented Ward 1 from 1973-81. A lifelong resident, he is the son of the late John S. Kelly, First National store manager during the depression years and later owner of Kelly's Market near the Yacht Club. His mother, Kathleen Kelly of Charles St., an expert butcher, continued the market for 18 years, retiring in 1966.

KELLY

Kelly was president of the Houghs Neck Community Council and Sgt. Grenham Youth Association and a Houghs Neck Legion Post Member. Today he is Project Manager for the Quincy Housing Authority, Water Resources Advisory Chairman; Chairman of the Environmental Control Commission for the City and Project President's Place; serves on the board for Community Action and the Manet Community Health board which he helped establish.

He also is chairman of the Granite Boy Scouts Council, and serves on the Boston Boy Scout Council.

A Houghs Neck resident as a youngster, Walter J. Hannon was Quincy mayor from 1971-75. He is now with Marina Bay in Squantum as an executive. A 1943 picture in Mayor Francis X. McCauley's City Hall office of Boy Scout Troop 36 shows Mayor McCauley, Mayor Hannon and Police Capt. William Murphy, all members of the same troop, with Rev. Peter Hart, who later became a Monsignor.

HANNON

Mayor Eugene Stone (1912-13) was a summer resident. His home, "The Aida" on Great Hill, was named for the former opera company. His grandmother, Mrs. Zelma Ruska of Winthrop St., has been a year-round resident for many years.

Francis X. McCauley is the first

Houghs Neck lifelong resident to become mayor of Quincy (1981-present).

Born Dec. 17, 1929, he is the son of the late Hugh and Mary McCauley, residents since 1920. He attended Atherton Hough Central Junior, Boston College High School, Boston College and Bentley College; also Indiana University Graduate School of Savings and Loan. He served in the Navy. He was president of Great Hill PTA, Houghs Neck Community Council, Quincy Lion's Club, and president of the former Presidential Cooperative Bank. He is married to the former Sandra McKinnon, whose parents were residents since 1910. They have five children.

McCAULEY

Michael T. Cheney, Ward 1 Councillor since 1984, is a Quincy resident 13 years, first on Stoughton St. and now in his own home at 94 Rock Island Rd.

CHENEY

Born May 15, 1953 in Boston, the son of Thomas and Barbara Cheney, he graduated from St. Ann's Grammar School, Charlestown High School and Peterson School Steam Engineering, and attended University of Indiana for Labor Industrial Relations. In Quincy, he has been Atherton Hough PTA president; is now serving the Quincy City Council as chairman of the Public Safety, Environmental Control and Public Transportation Committee; past chairman of Solid Waste and Disposal Committee, and a member of the Zoning Task Force. He is married to the former Patricia M. Lydon, and they have three children, Shaun, Christy and Michael.

Thomas F. Brownell, State Representative, is the son of former Norfolk County Deputy Sheriff John H. (Jack) Brownell and the late Willena Brownell. He attended Atherton Hough, Central Junior and Quincy High Schools. An honor student; he he graduated from Suffolk University with honors, and received his Juris Doctor with honors in 1966. He is an Army Reservist, former Mass. Asst. Attorney General. He and his wife Margaret have 3 children.

BROWNELL

Quincy School Committee member Margaret (Peggy) Nigro made history in 1985 when she became the first woman elected to public office from Houghs Neck in 349 years.

NIGRO

Peggy, has been a life lone resident of Houghs Neck. She attended Atherton Hough and Broad Meadows Junior High Schools, and graduated from Quincy High School. She attended Quincy Junior College. Married to Jack Nigro (also a Houghs Neck native), they have two sons, Jack Jr. and Mark.

Peggy's list of community activities includes membership in the former Grenham Youth Center, Great Hill School and Broad Meadows PTO, Houghs Neck Drug and Alcohol Committee, Survival, Inc.

For five years she and her family were a Host Family for foreign students under the Quincy Public Schools Amity Program. She served on the board of directors of Manet Health Center, board member and past vice-president of the Houghs Neck Community Council, and the Quincy High School Band Parents Organization.

The Nigro family lives at 245 Winthrop St.

Time Capsule To Be Buried For 400th Anniversary

The Houghs Neck 350th anniversary committee plans to bury a time capsule with mementos of this year's celebration.

The capsule will be placed underground at the Houghs Neck fire station hopefully this year.

Among the items to be placed in the capsule are copies of this Quincy Sun supplement saluting Houghs Neck's 350th anniversary.

A videotape now being prepared, documents and other mementos will also be placed in the capsule.

The capsule will be opened 50 years from now on Houghs Neck's 400th anniversary.

Over 50 Great Years

By FRANCIS X. McCAULEY
Mayor

Over 50 years have passed since I was born at 17 Manet Ave. at the "Willows."

The house is now owned by Miriam Raymer Coombs, but I am still on Manet Ave. at number 210. The Neck was and is a great place to grow up and live. Our lives in the early days revolved around home, church and the Atherton Hough School.

One of my first playmates grew up around the corner from me on Stoughton St. Walter Hannon lived in Houghs Neck until 1945, when he moved to Wollaston. Our paths crossed again when we both were elected to the City Council in 1963. Walter served as Mayor from 1972 through 1975.

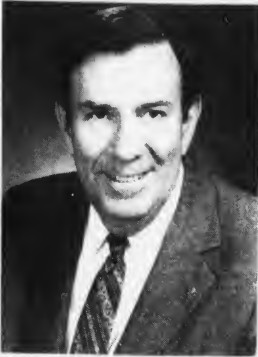

Fr. Peter F. Hart, who came to Blessed Sacrament Church in 1936, organized sports leagues in baseball and basketball, as well as sponsoring a boy scout troop, which later expanded to a second troop.

Houghs Neck has it all, beaches for swimming and boating, fishing grounds right off our shores, LaBrecque Field for baseball, softball, basketball and tennis, and Manet Lake for hockey.

Many of us growing boys earned our first money delivering papers. The papers in those days were 2 or 3 cents a copy and on a good week, with tips you could earn $6. Later we "graduated" to the clam flats. Money earned digging clams financed many a college education. Many successful Houghs Neckers dug clams in their early days.

After World War II ended, Houghs Neck's conversion from a summer colony to year round homes escalated. The Houghs Neck Community Council formed in 1954, American Legion Post 380 was chartered in 1960 with the dedication of their new post home at 116 Sea Street. These organizations along with Atherton Hough P.T.O., the Houghs Neck Congregational Church, the Blessed Sacrament Church groups have contributed much to the vibrant community that is Houghs Neck today.

After my mother died in 1979, I came across an old diary kept by her sister, my Aunt Rose McKeown. Under the date of Friday, May 28, 1920, she wrote the following:

"Moved to Houghs Neck today. Lots of excitement. Ed (my uncle) and I stayed home and helped move. It sure is some hot day and I am all in. Guess I will sleep well tonight. Plenty of mosquitoes."

Over the years many improvements have been made in Houghs Neck, new streets, sidewalks, seawalls, etc. However we are still working on the mosquito problem.

Best Wishes

STEAMBOAT landing in the early 1900's.

Steamers That Weren't Clams

Boats are everywhere in Houghs Neck, large and small.

They are a big part of summer recreation, a much nicer way to travel to the Cape!

Years ago, there were "steamers" in Houghs Neck (not clams). The pier (1901) was near the public landing site today, off Bay View Ave. They were 60-footers.

These steamers ran from Boston (Northern Ave.) to Houghs Neck several times a day. Different companies operated these steamers. Fares were 10, 15 and 25 cents.

These steamers had interesting names -- the obvious "Houghs Neck," "Comet," "Cygnets," "Electa," "Frances," "Loretta" and "Madeline."

About 1870 a Quincy car line began and this reduced the steamer business. People objected to the fares and also the tide couldn't be relied upon.

They are picturesque now, but a practical solution then for travel to Boston.

A Bright Future

By MICHAEL T. CHENEY
Ward 1 Councillor

This year Houghts Neck celebrates its 350th anniversary.

Houghts Neck is a peninsula roughly a square mile in area. Time, tide and storms have changed Houghts Neck's outline over the past 350 years. However, Houghts Neck has never lost its original character.

As we read through Houghts Neck's history, one can appreciate that for the last 100 years Houghts Neck has undergone a number of changes. Houghts Neck was first a summer resort for many of the people in the Boston area as well as people from as far away as New York. This peninsula was dotted with over 200 summer cottages. As time passed by, the numbers of year-round residents of Houghts Neck grew and grew -- and Houghts Neck as a community and a viable part of the City of Quincy merged.

More recently, within the last 30 years, Houghts Neck has been tremendous improvements. Her parks were upgraded, streets rebuilt, and the entire square mile peninsula enhanced.

Most people in Houghts Neck have one basic thing in common -- they love being near the ocean and enjoying all of the ocean's resources. Houghts Neck's future promises to be even brighter with the loss of the sewerage treatment plant on Nut Island and with the planned additional public works improvement programs. With the continuation of the housing refurbishing program that we have seen in recent years, we can be assured that the quality of life in this small community will always be improving.

Houghts Neck has approximately 50 services and programs that are available for all ages. If you are one to 80 years old there is an organization or facilities you can take advantage of.

I am proud to represent the people of Houghts Neck and proud to be a resident of the community. I look forward to working towards the common goals of improving the quality of life for all the people of Houghts Neck, and I appreciate the opportunity to share in her rich heritage.

THIS WOODEN MEMORIAL to Houghts Neck residents who served in World War II was dedicated on the grounds of the Atherton Hough School in 1945. It was replaced in 1952 with a granite memorial opposite the Houghts Neck fire station on Sea St. Listed are the names of 700 veterans who served their country.

Cherished Memorials

GEORGE W. MORTON SQUARE

Sea and Bird Sts.

George W. Morton (1842-1911) was a Civil War veteran. He served in the U.S. Navy from 1861-1867, discharged as Acting paymaster. He was Quincy Yacht Club Commodore in 1883-1884, owned the yacht "Red Lion," and was proprietor of the Red Lion Inn on Morton Rd. (now Winthrop Place).

CHARLES EDWARD DALTON SQUARE

Mears and Sea Aves.

Son of the late Mr. & Mrs. Richard Dalton of Sea St., he was the first Houghts Neck serviceman killed in World War II when the USS Houston sank on Feb. 28, 1942 in the Sundra Straits off Java, the first major battle after Pearl Harbor.

HAROLD C. SHAW

Flagstone planter & flagpole at LaBrecque Field

(1893-1975) - Honored by the Houghts Neck Legion Post, Harold Shaw contributed more than 105 pints of rare blood to aid others. He and his wife had ten sons, seven of whom served in World War II at the same time, followed later by an eighth. First "Man of the Year" by Quincy Jewish War Veterans, he was honored also by Quincy Legion Post, Order of the Purple Heart and American Red Cross. His memorial reads, "A Friend to All."

DOROTHY C. RAE

Fieldstone memorial at Houghts Neck Fire Station

(1925-1974) Dorothy Rae was Houghts Neck's first woman Traffic Supervisor, one of the first appointed in Quincy, directing children's crossings from 1952 to her death in 1974. A Houghts Neck Community Council Scholarship is named in her honor. The fieldstone memorial reads, "To Dot, who has guided and guarded the footsteps of little children, a grateful neighborhood says, 'Thank You.'"

This memorial dedicated in 1952 replaces a wooden memorial constructed and contributed by Lundin Bros. A bronze box at its base has a list of 700 names of those who served in various branches of the Armed Forces in World War II. Memorial services are conducted annually in June (since 1956) by the Houghts Neck Legion Post. ($1,000. is held in trust by the City of Quincy to be used in the event of damage to the Memorial)

A Fond Half-Century

By PAUL D. HAROLD State Senator

PAUL D. HAROLD

Like many Quincy residents, I have enjoyed swimming, sailing, water skiing, and clam digging in Houghs Neck. But in recent years, my association with the Houghs Neck community has been more official, as City Councillor at Large representing the area at City Hall, and as State Senator, representing it in the State House.

But my family association with Houghs Neck goes back more than 50 years, when my grandparents owned a cottage on the water side of The Willows at Sea Street.

It was well before my time, but family history reports the cottage was built on wooden pilings over the water, and was one of those destroyed by the hurricane of 1938.

Like many people who live in Adams Shore, my own first important association with Houghs Neck was as a parishioner at Blessed Sacrament Church.

Until the new church in Germantown, St. Boniface was built and parish lines were redrawn, our family home on Riverside Avenue was in the Houghs Neck parish. At that time, they had a Drum & Bugle Corps, to which both of my brothers, Joe and Bill, belonged as well as serving as altar boys. My mother was active in the Sodality, and my sister Mary Beth, was baptized there.

With the fire in 1955, which destroyed Blessed Sacrament Church, I can remember attending Mass in the auditorium at the Atherton Hough School. I can recall working with my brother Bill, and neighbors, Alice and Janice Kennedy, to hold a neighborhood "carnival" in our backyard which raised the grand sum of $25 for the building fund.

As we take the occasion of the 350th Anniversary to look back at Houghs Neck's past, let us also use it as a time to look ahead. As Quincy's state senator, I will continue to work to maintain the unique character of Houghs Neck, its residential unity, neighborhood cohesiveness, and its attractiveness as a place to raise a family.

First Three Families

Three families lived in Houghs Neck in 1792. Their names were Littlefield, Baxter and Spear--These same names show in the Revolutionary War records. All three served in Captain Turner's Company.

Street names possibly named for early families, as Joseph Crosby, Henry Littlefield, Josiah Babcock.

About This Supplement . . .

This special supplement in tribute to Houghs Neck's 350th anniversary was produced by The Quincy Sun with assistance from the Houghs Neck community.

Editor Publisher Henry Bosworth and production supervisor Cheryl Burns designed the layout and put the supplement together.

Other Sun staffers who worked on it were Carmen Hendrick and Linda Santoro, advertising; June Powers and Paul Johnston, typesetting; Charles Flagg and Kevin Forti, photography.

We are indebted to Ruth Wainwright and Dorothy Laing of Houghs Neck who did most of the writing and to Ward 1 Councillor Michael Cheney for overall assistance.

We also thank Mayor Francis McCauley, Senator Paul Harold, Councillor Cheney and former Councillor Leo Kelly for their reflections on Houghs Neck.

We also wish to thank residents of the Houghs Neck community who made available old photographs and post cards and 350th celebration photos for use in this supplement.

And, a special "thank you" to those members of the business community and those in government whose advertising support made this historic supplement possible.

Moving Toward 21st Century

We Must Preserve Our Community Assets

By LEO J. KELLY
Former Ward 1 Councillor

In many respects we have been most fortunate in Houghs Neck.

We are surrounded by water. Our topography is beautiful. Our neighborhood is strong and our identity clear.

As we move toward the 21st century, I feel that it is important that we seek to preserve those elements of our community that we deem important. Looking back to my childhood days in the Neck I think of the fishing, the swimming and the friends. Those visions of my past are dimmed somewhat and tempered by many years but, as I think, it comes back to me in vignettes. Moments digging clams, moments of running with friends through the crusher and moments spent playing ball at LaBreque.

Many years later those childhood experiences became reflected in my adult work. As I served as a City Councillor representing the Neck, I would often dwell upon the question of what was important to our community. What could I do in my own small way to help this community? I thought of my childhood here and later life walks along the Bay, and it seemed to me that two very important elements of our community were the significant open space we possessed and Quincy Bay. These were the major elements of my childhood life.

Should not the everlasting protection from encroachment be the goals of my adult life? Should not the children of both today and tomorrow share in those elements that have helped shape all of us Neckers? The initial effort was small, beginning with an open space rezoning of several acres of the first, second and third marshes, but this led to further activity.

Next, we open spaced the 40 acres of the crusher and then the recreation area of the Great Hill and over 115 acres in the Broadmeadows. The result is that in our ward we have more open spaced municipal land than any area of the City.

The Bay has been a tougher fight. We began in 1973 trying to tell people how polluted the Bay was. We defeated the massive Bay fill that was proposed for Nut Island. We were the first, back in the seventies, to suggest that all treatment be moved to Deer Island, a present-day reality.

Today those early cries of the 70's are receiving national attention. The Federal E.P.A. has acknowledged our pollution problems and has dedicated a quarter of a million dollars to determine how bad they are.

A clean Bay is still a distant goal, but we have made great progress.

In closing I would like to restate something I said in my family's ad:

"It is my hope that when this history is extracted from the time capsule it can be said the job was accomplished. The fishing is great. The swimming is healthy and cooling and the wind is brisk for a good sail."

Hawthorne Farm

Until 75 years ago, a large tract of land along Sea St. was known as Hawthorn Farm, owned by the Cavanaugh family.

Today on this land is the Atherton Hough School, Most Blessed Sacrament Church, St. Thomas Aquinas Hall, the Houghs Neck Congregational Church and parsonage, the educational, religious and social center of Houghs Neck.

The 'Flounder Capital' Of The World

Fishing has always been important at Houghs Neck.

Fishing was good for the family economy, a supply was nearby, and it was a pleasant chore.

Homes clustered the waterfront. As more homes were built, organizations were formed and businesses were established dealing only with fishing -- especially flounder fishing. Houghs Neck has great flounder fishing grounds as many fishermen will attest to.

Bus loads from New York and New Jersey arrive here for a weekend of flounder fishing. They arrive in early spring and continue into the fall. They fill up coolers with fish for the family freezer, very happy with their weekend efforts.

Lately, Nut Island's contamination has affected the fish and the buses are few and far between. Hurley's and Harvey's have local traffic mostly.

Yankee magazine wrote an article recently on the "Flounder Capital of the World."--Houghs Neck, of course.

There's One Sure Way To Stop A Teenager From Drinking And Driving... FOREVER.

And, considering the importance of this issue to everyone in the community, we hope that you'll want to join us in our effort. We have a film on Teenage Drinking and Driving that offers good suggestions for effectively communicating with teenagers.

It not only offers guidance to adults, but it shows how teenagers can join forces to influence their peers and how to persuade a drunk person not to drive. If you're involved in a service club, church organization or youth group, ask us to bring this program to your next meeting.

We all know that young people are the future of our society. And if by sharing this information with your group, we can change the course of even one young person's life, it will be worth much more than the time we spend. Please call us if you feel the same way.

The Spirit Of Queenie Dunedin

"Oh, we ain't got a barrel of money,
May look ragged and funny,
But we'll travel along, Singin' a song,
Side by side!"

That was the theme song and the Spirit of Queenie Dunedin, almost the last of theatrical talent that either lived or spent the summer in Houghs Neck from the 1890's on.

Queenie was born Mary Elizabeth Soulsby in 1888 in Middlesboro, Yorkshire, England. Her mother was left a widow with seven children. To help out financially, at age nine Queenie was "signed up" as an apprentice for seven years with the world famous Dunedin family of circus acrobats. She stayed with them 14 years, adopted the family name and became known as "Queenie Dunedin."

In April, 1906, she and her "family" reached the United States just in time to entertain victims of the San Francisco earthquake in the half-ruined streets, cheering up the survivors. That season they traveled in 39 states. Queenie's act included trick cycling, juggling and fancy rollerskating.

She remained in the United States from 1913 on, finally settling down in Houghs Neck in 1946. She remained active on stage, radio, film and

"QUEENIE DUNEDIN", whose real name was Margaret Soulsbury Wofarth, was a well known singer, dancer and actress in the 1890's and early 1900's. Here she is seen as a "queen" and a "down and outer".

Over 70 Units In Christmas Parade

By NANCY McLAUGHLIN

The sights and sounds of Christmas will fill the air during the 35th annual Christmas Festival Parade starting at 12:30 p.m. Sunday, Nov. 30.

Twenty-seven bands, twenty floats and twenty-six special units will march the 2.8 mile route before an expected crowd of about 300,000 people from as far away as Rhode Island, Connecticut and New York.

The parade will proceed down Hancock St. from Elm St. in Quincy Center to East Squantum St. in North Quincy.

Among the special features this year will be miniature horses, 32-inches high, in Christmas attire, according to general chairman George White.

Returning favorites will include the Hallamore Budweiser Clydesdales and, of course, Mr. and Mrs. Santa Claus, said White, chairman for the past six years.

"For the first time in many years, we'll have representatives from many police organizations," he said.

"They will include Quincy, as always, and State Police, MDC, the Blue Knights and MBTA Motorcycle Drill Team.

"There will be mounted units, color guards, drill teams and motorcycle units," White said.

"The Waltham Post Band, renowned for its Christmas music, will be back this year," he added.

White said the parade should take about two hours, a half hour less than last year, because of less breaks between marchers.

"This year will be at least equal to the 1985 Christmas Parade in quality of participants and number of participating groups," he said. "We certainly feel it will be a very pleasurable day for all," said White, a member of the Christmas Festival Committee for 24 years.

The parade is one of a series of holiday activities sponsored by the Christmas Festival Committee of the Quincy Center Business and Professional Association, the City of Quincy, and The Patriot Ledger.

A number of streets will be roped off at the sidewalk and White asks the cooperation of parade spectators in keeping behind the ropes.

The streets are Hancock St. from Granite to School Sts., St. Ann's Road to Old Colony Ave., W. Elm Ave. to Beale, Billings Rd., to East and West Squantum St., as well as McIntyre Mall.

Floats illustrating the parade theme "Christmas Fantasy" will compete for prizes and money in the commercial and non-commercial categories.

In addition, trophies are presented for the Best Overall Float, the Fr. Thomas Tierney Trophy and $1,000; second prize, $500; third prize, $300; fourth prize, $200. The Mayor's Trophy, the best Quincy float; Best Commercial Float; and Special Category, the Chairman's Trophy.

Mr. and Mrs. John Nestor of Fayette St., Wollaston, winners of the parade theme contest, will be special guests. They will be transported along the parade route and will receive a gift presented by the Festival Committee.

State, county and city officials will also be in the line of march.

The floats will be judged on the basis of originality, use of materials, use of color, overall look, and adherence to theme.

Float participants are Cerebral Palsy, The Viking Club, Quincy Kiwanis, Quincy Junior College, Cub Pack 14, South Shore Bank, Sen. Paul Harold, St. John's CYO, Germantown Yacht Club, The Koch Club, Woodward School, Sacred Heart Youth Association, Catholic Daughters of America, Jack Conway Realtors, Quincy High School, The Patriot Ledger, Headlock Cafe, Bernie's Modern Formal, Quincy Bay Race Week, Quincy Center Business & Professional Association, Montilio's.

Float judges will be Elizabeth Shoor, fashion illustrator; Myron Hartford, Quincy Art Association; and Ruth Duquet, past president, Braintree Art Association.

Specialty units will be the theme winner, Child World (Peter Panda), 12 Antique Cars, QHS NQHS Beauty Queens, Ronald McDonald's Motor Home, McDonald Train and Characters, Hallamore Clydesdales, Hi Wheelers, Scituate Safety Car, Red Cross Van, Miniature Horses, Trolley Car characters, State Police Color Guard Motorcycles, MDC Police Unit Motorcycles,

Color Guard units will be Quincy Police, MBTA, State Color Guard Ladies Auxiliary, Bryan VFW Post, Quincy Fire Department.

High school bands will compete for the state and New England High School Championship Competition.

The winner will be eligible to appear in the New Year's Day Cotton Bowl Parade in 1988.

Bands which will participate in the parade are David Protty, The Klassy Clowns, Milton High School, Canton Post, Shepherd Hill High School, Pittsfield High School, East Bridgewater High School, Marshfield High School, Lawrence High School, Haverhill High School, Franklin High School, Southbridge High School, Somerville High School, Douglas High School, Agawam High School, Weymouth South High School, Chicopee - Chicopee Comp. High School, Milford High School, Holbrook High School, North Quincy High School, Quincy High School, Plymouth Carver High School, Bedford High School, Fairhaven High School, Abington High School, and Ireland's Own. Immediately following the parade, band, float and poster contest awards will be presented at ceremonies in the North Quincy High School auditorium.

Admission is by ticket only.

In addition to the three major sponsors, financial contributions have been made by The Quincy Sun, The National Fire Protection Association, WJDA, Quincy Cablesystems, Bank of Boston (Old Colony), Bank of New England-Hancock; BayBank Norfolk County, South Shore Bank, Quincy Savings Bank, Quincy Cooperative Bank, State Street Realty, Shawmut Banks, Marina Bay, North Quincy Business and Professional Association, Bryan VFW Post, Burke Distributing (Miller Miller Lite), Stop & Shop Supermarket Companies, Bradlees Department Store, Raytheon, First American Bank for Savings, Sons of Italy Lodge, 1295, South Boston Savings, Woodward Spring Shop, Jack Conway Realtors.

Rain date for the parade will be Sunday, Dec. 7.

If necessary, postponement announcements will be made over Radio Station WJDA and other stations available at 6 a.m. Sunday.

Mayor Defends Performance Council Committee To Meet Dec. 8 On Storm Complaints

By DAN CONNELLY

Mayor Francis McCauley defends the city's snowfighting performance in last week's storm but City Council members are critical of the efforts and concerned about future readiness.

At the request of City Council President Stephen McGrath, Chairman Ted DeCristofaro has called a meeting of the full-council Public Works Committee for Dec. 8 to look into the matter.

DeCristofaro said the committee meeting is tentatively scheduled for 6:45 p.m., prior to the regular 7:30 p.m. City Council meeting that night.

He said Public Works Commr. Paul Anderson will be invited to the meeting.

McGrath (Ward 5), DeCristofaro (Ward 2) and Councilor John Lydon (Ward 3) criticized the city's handling of the storm which dumped three to four inches of snow on the city.

McGrath called for a "full review of the city's snow-plowing policy" by the Public Works Committee.

McCauley said it was "an intense early of the year storm that came at the worst time." Rain that fell during the early morning hours suddenly changed to heavy snow, he noted.

"This was the earliest heavy snowfall on record," he said. "As it increased, so did the traffic making it extremely difficult for the equipment to do its job."

"Residents have got to realize that when this type of snow emergency arises they have got to be patient."

"I was on my way to City Hall shortly after 6 a.m. when the snow was really intense and I saw men and equipment out doing their job."

McCauley said the city is prepared for any snow emergency.

"Our equipment is good and we have plenty of sand and salt," he said. "In addition, we will have two new pieces of snow fighting equipment delivered in January."

After the storm abated and the clean-up was in full swing, McCauley said he kept in constant contact with DPW Commissioner Anderson on the whole operation.

"But again," he said, "I must stress that problems do arise in storm situations like this and everybody has got to be patient while we get a handle on it."

McGrath differed with McCauley's assessment of the city's efforts.

In a letter to Anderson, McGrath said he was "greatly disappointed" by the performance regarding snow removal on Wednesday (Nov. 19) morning.

He also said: "Clearly, plows were not sent out as early as they should have been. By 8:30 A.M. Hancock Street, at least Wollaston to Quincy, had not been touched. I saw no evidence of sanding at all."

"This was a storm that had been predicted to be 3 to 6 inches twelve hours earlier. In addition, many streets on Wollaston Hill were not touched until very late in the day," said McGrath.

"I believe the Council should review the whole snow-removal procedure used by Public Works in order to find out why performance cannot be better," said McGrath.

"I will ask the Public Works Committee, led by Councilor DeCristofaro, to have a meeting relative to removal procedures as far as preparation and when decisions are made to plow. People aren't going to put up with the type of performance we had yesterday," said McGrath.

DeCristofaro said he wants to find out "why the plowing was not what it should have been."

"In my conversation with other councilors," he said,

"the plowing wasn't good." "I can understand the storm hit at a bad time of day, but the equipment should have been ready to roll. It was no sneak storm. We were all warned and we had plenty of time to prepare for it."

Lydon, whose ward is one of the longest in the city, had similar criticism.

"I'm very disappointed," he said. "Hills historically have been given the priority but this wasn't the case in this situation."

"I live on a hill and I couldn't get home. The equipment I saw was targeting to flat streets while the hills were untended."

Lydon was particularly critical of the snow plowing in the Montclair section of the city.

His first sighting of a plow in Montclair, he said was at 3:30 p.m. and other equipment about 5:30 p.m.

"But by that time," he said, "sections of roads were frozen creating a serious public safety hazard."

QUINCY LADDER ONE -- The city's fire department has a new 110-foot, all aluminum, rear-mount aerial ladder truck that will be put in operation after a two-week training period designed to familiarize firefighters with the new engine. Among the welcoming committee are from left, George MacDonald, Norfolk County Commissioner; Acting Fire Chief Carl Valenti, Mayor Francis McCauley and City Councilor Ted DeCristofaro. The $331,000 piece of equipment was built in Ocala, Fla.

McCauley Says Parking Lots Will Be Cleaned

Mayor Francis McCauley said the city's Public Works Department will help keep validated parking lots clear of litter.

This action from the mayor followed City Council President Stephen McGrath's recent complaint on unkempt appearance of the Ross Parking Garage.

"Steve's complaint was well taken and I've instructed Commissioner Paul Anderson to have his weekend cleanup crew swing through," said the mayor.

His action followed McGrath's request that a representative of Kinney Systems who operates the validated parking areas appear at the City Council Dec. 8 meeting to discuss the "disgraceful litter and unkempt appearance" of the Ross Parking Garage.

McGrath said the Kinney people are supposed to be responsible for the condition and appearance of the garage as part of their contract.

"On two Sunday afternoons I personally reviewed the garage and its condition is disgraceful," said McGrath.

The mayor said that Kinney does have a problem in maintenance during a Sunday because of lack of personnel and that is why he urged Anderson to make it a point to have the crews help clear the litter strewn about the areas.

"Yes, I do agree that as we approach the holiday season it is imperative to have these parking facilities free of debris," the mayor said.

City Club Begins Charity Program

The Quincy City Club initiated its 1986 series of Christmas Charity activities recently with the presentation of a V.C.R. to Long Island Hospital for the patients.

June Sutcliffe, Therapeutic Director, had suggested what the patients could use for the annual holiday gift.

Last year, a new clothes washer was provided. A golf cart to transport patients around the grounds in fair weather was delivered the previous year.

Long Island Hospital has been one of the hospitals provided gifts for patients enjoyment and convenience during the past decade by the Quincy City Club.

The City Club for the past 11 years has provided gifts during the holiday season for the hospitalized, homeless, retarded as well as organizations and halfway houses serving the needs of the community.

A total of $37,500 has been expended by the organization during its Holiday Charitable Program in the past 11 years. In addition, it has provided medical or therapeutic equipment to the Quincy City Hospital, Wrentham State School, the Sidney Farber Cancer Institute and Mass. Hospital School in Canton.

The club will include in its 1986 projects woolen socks, hats and gloves to the homeless of the Pine Street Inn, Rosie's Place and the Long Island Shelter. The Medfield State Hospital will also be served again with personal gifts for the patients.

The funds received for the Annual Holiday Charity Projects are from the personal contributions of the members and friends of the Quincy City Club.

Hospital Seeks Volunteers

Quincy Hospital is seeking volunteers for weekend hours, directing patients and visitors, and answering patient information telephone inquiries.

Museum For Houghs Neck

A historical museum is being planned for Houghs Neck as an offshoot of the 350th anniversary celebration.

Ward 1 Councillor Michael Cheney says the site will be the basement of the Houghs Neck Community Center.

"The 350th anniversary," he notes, "produced a lot of old photographs, even some movies, and other memorabilia. Some of this would be available to place in the museum."

In addition to this, he says, people are always cleaning out cellars or attics and come across forgotten mementos of their families and Houghs Neck's rich history -- old and more recent.

"It would be a shame to throw them away," Cheney says.

"If people had a place like a museum to put them they would not be tossed away."

Cheney says he will name a committee in January to get the project off the ground.

"We are going to look into the possibility of a state grant to finance the museum," he says.

Cheney has been talking about the museum during the 350th anniversary celebration. And already there are volunteers ready to give a hand.

"You can't top the spirit and pride among the people of Houghs Neck," Cheney notes.

"I really think with their help we are going to have a fine museum that posterity will appreciate and value."

ALTHOUGH THE LIGHTS are up at Veterans Memorial Stadium and a number of Quincy and North Quincy High School home games and a couple of Quincy Youth Football games were played there this season, money is still coming in. It will be used for other stadium improvements.

A $100 check is being presented to the Stadium Lighting Committee by the Quincy High School Class of 1930.

The class Scholarship Committee, headed by Al Folger, president, Gerry Gherardi, secretary and James McGuinness, treasurer, recently voted to make the donation.

Incidentally, the 1930 class has since 1980 annually presented $200 scholarships to a graduating senior at Quincy High School, Quincy Vocational Technical School and -- North Quincy High School.

Why North Quincy High School?

Because, points out McGuinness, in 1930 there was only Quincy High School and students from North went there too.

So, they still consider North part of Quincy.

WHEN YOU THINK of North Quincy High School names like Jack Donahue and Pete Zoia jump out at you.

Pete was an all-scholastic on the very first North Quincy football team in 1933 which was also Donahue's first North team. North edged Quincy that year, 6-0.

Zoia is now an assistant coach to Ken McPhee at North and, of course, will be on hand for the 53rd game in the series this Thanksgiving.

Then he and his wife, Elaine, will be off for Hawaii. And what do you think one of the things they will do while there? See a football game.

They'll take in the University of Michigan-University of Hawaii game at Aloha Stadium in Honolulu Dec. 6.

Elaine, a rabid football fan herself, was visiting a daughter in Michigan a few weeks ago, took in a University of Michigan game, learned about the upcoming game in Hawaii -- and purchased the tickets before she came home.

Now, how many wives would do this?

OBSERVATION via the Quincy Kiwanis Club newsletter (and from wherever they got it): A friend is a person who goes around saying nice things about you behind your back.

NQHS Open House Dec. 2

North Quincy High School will hold an open house from 7 to 9:30 p.m. Tuesday, Dec.

2, for parents and students of grades 7 and 8.

The event is an opportunity to become acquainted with the curriculum offerings and the facility.

The program will begin in the auditorium on the second floor. Following the presentation, students of the Pride Committee will conduct tours of the building. In each area, department heads will give brief presentations on the program of studies and course offerings. Representatives of the athletic program will also be available.

Refreshments will be served in the cafeteria, where guidance, and members of the North Quincy High School Parents Board will be available to meet with parents and students.

Six School Appointments

The Quincy School Committee made six appointments at its meeting, Nov. 11, to fill vacancies.

They are:

Danielle Duncan, part time bus attendant, Merrymount, $3 a run; Wendy Lovendale, part time lunch attendant, Turnpike Brook, $4.58 hour; Leo Maher, custodian, Prov. Jr. Hdg., North Quincy High School, $322.52 week; Marilee Schurman, tutor, Chapter 188, Quincy High School, $81 hour; Susan Stores, part time bus attendant, Lincoln, Hancock, $3 run; Donna Wass, part time lunch attendant, $4.58 hour.

Quitting Smoking Through Acupuncture

Editor's note: National Smoke-Out Week is over and if you didn't do anything then to try to kick the habit, you might be interested in this approach: acupuncture.)

By DANIEL S. KARP Ph.D.
Registered Acupuncturist

"I can stop smoking any time I want!" is the familiar cry of smokers who refuse to admit that they are addicted. Many, in fact, do attempt to stop smoking, only to discover that the physical addition experienced prevents them from being comfortable. In most instances, smokers return to their daily habit within a short time, disgusted with themselves, feeling a loss of self esteem for their physical and emotional weaknesses.

Today's society advocates that smoking is a dangerous habit. More and more restaurants and public buildings prohibit smoking. A smoker finds himself at times the only person at an affair with the habit. Ashtrays no longer appear automatically on public and private tables.

How, then, does one stop smoking without experiencing the withdrawal symptom, the increase in eating, the constant desire to "light up?"

Acupuncture has become a method of choice to stop smoking. It is 85-90 per cent successful in reducing the physical and emotional craving for nicotine. Very few withdrawal symptoms are experienced because the acupuncture treatment counteracts the effects of nicotine withdrawal. The patient feels a sense of calm and tranquility after the treatment and this feeling lasts between treatments. There is no sense of the need to increase one's appetite while being treated by acupuncture.

How does this work?

There are areas on the outer ear which are used by the acupuncturist to break the addiction to nicotine. A miniature ion pellet is inserted on a point of the ear with the recommendation that the patient stimulate this point whenever the urge to smoke arises. This will have the effect of alleviating that craving for nicotine. Future cravings will be minimal, as the nicotine leaves the system. Acupuncture stimulates endorphins which come from the central nervous system. These endorphins are the body's natural opiates and they are 5,000 to 10,000 stronger than morphine for the relief of stress. A series of five acupuncture treatments is recommended for stopping smoking.

Acupuncture treatments are totally painless and the effects are long lasting. The World Health Organization (WHO) of the United Nations recognizes forty-seven different health conditions that are successfully treated by acupuncture. One of these is nicotine addiction.

The National Smoke-Out Week was observed the week of Nov. 20. It is not too late to do yourself a health favor and join the ranks of the successful non-smokers of this country.

For further information, contact Dr. Daniel S. Karp, Acupuncture Associates of the South Shore, 12 Dimmock St., Quincy, telephone: 471-5577.

Burke Urges Bipartisanship

Congressman James Burke addressed the "Kennedy For President" youth group's statewide conclave at the Quincy Armory and pledged his support to all newly-elected city and state officials, regardless of party affiliation.

The conclave was welcomed by Mayor Della Chiesa who commended the non-partisan youth group on its participation in civic and political affairs.

A dinner was given following the meeting with a victory dance celebrating the election of Senator John F. Kennedy as President. Among those attending from Quincy were Ann Rosenthal of Q.H.S. and Alberta Belt of Woodward School.

CHURCH CORNERSTONE PLACED

The cornerstone was laid for the new $400,000 First Presbyterian Church on Penn's Hill.

Ground was broken for the new church in July 1959 after the conclusion of the church's bond drive which raised $120,000. At the cornerstone laying ceremonies, addresses were given by Rev. Dr. Reed, Mayor Amelio Della Chiesa and Rev. Roy Shoaf, pastor.

The 75-year old Presbyterian congregation expanded twice since its founding in 1884. The original congregation met in Faxon Hall on Revere Rd. (since torn down).

WOLLASTON ACTRESS CELEBRATES 99th BIRTHDAY

Mrs. Mary Watts, former Wollaston resident, celebrated her 99th birthday this week. Married to producer Richard Watts, she had an active career as a variety actress. Besides her acting career, she was a worker for the Republican Club and the Wollaston Congregational Church.

CITY EMPLOYEES PROPOSE SALARY REVISIONS

The Quincy City Employees Association presented its proposal before the city council for revision of salaries in lower brackets. Representing the group was Atty. Paul Hunt. The adoption of the new salaries, known as the Barrington salary schedule, would add a half million dollars to the yearly payroll.

Where Is This Over Development?

Editor, The Quincy Sun:

Quincy's leaders are falsely claiming over-development for causing Quincy's traffic ills, instead of taking the initiative and doing something to correct our road problems.

We supposedly have a mere handful of local citizens claiming over-development.

A beautiful $250 million dollar development on the shores of Dorchester Bay, on totally substandard land, creating many thousands of jobs and many millions of dollars in new taxes which will benefit the entire City, and they object to it.

The article in The Patriot Ledger on Monday, the 17th, says "many people in the two neighborhoods still have reservations about the project's height and density, and its impact on the city's traffic, sewer and water system."

Because the city has failed to update their sewer system over past decades, it is now charging developers a "ransom," a linkage fee, they call it.

With new development money the city will update the sewers for the benefit of already established homes.

Their second issue is water. The M.D.C. installed a brand new water main from Neponset River and the former Wollaston golf course in Milton, with a new branch feeder line down to Squantum with the foresight of developing this former abandoned airport, about fourteen years ago.

So, it is not a water problem, either.

The most useful argument most commonly used to reduce or restrict development in recent years is traffic. Quincy would be dead without it, traffic generates business, housing and industry.

Traffic is a city and state problem that Quincy continually failed to address. Because people have trouble crossing over the Neponset Bridge is not the fault of any developer, home owner or tenant. It's a government problem that our local and state officials and our governor should address.

With over 100,000 commuter's cars traveling over Quincy's streets each work day, and perhaps another 100,000 trips by our own citizens, shouldn't the city be addressing that issue instead?

Quincy has failed to even take the first and most important step, hire a traffic engineer. It was recommended in the traffic engineering study completed in October of 1985, amongst many other simple suggestions.

Quincy is engaged in a second traffic engineering study, which is financially supported with "linkage" funds from the local developers, who are still cooperating in correcting the city's traffic problems.

Don't you think it's time for the city to do something about this major traffic problem which increases over the years, regardless of any new development in our fine city?

Don't you think the city should tell the people how many new jobs have been created, and how much new found taxes are generated, and how it benefits all of Quincy, including the single family homeowner?

Now, who is, and where is this over-development? And why is it?

Instead of dividing the city's inhabitants, couldn't we unite and face the traffic issue where it belongs, on the streets, not on private development?

Thanksgiving Eve

Meat Loaf Muffins Take On A Dressed-Up Look

If you want to change a plain meat loaf into meat loaf cupcakes and a holiday look, put the mixture into greased cupcake tins, arrange them around some lettuce Alfredo and some fresh parsley and it will look very festive!

After preparing your favorite meat loaf mixture, fill the tins to over the top, shaping each to resemble a cupcake or a muffin.

If you haven't a favorite meat loaf recipe, here is one I usually use, and one which will fill eight to ten cupcake tins depending on the size. To this mixture, any other seasoning can be used, maybe a favorite one of yours.

MEAT LOAF

1 pound of hamburger

1 egg

1/2 cup grated cheese (any kind)

2 tablespoons of white wine (optional)

A little water if mixture seems dry

Salt and pepper to taste

Mix altogether until blended. If unseasoned bread crumbs are used, then add about a teaspoon of either parsley, basil or any desirable seasoning of your choice.

Fill each greased muffin tin shaping in the form of a cupcake or muffin.

Bake uncovered in a 325 degree oven for about 35 minutes. Cool for a couple of minutes and then they will each release easily. Place them around a platter with the lettuce in the center. (You may also serve them with rice or mashed potatoes.) In case you want to use noodles, here is an easy recipe for one pound of fettucine.

FETTUCINE ALFREDO

1 stick unsalted butter

1/2 pint heavy cream

1/2 cup Parmesan cheese (freshly grated if possible)

1 egg

While the noodles are boiling, melt the butter. Add the cheese and cream stirring until smooth. Do not boil.

When you toss the noodles, add the beaten egg together with the cream and butter sauce blending it until all sauce is taken up. Serve immediately. Wasn't that easy? And you will love it!

Quincy Employment Office Commended By Dukakis

Division of Employment Security's (DES) Quincy employment network office and General Dynamics emergency assistance center were commended for outstanding service by Governor Michael Dukakis at DES's second annual awards ceremony at the State House.

Quincy was cited for outstanding success in helping welfare recipients find jobs as part of the Employment and Training (ET) CHOICES program, the Department of Public Welfare's nationally recognized model for helping ALDC recipients become self-sufficient.

"Des's Employment Network has been instrumental in showing welfare recipients a route out of poverty by helping them find jobs with a future," said Dukakis, "while emergency assistance centers provide special services to workers who are victims of plant closings."

Emergency assistance centers respond to workers who have lost their jobs because of layoffs and plant closings by providing a number of special training and placement programs uniquely geared to the needs of displaced workers. Massachusetts is the first state in the nation to deal comprehensively with the plight of workers displaced by plant closings.

A THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK

"How swiftly the years and the seasons pass" is a thought that frequently occurs to all of us. And probably it is felt with the greatest weight each fall and winter as the holiday season approaches.

Now another Thanksgiving is here. This, with the fourth of July, is the most thoroughly American of all our holidays - celebrating the very beginnings of our nation. And, when properly observed, it honors the courage, skills and dedication of long gone men and women who faced and conquered dangers and difficulties of unbelievable scope.

There will be, inevitably, an emphasis on the material aspects of the day as speakers dwell on the abundance that is known so generally throughout the land. But abundance is not enough. The strength of peoples and powers lies in the qualities possessed by those who celebrated the first Thanksgiving - independence, a profound sense of individual responsibility, a deep spiritual belief, and dedication to freedom for all. This is what we should remember Thanksgiving Day... and every other day of the year.

Dukakis To Honor Quincy Officer For T Rescue

A Quincy police officer credited with saving the life of an 11-year-old boy in an accident at the Wollaston MBTA station will be honored by Gov. Michael Dukakis Dec. 8.

Patrolman William Horick saved the life of Eric Whittaker who was pinned between the station platform and a T-train at the Wollaston station last Dec. 9.

Horick will be among six officers to be honored by Dukakis at 1 p.m. ceremonies.

The ceremonies will be in Conference Room No. 1 on the 21st floor of the McCormack State Office Building, One Ashburton Pl., Boston.

Public Safety Secretary Charles V. Barry said the six are being honored as a result of recommendations made to Governor Dukakis by the Heroic Awards Committee for the Trooper George J. Hanna Medal of Honor and Medal of Valor.

All six, it was noted, will not receive medals but all will be presented commendations.

The other five to be honored are:

Detectives Thomas J. Gleason, and Bruce A. Holway of the Boston Police Department; State Police Troopers Daniel A. Grabowski and Paul M. Russell and Officer Thomas Strunk of the Billerica Police Department, posthumously.

The commendation read: "On December 9, 1985, an eleven year old boy, Eric Whittaker, was pinned between the station platform and the electric car of the M.B.T.A. train at the Wollaston station.

"Officer William Horick went under the train, administered first aid, pressure pointing the arteries so that the youth would not bleed to death, in fact, officer Horick calmed the boy as he contained the loss of blood prevented shock, and saved the boy's life.

"This occurred under the most adverse circumstances and under great physical and psychological strain while the Quincy Fire Department rescue team extricated the boy. Bay State Ambulance assisted and transported the boy to Quincy City Hospital.

"Officer William Horick is hereby awarded two days off, with pay, for his heroic efforts in this endeavor.

The commendation was recommended by Sgt. Richard Curran who said:

"...there was a report of a woman screaming at the Wollaston MBTA station, Newport Ave., side.

"Officer William Horick, Norfolk Downs man, was the first cruiser to respond and reported that a youth was pinned beneath a train. Officer Horick climbed under the train and calmed the injured youth and assisted the Quincy Fire Department Rescue Squad. Officer Horick held the injured youth and administered first aid in the form of stemming the flow of blood while the rescue squad freed the youth.

"It is my feeling that officer Horick should be commended for his dedication to duty, for the compassion and professionalism and for climbing under the train along the live rail without regard to his own safety to assist this injured eleven year old. I feel that Officer Horick should be rewarded with two days off with pay and a commendation be entered into his personnel folder.

Blood Pressure Screenings

Quincy City Hospital will conduct a free blood pressure screening for the general public Tuesday, Dec. 2, in their Ambulatory Care Department from 1:30 to 3 p.m.

The screenings, performed by nursing staff, will enable the individual to keep track of his blood pressure, and be aware of dangerous elevations in the pressure. Persons in need of referral to a physician, will be advised to do so.

The screenings, which will take place on the first and third Tuesday of each month, are free of charge.

Church News

Central Baptist To Serve Thanksgiving Dinner To Needy

Central Baptist Church of Quincy will again sponsor their community Thanksgiving dinner available free to the homeless, lonely individuals or needy families.

There will be a continuous serving from noon to 2 p.m. in the church center, located at the corner of Washington and Federal Sts., Quincy Center.

Since the community Thanksgiving dinner program began in 1983, nearly 500 people have benefited.

Central Baptist is also the host of the Quincy Free Restaurant which serves meals to those in need every Tuesday and Thursday evenings. Thousands of free meals have been served annually through this program.

For additional information on either the community Thanksgiving dinner or the Quincy Free Restaurant, or if you require transportation, call the church at 479-6512.

Thanksgiving Sunday At Squantum Church

Worshippers at the First Church of Squantum Sunday first gathered for an all-church Thanksgiving breakfast sponsored by the young people of the church and then participated in the annual Thanksgiving Sunday service in which four choirs sang.

The Cherub Choir was directed by Mindi Hurd, and the Crusader Choir, the Youth Choir and the combined Youth and Chancel Choirs were directed by Mary Ruth Scott.

The prelude was an arrangement of the hymn,

"Come, Ye Thankful People, Come," played by Kristen Fluhr and Mary Ruth Scott on the piano and the organ.

Rev. Dr. Gene Langevin, pastor, read a scripture from Deuteronomy 26:1-15 and preached a sermon entitled "Returning Thanks to God."

Greeters at that service were Arthur and Virginia Sorenson. Visitors were Lore Wallin and Stewart Scott. The Fellowship Hour after the service was hosted by Ellen Ogilvie and Gretchen Bumpus.

On Saturday, Nov. 29 from 6 to 8 p.m., the Board of Christian Education is sponsoring the annual "Hanging of the Greens," a Christmas crafts and decorating party for the whole church. Visitors are welcome.

There will be two worship services this Sunday at the church; the guitar service at 8:30 a.m. and the traditional service at 10:30 a.m.

Church members are asked to bring canned goods to church with them Sunday for people in need in the community.

Festival Service To Mark Town Brook House 6th Anniversary

A Festival Service, in observance of the sixth anniversary of Town Brook House, will be held Sunday, Nov. 30, at the 10 a.m. service in Wollaston Lutheran Church, 550 Hancock St.

The preacher will be the Rev. David P. Mulder. Conducting the service will be pastor, the Rev. Dr. Adolph H. Wismar, Jr. Gospeller will be the Rev. Frank J. Bauer, pastor emeritus of Wollaston Lutheran.

The Rev. Mr. Bauer is also the executive director of the Wollaston Lutheran Church Apartment owners of Town Brook House and Lenno House.

Town Brook House is a federally-funded 151 apartment unit for the elderly and the handicapped and located

REV. DAVID P. MULDER at 45 Brackett St.

Fenno House was built 13-years-ago to accommodate elderly residents. It is adjacent to the church.

Lectors in the service are the president of Wollaston

Lutheran Church, Frederick J. Cashman of Quincy, and the chairman of the board of Wollaston Lutheran Church Apartments, The church organist and director of music is Prof. Charles F. Seifert of Eastern Nazarene College.

Originally from Michigan, Bishop Mulder was ordained into the holy ministry in 1978. He is a Vietnam veteran and currently serves as a chaplain in the Connecticut Army National Guard. Previously serving as pastor of Immanuel Lutheran Church in Bristol, Ct., Bishop Mulder, president of the New England district of the Lutheran Church, was consecrated to his present office in 1985.

Following the service an anniversary dinner will be served in the Common Room at Town Brook House.

Canned Goods Drive At Good Counsel Church

Families are asked to bring canned goods or non-perishable food to the Mass on Thanksgiving at Our Lady of Good Counsel Church, 227 Sea St.

The donations will be for to the Quincy Interfaith Sheltering Coalition for the homeless.

The Parish Choir, under the direction of John Flavin and Edward McDonagh, organist, will sing traditional Thanksgiving music at the Wednesday evening Mass.

The celebration will continue with cider in the Parish Hall.

Thanksgiving Eve Service At St. John's Church

St. John's Church, Quincy Center, will hold a Thanksgiving Eve Service at 7:30 p.m., Wednesday, Nov.

26. Refreshments will be served immediately following the service in the lower church hall. All parishioners and area residents are welcome.

In Sun Spotlight O'Brien's Bakery A Love Affair For Jeanne And Jim

By DAN CONNELLY
O'Brien's Bakery in Wollaston Center is cooking up the perfect recipe to sweeten the season.

Jeanne and Jim O'Brien are the ones who will be taking the frazzle and hassle out of holiday baking with dazling desserts, cookies, breads, and holiday do-aheads at their 9 Beale St., shop and also at O'Brien's Bakery Too, 147 Granite St. (inside the Fruit Basket).

Success for this Milton couple, parents of Shawn, 10-months, wasn't overnight. Both worked at Arlene's Bakery in Wollaston while attending high school and college.

They married in 1978, and Jim, whose dad and grandmother owned bakeries in Dorchester, worked as an accountant. One day he told Jeanne, "I can't sit behind a desk all my life."

Then it happened. Arlene's was up for sale. They made a decision, put their future on the line, and bought the business.

Today, the O'Brien's employ 47 people. Jim bakes and handles all the supply and demand. Jeanne is responsible for all administrative and paper chores and "whatever else needs to be done."

"And no, I'm not adverse to decorating or washing the floor," she added.

"Yes, we work hard," said Jeanne, who still continues her one-day a week administrative aide position with Dr. Peter Leahy at Carney Hospital Medical Center in Dorchester.

"There is a lot of work to running two bakery shops. You've got to be on your toes 24 hours a day, but we love it, and enjoy meeting people," she said.

What makes O'Brien's Bakery work is keeping their products different, fresh and free of preservatives, "which is something a lot of our customers are concerned

Christmas Lighting Saturday At 5:45 P.M.

Over $1100 In Prizes At Wollaston Holiday Festival

The Wollaston Center Holiday Festival will open Saturday at 5:45 p.m. with the official turning on of the Christmas lighting.

Over $1100 in prizes will be awarded - (See coupons on Pages 14-15).

Some 64 members of the Wollaston Business Association have united this year to make the holiday season one of the grandest ever for their customers with a multitude of fine products and bargains galore.

The festivities get underway at 5 p.m. when Santa Claus, chauffeured in a Quincy fire truck, arrives at Hancock and Beale Sts., with balloons and bundles of lollipops.

Joining him shortly after in the parking lot at Hancock Bank on Beale St., will be the Wollaston Glee Club, who will sing popular carols.

The Quincy Symphony Orchestra will separate in groups and stroll like minstreals about the business district.

Mayor Francis McCauley, Rep. Michael Morrissey, Sen.

Paul Harold, City Council president Steve McGrath will participate in the ceremonies.

The Christmas lighting ceremonies will be at Hancock and Beale Sts., where a switch will be pulled at 5:45 p.m.

Another highlight of the festival will be at 7:45 p.m., when participating stores will hold drawings for prizes to lucky shoppers.

Participating merchants and their over $1100 in prizes include:

North Jayvees, Freshmen Roll Over Young Presidents

By PETE ZOIA

The North Quincy junior varsity and freshman football teams finished excellent seasons last Saturday when they rolled to easy wins over their Quincy rivals.

Kevin Cobban's Jayvees won, 32-8, to finish up with an 8-2 record.

The freshmen breezed, 38-0, to finish at 4-3, winning four in a row after losing their first three games.

The hard running of Steve Shoap and the passing of Bob Sylva paced the Raider junior varsity win.

Bob Herman intercepted a pass on the Presidents' 25 and, after Shoap ran to the 12, Sylva threw the first of his two touchdown passes to Jack Mullen. Shoap added the two-point conversion and North led, 8-0, at the half.

Three successive completions by Sylva highlighted the third quarter. Chris Mendes caught one for eight yards. Ted Stevenson pulled one in for 21 and Mike Shields caught a 42-yard scoring pass. Shoap again added the two points.

Dan Steele set up the next score by intercepting a pass and returning to the Quincy five. Mendes went to the one and Chuck Peck scored. Mendes rushed for the two points. The final North score came on a 24-yard run by Paul Brown and Peck added the final two-point conversion.

The only Quincy touchdown was the result of a 53-yard march in the fourth quarter. Dave Nourse scoring from the eight and Scott Campbell rushing for the two points.

Quincy had lost some key players to injuries and eligibility and the muddy field hampered its passing game as North had three interceptions.

The field was in terrible condition and was all the worse following the preceding freshman game.

Fumbleby gave Tom Carter's North freshmen three early touchdowns. A lateral went away and North recovered, setting up the first score early. Keith Gott scored the first of his four touchdowns from the three.

North's John Keegan recovered another fumble on Quincy's 29 and Gott skirted left end and went all the way. Jeff Calvert added the two-point conversion.

Immediately after the kickoff Scott Kemp of North fell on another Quincy fumble on Quincy's 30, a pass went to the six and Calvert scored on a counter play. Gott added the two points and North had a 22-0 lead after one quarter.

Kemp recovered still another fumble on Quincy's 33. Dave Kiley ran for six. Gott added five and then dashed 22 yards for his third score and Jim Rayne added the points for a 30-0 lead.

Gott raced 61 yards for the only score of the third quarter and Bill Early added the two points.

Carter hailed the play of Kiley, Jason Doyle, Keegan, Kemp, Kevin Heffernan, Greg Runge, Alex Malosi and Mike Iacabucci on offense and Gerry Neal, Shaun Dempsey, Mike Gates, Gary Glynn, Scott Leonard, Kevin McDonough, Dorsey Duggan, Aimen Jahann and Early on defense.

THESE Quincy and North Quincy players played prominent roles for the Curry College football team this fall as the Colonels enjoyed their best season in history with an 8-1 record. They finished just behind Plymouth State College, which won its sixth New England Conference title. Front, from left, freshman running back Steve Kelly, senior quarterback Bob Barrett, who holds all of the school's seasonal and career passing records; and sophomore defensive back Kevin Kelly. Back, sophomore defensive tackle Al DiBella, freshman offensive tackle Gerard Coughlin, junior offensive guard Jerry Martin and sophomore defensive end Pat Calabro. Quincy's Peter Chella is an assistant coach.

Quincy Girls Bow To Chelmsford In Tourney Finals

A year ago the Quincy girls' volleyball team went to the finals of the state tournament before bowing to a taller Chelmsford team in the championship game.

Last week Quincy again met Chelmsford in the state semifinals and again it was Chelmsford which came out on top, 3-1.

Chelmsford met Boston Latin, which lost twice to Quincy during the regular season, for the state crown. Latin swept Chelmsford, 3-0, in the semifinals.

The big difference in the Quincy-Chelmsford match was the towering, 6-4 Kristina Shields, whose powerful shots led her team to three easy wins after the First Ladies had taken the hard-fought opening game, 15-13.

Chelmsford easily won the next three, 15-4, 15-3, 15-2.

"When you saw her bang the ball at 80 miles an hour, it got a little discouraging," said Quincy coach Tom Henderson. "They have a great team, but we can play better. We ran into a steamroller."

The First Ladies wiped out a 6-2 deficit to tie the opening game at 8-8, then closed it out with a bang, breaking a 13-13 tie to win it.

Trailing, 6-2, Ginny Duggan, Quincy's floor leader, served an ace and an Amy Guidice save forced a Lions error at the net and a triple deflection shot for a winner by Duggan. Lauren Standing and Nancy Laitinen tied the game. Quincy went ahead, 12-8, when two straight blocks by Laitinen turned into points. With the score tied at 13-13, Quincy got aggressive and forced a net ball and a long out-of-bounds strike to win the opener.

"I had hoped for a little cockiness on Chelmsford's part in the first game," said Henderson. "That's when Ginny Duggan and Nancy Laitinen took it to them at the net."

That was all the Quincy fans had to cheer about as Shields, Jan Andrusaitis and Kerry Cody led the Lions to three easy wins with the help of some miscommunications on Quincy's part.

This was the fifth year in a row Quincy had won the Suburban League and South Sectional titles and moved at least to the state semifinals. The First Ladies won the state crown in 1982 and 1984, lost to Stoneham in the semifinals in 1983, to Chelmsford in the finals last year and to Chelmsford in last week's semis.

Runge Stars

For Bridgewater

Former North Quincy High star JoAnne Runge, a senior guard on the Bridgewater State College women's basketball team, started where she left off last year as Bridgewater romped over Curry College, 64-28.

Runge scored 20 points, had seven steals and four assists. She leads the team in steals over the past three years.

McPhee: 'Defense Will Be The Key'

Raiders Can Salvage So-So Season

NORTH

By TOM SULLIVAN

North Quincy's football team has fallen short on its quest for a .500 season, but the Raiders hope to salvage the season with a victory over Quincy on the holiday morning at 10 at Veterans Memorial Stadium just as they did a year ago.

North takes a 3-6 record into the 54th meeting of the teams, following a disappointing loss to Brookline. Last season's record marked but edged the Presidents, 7-6, to win the 'second season.'

Coach Ken McPhee will have his strongest lineup since the season opened with the return of three players who could play key roles in the holiday classic.

Matt 'Tank' McNamara, a 255-pound tackle who has been out with a broken bone in his thigh since the opening game, will be back, as will Brian Campbell, 215-pound tackle, who has missed the last four games.

North gets a big boost by the return of Mark Smith, 235-pound fullback, who has been ineligible all season and returns for his only game of the year.

"We are still a little banged up, but the return of these three players will help us considerably," said McPhee. "Smith was our starting fullback most of last year and he should help our offense. And it is great to have McNamara and Campbell back in the line."

The Raider coach doesn't plan any surprises for the Presidents.

"We'll continue just as we have," he said. "We have been inconsistent. We haven't played too badly but also haven't played up to our potential. We need most consistency."

"We'll be well prepared for Quincy and you never have to get the kids up for this game.

Emotion plays a major role in the game and I know we will be playing with plenty of emotion."

North will start on offense with Billy MacDougall or Steve Happas and Mike Ainsley or Tom Casey at end, Tom McDonald or Campbell and Paul Hogan or McNamara at tackle, Tim Kelly or Dave Levine and Tom Dolan at guard and Paul Nimeskern at center.

Joe Mulvey and Bob Sylva will split the quarterback chores, Vin Capone or Brian Durgin and Paul McCormack or Dave Lawless will be at halfback and Ryan Craig or Smith will be at fullback.

Craig, one of three sophomore starters (the others are Ainsley and MacDougall), has done an outstanding job running the ball and Mulvey has done a good job at quarterback. Smith is expected to give Craig a lot of help running the ball and Paul McCormack has also run well.

McPhee feels the defense will be the key as the Raiders must put pressure on Quincy's Steve Austin, who has been outstanding passing, and must stop fullback Joe Cardarelli, who needs just 36 yards to hit the 1000-yard figure.

Among others who will play on offense are Bob Linnane, Mark Lunnin, Terry Downing, Jim Liberidis and Steve Brooks.

Starting on defense will be Brian Callow and either Kevin Segalla or his twin brother, Keith, at end; Smith and Hogan at tackle, Shawn Clancy at nose guard, Dolan, Ainsley and Craig or Kelly linebackers and Scott Chansky, John Pacino and Lawless at defensive back.

Casey, Paul Moody, MacDougall and John Rodophe will see plenty of action as defensive backs and others who will see action on defense are Dave Carter, Matt Edmunds, Paul Flaherty, Jim McCluskey, Doug Newton, Scott Sacchetti and Phil Tavares.

McPhee's assistants are Ted Sadowski, finishing his 29th season with the Raiders (he has coached under every one of North's coaches), Pete Zola, Kevin Cobban, Jamie Walsh, Peter Chrisom and Tom Carter.

BOB SYLVA will see plenty of action at quarterback for North Quincy, sharing the duties with Joe Mulvey.

Raymer: 'We Will Be Prepared'

Presidents Looking For A .500 Finish

QUINCY

A year ago the Quincy football team suffered through an 0-10 season but missed upsetting North Quincy by a matter of inches as the Presidents lost, 7-6, when a try for the two-point conversion just missed.

On Thanksgiving, Jack Raymer's Quincy team (4-5) can finish with a .500 season if it tops North in the 54th meeting of the rivals at 10 a.m. at Veterans Memorial Stadium.

Quincy, like North, goes into the game following a disappointing loss, but Raymer knows the players need no pep talk to be up for the annual classic.

"I wish we could have a couple of those games back, but the boys have played hard all season and we will be ready for our 'second season,' said Raymer. "I hope the weather is better than last year and that Steve Austin can pass. But, if not, Joe Cardarelli will be ready to spearhead our running game.

"It will be the usual hard-fought game and we will be prepared. Steve Gardner is finally back in top shape after being slowed down for several games with a bad ankle.

"His return gives us a fine pass receiving group with Gardner, Joe Innello, who in recent games has been our best receiver; Sean Munroe and Bill Ryan. Austin will have some fine targets."

North will try to pressure Austin and will be keying on Cardarelli, who needs just 36 yards to finish with over 1000 yards rushing. Quincy has not had a 1000-yarder in nearly 10 years. John Bogan also has been running well.

Quincy will open with an offensive line of Gardner and Ryan at end, Jeff Sprague and Dave Savage at tackle, Rick Smith and Steve Picarski at guard and Norm Hassan at center.

Austin will be at quarterback with Bogan and Innello halfbacks and Cardarelli fullback.

Munroe, Calabro and Tom

Bjork will also see their share of offensive action.

On defense Bjork and Smith will be at end, Eastwick and Calabro at tackle, Matt Healy noseguard, Picarski and Gardner linebackers, Innello and Rob Cabezas cornerbacks and Chris Mackey and Ernie Light defensive backs.

Among those also playing on defense will be Cardarelli, Jay Dennett, Savage, Sprague, Dennis DeCoste, Greg Doten and Jim Feeley.

"This is a senior team and the seniors haven't forgotten last year's tough loss," Raymer said. "They will be going all out to get even and finish with a .500 mark."

Raymer's assistant coaches are John Taglier, Bob Noble, Jim Kennedy, Sean Burke and Paul Gilbody.

Jennifer Dalrymple In Florida Pageant

Jennifer Lee Dalrymple, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Dalrymple of Quincy, will represent Eastern Massachusetts in the nationals of Today's Little Dream Pageant Nov. 26-30.

The pageant will be held in Fort Myers, Florida.

Jennifer, 7, is a second grader at the Montclair School, Wollaston.

She battled cancer as an infant and is now an active child, according to her parents.

Jennifer is involved in dance, gymnastics and loves to ice skate. She enjoys reading and loves to go to school and learn new and interesting things, say the Dalrymples.

She has won a "Miss Personality" award, and finished in the top 10 in another pageant last year.

JENNIFER DALRYMPLE, 8, of Quincy, received the good wishes of Mayor Francis McCauley during a recent visit to City Hall. She will compete in Today's Little Dream Pageant Nov. 26 to 30 in Florida.

Squantum Resident In Miss Mass Pageant

Carolyn Rochelle of Squantum has been selected to compete in the 1987 Miss Massachusetts-USA pageant to be held starting Nov. 28 in Worcester.

Carolyn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Amos Rochelle, and granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin J. Beck, also of Quincy, is currently a student at the John Robert Powers School of Modeling in Boston.

The three-day pageant will be staged at the Sheraton Lincoln Grand Ballroom, and

CAROLYN ROCHELLE is held to select the Massachusetts girl to vie in the Miss USA pageant to be nationally televised by CBS-TV in February.

Carolyn's sponsors include: President Real Estate, 420 Hancock St., North Quincy;

Mr. and Mrs. John Horrigan of Squantum;

Wollaston Theatre, Beale St.; Mr. Sub on Billings Rd., North Quincy; American Legion Robert I. Nickerson Post No. 382, Squantum; Squantum and South Shore Realty of Squantum.

Record Turnout At Camp Fire Dance

Quincy Camp Fire held their annual square dance recently with a record turn out.

Bob Johnson, who's been caller for the past 15 years, began the evening with old favorites like the Hokey Pokey and Seven Jumps, then progressed to more complicated 4-couple squares and line dances.

Everyone attending brought a non-perishable food item for Camp Fire's Thanksgiving Food Drive for the Quincy Crisis Center. Barbara Breslin's first grade Blue Birds decorated the food collection boxes and delivered the 10 cartons of canned foods to the Center. Third grader Valerie Chin supervised the food collection.

The Lucky Ten raffle prizes this year included: Handmade afghans, Christmas coaster - mat set, and stained glass ornaments, glassware, and a portable radio.

Munchkins and apple juice were served by Discovery Club members Robin Backman and Rebecca Chin. Camp Fire's next event will be a Sock Hop in January.

Housing Authority 'Christmas Joy' Dec. 6

The Quincy Housing Authority will sponsor Christmas Joy, a holiday get-together for residents, family members and friends, Saturday, Dec. 6, 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. at O'Brien Towers, Germantown.

The event will be an opportunity for those who attend to come together and share in the spirit of the holiday season.

Participants will also be able to sell homemade items, knitted, crocheted, ceramic or baked goods, and flea market items.

Transportation will be provided. A free lunch will be served.

For more information, call Joanne Nawn or Beth Tutunjian at 471-7050, ext. 40.

Cub Scout Pack 14 Plans Christmas Fair

Cub Scout Pack 14 will hold their annual Christmas Fair on Friday, Dec. 5-6, in Wollaston Congregational Church, corner of Lincoln and Winthrop Aves.

The fair will have a 'kids corner,' crafts, baked goods, white elephant table and snack bar.

Hours for the fair are Dec. 5, 7 to 9:30 p.m., and Dec. 6, 9 a.m. to 3 p.m.

about," said Jeanne. Operating twin stores, and raising a family, has not turned the O'Brien's from their responsibilities as members of the Wollaston

Business Association, which is enjoying a reactivation of the organization and is planning a gala Wollaston Center Holiday Festival to open Nov. 29. So while the rest of us concentrate on other tasks or leading up to the coming holidays O'Brien's Bakery will be working extra-hard to cook up stunning, savory tidbits, or those marvelous do-ahead treats you can stash away in your freezer or refrigerator. And, like magic, serve one of all at a holiday open house or to end a festive meal.

Yes, it's comforting to know that there's someone out there who is willing to take a big bite out of the crunch of holiday baking and sweeten the spirit of the season for all of us.

WEEK OF: NOVEMBER 27

AQUARIUS — January 21-February 19

A light touch is the right touch now—especially where office politics are concerned. In romance, you're on a steadier course. Modest financial gains are favored.

PISCES — February 20-March 20

You're a wealth of ideas—the key is to put the brightest ones into action. Family member may need coaxing to share current concerns. Sports are favorably spotlighted.

ARIES — March 21-April 20

Rules should be obeyed strictly if you're to reach your target date. Caution is important in new relationships. Mechanical efforts require the work of a professional.

TAURUS — April 21-May 22

Leave extra time for detours if traveling through the week. Partner may be surprisingly vague, but don't press for details. Week is favorable for learning a new language.

GEMINI — May 23-June 21

Ideas are gaining support from higherup. Pets figure in the weekend picture; you may be puppy-sitting. Loved one is less secretive and more demonstrative.

CANCER — June 22-July 22

Partnership arrangement are spotlighted but be sure that all paperwork is carefully reviewed. Publishing ventures are favorable too. Communications problems ease up after weekend.

LEO — July 23-August 22

Romance continues on a steadier course thanks to your new approach. Family members willing to make a sacrifice on your behalf. Suspended project is reactivated.

VIRGO — August 23-September 22

Creative activities are featured. You may choose to make some meaningful holiday gifts. Weekend travel plans may go awry. Loved one is in a more realistic mood.

LIBRA — September 23-October 23

Platonic friendships are featured. You're known for your diplomatic skills, but this week stay far afield of family disputes. Harmony returns to the job scene.

SCORPIO — October 24-November 21

Key to recent mystery is revealed now. Independent streak surfaces, leading to favorable results by Monday. Family obligation is shared. Public speaking event is favored.

SAGITTARIUS — November 22-December 22

An open-minded attitude can lead to professional gains. Academic horizons broaden; this is a good week to plan a new course of study. Romance situation stabilizes.

CAPRICORN — December 23-January 20

Favorable time for making difficult announcements and decisions. Healthwise, look after minor aches promptly. Unexpected visitors liven the weekend. Prepare for new expenses.

BIRTHDAY THIS WEEK

Although some see you as a lighthearted type, your sense of commitment is strong indeed. In family situations, you are the one to count on. Educational expansion is spotlighted over the coming months, leading to new interests and possible travel by mid- to late-1987.

BORN THIS WEEK

November 27th, producer David Merrick; 28th, actress Hope Lange; 29th, singer John Gary; 30th, host Dick Clark; December 1st, actor Richard Pryor; 2nd, actress Julie Harris; 3rd, singer Andy Williams.

INVITATION TO BID

Sealed Proposals for the

JAIL CHEMISTRIE

will be received at the office of the Commissioner of Public Works, 55 State Street, Quincy, MA until 10:00 A.M. Eastern Standard Time on December 16, 1986, at which time they will be publicly opened and read.

The Contractor to whom the Contract may be awarded will be required to appear at this office with the surety offered by him and execute the Contract within ten days from the date of the mailing of notice from the Commissioner to the bidder, according to the address given by him that the Contract is ready for signature and in case of his failure or neglect to do so, the Commissioner may, at his option, determine that the bidder has abandoned the Contract and thereupon the certified check or bid bond shall become the property of the City of Quincy.

The Contractor will be required to provide both a performance bond and a payment labor and materials bond each for the full Contract price. A certified check or bid bond in the amount of 5% of the base bid shall accompany each bid.

Specifications may be obtained at the Department of Public Works upon deposit of $25.00 for each set which will be refunded provided they are returned in good condition, within 10 days of the bid opening. Bidders requesting specifications mailed to them shall add a separate check for Ten Dollars ($10.00) payable to the City of Quincy to cover the mailing and handling.

The right is reserved to reject any or all bids or to accept the bid deemed best for the City.

PRAYER TO THE HOLY SPIRIT
Oh Holy Spirit who enlightens me, who illuminates all things so I may attain my goal. You who gives me the divine gift of forgiving and forgetting the evil done to me and who is ever with me at all moments of my life I wish during this short dialogue with you to thank you for everything and to confirm once again my wish to never be separated from you, even and in spite of all material distractions I desire to be with you in eternal glory. Thank you for your mercy towards me and all who are dear to me. Must be said three days in succession After the three days favor or grace will be attained, even if it appears to be of difficult nature. Then to be published with instructions as soon as possible with your initials.

May the sacred heart of Jesus be adored, glorified, loved and praised throughout the world now and forever. Sacred heart of Jesus, pray for us. St. Jude, the worker of miracles, pray for us. St. Jude the helper of the hopeless, pray for us. Say this prayer 9 times a day for 9 days and by the 8th day your prayer will be answered. This prayer has never been known to fail. Thank you blessed mother. Publication promised. My prayer has been answered.

Mayor's Thanksgiving Dinner At Montello's

When the rest of us gather give thanks, it's a sure bet the around our holiday table to elderly who would probably spend the day alone will be remembered.

The annual Mayor's Thanksgiving Day Dinner, hosted by Mayor Frank McCauley and Brian Buckley, of the city's Council on Aging, will assist in serving some 150 already registered guests at Montello's, Washington St., and Massachusetts Ave.

According to Buckley, the doors will open at 12 noon and dinner will be served about 1 p.m.

Buckley added that there is transportation being provided for most of the elderly housing units.

This is the 14th anniversary for the dinner, said Buckley.

RECEIVING A PROCLAMATION for Adoption Week from Mayor Francis X. McCauley (center) are Phyllis Speciale, Child Placement Coordinator for Protestant Social Service Bureau (PSSB) and Robert Taylor, Executive Director of PSSB.

First Permit Issued At Crown Colony Place

City's Biggest Project Soon To Start

By NANCY McLAUGHLIN

All signs indicate that development of Crown Colony Place in West Quincy, the largest project in the city, is about to get underway.

According to Building Inspector Ken Johnson, the first building permit for the project has been issued to Linpro Companies for a five story, 125,000-square-foot office building at an estimated construction cost of $4.5 million.

Another permit for a three-story, 40,000-square-foot office at the site at an estimated cost of $1.7 million is expected to be issued shortly to Bay State Milling Co. for use as its office headquarters, according to Johnson.

Johnson said that he did not know when building construction would start, but noted that the permits must be used in six months.

The project is being planned by the Musaad Al-Saleh family of Kuwait on the site of the Old Colony Crushed Stone land off Centre St.

At some two million square feet, the project is the largest in the city, according to Planning Director James Lydon, who has likened it to the size of the State St. complex.

Principal Planner Richard Meade, who will become Planning Director next week when Lydon leaves to take a job in the private sector, said that when the project is complete, it may be the premier commercial office space in the state.

"The 175-acre parcel has direct access from Routes 128 and 3, and offers more than any other parcel in Quincy or beyond," said Meade.

"The road network and utilities are nearly complete," noted Meade, who estimated that the developers may do site preparation work this winter and start construction in the spring.

Meade noted that negotiations on the project have taken time.

Two years ago, the Planning Board approved subdivision of the property. About a year and a half ago, the board and city council approved a hotel use on the property.

No permit has yet been issued for a hotel.

"The attitude has been that if the site is going to be developed, it is going to be developed properly," said Meade.

Mayor Francis McCauley said, "We're very pleased that the project is coming on line. It will be one of the larger projects in the city's history."

McCauley noted that the value of the project is estimated at $300 to $500 million over five years.

"We're pleased that the first two construction projects are about to get off the ground," said McCauley.

"We're sure more will follow, and construction will start soon."

Good Shopping Season Predicted

Mayor Francis McCauley is predicting a "good holiday shopping season" for the city and members of local business associations agree.

"People have a lot of money, inflation is low, salaries are up and I think it's going to be a good shopping season," said McCauley.

"The Burgin Parkway has been a great help to downtown Quincy, and the economy is strong.

"There is adequate parking, and there are over 100 merchants downtown."

Kenneth Fallon, Jr., executive director of the Quincy Center Business and Profession of Association, agreed with McCauley's assessment.

"All signs indicate a fine Christmas shopping season in Quincy," said Fallon.

"The Burgin Parkway Extension makes it much easier for people south of Quincy to get to downtown shopping areas," he said.

Wellaston kicked off its holiday shopping season last weekend with a festival which attracted an estimated 1200 people.

It included a lighting festival, caroling and Santa Claus.

"It was a tremendous success," said Jeanne O'Brien of O'Brien's Bakery in Wellaston.

Carmela Cobbin, president of the North Quincy Business Association, said, "We're looking forward to a great Christmas season."

"The holiday lights are up, parking is available, and the merchants are offering personalized service."

There is also a drawing being held to support the holiday lighting. A VCR, $100 savings bond and $50 cash award are prizes, she said.

"We're urging people in Quincy and on the South Shore to include the city on their list of places to make holiday purchases.

"Quincy is the place to shop for holiday gifts."

BEST FLOAT in the parade and a $1,000 award went to the Germantown Yacht Club for its entry, "Christmas with Mother Goose."

SANTA AND MRS. CLAUS waved to the crowd lining Hancock St. for the annual Christmas Parade. They are on the Quincy Center Business and Professional Association float.

Crowd Estimated At 300,000

Germantown Yacht Club Enters Best Float

By DAN CONNELLY

Despite chilly temperatures and a blustery wind, an estimated 300,000 spectators turned out for Quincy's 35th annual Christmas Festival Parade Sunday.

The event, sponsored by the Quincy Center Business and Professional Association, featured 27 bands, 20 floats, 26 specialty units and the man of the hour—Santa, himself—along with Mrs. Claus.

Lt. Frank Mullen, parade traffic-crowd coordinator estimated the turnout along Hancock St. from Quincy Center to Wollaston to North Quincy at 300,000.

"There were no incidents to speak of," he said.

Top band honors went to David Prouty High School Band from Spencer in Division I which comprises the largest bands.

Division II was won by East Bridgewater High School.

Division III, Agawam High School.

Marshfield High School, Division IV winner, will be eligible to appear in the New Year's Day Cotton Bowl Parade in 1988.

The Father Tierney Trophy for the best float in the parade and a $1,000 award, went to the Germantown Yacht Club for its entry, "Christmas with Mother Goose."

Second prize of $500 went to the Woodward School for the float, "Never Ending Christmas."

Third prize was a tie between Sacred Heart CYO for its float, "Fantasy Alive" and the Koch Club's "Midnight Magic." Each received $250.

The Mayor's Trophy for the Best Quincy Float was won by the Quincy Bay Race Association. In the commercial category, The Patriot Ledger's entry, "Frosty the Snowman" took the Festival Committee's trophy.

In the specialty category, the MBTA's motorcycle drill team won the Festival Chairman's Trophy.

George White, parade chairman, presented gifts to Mr. and Mrs. John Nestor of Wollaston, whose winning parade theme was "Christmas Fantasy" and to Edward Fiddler, of the Quincy Community Television, Ch. 3, for the television support of the Christmas Festival.

Some sub-awards were made for each category as posters and percussion sections. Making the presentations was John Nee.

Among the groups that drew "oohs" and "woos" from spectators of all ages were a team of Clydesdale horses, miniature horses from Randolph, Whitman and Norton, and the Scituate Police Department's safety car—a white Volkswagen Bug with big round eyes, a hat perched on its roof and for a mouth, a hood that kept flapping open.

Among the bands, playing Christmas favorites in addition to the standard marching tunes, were Quincy and North Quincy High Schools, Holbrook, Plymouth-Carver, Abington, and Marshfield.

Mayor Francis McCauley was joined by state, county and city officials and marched the entire route.

$108,039 Collected In Owed Taxes

The crack down on personal property taxes owed to the City of Quincy has resulted in collection of $108,039.86, since August, according to Mayor Francis McCauley.

It was instituted by Assistant City Solicitor Donald Hansen together with the Treasurer-Collector and Assessors office, he said.

According to McCauley, the collection process established is to notify individuals by letter.

If those individuals do not comply with the requests of the city to pay their back taxes, the second step of the process is to bring the people into court for an examination of their ability to pay, he said. "The collection of back taxes is on-going, until all those in arrears with the city have paid what they owe," McCauley said.

The mayor urged all those tax payers who are delinquent, to pay their personal property taxes as soon as possible.

Santa's Mailboxes

Santa's Mailboxes for children wishing to mail Christmas requests to Santa are now at four locations in Quincy Sq., according to chairman Richard J. Koch.

The locations are McIntyre Mall, adjacent to the Quincy Cooperative Bank, Baskin Robbins Ice Cream Store, 1434 Hancock St., Colman's Sporting Goods Store, 1630 Hancock St., and at the entrance to the Child World Store in the Parking Way.

Santa's mailboxes are especially constructed for children to deposit their own letters and requests to Santa. Adults are cautioned that the blue and red mini mailboxes are for communications to Santa only.

Five children from the "Let's Have Fun Nursery School" were the first to visit the Santa Mailbox at McIntyre Mall. They not only deposited their own letters to Santa but also a note from each of their classmates.

The deadline for depositing letters to Santa is Monday, Dec. 22.

How Police Vote Shapes Up

Active behind-the-scenes lobbying has been going on over who should call the shots in the recommendations for overhauling the Quincy Police Department.

The decision rests in the hands of the City Council when it votes on a $12,000 appropriation request from Mayor Francis McCauley.

If the council approves the $12,000, McCauley will hire the consultants who carried out a recent study of the Police Department to make the recommendations for the changes.

If the council turns it down, the Police Department apparently would make its own recommendations with national accreditation its goal.

Both McCauley and Police Chief Francis Finn have been lobbying for support in the City Council.

Five of the nine council votes would wrap it up one way or the other.

Speculation is that (1) it could go either way or (2) the Council is leaning toward Finn and the Police Department.

The study carried out by seven consultants under the direction of the Massachusetts Municipal Association was strongly critical of the Police Department.

It cited among other things, lack of leadership and favoritism.

McCauley says the study consultants and Police Department could work together on the recommendations.

"They don't have to be adversaries," he says.

"But," says Finn: "We really want to do it ourselves."

Finn says the Police Department is taking a positive approach to the study and will bring the department into compliance with the most up-to-date contemporary police setup.

This would involve accreditation -- such as hospitals and schools must earn.

Finn says accreditation is "the right vehicle to accomplish this goal."

The national accreditation process would take about two years and cost about $10,000.

McCauley

The $12,000 request by McCauley is now before the City Council's Public Safety Committee and is expected to come up for a vote by the next regular City Council meeting Dec. 8.

Speculation on the voting shapes up like this:

It could be a 4-4 deadlock with Council President Stephen McGrath holding the swing vote.

Or:

It could be a 6-3 vote. One 4-4 lineup, some speculate, could have Ted DeCristofaro, James McGrath, Sheets, John Lydon and Joseph LaRaia voting against the appropriation which would let the Police Department do its own thing.

This would have Michael Cheney, Richard Koch, Jr., Thomas Nutley and Patricia Toland voting for the McCauley appropriation which would have the study consultants initiate the recommendations for changes.

Still other speculation has Toland lining up with DeCristofaro, Sheets, Lydon and LaRaia against the $12,000 appropriation.

Now, if McGrath went with a lineup such as that, it would be a 6-3 vote against the appropriation and in favor of the Police Department doing it themselves.

If McGrath went with the other side and Toland remained part of the DeCristofaro-Sheets-Lydon-LaRaia bloc, it would be 5-4 against the appropriation order. Thus, the Police Department would win in either of these lineups.

One councillor calls the lobbying "pretty intense." The fate of the appropriation order, ironically, may have been decided in San Antonio, Tex. the past few days.

McGrath, Toland and Lydon were due back Wednesday from San Antonio where they attended the National League of Cities and Towns conference.

And, it's hard to believe they didn't find time to discuss the $12,000 appropriation order awaiting their vote back in Quincy.

It would seem a good possibility they came back in agreement.

If so, which way: for or against the appropriation order?

A good bet: against.

But then, you can never tell for sure until all the votes are counted.

Kelly

THE DEATH OF movie legend Cary Grant reminds former City Councillor Leo Kelly of a little known Quincy connection.

In his early days, Kelly says, Grant dated a Houghs Neck girl on visits here. He doesn't recall the name of the lucky girl, but he believes she lived on Babcock St.

Kelly says that Grant may still have been going by his real name, Archibald Leach, at the time.

THE MAYOR'S 14th annual Thanksgiving Dinner for senior citizens at Montello's was, you might say, well done.

"This one topped them all," said a Wollaston resident who called The Quincy Sun.

The woman, who requested her name not be used, said she could have spent the holiday with relatives but chose to go to the mayor's dinner instead.

"There was a beautiful dinner and a band and everyone had a good time," she said. "It's wonderful to live in a city where they have such events."

The woman, a 38-year resident of the city, added: "It's an honor to say I live here."

Harold

The Paul Harold Committee is sponsoring a Christmas dance at the Viking Club, 410 Quincy Ave., Braintree, Saturday from 8 pm to midnight. Paul Hogan and Michael Linnane, are co-chairmen. Tickets will be available at the door at a donation of $10 per ticket.

OBSERVATION via the Quincy Kiwanis Club newsletter (and from wherever they got it): "She's the kind of girl who doesn't care for a man's company -- unless he owns it."

Special Recognition Award To Remo DeNicola

Eileen Cohen Honored As QCBPA 'Member Of Year'

Eileen Cohen was honored Sunday night by the Quincy Center Business and Professional Association as its "Member Of The Year."

A Special Recognition Award was presented to Remo DeNicola for his service to the organization over the years.

Robert Quinn of the South Shore Bank, president of the QCBPA, and Quincy Sun publisher Henry Bosworth, awards committee chairman, made the presentations at ceremonies at the Quincy Neighborhood Club.

Mrs. Cohen, owner of Sweets 'n Things, was honored for "outstanding service and unselfish dedication" during 1986.

"Eileen," Quinn said, "is a take-charge person.

She's a lady you'd want on your team, not on the other team."

She was selected for the award for her work on downtown promotions and as vice chairwoman of the Miss Quincy Bay Beauty Pageant.

Bosworth noted that the awards committee feels that the Special Recognition Award should not be presented annually but to a special individual at a special time for special service to the QCBPA.

DeNicola who will soon be retiring from South Shore Television was honored as a charter member of the association, first chairman of the Sidewalk Bazaar, a long-time member of the Christmas Festival Committee and because "he is always there when needed."

In addition to Bosworth, the awards committee comprised Judy Doble of Burgin Platner Insurance, Beth Ann Streng of Hurley Insurance, George White of the Patriot Ledger and Steve Gillig of McDonald's.

The awards presentations followed remarks by Quinn and Mayor Francis McCauley.

"We have much to be thankful for in this great country of ours and I guess more importantly for each one of us that we live in this community," said Quinn.

"It is a community that has people such as yourself who have put not only today's festivities together, but everything that led up to it.

McCauley congratulated members of the QCBPA.

"I think," he said, "we've got, justly so, a parade that's known all over this part of the country and the eastern part of Massachusetts.

"...I'm very proud of our city, I'm proud of what you people have done for downtown Quincy. And what you do for downtown Quincy you do for the whole city because it's people who come to downtown Quincy to shop that benefit by your efforts."

QCBPA executive director Kenneth P. Fallon, Jr., acknowledged the efforts of Helen Chatterhorn of his office on behalf of the organization.

Houghs Neck Christmas Lighting Sunday

The traditional Christmas tree lighting at the Houghs Neck Fire Station will take place Sunday, Dec. 7, at 5 p.m. with Mayor Francis McCauley officiating.

The event sponsored each year by the Houghs Neck Community Council will include singing by the Pilgrim Fellowship, Girls Scouts and Brownies. Devotions will be led by clergy of Most Blessed Sacrament and Houghs Neck Congregational Churches.

A wreath will be laid at the granite Veterans' Memorial opposite the Fire Station by members of the Houghs Neck American Legion Post.

Santa Claus will be there with a bag of goodies for the children.

After the program, all are invited to the Houghs Neck Legion Post Home for coffee and doughnuts.

Thomas Timcoe is coordinator for the program.

Residents Urge Speed Traps For Palmer St.

Ward 1 Councillor, Michael Cheney, announces a traffic survey of Palmer St. has been completed.

The survey was initiated after 400 signatures on a petition that called for the city to take immediate action on the adverse traffic conditions on Palmer St.

"I have sent out just over 1000 letters to the residents of Germantown and Adams Shore requesting that they make suggestions on ways to improve traffic conditions on Palmer St. I have received 108 responses - 88 per cent of the people responding have requested that speed traps be set up on a more regular basis on Palmer St., particularly during the nighttime hours. Palmer St. is extremely dangerous because it is a long, narrow and winding roadway.

"The results of this survey have been forwarded to the Traffic Commission for their final recommendations to the City Council on ways to improve traffic conditions on Palmer St. It is our hope that whatever the Traffic Commission recommends can be implemented as soon as possible."

Cheney also noted that according to Police Department reports, there has been on the average of one accident per month for the last 13 months.

Cheney thanked the residents of Germantown and of Adams Shore for their patience and for their participation in the traffic survey.

BARGAIN CENTER EXPANSION FORCES BESTON OUT

Expansion of the Bargain Center, one of the South Shore's largest retail stores, meant the closing of Boston's gym, for years a landmark in Quincy Square.

Due to the tremendous growth of its business, the Bargain Center was forced to use the gymnasium's quarters on the third floor of the Shaw Building.

Joe Beston, the proprietor did not know if he could find new quarters in Quincy.

Beston said, "This is not a gymnasium, it's an institution. Hundreds of thousands of boys have been trained here. I take pride in the work I've done with the boys. I'd rather send a boy off on the right foot with a healthy body and decent mind than to turn out a champion."

Among the champs that visited Beston's were Jack Dempsey, Ernie Shaaf, Jack Dowal and Jim Maloney.

NEW BUS STOPS FOR HOUGHS NECK PATRONS

As a result of new bus stops created by the city council, Houghs Neck passengers would be able to get on and off buses in front of the main bus terminal on Hancock St.

Councillor Edna Austin and Frank Orcutt sought the corrective measure to save thousands of residents from Houghs Neck, Germantown, Adams Shore and Merrymount from having to cross Hancock and Washington Sts. twice a day to get East-bound buses.

MAYOR ROSS TO CLEAN UP LIQUOR AND COMIC BOOK PROBLEMS

Mayor Ross sent all the city council a series of ordinances intended to clean up liquor and comic book conditions in the city.

Four ordinance amendments would give the health commissioner, building inspector, plumbing inspector and wire inspector additional powers which would enable them to make liquor establishments tow the mark in living up to regulations.

Another ordinance would provide for the establishment of a local board of censorship, composed of three citizens to assist city officials and police in handling the horror comic books and salacious literature sold in the city.

Christmas Festival Nativity Pageant Sunday

The Quincy Christmas Festival Committee will complete its series of 1986 Christmas Festival events Sunday, Dec. 7, at 6 p.m. with the annual Nativity Pageant in Scripture and song. It will be held at the United First Parish Church, Quincy Sq.

The Rev. Sheldon Bennett, newly assigned pastor of the church, and the Rev. Charles Higgins, associate pastor of Sacred Heart Church, North Quincy, will lead in Christmas Scripture readings during the Christmas Nativity.

The Sacred Heart Youth Choir under the direction of Zoa O'Hearn will provide a number of Christmas carols while James Connors will provide the organ music. Children who will participate in placing the Christ child in the Hancock Cemetery Manger following the Nativity Pageant Program will be Colleen Hillis as Mary, Matthew McDonough as Joseph and Alexander Furlong, Christopher O'Donnell and Brian Walsh will depict the Wise Men. Allissa Williams will portray the Archangel.

Sacred Heart School first and second graders will sing the Christmas Carol "Silent Night." Those in attendance will join in singing "Let There Be Peace On Earth."

The public is welcome to attend the Nativity Pageant.

Decoration Sunday At United First Parish

United First Parish Unitarian Church, Quincy, will celebrate Decoration Sunday, a tradition at the church for 27 years, Sunday at the 10:30 a.m. worship service.

Rev. Dr. Sheldon W. Bennett will begin his ministry at First Parish with a sermon titled, "Signs of the Times and New Beginnings."

The Church School children will begin the traditional Greening of the Church with a procession, carrying red-ribboned pine boughs with which they will decorate the pews. Six-year-old Miranda Bohl will place her handmade star atop the Christmas tree, followed by the Junior High class with garlands. The congregation will come forward with ornaments brought from home for the occasion as they sing "O Tannenbaum." Before Christmas, everyone will choose a different ornament to bring home, symbolizing the joining of church and home in the Christmas season.

Dr. Bennett was called to this historic pulpit by vote of the congregation Sept. 21. A graduate of Harvard Divinity School, he brings to his ministry a background in education, science, and business, as well as lay church leadership. He has served as chairman at First and Second Church in Boston.

A social hour will follow the service.

Nativity Scene Re-enactment At First Presbyterian

First Presbyterian Church, 270 Franklin St., South Quincy, will present a re-enactment of the nativity scene Sunday, Dec. 14, from 4 to 5 p.m. on the front lawn of the church.

Angel choirs, Christmas narration, caroling and live animals will make this tableau a special event for the community during the Christmas season, said Janet

Powell, spokesperson for the church.

The public is invited.

Christmas Cantata At Christ Church

The Ralph Farris Chorale will present Ralph Vaughn

Williams' Christmas Cantata "Hodie" and a program of carols, Sunday at 7:30 p.m. at Christ Church Episcopal in Quincy.

All are welcome. There is no charge or tickets for the concert, but donations are welcomed.

The church is located at 12 Quincy Ave., at Elm St.

'Making Advent Personal' Sermon Topic At Bethany

There will be two worship services Sunday at Bethany Congregational Church, Coddington and Spear Sts., Quincy Center, at 9 a.m. in the chapel and at 10 a.m. in the sanctuary.

The congregation will celebrate the reality of God's presence on this second Sunday in Advent through special music, prayers, and by joining together in Holy Communion.

The Rev. Joel F. Huntington, associate minister, will preach at both services on the topic, "Making Advent Personal," based on the Biblical text of Luke 1:26-38. The sermon will focus on the issue of making faith more real and more personal. The Rev. J. William Arnold, senior minister, will lead the liturgy at both hours.

The lay Scripture readers will be Philip Cosgrove, a member of the Confirmation Class, at the chapel service and Bryant Carter, Sr. at the sanctuary service. The Communion commentary, for the radio only, will be given by Robert McLain.

At the 10 a.m. service, the Chancel Choir, under the direction of Peter E. Krasinski, organist and choir director, will present "I and We The Name" by J.S. Bach as the offertory anthem.

The worship service is broadcast live over WIDA, 1300kc, at 10 a.m. In addition a cassette tape of the service can be obtained for $2 by contacting the church office.

The Sunday School will be in session from 10 to 11 a.m.

with classes for children of pre-school through eighth grade. Nursery care for babies is also provided as well as a Toddler Class for young children. Our Early Childhood Coordinator, Denise Fleming, will be present to supervise the care of infants through first graders.

At 11 a.m. there will be a fellowship hour in the Allen Parlor. Individuals and families from the community are welcome to share in the worship and the fellowship. They are also invited to enroll children in the Sunday School program.

For additional information about Bethany's ministries, contact the church office at 479-7300.

Thanksgiving Ecumenical Service At St. Joseph's

An ecumenical service of thanksgiving was held Nov. 25, at St. Joseph's Church in Quincy Point.

Rev. Fred Atwood-Lyon, Quincy Point Congregational Church, was guest speaker.

Others participating included the Rev. Joseph Downey, pastor of St. Joseph's, Rev. Carol Atwood-Lyon, Sister Anne Judge, and Rev. Kevin Sepe. Frank Brillo of Quincy was presented an ecumenical award for his community involvement with the Panthers football team, boys basketball, girls softball, other Catholic youth activities, and the parish variety show.

'Hanging Of Greens' At Squantum First Church

baked for him by Mindi Hurd.

The next morning, the first Sunday in Advent, the subject of the pastor's sermon during the second service was "Bearing Pain in a Festive Season." The Rev. Dr. Gene Langevin, pastor, spoke a word of faith and hope to the situation of so many people these days who are in pain while the rest of the world loses itself in a holiday frenzy.

Earlier Dr. Langevin showed the congregation a painting of "The Annunciation" by Fra Filippo Lippi (Florentine 1406-1469) and explained the religious significance of the work. James Potter and Gwen Williamson assisted the pastor in lighting the first candle in the Advent wreath.

Luther and Ruth Swenson were the greeters, Stewart Scott and Tore Wallin were the ushers and the fellowship hour after the service was hosted by Janet and Sandy Sumner.

During the first service, Dr. Langevin spoke on the subject, "A Promise of Things to Come."

Guitarists Andy Ogilvie, Robert Dixey and Mary Ruth Scott accompanied the congregational singing. Susan Scott and Amy Hayhow were the ushers.

There will be two worship services this Sunday at the church: the guitar service at 8:30 a.m. and the traditional service at 10:30 a.m.

This Saturday there will be a mini-fair for Christmas in the church's Fellowship Hall from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m.

Handel's 'Messiah' At ENC

George Frederick Handel will take place Saturday and Sunday, Dec. 6 and 7.

Both performances will begin at 7 p.m. at Wollaston Church of the Nazarene, 37 East Elm Ave., Wollaston. There is no admission charge. Donations are welcome.

It will be presented by the ENC Choral Union and Orchestra, Robert J. Howard, director.

Soloists will be Susan Welch, soprano; Melissa Thornburn, contralto; Stephen Goul, tenor; and Philip Brown, baritone.

Quincy Police Log Hot Spots

Holiday Season Crime Prevention Tips

Shopping areas across the Commonwealth become more popular as Christmas and Hanukkah approach, not only for shoppers but also for robbers and thieves. The Quincy Police Department recommends the following tips for all citizens visiting malls and stores this Holiday Season:

- Always keep the car locked whenever and wherever it is parked. Remember, "Lock it and pocket the keys."
- If it is necessary to leave packages in your car, put them in your trunk, out of sight. If you have a station wagon, put the packages on the floor and place a blanket over them.
- Park in a well-lit area and as close to the stores as possible, avoiding remote and poorly-lit areas.
- Keep your packages under your control at all times.
- Do not put your purse down while looking at merchandise or buying groceries. Only carry a purse if necessary. You can lock your purse in the trunk and only take the items needed.
- Do not carry large sums of cash. Bring only the cash necessary for purchases. Credit cards should only be brought with you if you anticipate using them.
- Do not let your purse dangle. Place one end of the purse in the palm of your hand and the other in the bend of your elbow, keeping the purse close to your body.
- Never place your wallet in your trouser pocket, carry it in the breast pocket of your jacket. Should you need to carry a wallet in your rear pocket, either place a comb inside it or wrap a rubber band around it. Both of these methods will make the wallet cling to the inside of your pocket thus deterring a pick-pocket.
- Be on your guard. Bargains such as expensive items at a fraction of the real cost could be fraudulent and are notorious during the holiday season.

Obituaries

George A. Wilson, 88 Former QHS Principal

A funeral service for George A. Wilson, 88, of Baintree, retired Quincy High School principal, was conducted Wednesday by the Rev. Steele W. Martin at the Christ Episcopal Church, Quincy Center.

Mr. Wilson, active in several community organizations, died Nov. 30 at the John Scott Nursing Home, Baintree, after a long illness. He was principal of Quincy High School from 1944 until his retirement in 1962.

"He was a grand gentleman," said Mayor Francis McCauley, "and continued to display a keen interest in education after his retirement."

"He attended every QHS graduation since 1922, and was a regular attendee at the annual QHS-NQHS Thanksgiving football games."

McCauley also noted that Wilson was active in the city, and had painting as a hobby. One of his paintings hangs in McCauley's home.

"George was principal of Quincy High School when I was a student there," said Arthur Tobin, clerk magistrate of Quincy District Court and former Quincy mayor.

"I remember him affectionately as a student, and I remember him affectionately in later years when I was in public office."

"He was always very courteous and accommodating, and took pride in the fact that he returned year after year to see the graduating classes at both high schools."

"He was a very fine man, a credit to the Quincy School System and educational system as a whole."

Mr. Wilson began teaching in the Quincy school system in 1921. At Quincy High School, he taught science and coached track for many years. He became assistant principal of the school in the 1930s and was assistant principal at North Quincy High School for two years before becoming principal of Quincy High in 1944.

Mr. Wilson grew up in Newburyport and graduated from the Mass. Institute of Technology Naval Architecture School. He received a master's degree in teaching from Boston University.

Early in his career, he was employed briefly by Bethlehem Steel at the Fore River Shipyard but soon turned to teaching.

Mr. Wilson was active in many organizations and enjoys mineral collecting, bird watching, painting, bowling and beachcombing. He was also an amateur geologist.

He was a member of the Kiwanis Club of Quincy for 28 years, and served as its secretary for many years. A World War I Navy veteran, he was a member of Quincy Legion Post.

Mr. Wilson was a member of the Quincy Retired Teachers Association, the Massachusetts Secondary School Principals Association, the North Baintree Senior Citizens Club, the Brookline Bird Club, the South Shore Bird Club and the Audubon Society. He was also a member of the Baintree Art Association and several bowling leagues.

He was also a charter member of the Boston Mineral Club and the Southeastern Massachusetts

John J. Quinn, 63 Former 'Dean' Of City Council

JOHN J. QUINN

City Council and City Hall recently enjoyed lunch together at the Quincy Neighborhood Club.

"We had such a good time that we had planned to do it again after the holidays," said Tobin.

"Mrs. Quinn said John not only enjoyed the luncheon, but it was good medicine for him."

"I personally very saddened at John's death, and wish to express my deepest sympathy to his lovely wife, Lorraine, his children and grandchildren."

Born in Boston, Mr. Quinn was a lifelong resident of Quincy.

Mr. Quinn was a graduate of Quincy schools and Boston College, where he majored in economics and government.

Mr. Quinn was employed by Blue Cross Blue Shield of Massachusetts as a field representative for 34 years.

He was a member of the North Quincy Knights of Columbus Council, the Neighborhood Club of Quincy, the Quincy Historical Society, the Quincy Sons of Italy Lodge and the George F. Bryan VFW post in Quincy.

He was a Navy veteran of World War II, serving in the Atlantic and Pacific theaters.

Mr. Quinn is survived by his wife, Lorraine (Pallotta) Quinn; four sons, John J. Quinn Jr. and Garrett M. Quinn, both of Baintree, and Arthur J. Quinn and Matthew A. Quinn, both of Quincy; a daughter, Andrea Santoro of Quincy; a brother, Joseph P. Quinn of Quincy; and 11 grandchildren. He was the son of the late Patrick J. Quinn, who was a Quincy policeman, and Mary (Langan) Quinn.

Burial will be in Pine Hill Cemetery in West Quincy.

Funeral arrangements are by the Keohane Funeral Home, 785 Hancock St., Wollaston.

A THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK

D. Scott Deware

"God give me joy in the common things; In the dawn that lures, the eve that sings . . . In springtime's spacious field of gold, In the precious light by winter doled . . . God give me hope for each day that springs . . . God give me joy in the common things."

It has been said that there are no common place objects in nature. Its order, its surpassing beauty, its infinite variety preclude any such designation; for the term common place denotes an object of little worth and no interest.

Theoretically, this is correct. Yet practically, we pass by and overlook nature around us day by day. We take it for granted. We will often travel miles on our vacation and take many pictures of nature's grandeur and beauty because we have consciously focused our attention upon new scenes or highly publicized spots. This same attention in our own back yard would frequently reveal riches too often overlooked.

"Happy are they that have eyes to see; for they shall find God everywhere . . . For they shall see Him where others see stone . . . Happy are they that have deep insight . . . For they shall rejoice in the undiscovered paths of God."

Winning Festival Posters In Quincy Sun Window

The ninth annual Christmas Festival Poster Contest winners have their works on display in the front windows of The Quincy Sun office, 1372 Hancock St., Quincy Center, where they will remain for a week.

Passersby are welcome to view the works.

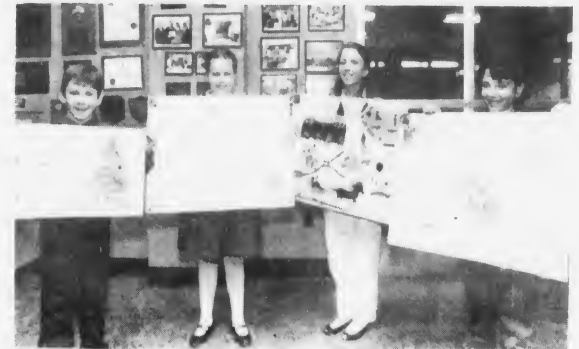

The poster contest theme is the same as that of the 1986 Christmas Festival Parade, "Christmas Fantasy."

The contest winners and honorable mention designees were recognized at the Christmas Lighting Ceremonies Friday night, rode in a convertible at the Christmas Parade Sunday, and were presented citations and prizes at the awards program following the parade.

The two first place winners were provided a $100 U.S. savings bond and the second place finishers a $50 U.S. savings bond. The two honorable mention students were presented a citation as well as the four winners.

The winning students included:

Grades 1-3 - first prize - Michael Burns, 157 Standish Rd., Quincy, Grade 3, Sacred Heart School; second prize - Gena Bermingham, 130 Brook St., Quincy, Grade 3, Sacred Heart School and Honorable Mention - Linda Jellison, 22 Squanto Rd., Quincy, Grade 3, Merrymount School.

Pasta Salad

A Colorful Edible Centerpiece

How about trying a colorful pasta salad for a centerpiece for a nice holiday setting. I tried it recently at a dinner party and it was very effective. This is something that can be prepared the day before as well as a dish that can be made in a matter of minutes.

PASTA SALAD

1 pound rotini or tortellini
2 fresh tomatoes chopped
1 can black olives sliced
Fresh basil or fresh parsley chopped
1/2 cup olive oil
Salt and pepper to taste

Boil pasta until it is al dente (not overcooked). Cool and then add the olive oil, salt and pepper, basil and parsley. Refrigerate for about a half hour. Add the chopped tomatoes and the olives and mix until blended. Serves six. If prepared the day before, add everything except the tomatoes and olives. This can also be served as a side dish or an appetizer.

(Marie D'Olimpio is the author of "Simply Italian-And Then Some," a collection of her own recipes. Copies of the book are available at that's Italian, Franklin St. and Previte's Market, Summer St., both in Quincy, and Joy of Cooking at South Shore Plaza.)

QJC Open House Dec. 10

The Quincy Junior College annual Open House has been rescheduled due to the snow storm Nov. 19.

The new date is Wednesday, Dec. 10, from 6 to 8 p.m. in Coddington Hall, 34 Coddington St., Quincy Center.

Representatives from all of the programs offered by the Junior College will be on hand to pass out program information and to answer any questions. The Director of Admissions, Richard Pessin will present a financial aid seminar at 7 p.m. A drawing for a free course, worth up to $155 will be held. You can register for the course at the reception desk when you enter Coddington Hall.

Those attending the Open House will be able to see demonstrations from some of the programs as well as receive information about course requirements, tuition and financial aid. Registration will also be open for the spring semester for anyone wishing to register for courses.

Open House is an opportunity to learn first hand about the courses of study available at the college. Call 786-8799 days, or 786-8741 evenings for more information.

Quincy, North In Hockey Jamboree Dec. 13

The Quincy and North Quincy hockey teams will be among 10 teams to compete in the annual Quincy Youth Arena schoolboy jamboree Saturday, Dec. 13, starting at 4:30 p.m.

Quincy will face Walpole in the opening scrimmage at 4:30. The rest of the schedule:

Walpole vs. Christopher

Columbus, 4:50; Quincy vs. Milton, 5:20; Milton vs. Columbus, 5:40; Don Bosco vs. Cambridge Rindge and Latin, 6:10; B.C. High vs. Cambridge, 6:30; Don Bosco vs. Norwood, 7; Plymouth-Carver vs. B.C. High, 7:20; North Quincy vs. Norwood, 7:50, and North Quincy vs. Plymouth-Carver, 8:10.

The games will consist of two 12-minute periods. High school rules will be in effect and the jamboree has been approved by the MIAA.

There will be no charge to the individual school departments, but there will be a minimal charge for spectators to cover expenses.

Squirt B's Edged, 3-2

Quincy's Squirt B team, sponsored by Quincy Cablesystems, lost a 3-2 squeaker to Medfield in the open division of the Greater Boston League.

Patrick Connolly scored an unassisted goal for Quincy in the first period and Medfield tied it in the second period. With time running out in the second period, Quincy's Jimmy Cipriano scored an unassisted goal.

Medfield came back in the final period to score twice for the victory.

Quincy goalies Mike Manganaro and Tim Wassiege played well.

In a non-league game the Squirt Bs defeated the Seabawks, 8-5.

Cipriano had a hat trick, and Billy Coughlin, Tim Kunz, Connolly, Paul Gims and Lee Hughes a goal each. Eric Zimmerman had two assists and Steve Provost, Justin Silverio, Danny Beaton, Gims, Coughlin, Kunz and Connolly one each.

Derek Mullen, Dave Pacino, Keith Driscoll, Paul

King and Lou Bertucci played excellent hockey both ways and Manganaro and Wassiege again played fine games in goal.

Squirt A's Win

Quincy's Squirt A team, sponsored by South Boston Savings Bank, outlasted Charlestown, 8-7, at Northeastern University's Matthews Arena.

Brian Wood had two goals and two assists, Jay Evans, Joe Carinci, Jamie Schatzl and Andrew Vermette had unassisted goals and Danny Morrell and Steve Miller had a goal each. Schatzl had an assist.

Sun Sports

North 24, Quincy 7

Raiders Two-Way Performance Too Much

By TOM SULLIVAN

It was a perfect day for football on Thanksgiving Day in contrast to last year's disastrous weather and it was a perfect day for the North Quincy football team and its fans, but not for Quincy and its followers.

Turning in their finest two-way performance of the season, the Raiders used big plays and took advantage of the Presidents' turnovers to win for the second year in a row, 24-7, before an estimated 9000 fans at Veterans Memorial Stadium in the 54th annual classic.

As a result of the impressive victory, both teams ended up with 4-6 records.

North fielding its strongest team since the start of the season, unleashed a furious ground attack which netted 253 yards on the ground to just 67 for Quincy.

Forced into the air by the North defense, Quincy's Dave Austin completed an outstanding season, completing 10 of 19 passes for 183 yards and a touchdown. He

Final North Season Scoring

|           | TD | PAT | Pts. |
|-----------|----|-----|------|
| Craig     | 4  | 0   | 24   |
| McCormack | 4  | 0   | 24   |
| McDougall | 3  | 2   | 20   |
| Lawless   | 2  | 4   | 16   |
| Casey     | 1  | 0   | 6    |
| Ainsley   | 1  | 0   | 6    |
| Patch     | 0  | 1   | 1    |

finished with 1627 yards passing and nine touchdowns.

Joe Innello caught four more passes, one for the lone Quincy touchdown, giving him 46 receptions in the last seven games after moving to slotback.

North's Dave Lawless, whose punting and defensive play had been outstanding all season but who hadn't lived up to expectations running the ball, had by far his biggest day of the season rushing as he went for 107 yards, including a 64-yard touchdown run late in the third quarter to end all Quincy hopes.

Paul McCormack ran hard all day and rushed for 63 yards and sophomore Ryan Craig, who had a big year with more than 800 yards rushing, added 62 yards.

With the ground attack clicking so well, North stayed almost entirely on the ground and quarterback Joe Mulvey threw only two passes and completed both for 67 yards.

Quincy's Joe Cardarelli, completing his first year of football, had a disappointing finish as he fell 15 yards short of rushing for 1000 yards. Needing only 36 yards, the big fullback was held to just 21 by North's defense, especially the linebackers. He finished with 985 yards.

The game was remarkably free of penalties until the fourth quarter. Until North was hit with a holding penalty at the end of the third quarter there were only an offside and a back-in-motion call against Quincy which was refused.

Unfortunately, with 5:23 left in the game, a free-for-all broke out with both benches clearing and it took the police and game officials some time to break it up.

Following the fracas the players on both sides shook hands and were friends again, which is as it should be.

"It was unfortunate, but it was just one of those things," said North coach Ken McPhee. "Emotions run high in this game and it was just a case of emotion and a little frustration." Quincy coach Jack Raymer agreed with McPhee's words.

"I knew we had the potential and we put everything together today," said a happy McPhee. "We had our strongest lineup of the year with Matt McNamara (255-pound tackle) returning for the first time since the opening game and doing a brilliant job on offense. "Brian Campbell was back after missing four games and played a strong game in the line and Mark Smith (235-pound fullback) played his only game of the year after being ineligible all season and was absolutely immense on defense. He also picked up good yardage the few times he carried.

Final Quincy Season Scoring

|            | TD | PAT | Pts. |
|------------|----|-----|------|
| Cardarelli | 8  | 0   | 48   |
| Innello    | 4  | 2   | 26   |
| Ryan       | 3  | 0   | 18   |
| Gardner    | 1  | 2   | 8    |
| Farrand    | 0  | 8   | 8    |
| Austin     | 1  | 0   | 6    |
| Bogan      | 1  | 0   | 6    |

"Lawless ran today like we knew he could and he, McCormack and Craig all ran very well. And Joe Mulvey did a great job at quarterback. The offensive line was outstanding, opening up some big holes, and I can't say enough for our defense. We keyed on Cardarelli and the linebackers did a fine job. Also, the secondary did a terrific job for us and the special teams were just great."

McPhee had good words for center Paul Nimeskern, who didn't have a bad snap all day, and the coach hailed the continued fine punting of Lawless, who set up North's first two points (a safety) with a 53-yard punt which was downed on the Quincy one-yard line. "He has been kicking like that all season and several of his punts have ended inside the opponents' five-yard line," McPhee said. McPhee had good words for Brian Durgin and Vin Capone, who blocked well all day. "They are two of the most unselfish players I have coached and gave up a chance to run with the ball to block and they have done a tremendous job," the coach said.

Also coming in for their share of praise were sophomores McDougall and Mike Ainsley, Scott Chansky, John Mocino, Paul Hogan, Paul Moody, Tom Dolan, Tim Kelly and Dave Levine. "I hate to single anyone out because the entire team did just a great job. They came to play and it was just a wonderful way to end the season," said McPhee, who lauded all his assistant coaches for their work during the season.

"It just wasn't meant to be," said a philosophical Raymer. "We really hurt ourselves with some dropped passes and fumbles, but give credit to North. They played a terrific game and really bottled up our ground attack. I am sorry Joe Cardarelli didn't reach 1000 yards, but he had a fantastic season. We have no excuses." Steve Picarski had an outstanding two way game and Raymer also praised Rob Cabezas, Matt Healy, Chris Mackey, Cardarelli on defense, Austin, Innello and Bill Ryan. Like McPhee, Raymer paid tribute to his assistant coaches.

QUINCY'S Dennis DeCoste (20) and North's Tom Casey (43) shake hands following the big game. The players were friends again after a benchclearing brawl broke out late in the game.

On the next to last play of the opening quarter Lawless' punt was downed inside Quincy's one and on the opening play of the second quarter Hogan tackled Cardarelli in the end zone for a safety.

Quincy held following the ensuing punt and took over on its 35, but an Austin pass was dropped in the clear and two plays later a Quincy fumble was recovered by Ainsley on the Presidents' 47.

Mulvey hit Ainsley for a 29-yard pass play to Quincy's 18, Lawless went to the 11, and four plays later McCormack scored from the three. Mulvey passed to McDougall for the two-point conversion.

The score remained 10-0 at halftime. Taking the second half kickoff, North marched down the field, clicking off five first downs and Lawless drove across from the one. A pass for the extra points failed.

Quincy began a promising drive which reached North's 29 but on fourth and five, North held and took over. Lawless went for seven yards, then broke loose and galloped 64 yards down the left sidelines to make it 22-0 and put the damper on the Presidents' hopes. Mulvey passed to Lawless for the final North points.

A few plays later North's Dolan fell on a fumble on Quincy's 24 but North fumbled the ball back with Picarski recovering on his own 37.

Quincy suffered a tough break when Austin passed to Ryan, who raced 58 yards all the way to North's seven but fumbled and Dolan recovered for the Raiders.

Quincy averted a shutout with time running out when Austin hit John Bogan for 21 yards, then passed to Innello, who went 23 yards for the touchdown. Mark Farrand kicked the extra point but Quincy was offside and, moving back five yards, he again kicked the game's final point.

The Quincy Cup, given to the winning team each year, thus remains in North's trophy case for another year.

The win was North's 23rd in the series, Quincy has won 27 and there have been four scoreless ties.

PAUL MCCORMACK, who had a big day for North Quincy, goes around the right side for good yardage.

Powers' 4 Goals Sparks Grogan's

Jay Powers scored four goals and had two assists as Grogan's Business Machines demolished DiMattia's Sailmakers, 12-4, in Executive Hockey League action Monday night at the Youth Arena.

Leo Kearney, Dick McCabe and John Ryan had two goals apiece and Ralph Gibbs and Rick Colman one each. Kearney had four assists as did Marty Tolson, Gibbs three and Ryan, Rick Pattern and McCabe one each. Skip Magnaro, Jim Connolly, Rich Gibbons and Gary Lisowski scored for the Sailmakers and Ed Lemhan, Mark Matanes, Lisowski and Gibbs had assists.

Goalie Bill Parsley recorded the shutout as Beacon Sports blanked South Shore Bearing, 8-0. Jamie Pontremoli had four goals, Pete DiBona two and Art Boyle and Artie Boyle one each. Kevin Jago had six assists and Chuck Behenna one.

Steve Lewis and Doug McLean had two goals each to lead Bob White's Place to a 6-3 win over Adams Sports. Dave Mullen and Dennis Larkin had the other goals. Joe Flibotte had three assists, Steve Lewis and Kevin Lewis two each and Mullen one. Fred Ahern had two goals and Paul Hurley one for Adams and Hurley, Ahern and Bill Hanson had assists.

In earlier games Mark Matanes and Bob McKenna scored two goals apiece to lead DiMattia's Sailmakers to a 6-3 win over Adams Sports.

Jim Gilmore and Rich Gibbs added a goal each and assists went to McKenna, Matanes, Gary Lisowski, Bill Shea and Jim Connolly. Paul O'Brien, Jack Hurley and Kevin Cobban scored for Adams with assists for Hurley and Billy Hansen.

Bob White's Place defeated South Shore Bearing, 5-3, on goals by Jerry Ionelli, Steve Lewis, Doug McLean, Jack Dully and Kevin Lewis. Dave Mullen and Kevin Lewis had two assists apiece and Pete Bertrand, Duffly and Ed Grogan one each. Don Fawcett, Larry O'Connor and Chip Linscott scored for Bearing and Bob Carroll, Steve Dymont and Jack Aldred had assists.

Kevin Jago scored four goals and brother Mark added another as Beacon Sports topped Grogan's Business Machines, 7-3. Pete DiBona and Art Boyle had the other goals and Jamie Pontamoni had three assists. Peter Janis and DiBona two each and Artie Boyle one. Marty Tolson, Ralph Gibbs and Dick McCabe scored for Grogan's and Tolson had two assists and Gibbs and Ed Dwyer one each.

Mite A's Keep Win Streak Alive

The Quincy Mite A team, sponsored by DAV #79, continued its unbeaten streak when it rolled over Dorchester 9-0, and held on to win 4-2 against South Boston.

Within the first two minutes of the Dorchester game, the Quincy offense exploded and scored five quick goals. Ronnie McGann led the Quincy scoring with a hat trick, Jamie Murphy and Paul Princiotto had two goals each and Mark Regan and Steven Barrett had one apiece. Brendan O'Brien had three assists, Danny Hughes, Danny Donahue, Chris Grant and McGann one apiece.

In the third period, Barrett's pass up the wing to O'Brien started one of the most exciting plays of the game. When O'Brien's shot hit the post, Barrett put it away. In a game that was highlighted by passing, John Healy, Jason Fennelly, Tommy Moriarty and Matt Logan were outstanding.

While the Quincy offense peppered the Dorchester goalie with shots, a strong defensive effort by Danny Stone and Jenna Nolan effectively kept the puck out of the Quincy zone. While goalie Mark Smith had to make only five saves, two of his spectacular stops robbed Dorchester of sure goals.

Against South Boston, Quincy started slowly. In the first period, South Boston made the scoreboard first but two minutes later McGann's unassisted goal evened the score. Wings Moriarty, Logan, Murphy and Princiotto worked hard to try to spark the offense, but pressure by South Boston made it tough.

The second period saw exciting action but no scoring. Jason Fennelly twice rushed the puck from his own end to the South Boston net but the defense stopped him. Wings Healy and Barrett provided the passing and spark that brought Quincy into the third period on a roll.

In the third period, Brendan O'Brien scored unassisted and his team rallied behind him. While Hughes and Donahue held tight defensive control for Quincy, McGann provided the go ahead goal when he took Danny Stone's bullet pass from the point and blasted it by the South Boston goalie. With three minutes left to play, Rowell fought for the puck at center ice, he passed to Mark Regan who put it in for the final goal.

Grant and Nolan provided solid coverage for goalie Mark Smith, who was outstanding as he stopped a powerful South Boston offensive line.

Quincy is tied for first place in the Greater Boston League with a 5-0-1 record.

Mite B's Roll By Wellesley, Dedham

Quincy's Mite B team rolled to two easy wins, blanking Wellesley, 7-0, and topping Dedham, 12-2, in Greater Boston League action.

Goalie Brian Walsh recorded his first shutout against Wellesley as his mates broke the game open early with four unanswered goals in the first period.

Jimmy Gallagher scored an unassisted breakaway goal five minutes into the game and A.J. Carthas, Robbie Callow and Shawn Johnson also scored in the period with Scott Cooper, Eric Griffin, Mike Ryan, Chris DiMattia and James Kelley having assists.

Quincy added its other three goals in the second period with Tim Hunter, Cooper and Callow having the goals and Cooper, Ryan, Johnson, Michael O'Brien and Jeff Coleman assisting.

The Dedham game was close for two periods with Quincy leading by only a 4-2 score after two periods, but the team erupted for eight goals in the final period.

Quincy took a 2-1 lead in the opening period on goals by Gallagher and Tim Hunter. Quincy played most of the second period in the Dedham end but could score only twice thanks to the fine work in goal of Peter Donadio. Cooper and Callow scored unassisted goals.

The roof fell in on Dedham in the third period as Cooper scored two early goals to complete a hat trick with Callow assisting on one. O'Brien scored twice as did Callow, who also had a hat trick, and Griffin and Callow had one goal each. Johnson had two assists and Cooper and Hunter one each.

Walsh again was excellent in goal and Brian Beaton turned in a strong defensive performance.

The Mite Bs skated to a 4-4 tie in an exhibition game against the Oyster Bay Americans, a touring team from Long Island, N.Y.

Quincy did all its scoring in the first period and a half to take a 4-0 lead, but Oyster Bay fought back and finally tied the game with only 15 seconds left in the game.

A.J. Carthas and Tim Hunter scored Quincy's first two goals, assisting on each other's goals. Mike Ryan added the third with Robbie Callow assisting, and the Hunter-Callow connection combined for the fourth goal. Hunter scoring midway in the second period.

Holiday Season Swimming At Lincoln-Hancock

The Quincy Recreation Department will again conduct a special schedule of swimming on Sundays now until Christmas as part of its recreational swim programs at the Lincoln Hancock Community School Pool.

According to Recreation Director Barry J. Welch, the pool will be open Sundays from 1 to 4 p.m. for children age 6-18 who may swim all or part of this period, while parents take advantage of the Sunday store openings and shop at local stores.

From 4-5 p.m., the normal adult swim will remain in effect. Regular pool memberships can be used or $1 guest fee can be paid at the door.

As usual, all swims will be supervised by American Red Cross trained personnel from the Quincy Recreation Department. Adults may also swim in the extended hours swim and family groups are encouraged to participate. The dates of this year's special shopper swims are Sundays, Dec. 7, 14, 21. Welch said that, "this program has proven popular to parents and participants alike and I am pleased that we can repeat it."

For additional information call the Quincy Recreation Department at 773-1380, ext. 204.

Holiday Gift Certificates For Pool Program

The Quincy Recreation Department has prepared a special holiday gift certificate for memberships to the department's pool programs at the Lincoln Hancock Community School pool.

Those who purchase a regular year or half year membership will be given the special gift certificate announcing their gift and who it is from. A special holiday greeting is also attached.

Recreation Director Barry Welch said the certificates would make an ideal stocking stuffer or last minute gift, and would provide an individual or family with many hours of healthy recreational swimming activity.

Pool memberships are available in a variety of plans including family, youth, and adult, as well as special reduced rates for senior citizens. The memberships can be purchased Monday-Friday from 5:30 to 8 p.m. in the lower lobby of the Lincoln Hancock Community School pool. Additional information can be obtained by calling the Recreation Office at 773-1380, ext. 204.

$52,800 In Grants To Crane Library

Rep. Thomas F. Brownell of Quincy announces the Thomas Crane Public Library has been awarded two grants by the state Board of Library Commissioners, totalling $52,800.

The first grant, for $50,000, would improve "Non-Fiction and Reference" services. The second, for $2,800, is entitled the "New Reader Writing Project."

Commenting on the grants, Brownell said, "These grants will significantly upgrade the Library's ability to serve the people of Quincy. Given the constraints of Proposition 2½, state grants to public libraries are extremely important."

"Toys For Tots" Live Phonathon On Cable TV

Sales associates from the Quincy and Braintree offices of Coldwell Banker will join forces from 6:30 to 8:30 p.m. Wednesday, Dec. 3, to hold a live phonathon on cable television for the U.S. Marine Corps Reserve "Toys for Tots" program.

The program will be broadcast live from the Coldwell Banker office in the former Willard Elementary School at 1266 Furnace Brook Parkway, Quincy.

Viewers will be urged during the program to call the Coldwell Banker number (770-3215) and offer to donate a brand new toy that the Marine Corps Reserve will distribute to a needy child in the Greater Boston area.

The Atherton Hough Elementary School in Quincy will send 43 fifth grade students to sing Christmas carols during the broadcast, as a continuation of the school's 75th birthday celebration, according to principal Edward Bagari. The students will be led by Mrs. Gay Carboneau, elementary school music specialist for the school system.

The Marines are hoping to collect as many as $6,000 new toys and distribute them in the area by Christmas according to Martha Manning, manager of the Coldwell Banker, Quincy office.

The phonathon will be telecast live to some 30,000 viewers on cable channels 3 and 55 in Quincy and channel 8 in Milton and Randolph, according to Ed Fiddler, Director of Community Television for Channel 3 in Quincy.

The phonathon is being coordinated by Bruce McLain of Quincy, a sales associate in the Quincy Coldwell Banker office.

Lt. Garrett Sylvain of the Marine Corps Reserve attached to the South Weymouth Naval Air Station will appear on the program and discuss the history of "Toys for Tots" which was founded in 1947 by Marine Colonel (then Major) Bill Hendricks in Los Angeles.

Since then, the program has developed into a nationwide effort supported by many businesses including Coldwell Banker's residential and commercial offices throughout the country.

Locally, people can also drop off a new, unwrapped toy before Dec. 19 to Coldwell Banker offices in Quincy, the South Shore Plaza or Weymouth or call them to have a toy picked up.

Sales associates who will be accepting phone calls during the phonathon include, from the Quincy Coldwell Banker office, Tom Bamberg, Debbie Bial, Bob DeSalvo, Amy Elder, Tim Fitzgerald, August Hatol, Dorothy Higgins, Rosemary McGowan, Bruce McLain, Jean Murphy, Dick Queneey, Sheila White and Martha Manning. From the Braintree Coldwell Banker office are Patricia Neblett, Dick Lannon, Jackie Padula, Chuck Lemire, Mark O'Connell, Eloyse Healy, Tom Mullen and Marilyn McMillen, office manager.

STARSCOPE

Clare Annswell

AQUARIUS — January 21-February 19
There may be a dip in self-confidence, but by the weekend you find yourself responding to challenges with renewed zeal. Weekend finds you involved in a teaching role.

PISCES — February 20-March 20
Loved ones seem almost too easy to please, but there's no cause for alarm. Friend shares some good news that involves you indirectly. Friction among co-workers is ending.

ARIES — March 21-April 20
Friendships generally are spotlighted, with well established relationships becoming even more important. Detail work should not be ignored, especially where numbers and dates are involved.

TAURUS — April 21-May 22
Some frustrating delays before the weekend are offset by productive cycle that starts Monday. Romance shows its sentimental side. Self improvement plans are highlighted all week.

GEMINI — May 23-June 21
Distractions can put you behind schedule; you may be re-shuffling plans after the weekend. Offbeat ideas benefit from refinement. Discoveries around the house solve a mystery.

CANCER — June 22-July 22
Small mixups are dotted through the week. Travel ideas may be developing into realities. In romance, a less conservative approach may appeal to your other half.

LEO — July 23-August 22
Favorable week for assisting projects to others and assessing your own future prospects. Friend introduces you to a new hobby that is interesting but unexpectedly costly.

VIRGO — August 23-September 22
Expect to meet several quite different people this week. Best allies now are of the opposite sex. Loved one may misinterpret your intentions. Home improvements may be delayed.

LIBRA — September 23-October 22
Guard words carefully; it's tempting to divulge information to the wrong parties. Best friends now are of another generation. Helpful acquaintance may be too helpful.

SCORPIO — October 23-November 21
Travel is indicated-with the accent on spontaneity. Family member may be surprisingly stubborn-then suddenly cooperative. Weekend includes touches of glamour, humor, and confusion.

SAGITTARIUS — November 22-December 22
Luck is with you but you can't count on it exclusively. You take on new challenges with great determination. Watch tendency to leave projects half completed.

CAPRICORN — December 23-January 20
Romance-wise, this can be an upbeat period; the key is to make the most of situations. As the year begins to end, make an added attempt to simplify your life.

BIRTHDAY THIS WEEK

When you give your attention to something, you give your all... until another interest comes your way. This trait may prove frustrating to friends, but it keeps you young. Personal relationships and renewed commitments are spotlighted this year. Educational interests continue to expand.

BORN THIS WEEK

December 4th, actress Deanna Durbin; 5th director John Summers; 6th, jazzman Dave Brubeck; 7th, actress Ellen Burstyn; 8th, actor Flip Wilson; 9th, actor Beau Bridges; 10th, actress Susan Day.

LEGAL NOTICES

CITY OF QUINCY
DEPARTMENT OF PUBLIC WORKS
INVITATION TO BID

Scaled proposals for the transfer, loading, hauling and disposal of solid waste will be received at the Office of the Commissioner of Public Works, 55 N. Street, Quincy, MA until 10:00 A.M. Monday, December 29, 1986. At which time they will be publicly opened and read.

The Contractor to whom the contract may be awarded will be required to appear at this office with the surety offered by him and execute the contract within ten days from the date of the mailing of notice from the Commissioner to the bidder, according to the address given by him that the contract is ready for signature and in case of his failure or neglect to do so, the Commissioner may, at his option, determine that the bidder had abandoned the Contract and thereupon the certified check or bid bond shall become the property of the City of Quincy.

The Contractor will be required to provide both a performance bond and a payment labor and materials bond each for the full contract price. A certified check or bid bond in the amount of 10% of the bid shall accompany each bid.

Specifications may be obtained at the Department of Public Works upon deposit of $25.00 for each set which will be refunded provided they are returned in good condition, within 10 days of the bid opening.
Bidders requesting specifications mailed to them shall add a separate check for Ten Dollars ($10.00) payable to the City of Quincy to cover mailing and handling.

The right is reserved to reject any or all bids or to accept the bid deemed best for the City

McGrath To Cast Swing Vote For Police Study Money

By NANCY McLAUGHLIN

Council president Stephen McGrath said Tuesday he intends to cast what will apparently be the deciding vote next week in favor of implementation of recommendations in a largely critical study of the Quincy Police Department.

Unless councillors change the positions they expressed Monday night, McGrath's vote will strengthen a 4 to 3 line-up.

Councillors Michael Cheney, Richard Koch, Jr., Patricia Toland and Thomas Nutley said they were in favor of the $8,900 appropriation. Those in opposition were Councillors John J. Lydon, Jr., James Sheets and Joseph LaRaia.

Councillor Theodore DeCristofaro said he is undecided.

If DeCristofaro votes for the appropriation, the vote will be 6 to 3. If he votes against it, it will be 5 to 4.

McGrath said he would meet with Police Chief Francis Finn to "hopefully allay any fears and concerns he has."

"It's very unfortunate that such a relatively small amount of money relative to the consulting aspect has generated so much controversy," said McGrath.

"I think there is a misunderstanding over what exactly are the services the Massachusetts Municipal Association (under whose direction the study was done) is going to provide.

"I think the feeling is that the MMA will be overseeing and implementing the recommendations. That's not what they are going to be doing.

"They will be available as consultants to assist the police as they implement whatever changes they would like to accomplish to receive accreditation."

McGrath said he hopes the vote will be 9 to 0 in favor of the appropriation as a result of his talk with the chief.

However, prior to the

Alice Scribner 'Pleasantly Surprised' Grandmother First Woman Commander Veterans Council

The first woman commander of the Quincy Veterans Council said she doesn't intend to cause too many waves.

"I'll try to keep people informed about what the city and state are doing for veterans," said Mrs. Alice Scribner, 75, of Quincy Center.

"We swap information at the monthly council meetings. Some of the older veterans need to know information.

"A lot of people don't know about changes with the Veterans Administration benefits."

Mrs. Scribner, the mother of two and grandmother of three, said she was pleasantly surprised to be the first woman elected commander of the council.

"I'm pleased that they're not chauvinistic," said Mrs. Scribner who noted that there are other women on the Veterans Council, which is comprised of five delegates from each of the 12 Quincy posts.

"We've been accepted very nicely," said Mrs. Scribner, a member of Houghs Neck Legion Post. Born in Pennsylvania, she grew up in New Bedford and joined the Army Jan. 25, 1945. Given a commission as a medical specialist, she served until May 28, 1948, most of that time in the physical therapy department in a hospital in San Antonio, Texas.

She moved to Quincy in 1949 when she married her husband, the late John A. Scribner, Jr.

Mrs. Scribner was employed as a field investigator for the Division of Employment Security for 39 years before she retired in 1978.

Mrs. Slawson: 'I'm Happy'

Developer To Build Around Home

Nell Slawson, the Saville Ave. home owner who was fighting any move to acquire her property to make way for the proposed $55 million President's Place, appears to have won a major battle if not the war.

Developers of the Quincy Sq. project, the Ricciardi Co. of Quincy and Campanelli Industries of Braintree, have decided to build the project around Mrs. Slawson's home, according to Mayor Francis McCauley.

McCauley explained that Mrs. Slawson and the developers had been negotiating to find her a comparable home in the same area. But they have not met with success and the developers need to move ahead with the project, he said.

"The developers have decided not to ask the administration and City Council to take the property from her (by urban renewal)," McCauley said.

Stephen Ricciardi of Ricciardi Co. said that communications with Mrs. Slawson have been amicable but "she can't seem to find a home she is happy with."

"Something could happen in the next two or three weeks, but we're not counting on it," said Ricciardi.

The developers have decided there is a "strong likelihood" they will not ask the city to take the property because "a number of city councillors are sensitive and sympathetic to taking someone's home and we are, too."

"As a result, we don't want to put the citizens of Quincy,

Deadline Dec. 31

Nominations Coming In For 'Citizen Of Year' Award

Nominations are coming in for The Quincy Sun second annual "Citizen Of The Year Award."

Deadline for nominations is Dec. 31.

If you know of anyone you believe should be considered as this year's Quincy "Citizen Of The Year," here is your chance to be heard.

A nomination ballot to help the selection process is on Page 4.

Just fill out the form and mail it to: Citizen Of The Year Award

The Quincy Sun 1372 Hancock St. Quincy, Mass. 02169 Nominations may also be dropped off at The Sun office.

A reasonable facsimile of the nomination ballot may also be used.

Those submitting nominations may also attach to the ballot a letter or note describing in more detail the reason for the nomination.

After nominations close Dec. 31, a judging panel will be selected to make the final choice from the nominations submitted.

Last year's winner was Tony Siciliano, Deputy Director of Civil Defense and Auxiliary Police Chief. He was selected from among 31 nominees.

The award was established last year by The Sun to recognize an individual for outstanding community service.

Nominees can be someone in elective office, a member of an appointed board, a member of the clergy, a teacher or principal, a police officer or firefighter, a businessman or woman, a sports figure or someone who has given freely of her or his time to a worthy project or cause. It could be your neighbor.

The honor may be for a single achievement or for community service over a period of time.

Those nominated last year are eligible to be nominated again this year.

Anyone receiving one nomination will be considered for the award. The award will not necessarily go to the person receiving the most nominations. The judging panel will make the final selection.

The name of the winner will be announced in January.

Here is the opportunity for you to voice your opinion as to who is Quincy's "Citizen Of The Year" for 1986.

Remember, the deadline for nominations is Wednesday, Dec. 31. Time is moving.

Fire Dept. Receives 30 Distress Locators

The Quincy Fire Department has received 30 Fire Personal Distress Locators, according to Mayor Francis McCauley.

The devices, purchased with funds contributed by eight local businesses and organizations, activate automatically when an injured or unconscious person wearing the device remains motionless for more than 30 seconds.

Each unit costs about $100. Acting Fire Chief Carl Valenti noted that the units are being used in the Brookline and Boston Fire Departments, and have enhanced the safety of firefighters at working fires.

Contributions for the locators were made by Hospital Corporation of America, Quincy City Hospital, Quincy Cooperative Bank, The Ricciardi Co., O'Connell Brothers Management, Shawmut Bank of Quincy, Boston Five Cents Savings Bank and Quincy Sons of Italy Lodge 1295.

Blood Pressure Screenings

Quincy City Hospital will conduct a free blood pressure screening for the public Tuesday, Dec. 16, in the Ambulatory Care Department from 1:30 to 3 p.m.

The screenings, performed by nursing staff, will enable individuals to keep track of their blood pressure, and be aware of dangerous elevations in the pressure. Persons in need of referral to a physician, will be so advised.

The screenings, which will take place on the first and third Tuesday of each month, are free of charge.

Industrial B Allowed In PUD

The City Council voted in favor Monday night of an amendment to allow Industrial B uses in Planned Unit Development areas.

There was no discussion. The motion to pass the amendment was made by Councilor Theodore DeCristofaro.

The council's action followed a unanimous recommendation by the Planning Board which came after a joint public hearing last month.

During that hearing, 73 shipyard workers expressed themselves against the change.

Council president Stephen McGrath had explained that the hearing was not on rezoning the General Dynamics Quincy Shipyard to Planned Unit Development, but on altering Planned Unit Development Areas to include Industrial B.

Councilor Theodore DeCristofaro had earlier proposed rezoning the shipyard from Industrial B to Planned Unit Development so that the council would have control over what goes on there.

But before that rezoning took place, DeCristofaro wanted to add Industrial B to PUD so that shipbuilding would be allowed.

Several shipyard union officials were apparently concerned that the zoning amendment would harm their chances of buying the shipyard.

The employee buyout committee has made a joint bid with a company which would build a $100 million power plant.

It is among 17 bids made for the shipyard. General Dynamics is expected to make a decision shortly.

2 Quincy Officers Honored For Bravery

A Quincy police officer and a Boston police detective who lives in Quincy received medals for bravery during a State House highest law enforcement award ceremony.

Receiving a citation for bravery from Gov. Michael Dukakis was Quincy patrolman William Horick who last December jumped on to the electrified MBTA track at Wollaston Red Line station after a train pinned Eric Whittaker, 11, to the platform. Horick helped slow the flow of blood from the injured boy and stayed with him until rescue crews arrived.

The governor also awarded the Hanna Medal of Valor, the state's second highest award, to Boston police detective Thomas J. Gleason of Quincy who single handedly captured two murder suspects minutes after a shooting in South Boston. After calling for assistance, Gleason gave chase and arrested the pair as they fled their abandoned vehicle.

This award was named after state trooper George Hanna who was murdered in the line of duty in 1983.

This medal was presented by Hanna's wife, Marilyn and her three children, Debbie, 18, Kim, 17, and Michael, 9.

Sgt. Robert Thorburn

Awarded Medal

Staff Sgt. Robert P. Thorburn, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert M. Thorburn of 247 Water St., Quincy, has been decorated with the fourth award of the Army Achievement Medal at Fort Bragg, N.C.

The medal is awarded to soldiers for meritorious service, acts of courage, or other accomplishments.

Thorburn is a parachute rigger with the 600th Quartermaster Company.

MDC To Crack Down On Willard St. Traffic Problems

Quincy officials Wednesday formally turned over a stretch of Willard St. in West Quincy, termed one of the city's busiest and most dangerous roads, to the MDC who promise an extensive traffic enforcement effort.

The MetroPolice presence on the 1.5 mile section between Chicatawbut Rd. and Furnace Brook Pkwy., a popular shortcut for drivers traveling between the Southeast Expressway and Route 128, grew out of the efforts of residents about the safety and speeding problems.

This concern prompted the filing of legislation last year by Rep. Michael Morrissey, Sen. Paul Harold, and other officials, to push for MDC control.

Ironically, Daniel Shea, 75, a resident of Willard St., who was a leader in the move to solve traffic problems on the street and a supporter of the MDC enforcement idea, was struck by a car and killed on that street in 1984.

"Willard St. is adjacent to the MetroParks Blue Hills Reservation and connects two MDC roadways: Furnace Brook Parkway and Chicatawbut Rd.," said MDC commissioner William Geary. "If we can control the traffic and ensure the safety of individuals using Willard St we can make the Blue Hills Reservation that much more accessible and enjoyable," said MDC Commissioner William Geary.

He added that traffic enforcement plans for the busy Quincy street resemble those in place at other MetroParkways, where the introduction of increased police patrols has resulted in a significant decrease in the number of traffic accidents and fatalities. The program was particularly successful on Quincy Shore Drive, which was the scene of several fatalities a year until 1983 when the plan was enacted. Since that time, there has not been a single fatality on the drive.

Through a grant by the Department of Public Works, Quincy plans to redesign and reconstruct Willard St. in the near future. After the construction is completed, the MDC will receive full jurisdiction of the road, assuming responsibility not only for police enforcement, but for care of the street, including maintenance support, snow plowing and beautification.

"Residents of Willard St. have waited a long time to see this day. We have every confidence in the ability of the MDC to handle this road. We are grateful for their acceptance," said Morrissey.

City Council Commends 4 Heroic Firefighters

The City Council paid tribute to four firefighters Monday night who made their way through flames and dense smoke to save the lives of a woman and her daughter in a Nov. 15 fire.

Councillor Thomas Nutley, in whose ward the fire occurred, commended Lt. Paul Daley and Fire Fighters Daniel Sullivan, John Martell and Timothy Pettinelli as their families and friends looked on.

In what was called a "spectacular rescue" by Deputy Fire Chief Joseph Jackson, the men rescued Dianna Lentini, 34, and her infant daughter. Paige from a two-alarm fire at their home at 28 Milton Rd.

Mrs. Lentini's husband, John, 38, had been able to get their two other children, Jenna, 6, and Alexander, 2½, to safety.

Taken to Quincy City Hospital, Mrs. Lentini was in poor condition with her name on the danger list. Paige was in stable condition.

Both were released last week. Nutley said he was presenting the commendations "with a great deal of emotion and sincerity."

He said the commendations were in recognition of "clear thinking and a cooperative effort with fellow firefighters in the saving of two lives."

"The citizens of Quincy are very proud of this heroic rescue--and you are commended for your bravery and courage," said Nutley.

Acting Fire Chief Carl Valenti said, "There is no question in my mind that the efforts of the four firefighters saved the lives of the mother and daughter."

"They are a credit to me, to the Quincy Fire Department and to the city of Quincy."

William Barron, president of the firefighters' union, presented Nutley a check for $500 for the Lentini family.

Kinney Promises Sunday Debris Cleanup At Ross Garage

Kinney Systems, which operates Quincy's validated parking system, told the City Council Monday night that it will assign a person to keep the Ross Garage clean on Sundays through the holiday shopping season.

Edward Crean of Kinney

Systems appeared before the council at the request of council president Stephen McGrath who had complained about the conditions.

Crean explained that Kinney doesn't ordinarily assign a person on Sundays because the system isn't in operation and parking is free. McGrath said that he was satisfied with the discussion with Kinney, but would watch the situation very closely after the Christmas shopping season.

Sewerage Rehab Fund Passed By Senate, House

A bill establishing the City of Quincy Sewerage Rehabilitation Fund has been passed by the Senate and the House and has been placed on the governor's desk to be signed into law.

The announcement was made by State Senator Paul D. Harold and Representatives Thomas F. Brownell and Michael W. Morrissey.

Senator Harold said that a fee of up to one per cent of construction costs will be paid into the Sewerage Rehabilitation Fund by applicants for building permits for construction or rehabilitation of buildings in Quincy.

Single family residences which are owner occupied as a primary residence for at least one year will be exempt from the fee, he said.

The amount levied will be determined by city ordinance based on the anticipated water and sewer use for the particular type of development.

Rep. Morrissey said that the money in the Sewerage Rehabilitation Fund will be used to replace and rehabilitate the city's sewer system being taxed by increasing development.

Rep. Brownell noted that City Councilor James Sheets sponsored the proposal passed by the City Council which required legislative approval.

A Man Of His Word

As a political figure, John Quinn was unique.

He'll be remembered, of course, as the former "dean" of the Quincy City Council whose 12 terms as a city councillor set a longevity record in that body.

And, he will be remembered for his 99 percent attendance record at council meetings during those 24 years.

He will also be remembered by constituents and friends for coming through for them when needed — both as a city councillor and as a Blue Cross field representative.

If you had a problem and you needed help you could count on him.

He never badmouthed anyone — including political opponents. He took the high road in political battle.

But, more than all that, he was a man of his word. Political observers who go back to the early 1960's can attest to that.

Quinn starred in a dramatic role of loyalty in 1962 which gave the City Council presidency to Charles Shea.

Quinn had pledged his vote to Shea a month or two before. And then, on Inauguration Day, found himself as Shea's biggest threat.

An opposition bloc had been put together in an 11th hour behind the scene maneuver to try to snatch the presidency away from Shea.

The group attempted to woo Quinn out of the Shea camp with promises they would line up behind him for the council presidency. But Quinn wasn't budging.

Even when the showdown vote came and Quinn found himself deadlocked with Shea 4-4 for the presidency.

All he had to do was vote for himself and the gavel and prestige of the council presidency would have been his.

It was a tempting opportunity for any young man with political ambition.

But Quinn had given his word to Shea and wasn't going to break it.

QUINN

SHEA

He cast his own — and deciding vote — for Shea. Quinn was eventually elected council president but not until 1978 — 16 years later.

That didn't bother him. Keeping his word was more important to him. Quinn, who died last week at age 63, took politics and life's ups and downs in stride. Including cancer. He was a good son, husband, father and brother. And, he was John Quinn.

DEATH LAST WEEK also took from us another popular figure — George A. Wilson, former teacher, assistant principal and principal at Quincy High School.

He lived a full and active life during his 88 years. Only his illness slowed him down the past few months.

Wilson never lost his love for Quincy High School and his former students. And they never forgot him.

He was always invited to the various class reunions. As years went by he never seemed to age. We used to kid him that he had the Fountain of Youth bubbling somewhere in his backyard.

At some of the older class reunions he looked more like one of the classmates instead of the former assistant principal or principal.

The Quincy High School class of 1942 is planning a reunion for next fall. He had already been invited. It won't be quite the same without him.

FORMER CITY COUNCILLOR and mayor candidate, Joanne Condon, spent a good part of her tenure in the council as Ward 6 councillor sitting next to Ward 3 Councillor John Lydon.

Now, she will be working virtually beside another Lydon — James Lydon.

The latter is leaving his post as city planning director to begin a new job in the private sector with the Ricciardi Co. based on Willard St.

Condon has taken a position with the Buccheri Co., also on Willard St.

Four persons were recently honored at Central Middle School as "Friends of Education" for 1986.

Receiving the awards were Henry Bosworth, editor and publisher of The Quincy Sun; James Clancy, husband of Central Middle School teacher Marion Clancy; John Lutz, parent of a student at the school and Frank Santoro, Quincy School committee member and Brookline school teacher.

Principal Louise R. DiMartino presented the awards at breakfast ceremonies at the school, cited the four for having served the school community "above and beyond."

Bosworth was selected for "his consistent coverage of school activities which promote pride in accomplishments for students and respect for educational achievement."

Clancy, it was noted, "has built scenery, transported props and generally supported the musical productions the students have presented for the past several years."

Lutz received his award "for his loyalty and delivery at School Committee and Parent Advisory Board meetings. His logic, delivery and wisdom have contributed to the students' sense of

Marie's Kitchen

By MARIE J. D'OLIMPIO

A Fish Story With Tasty Results

After an emergency trip to my dentist (I had cracked a tooth) lovely for the holiday season, and I had to think of something to prepare for dinner that night that wouldn't be too hard to chew. I think if I were held hostage and they showed me a dentist's drill I would tell them anything they wanted to know! Even though the dentist is very gentle, you still feel the discomfort after a couple of novocaines. Anyway, getting down to what I finally cooked for dinner — it was a fish entree all in one pan and pretty tasty too. Here is the recipe. It feeds four. I used frozen scrod cod loins which come four in a package. There are no bones in it and they can be cooked frozen.

Saucy Fish

4 medium slices of fish
1 cup of tomato sauce
1 tablespoon of fresh parsley
1 medium onion (chopped)
1 small can of peas
1 cup water

Grated cheese Salt and pepper to taste

I used a water base instead of oil (you know, for less calories) and it doesn't change the flavor one bit. Anyway, put a cup of water in a frying pan. Add the onion and parsley and let cook until the water boils for a couple of minutes. Place the slices of fish, cover the pan and cook turning the fish gently until it is half cooked. Add the tomato sauce, salt and pepper and continue cooking, basting the fish with the sauce as it cooks. (You don't have to turn the fish but just move it around) At the last minute, before serving, add the peas and cook until heated. Sprinkle grated cheese over it, and serve with a nice crispy salad on the side . . .

State Officials To Address QHS Class

Patricia Hanratty, commissioner of the state Industrial Services Commission, will address the economic honor class of Quincy High School on Dec. 18, at 10:45 a.m.

According to Robert Wentworth, spokesperson for the South Shore Chamber of Commerce, she will be speaking about the state's responsibility to the business community, and the closing of the General Dynamics Quincy shipyard.

The economic honor class is instructed by George Smith.

Dr. Jack Merrill: 'I Will Give All Kinds Of Time To Someone Who Will Struggle'

By NANCY McLAUGHLIN

Dr. Jack Merrill, a social studies teacher at Quincy High School, has been compared to Leo Buscaglia, the popular author of books such as "Living, Loving and Learning."

"His message is responsibility for oneself," said Merrill, who tries to stress that point in the classroom.

"I go under the assumption that all students have innate ability and great potential," said Merrill.

Teacher Profiles

"I will give all kinds of time to someone who will struggle. I want people to work hard. I can't stand laziness. 'Apathy' - the 'I don't care' attitude - bothers me a lot. I try to get involved."

Merrill said he encounters students who, for many reasons, such as home environment, have lost track of themselves.

"They're down on themselves," he said. "To me, there are no bad people - just people who do bad things because they haven't been loved properly."

"People have to have basic needs satisfied before they can learn. They need love and discipline in order to develop."

"Sometimes, I wish I had worked with students through elementary school."

"There are many that I can't reach - for many reasons."

Merrill said he works hard to create a comfortable, not a tense, atmosphere in the classroom.

"I don't want anyone to be afraid of me. I want students to realize I'm human, too," said Merrill, who considers himself more of a facilitator than a teacher.

"I try to motivate students to ask questions and teach them how to find answers," he said.

Merrill said he was the recipient of some special attention from teachers who talked to him about his potential. He drew on that in later years.

DR. JACK MERRILL goes over a point with student Robert Austin during a social studies class at Quincy High School.

"I was always interested in teaching," he explained, "but when I was first graduated from college, I went into the business world for eight years."

"I did ok, but I never really liked it," he said.

"I tried teaching Framingham Unitarian Universalist Church Youth Group every Sunday for a year and I loved it."

"The company I worked for went bankrupt, so I took the plunge and started to teach at the Manter Hall School, Cambridge, in the fall of 1966."

In 1967, he came to Quincy High School.

"The first year I was scared to death before every class, as many teachers are," said Merrill.

"But then, I'd go into class and love every minute."

"I realized I liked working with students, and they liked me."

Merrill shares his love of teaching with his wife, Diane, a business teacher at North Quincy High School.

"We divide the kids when we go to the Thanksgiving rally," smiled Merrill, who is the father of Lauren, 6, and Elizabeth, 8.

He also has four children from a previous marriage.

Heather, Jack, Steve, and Jennifer.

Merrill helped pilot the "World of Difference" curriculum for Quincy High School. His classes were filmed by Ch. 5 which showed them on the 6 p.m. news.

This year, his 10th grade world cultures class meets twice a week with students from the Jeremiah Burke School to learn to relate to each other.

"I'd like to help eradicate prejudice," he said.

He has also taught a psychology course in the Bethany Teen Mothers Program.

"I think my greatest strength as a teacher is that I care," said Merrill. "I don't have to say I care, it just comes across."

"I'll spend time with anybody who has a personal problem. I will sympathize and help someone, but I don't pity anyone."

"My forte is in helping people help themselves."

Merrill feels that Quincy High School could use a place for students to go to where they can talk about anything they want.

"It would be a resource room where there is comfort and caring and people to help students help sort things out," he explained.

"And yes, I'd love to be one of those people," he said.

He also might like to be involved in teacher training in college. "But, I would hate to leave here," he said.

Merrill was nominated for The Quincy Sun's "Citizen of the Year" award.

"My greatest satisfaction," said Merrill, "is to hear from different students you helped me know myself better, to realize my potential, that I'm not stupid or different - I'm special."

Editor's Note: Dr. Jack Merrill was selected for a teacher profile by a panel from the Quincy Education Association for his work as a professional educator, and also, as an involved community person.

Panelists are Deanna White, Robert, Snug Harbor School; Paul Phillips, North Quincy High School; Jack Buckley, QEA president; Central Middle School; Thomas Walsh, Quincy High School; and Mary Curran, Atherton Hough.

Teacher profiles will continue in The Quincy Sun.

2 School Vacancies Filled

The Quincy School Committee made two appointments at its meeting last week to fill vacancies. They are:

Tefta Burrelli, clerk to the Quincy School Committee, $50 a meeting; Robert Brill, carpenter, maintenance department, $439.84 week.

Overnight Parking

This time of the year many people have questions about parking overnight on the streets of Quincy. I hope that the following information will answer those questions.

First of all, in order to park all night in Quincy you must have an all-night parking sticker. The application for this sticker can be obtained at the Quincy Police Traffic Bureau. Once the application is filled out the request is checked by the Traffic Bureau. An officer is sent to the address to check the need for a parking permit. It there is enough room in the driveway the parking permit will be denied.

If during the several occasions that the address is checked the driveways are full the permit will probably be issued. The cost of the permit is $2 and it will take about two weeks for the permit to be issued, from the time of application.

All night parking is any two (2) hours between 1 a.m. and 5 a.m. The officer must see that the car parked for than two hours during the above times before he can issue a parking ticket.

Between Oct. 15 and April 15 you must park your vehicle on the even numbered side of the street on the even numbered year and park on the odd numbered side of the street in an odd year. This year, 1986, you will park on the even numbered side of the street. In 1987 you will park on the odd numbered side of the street. The purpose of this ordinance is to give snow plows enough room to make a straight path down any street. In the past snow plows have had to weave down narrow side streets with cars parked on both sides in a staggered manner.

Vehicles with parking permits cannot be in violation of any other City Ordinance or Law. (Such as violation of corner law, parking too close to a hydrant or in towing area).

Once you get your all night parking sticker, place it on the rear window of the vehicle on th drivers side.

If you have any further questions about overnight parking, please call the Quincy Police Traffic Bureau at 479-1212.

Hanging Of The Greens At Bethany Church Sunday

The hanging of the greens will take place Sunday in Bethany Congregational Church, Coddington and Spear Sts., Quincy Center, at the opening of the 10 a.m. service on this third Sunday in Advent.

The sanctuary windows will be decorated with large evergreen branches and candles. Gerard Capobianchi and Bruce Crofts will hang the greens brought to them by children of the Church School; Daniel Aimola, Ann Buckmann, Kelly Burke, Keith Briggs, Sharon Capobianchi, Kimberly Connors, Amy Devin, Jennifer Foley, Eric Leuchte, and Eric Lundin.

During the ceremony the congregation will sing Christmas carols. Preceding the greening, the senior minister, Rev. J. William Arnold, will give a brief commentary concerning this Advent tradition.

The Advent wreath candlelighting ceremony will be led by Robert and Elaine Caliri and their children, Jonathan and Elizabeth.

The Chancel Choir will be directed by Peter Kraskinski, organist.

Pastor Arnold will preach the sermon, "The Greatness of Christ," at both the 9 a.m. chapel service and at the 10 a.m. sanctuary service. The Rev. Joel F. Huntington, associate minister, will serve as liturgist at both hours.

Lay scripture readers will be Elyshia Goddard at the early service and Pamela Shaw at the later service.

Children of the Church School will attend the first portion of the 10 a.m. service after which the pupils will go to their classes. A nursery is provided for babies and toddlers, under the supervision of Denise Fleming, Bethany's early childhood coordinator.

The worship service will be broadcast "live" over radio station WJDA, 1300 kc at 10 a.m.

At 11 a.m. there will be a fellowship hour in the Allen Parlor. Light refreshments will be served. Individuals and families from the community are welcome to attend the worship and fellowship hour, and to enroll children in the Sunday School.

A Christmas party sponsored by the Bethany Mother's Club for children in nursery through the sixth grade will be held in the Allen Parlor this Saturday, Dec. 13, from 1:30 to 3:30 p.m.

For information about Bethany and any of its ministries and programs, please contact the church office, 479-7300.

'Jesus, The Good Shepherd,' Sermon Topic At Covenant Congregational

Rev. Pastor Fred Lawson of Covenant Congregational Church has selected the sermon: "Jesus, The Good Shepherd," for this Sunday's 10:45 a.m. worship.

Prior to service, the Sunday School will begin at 9:30 a.m. for classes of all ages.

Pastor Lawson also requested that members bring their gifts for the New England Seamen's Mission to the Sunday service.

Other activities planned by the church include:

A Christian Education board meeting tonight (Thursday) and a meeting of the Board of Trustees tomorrow (Friday). Both begin at 7:30 p.m.

On Monday, Dec. 15, the Naomi Christmas party will begin at 6:30 p.m. at the home of Florence Abbott.

Covenant seniors are reminded that Thursday, Dec.

18, a group will leave the church at 9 a.m. for a trip to New Hampshire.

On Dec. 21, at 4 p.m., the Sunday School Christmas program will begin, followed by the Sunday School Christmas party.

Christmas Eve service will start this year with a coffee hour at 7 p.m. and service at 7:45 p.m.

For further information on any of these activities, call the church office at 479-5928.

Two Services Sunday At Squantum First Church

There will be two worship services this Sunday (Dec. 14) at First Church of Squantum by pastor Rev. Dr. Gene Langevin. The guitar service will begin at 8:30 a.m. followed by the traditional service at 10:30.

On the following Sunday, Dec. 21, the young people will be sponsoring a Christmas breakfast at 9:30 a.m. Children in the Sunday School are invited to the Baby Jesus' birthday party at 9:30. Then, at 10:30 a.m., everyone will go upstairs for a special Christmas worship for the whole church. Four choirs will be singing and child care and nursery will be provided during the service.

On Christmas Eve, young people of the church will perform their annual nativity pageant at 7 p.m. during the family service. At 11 friends and members of the church will gather for the candlelight service. Everyone attending both services is encouraged to bring a little bell to jingle during the carols.

"How the Wise Men Found the Christ," was the title of last Sunday's sermon preached at the second service by Pastor Langevin.

Michael Thornton and Kristen Fluhr assisted the pastor in lighting the second candle in the Advent wreath and carols were sung.

Seated with the pastor at the Lord's table during the observance of the Lord's Supper, were Deacons Steve Williams, Evelyn Adams, Stewart Scott, Grace Holmes, and Tom Williams.

The Chancel Choir was directed by Mary Ruth Scott. Helen Miller and Barbara Walter were the greeters, Lore Wallin and Stewart Scott the ushers, and Cynthia Stanton and Helen Miller hosted the Fellowship Hour after that service.

During last week's first service, guitarists Robert Dosey and Mary Ruth Scott accompanied the congregational singing. Krista Olson and Scott Catton were the ushers, and Dr. Langevin preached on the subject, "The Christmas Light."

Advent Penance Service At St. John's

A parish-wide Advent Penance Service will be held at St. John's the Baptist Church, Quincy Center, Tuesday, Dec. 16, at 7:30 p.m.

Pastor, Rev. William McCarthy, will be the principal celebrant and will be joined by the priests of the parish and approximately 12 visiting priests in this celebration of God's forgiveness and healing mercy.

This celebration is open to all.

City Faces Serious Affordable Housing Problem

"Quincy, without doubt, faces a serious affordable housing problem," Angelito Santos of the Planning Department told the City Council's Human Services Committee Monday night.

Santos told committee members that the median price of single family homes in the city in 1986 is around $132,000, compared to $75,000 in 1984 and $44,000 in 1980.

Few houses sell for less than $100,000 according to Santos.

"A household today has to earn over $40,000 to become eligible to own a home in Quincy, unless you happen to have enormous savings or be endowed with rich parents or relatives to help you," he said.

"This $40,000 is based on a 30-year fixed rate of 9 percent, the lowest the rate has been in years," he said.

"Meanwhile, the median income in Quincy is only about $30,000 in 1986, which means that more than half of Quincy's households do not earn enough to buy a home in Quincy."

According to Santos, the same problem exists in Quincy's rental housing market.

"The already low rental vacancy rate of 2.5% in 1980 now comes close to zero in 1986," Santos said.

"Contract rates for two bedrooms go for $650 to $900 which amounts to the monthly payments for those who bought their homes years ago."

Santos said that the rapid increase in the cost of housing is partly due to the limited increase in affordable housing units.

"During 1980 to 1985, the number of all types of dwelling units grew by only half the rate of growth of households," he said.

Among the consequences of the housing problem is that present tenants or children of homeowners would have to move out of Quincy to find homes they can afford, he said.

"The affordable housing problem is real," said Santos, "and unlike common colds, it will not go away on its own. We are aware that there is strong pressure from some of your constituents to control growth, and with justifications. However we believe that the city is obligated on social, moral, economic and political grounds to address the affordable housing issue also."

Christmas Bazaar At Lincoln Hancock

The annual Christmas bazaar run by the disabled adults in the evening recreation program at the Lincoln Hancock School was scheduled to be held last night (Wednesday) 6:30 to 8:30 p.m. at the school.

The rear entrance of the Lincoln Hancock School is located on Water St., South Quincy.

2 A.M. Closing For New Year's

The License Board voted Tuesday to allow license establishments in Quincy to remain open until 2 a.m. New Year's Eve.

According to board members, an establishment must have both an all alcoholic license and a common victualer license to take advantage of the ruling. Taverns which only have all alcoholic licenses, will have to close at the normal 1 a.m. hour.

The board also noted that all licenses that come under their jurisdiction that expire Dec. 31, are available for renewal at City Hall accompanied by a certified check for the fee.

A THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK

JEALOUSY! Happy, indeed, is the person who is free of it... It has been called - very aptly - "a green-eyed monster." Perhaps nothing hurts our personal relationship with others more seriously than jealousy. It can destroy respect for others. It is fine to have admiration for someone who has done better than we have... It can lead to emulation and one's own eventual success. But a person who is jealous cannot admire for he only hates and envies. It can destroy friendships. For if we are jealous of our friends and what they have, we resent their good fortune and rejoice at their fallings. These attitudes can and do destroy friendships... Jealousy can shatter love. For when we are jealous, we can no longer trust... and when we can no longer trust, we cannot truly love.

But even worse than what jealousy does to our relationships with others is what it does to ourselves. There is probably nothing that can make a person more miserable than to be in a constant state of jealousy.

Yes, indeed - Happy is the person who is free of it...

Quincy Sewer, Wollaston Facility Bills Passed

Reps. Michael Morrissey and Thomas Brownell announce that two bills pertaining to Quincy have passed the legislature and are now on the desk of Governor Dukakis for final approval.

The first bill would create a special account for the Wollaston Recreational Facility. The account, to be funded from a portion of the facility's normal operating revenues, would be used to maintain and improve the facility. Currently, the facility is entirely reliant on Norfolk County for its funding needs.

The second bill, a home rule petition filed at the request of the City Council, would establish a special fund for the purpose of rehabilitating Quincy's aging sewer system. Under the measure, developers seeking building permits would contribute one per cent of a project's estimated construction cost. It would not apply to single family residences that have been owner-occupied for more than one year. Over the next decade, the development fee could generate more than $8 million, enough to maintain the city's entire sewer system.

Morrissey said, "For obvious reasons, both of these bills are beneficial to the citizens of Quincy. The Special Account for the Wollaston Recreation Facility will allow the director to make needed repairs and make the facility more attractive to Quincy residents."

Commenting on the sewer bill, Brownell said, "This legislation is absolutely necessary to bring the city's infrastructure up-to-date. With all the development going on, this is a way to finance sewer rehabilitation without directly impacting homeowners."

QCA Reports 90% In Survey Favor Building Height Curb

The Quincy Citizens Association (QCA) reported that in a survey of over 5,000 residents, some 90 percent said they endorse a limit on new building height in the city.

Wollaston Theatre owner Arthur M. Chandler made the announcement at the association's Dec. 3 dinner meeting at The Hollow Restaurant, following his reelection as president of the association.

Chandler said the six-story height limit-reduced density petition drive, circulated by QCA and the Citizens Advocating Proper Planning (CAPP), has been endorsed by approximately 90 percent of the 6,000 registered voters contacted. They favor a six-story building height limitation in zones presently permitting eight and 10 stories. The petition was circulated in an effort to curb over development in the city, Chandler said.

He noted that the City Council will have an opportunity to recognize this strong sentiment of voters and hopefully will enact the requested zoning changes, or the voters themselves will express their will to curb over development at the polls.

Chandler said the QCA is confident that voters will overwhelmingly endorse the association's initiative referendum, just as voters did across the state in the tax cap Proposition 2-1-2 referendum, sponsored by Citizens for Limited Taxation.

Other officers reelected at the dinner meeting were:

Joseph N. Gildea, Sr., vice president; Saul Lipsitz, treasurer; Dorothy Kelly, secretary.

Quincy Hospital Offers Early Pregnancy Program

Quincy City Hospital will sponsor an "Early Pregnancy-For Healthy Mom and Healthy Baby" program for expectant women in their early stages of pregnancy, beginning Thursday, Jan. 8.

The course will cover emotional and physical changes of pregnancy, fetal development, nutrition, exercises and other information that will guide mothers-to-be in making decisions for themselves and their newborn baby.

Classes will be held on two consecutive Thursday evenings, Jan. 8 and 15, from 7 to 9 p.m. at the hospital. There is no charge for the program, which is designed for woman only.

$477,098 In Wiring

Wire Inspector Thomas E. Purpura reports the Department of Wire Inspection issued 122 permits, for an estimated cost of $477,098 in wiring for the month of November.

The department collected $5,617 in fees.

Major projects for which permits were issued during November include:

33 condominiums at 70 Quarry St., three town house condominiums at 54 Mary St., a new four-family dwelling at 238 Water St., a new two-family dwelling at 179 Atlantic St., seven condominiums at 72 Forest Ave., a new five-story office building at 3 Pine Hill Dr., and major renovations at the Lodging House, 60-62 Spear St.

The department reported there were 61 certificates of approval to Massachusetts Electric Company; 191 inspections, 17 defects, nine re-inspections and two fire calls.

Koch Club Christmas Charitable Activities Continue

The Koch Club Christmas Charity Committee recently received 24 dressed dolls delivered from Mrs. Priscilla Audleman of Ocala, Fla.

She is the sister of Mrs. Trudy Conboy, member of the Koch Club Christmas Charity Committee.

Mrs. Audleman had purchased the dolls at yard sales throughout the year and then cleaned, groomed, dressed and packaged the dolls for Christmas presentation.

Mrs. Rita Kelleher of the Koch Club Dress-A-Doll Program stated that a number of dolls have been donated and are being prepared for the 1986 Christmas Activities Program. More new and used dolls are being sought as the Koch Club provides toys, both new and used, for hundreds of boys and girls each year.

Thomas F. Nestor, treasurer of the Christmas Charitable Program in its 31st season of activity, has requested that those wishing to donate funds for the purchase of turkeys as well as toys or non-perishable food items may contact him at 69 Welland Rd., Weymouth, or Richard J. Koch, 241 Newbury Ave., North Quincy.

Participants at the Y.M.C.A., members of the Sacred Heart Youth Organization, members of the North Quincy Catholic Women's Club, students of the Francis W. Parker School and St. Joseph's School have all assisted in the contribution of new and used toys for a number of years. Hundreds of unknown families from Quincy, Weymouth, Braintree and other neighboring communities for years have also quietly donated used toys and clothing toward the Christmas Charity Projects of the Koch Club for the Holiday Season.

NQ Senior Deborah Briggette Presented Jobs Trophy

Deborah Briggette, a senior at North Quincy High School, was a recent recipient of the Jobs for Bay State Graduates trophy for the month of October.

She was presented the award by assistant superintendent of the Quincy schools, Dr. Richard Chrysal, at a ceremony held in the Quincy Cable Systems television studio. The presentation was video taped, and later broadcasted on a Job Search program over the American Channel.

Following the presentation Briggette and her parents were the guests of The Edmund Fitzgerald Restaurant in Quincy which hosted the October Student of the Month award dinner.

Jobs for Bay State Graduates at North Quincy High is directed by Chuck MacLeod. It is a non-profit, state wide school-to-work transition program operating in 28 high schools.

The program trains seniors with many of the skills needed to enter the work force following graduation.

The monthly trophy is donated by the Norwood Trophy Co., and presented to a senior at North Quincy High who has demonstrated the best overall attendance, attitude, spirit and career association participation.

NQHS Choir Alumni To Sing In Concert

Former members of the North Quincy High School Concert Choir have accepted an invitation to join retiring the City Council, the mayor or ourselves in a position which may appear insensitive," Ricciardi said the design of the buildings in the project will not change, but the garage will now accommodate Mrs. Slawson's property in design.

"We're still optimistic that we'll be able to put 850 parking spaces in the garage," said Ricciardi, "but it will be a much tighter, less efficient design and more expensive." The garage will be 10 feet from Mrs. Slawson's property line, according to Ricciardi. "I'm happy to be staying in my home," said Mrs.

Slawson, "but I'm aware of the unpleasantness I'll have to face. That has been taken into account in making a stand."

"It's not worthwhile to move to a house that will not suit my needs," said Mrs. Slawson who has lived in the same house for 31 years. Her mother, Rena Slawson, has lived with her for four years.

Mrs. Slawson held a mini-protest last summer in front of City Hall with her mother, son, Robert Slawson, and a friend, Scott Theriault. She said they collected about 250 signatures.

"I'm very appreciative of the positions of the City Councilors who have declared their positions (against the land taking) so far," she said.

"The mayor and councilors have been very reassuring on that point."

McGrath To Cast Swing Vote For Police Study Money

meeting. Chief Finn said he had not changed his position on requesting that the Police Department be allowed to implement the recommendations itself.

"We have the capability of doing it," said Finn.

"It's tough to work with a watchdog over your back when you haven't done anything to deserve it."

"We've been a darn good police department," said Finn. "The study at best was inaccurate and at worst a damning one."

"I hope the City Council could have trust in us. After all, it's a great police department. There never has been any corruption in 20 years."

"Seventy-eight per cent of the department has had education after high school. Some are more educated than those who did the study."

"They certainly have more police experience and dedication to the city and the department."

Finn added, however, that "we don't want a war with the mayor or the City Council. We just want to do a good job."

Finn was among a large group of police department officers and personnel who listened to the City Council debate the appropriation for more than an hour Monday night.

Cheney removed from the table a $12,000 appropriation request from Mayor Francis McCauley to implement the recommendations.

Cheney suggested that the appropriation be reduced to the original estimate of $8,900 and noted that the authors of the report will only be in Quincy for a short time and then will work on a consulting basis.

Lydon moved to refer the order to the Public Safety Committee until the MMA gives the city an explanation of what would be supplied for $8,900.

"What will they take away from the scope of services for $8,900?" asked Lydon who moved to reduce the appropriation to $1,000. That motion failed to receive enough votes.

Koch, who had suggested the police study, said that the City Council reduces appropriations all the time.

"We appropriate the money and leave the mayor to work out the contract."

"The $8,900 is so close to the first estimate of the MMA that I don't see a problem."

"The time is here," Sheets said. "The City Council did make a commitment to police study, and it is essential to implement it but to do so with good policy."

"I'm not convinced that with the MMA that it will be good policy."

"The police department suffered the criticism, they should have the opportunity to implement the program without the MMA."

"The police department has taken their knocks," agreed LaRia.

"Now they would like the opportunity to respond in a logical and methodical way."

"We owe them the opportunity to show us."

Nutley said he supported the appropriation.

"I'm not sure what we'll get for $8,900, but I'm adamant about voting for the appropriation."

Toland said, "It's regrettable that there is so much negativism associated with the recommendations."

"But I don't see that the Police Department is under a dark cloud."

"I don't see any reason to hold off the appropriation."

Cheney agreed to return the order to the public safety committee.

"But there will be a vote one way or the other next week," he said.

Mayor Urges Council Pass Appropriation

"I hope the appropriation will finally pass," said Mayor Francis McCauley of the $12,000 order to finance implementation of recommendations in the Quincy Police Study by some of its authors.

The order has since been reduced to $8,900 by the council.

"It's important for people to come back and participate in recommendations they made in the study," McCauley said.

"If there is a difference of opinion with the Police Chief and Department, they should be able to defend their position."

"We all should be sure we get the most out of the study, and I urge the council to pass the appropriation at the next meeting," said McCauley.

"We're not trying to infringe on the chief's position. He has acted in a responsible manner."

"But I still think the other group should be involved."

10 More Inducted Into Q-N Hall Of Fame

By TOM SULLIVAN

Ten more former Quincy and North Quincy football players were inducted into the schools' Halls of Fame last week at the third annual Hall of Fame dinner at the Quincy Elks Hall.

Quincy football coach Jack Raymer was the master of ceremonies and introduced Rev. Cornelius Heery, pastor of Sacred Heart Parish, who gave the invocation.

The following were inducted into the Quincy Hall of Fame:

Herbert ('Huck') Listman, who played in the early 1920s, presented by lifelong friend Bill Sullivan, former Quincy coach and a Hall-of-Famer himself, was a two-way player for four years at Quincy and also starred in basketball and track.

"Huck was my boyhood hero," said Sullivan. "Everyone played both ways in those days and wore leather helmets and there were no face masks. Huck was a bull and weighed 235 pounds, much bigger than most other players. Most players were smaller than those today and there was no weightlifting in those days. Huck, who was an outstanding punter, was one of the outstanding schoolboy players in the state."

Peter Kolson (1964-65), presented by his former high school coach, Hank Conroy, a Quincy Hall-of-Famer, was a two-way tackle who was an all-scholastic, a two-way starter in the Harry Agganis all-star game and received the Quincy Fathers Club trophy for outstanding lineman and later starred at Arizona Western College.

Bob Sylva (1969-70), presented by Quincy Hall-of-Famer Jon Provost, was a standout on Quincy's 1969 team, which crushed North Quincy, 53-0, the only time either team scored 50 points in the series, and gave the Presidents a share of the Greater Boston League title. He also starred on the 1970 team which had a perfect record. He was a two-way starter and was one of five co-captains on the '70 team, all of whom went to college on full scholarships.

John Gillis (1943-44), presented by Raymer, was a big tackle who later was named the outstanding small college lineman at Northeastern University. He is Quincy's long-time city clerk.

Ralph Larsen (1956-57), presented by Ed Dunham, was a two-way end who helped lead Quincy to two wins over North Quincy. He received the Father's Club trophy and the Presidents trophy, was named to several all-scholastic teams and was named first team all-state. He starred in basketball and led the Presidents into the Tech Tourney and was a fine trackman, excelling in the 220 and 440. He received his Hall-of-Fame plaque from Quincy teammate, quarterback Tom Connors.

The new inductees into the North Quincy Hall of Fame: Pete Cooke (1934-36), presented by his son-in-law, North Hall-of-Famer Tom Kiley, stood out for Jack Donahue's third, fourth and fifth teams, which were unbeaten against Quincy. He captained the 1936 team.

Leo Luchini (1945-46), presented by North Hall-of-Famer Pete Zoia, was captain of the 1946 team. In the 1945 game he kicked off to open the game and it soared into the end zone. Quincy players just looked on and while they were pondering, Dave Burke fell on the ball in the end zone for the game's only touchdown. The game was played in pouring rain and under the worst conditions until last year's game. "I coached Leo in junior high and later in semipro ball and he was one of the best," said Zoia.

Joe Crowley (1952-53), presented by teammate and Hall-of-Famer John ("Butch") Mahoney, scored all three touchdowns in a 20-7 win over Quincy in 1953. He was North's "Mr. Everything" and went on to star in football and baseball at Tufts, where he captained the baseball team.

John Magnarelli (1965-66), presented by teammate and current North coach Ken McPhee, a North Hall-of-Famer, was an outstanding two-way lineman for two years and was tri-captain of North's undefeated 1966 team, the first undefeated club in north and Quincy history. The team won the Greater Boston League title and was state Class A co-champion. He was an all-scholastic and a starting tackle in the Harry Agganis game. He has been a football official for several years, has officiated in several schoolboy Super Bowl games and is also a college official and past president of the New England Association of Football Officials.

Brian Doherty (1974-75), presented by McPhee, was a standout on North's 1975

Super Bowl team. He was recruited by many major colleges but opted for Holy Cross where he was a top scholar-athlete and named to the scholar-athlete all-star team. A two-year all-scholastic back at North, he was the ECAC player of the week twice at Holy Cross and also rookie of the year. "He was one of the finest backs I ever coached at North," said McPhee, an assistant coach while Doherty played.

A special award was made to Mario 'Mike' Casali, longtime teacher, coach and guidance counselor in the school system, who worked with many Quincy and North Quincy players. Casali was a fine end at Quincy, who made up for a lack of size with plenty of determination. He went to Boston University where he starred in hockey. His former Central Junior High principal, Vin Moscardi, made the presentation.

Athletic Coordinator Marty Finnegan stressed the Quincy-North tradition.

Among those introduced were past Hall-of-Fame inductees, North Principal Peter Chrisom (Quincy principal Lloyd Hill was unable to attend), Carmen Mariano, representing School Supt. John Osterman, former coaches Tom Fitzgerald and Bob Nolan and 'young' LaRoy Curley' Rogers.

Also introduced were members of the stadium lighting committee who made a donation to the Hall-of-Fame, Bob Meenan, Jerry Perleue, Bill Dolan, Dan McPhee, Dan Montani, Bill Myers, Tom Donovan and John Quinn.

McPhee and Raymer introduced their coaches and senior players.

Pee Wee A's Fall Short In Tourney

Quincy's Pee Wee A team, sponsored by the Quincy Elks, made it to the finals of the Mayflower Invitational Tournament at Plymouth, but fell just short of going all the way.

Quincy tied Weymouth, 7-7, in the first game with Billy Lydon and Mark Kelleher scoring two goals apiece and Michael DeVoe, Michael Woods and Tim Collins one each. Joey Bevilacqua had two assists and John Witham, Stevie Carroll and Danny Savage one each.

Collins had four goals to lead Quincy over Reading, 6-3, in the second game. Carroll had a goal and Bevilacqua had the game-winner. Richard Brooks, Woods, DeVoe, Kelleher, Carroll and Bevilacqua had assists.

Quincy then defeated Tri-

County, 8-4, as Brooks had a hat trick and Collins, Lydon, Woods, Carroll and Bevilacqua a goal each. Mike Lally, Matt Riley and Matt Kelley had assists.

In the semifinal game Quincy edged Milton, 4-3, with Collins having his second hat trick of the tournament and scoring the game-winner with 48 seconds left in the game. DeVoe scored the other goal.

In the championship game against Billerica Quincy tried to come back from a 6-2 deficit as Bevilacqua scored twice in 17 seconds, but Quincy lost, 6-4.

Lydon and Savage had the other Quincy goals.

Goalsies Dennis Ruggere and Sean Connelly played well throughout the tournament.

Mite A's Lose, Win

Goals by Dan Donahue and Jamie Murphy weren't enough to hold off Triboro at the Skating Club of Boston Saturday as the Quincy Mite A's sponsored by DAV 79 suffered their first loss of the season, 6-2.

On Sunday, back at home at the Quincy Youth Hockey Arena, Quincy rallied to beat Needham 9-1. Brendan O'Brien got Quincy off to a quick start when he scored the first of his four goals just nineteen seconds into the game. Assists were by Chris Grant and Paul Princiotto. Ronnie McGann rushed the puck up the ice and his shot flew by the score 2-0.

When Needham's Semprucci scored with one second left in the first period, the Quincy defense pulled up a tight defensive net around goalie Mark Smith. Danny Hughes, Danny Donahue, Jenna Nolan and John Healy held off the Needham offense for the rest of the game.

The second period saw exciting Quincy passing by center Mark Regan and plenty of scoring to give the Quincy fans something to cheer about. McGann scored twice assisted by Murphy, Healy (2) and Matt Logan. O'Brien scored twice assisted by Princiotto, Hughes and Logan.

In the third period, McGann and Murphy's outlet pass to Logan sailed by the Needham goalie for a goal. It was McGann again to Jason Fennelly to Danny Stone who poked it through the goalie's legs for a goal. O'Brien scored the final goal with seven minutes left in the game assisted by Stone and David Rowell.

Smith was strong in net making solid stops and controlling the action in his own end.

Quincy's record in the GBHL is now 6-1-1.

Marini Rolls 3-String 369

In St. John's League

Joe Marini rolled a season's high three-string total of 369 and took over the lead in St. John's Holy Name Bowling League with a 111.5 average. Marini also rolled the weekly high single of 147. Frank Guerriero had a 120 single and John Grande a 312 three.

Dick Guerriero's team had the high team single of 486 and Marini had 482. Marini had the high team three of 1399 and Guerriero had 1398.

The rest of the Top Ten: Dick Guerriero, 109.4; Bob Saluti, 106.1; Mike Panarelli, 104.1; Lou Faiella, 100.5; Grande, 99.8; Tom Darcy, 96.3; DiTullio, 94.7; Rich Comeau, 94.5; Frank Guerriero, 94.4.

The team standings: DiTullio, 49-17; Saluti, 37-29; Faiella, 32-34; Dick Guerriero, 31-35; Panarelli, 26-40; Marini, 25-41.

North Girls Complete One Of Best Seasons

By TOM SULLIVAN

While the North Quincy girls' volleyball team was receiving all the headlines this fall as it qualified for the state tournament for the first time and went to the South Sectional finals, Leo Donovan's girls' soccer team was enjoying one of its best seasons, finishing with a 7-8-1 record.

The varsity players included senior co-captains Elaine Hennebury and Anne McGuigan, seniors Tricia Grant, Linda Doherty, Kathy Hughes and Nancy Leonard, who was injured in the first game and missed the rest of the year, juniors Patricia Feecey, Nancy Flukes, Christine Price, Stacy Welch, Tara Meyer, Karrie Pistorino and Melissa Miles; sophomores Kellene Duffy, Beth Holt and Kristin Drake and freshman Karen Miller.

Flukes and Pistorino were named to the Suburban League all-star team.

North Quincy opened the season against Brookline and lost a 1-0 squeaker on a late goal. The Raiders then faced Peabody, which qualified for the state tournament, and lost, 2-1 on a goal with only 15 seconds to play.

Duffy scored the North goal and goalie Doherty had a fine game with 15 saves.

Defense was again North's forte as it battled Brockton to a scoreless tie with Doherty again sparking on goal with 12 saves.

North defeated Waltham, 3-1, on two goals by Grant and one by Drake.

After battling Newton North to a scoreless standoff in the first half, North went down to defeat, 2-0.

North next defeated Medford, 6-0, as Grant scored two goals and Miller, Duffy, Drake and Pistorino one each.

North lost to Cambridge despite two goals by Grant.

The first half of the schedule ended on an up note as the Raiders crushed Quincy, 10-0, with Flukes having a hat trick, Hennebury, Feecey and Pistorino two goals each and Hughes one.

After playing eight straight games on the road, North finally got to play at home and broke even with a 4-4 record.

The wins were over Waltham, 3-0, with Grant scoring twice and Meyer once; Medford, 4-0, with Hughes, Flukes, Welch and Miller having the goals; a big upset over Cambridge, 3-2, with Pistorino, Meyer and Duffy (winning goal) scoring the goals, and Quincy, 6-0, with three goals by Drake and single goals by Grant, Welch and Duffy.

"Our defense was very good, mainly due to the fine work of Beth Holt, Christine Price and Nancy Flukes at halfback and Karrie Pistorino, Kathy Hughes, Patricia Feecey and Karen Miller at fullback," said Donovan. "We have a good nucleus of sophomores and juniors coming back and are looking to improve our record."

Kevin Jago coached the junior varsity to a 4-5-1 record with Julie Murphy, Elaine Joseph, Kristin Golden, Mary Lynn Calhoun, Allison Johnson, Carlyn O'Brien, Vicki Borek, Jessica McKeon, Kristin Lydon, Pam White and Sara Francis making up the squad.

"These girls played very well and a few of them were able to play at the varsity level in certain games and did a very nice job," Donovan said. "I am looking forward to having them on the varsity next year."

and Alfred University were the teams finally chosen.

Barrett ended his outstanding four-year career by breaking all of the college's seasonal and career passing records. The former Cathedral High star had 306 pass completions for 5267 yards and 31 touchdowns.

Martin, former North Quincy High standout, was outstanding in his blocking as the team finished among the top five Division 3 colleges in the country in rushing offense, averaging over 280 yards per game and easily the rushing leader in the conference.

Pee Wee B's Down Dedham, 7-2

Quincy's Pee Wee B team, sponsored by A&T Movers, defeated Dedham's A team, 7-2, in a Greater Boston League game at the Youth Arena.

The win improved the B's record to 3-2-0 in the open division of the GBL.

Bob Fitzpatrick scored unassisted at 8:21 of the first period and added a second goal at 11:34 of the second period, with Joe Zona assisting. Zona scored with Fitzpatrick assisting.

Dedham scored twice in the second period to close to within a goal, but Quincy scored four unanswered third period goals. Matt O'Toole, Mike Christopherson, Jim Smith and Sean McArdle had the goals and Steve O'Brien, Mark Gilmore, John Gladu, Sean McCarthy, Sean Vermette and Fitzpatrick had assists.

Quincy lost to Medfield's A team, 5-3, McArdle scored 54 seconds into the game with Zona assisting but Medfield scored twice in the first period and once in the second for a 3-1 lead after two. Medfield matched Quincy's two goals in the third period to keep its two-goal lead.

McCarthy scored with Vermette and Smith assisting and McArdle scored from Gladu and Fitzpatrick.

Mike O'Brien, Scott McClory and Shane Abboud sparkled on defense and Sean Connolly and Eddie Galanhao had good games in goal.

Quincy defeated Weymouth B team, 5-3, in a non-league game and lost for the second time to a strong Woburn team, 4-1, in a scrimmage. Fitzpatrick scored the goal on a rink-long rush. Karen McCabe, Gilmore and Gladu played excellent defense.

Before playing in the upcoming K. of C. tournament during Christmas vacation, the Pee Wee B's will play Charlestown A's Dec. 13, Medfield A's Dec. 14 and will have a scrimmage with Edgewood, R.I., Dec. 20 at the Providence College arena.

Special Olympics Athletes In Exercise Testing At Fitcorp

A delegation of athletes from the Massachusetts Special Olympics took part in a unique session of exercise testing recently at Fitcorp Health Fitness Center located in the State Street South office complex in North Quincy.

The session, one of three similar events scheduled over the next six months, was part of the overall training program being developed in preparation for the International Summer Games to be held in June 1987 at Notre Dame University.

Scott Chausse, State Program Director of the Massachusetts Special Olympics, and John Harris, an exercise physiologist with Fitcorp, are involved with developing an ongoing program where each athlete's progress will be monitored and reviewed periodically. This fitness testing helps determine each athlete's individualized training program and is designed to measure four aspects of conditioning: percent of body fat, lower back flexibility, abdominal strength and cardiovascular efficiency.

More than 60 athletes from Norfolk, Plymouth and Suffolk counties and other parts of the state were involved in the program. Research data generated from the testing will be the first of its kind on mentally and physically handicapped athletes.

Program At YMCA For Children With Asthma

A 12-week physical conditioning and asthma education program for children with asthma will begin Friday, Jan. 16, at the South Shore YMCA in Quincy.

The program, which is beginning its twelfth season, is sponsored by the Norfolk County-Newton Lung Association and the South Shore YMCA.

It is open to any child with asthma between the ages of 6 and 13 and includes a swimming program, and conditioning exercises and activities. A therapist will also teach special breathing, relaxation and daily coping skills.

For further information contact Joseph Stone at the Norfolk County-Newton Lung Association, telephone number 668-6729. Because of limited class size, advance registration is required.

Wollaston Glee Club In Concert Dec. 14

The Wollaston Glee Club will open their 1986-87 concert season Sunday, Dec. 14, at 3:30 p.m. in the sanctuary of the Quincy Community United Methodist Church, 40 Beale St.

Guest artist for this all male glee club will be soprano

Anita Wakim who will render operatic and oratorio selections.

The program will also include universal glee club numbers, songs from favorite oratorios, popular tunes with a winter theme and Christmas anthems. The concert will close with the singing of Christmas carols with audience participation.

The glee club will be conducted by Edward Munro and accompanied by Marion Carpenter.

Tickets are $2.50 each and may be purchased at the door.

Holiday Film Program At Crane Library Dec. 16

The Thomas Crane Public Library will conduct a holiday film program on Tuesday, Dec. 16, at 6:30 p.m. at the library's main branch in Quincy Center.

The program, shown in the Central Children's Room, will offer two films each based on popular holiday books.

Children who have read Morris' Disappearing Bag by Rosemary Wells, will enjoy seeing the story come to life on the screen.

The Olden Days Coat by Margaret Laurence, magically transports a young girl into a Christmas of the past.

A third film, A Christmas Gift, uses clay figures to animate a song by Peter, Paul and Mary.

Nancy Breef-Pilz urges that while at the library, take this opportunity to select other holiday books for reading enjoyment and for ideas to construct holiday gifts.

Two Quincy Dancers In Boston Ballet 'Nutcracker' Cast

Two Quincy girls will be performing in the Boston Ballet's annual holiday favorite The Nutcracker, at the Wang Center for the Performing Arts, which opened Dec. 3, with performances through Jan. 4.

Amy Vermett, 8, of North Quincy, and a student at Montclair School, and Jessica Picarski, 12, of Houghs Neck, a seventh grader at Broad Meadow, will take on the roles of polichinelles and party girl, respectively, in this magical fairy tale that is a holiday favorite in Metropolitan Boston.

Amy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gil Vermett, will be dancing for the second time in the fairy tale classic as a member of Cast 1.

Jessica, a Quincy Sun

JESSICA LEE PICARSKI

AMY VERMETT

newspaper carrier, makes her debut on Dec. 26 through Jan. 4.

Over 150 young dancers were selected by the ballet company to perform in such roles as toy soldiers, baby mice, reindeer, polichinel and party children because children have been a vital part of presenting this lighthearted entertainment for the whole family.

Live Christmas Show On Quincy Cable Dec. 22

Quincy Community Television will present a live Christmas show Monday, Dec. 22 starting at 6:30 p.m. at its studio, 81 School St.,

Quincy Center.

Children ages 5-8 years old are invited to be on the show. Santa Claus will be the invited guest and will give each child the opportunity to speak with him during the show.

Parents of the children planning to be on the show are asked to call Nancy Santry at 471-9609 by Friday, Dec. 19.

Carol, Anthem Sing At First Baptist

Neighboring churches will join the First Baptist Church of Wollaston and hold a carol and anthem sing on Sunday, Dec. 14, at 7 p.m.

According to Lois Chase, church secretary, refreshments will be served at 6:15 p.m. in Fellowship Hall.

The church is located at 81 Prospect Ave.

Committee Reviews Christmas Parade

The Quincy Christmas Festival committee scheduled a meeting last night (Wednesday) at the Patriot Ledger, Temple St., to review the Nov. 30th extravaganza which drew an estimated 300,000 spectators to Quincy.

Committee chairman

George White said a discussion about the 1987 festival parade was on the agenda.

STARSCOPE

By Clare Annsweil

WEEK OF: December 11

AQUARIUS — January 21-February 19
Carewise, you may find that a more traditional approach appeals to higherups; don't be experimental just to be different. Financial news-brightener may arrive after the weekend.

PISCES — February 20-March 20
Hunches are generally strong, especially those related to career prospects. Overseas correspondence encourages you to shape your own travel plans. Research project brings some surprises.

ARIES — March 21-April 20
Charisma helps you avoid some tricky situations at home or on the job-but don't count on it exclusively. Popularity is high and you receive a series of invitations.

TAURUS — April 21-May 22
Careful planning may help you avoid a financial snag. Watch tendency to take risks-you're in an adventurous mood. Creative energies are high; your efforts win high praise.

GEMINI — May 23-June 21
A trusted friend can help you out of a rut. You begin to feel more ambitious, but work according to a plan. Romance accents its whimsical side.

CANCER — June 22-July 22
Tackling large jobs is your current strength; the simple tasks may present unexpected problems. Good period for getting in touch with friends who have drifted away.

LEO — July 23-August 22
Energy level is generally high, but avoid overextending yourself. Somewhat glibbie, you shouldn't believe every strange tale you hear now. Award or bonus may arrive by Wednesday.

VIRGO — August 23-September 22
You may find friends to be a little argumentative; do your best to remain objective. Loved one is more willing to cooperate in a joint venture. Academic advancement is highlighted.

LIBRA — September 23-October 22
Dull job suddenly becomes much more interesting. Social life is livelier too. A friend may become suddenly possessive-try to nip the problem in the bud.

SCORPIO — October 23-November 21
Transportation and communication problems are starting to end. Independent streak is surfacing-but try to include loved one in plans. You have a knack for creating special gifts.

SAGITTARIUS — November 22-December 22
An excellent week for presenting your proposals. Instincts are sharp, especially in domestic matters. Upbeat romantic trend continues through this period. Recent mystery is solved.

CAPRICORN — December 23-January 20
An excellent week for presenting your proposals. Instincts are sharp, especially in domestic matters. Upbeat romantic trend continues through this period. Recent mystery is solved.

BIRTHDAY THIS WEEK
You're a devoted friend and family member, but shun the praise for doing what you think is just the right thing. You will sometimes hurt others-until they realize there's nothing personal intended. This year, put your quick wit to practical use-write a book or take on a public speaking role.

BORN THIS WEEK
December 11th, actress Rita Moreno; 12th, singer Donnie Warwick; 13th, actor Dick Van Dyke; 14th, actress Lee Remick; 15th, actor Tim Conway; 16th, actress Liv Ullmann; 17th, actor Gene Rayburn.

SIMON C. FIREMAN (left) is sworn in by Vice President George Bush as a director of the Export-Import Bank of the United States.

Simon Fireman Bank Director Export-Import

Simon C. Fireman of Quincy and Hyannis, was sworn in recently by Vice President George Bush as a director of the Export-Import Bank of the United States.

Fireman, one of five directors on the Board of the Exim Bank, has over 25 years experience in international trade.

Formerly the chairman and chief executive officer of Aqua Leisure Industries, Inc., of Avon, Fireman has been selected by President Reagan to develop strategies and programs designed specifically to expand small business exports. Through increased exporting, small businesses can help decrease the trade deficit and improve the economic outlook at home by creating new jobs to meet the increased export demands.

The Exim Bank, which is an independent U.S. government agency, provides direct working capital loans, loan guarantees, and credit insurance to businesses in order to stimulate export of U.S. products and services. Created by President Franklin D. Roosevelt in 1934, the agency has provided almost 200 billion dollars in assistance to U.S. exporters since its inception.

Fireman has been on the Advisory Council for Trade Negotiations to President Reagan since 1983 and previously served under President Carter on the Industry Sector Advisory Council on Wholesaling and Retailing.

Mayor Optimistic About Credit Rating Upgrade

Mayor Francis McCauley said he is optimistic that the city's credit rating will be upgraded after an overnight trip to New York next week to visit two financial rating firms.

"After a suitable review, I think we'll get another upgrade," said McCauley.

"I think we have impressive financial figures, and the future of Quincy looks bright. The economy is improving rapidly."

McCauley said he will make the trip with his executive secretary Peter Kenney, auditor Robert Foy, and Richard Meade, newly appointed Planning Director.

Representatives of Shawmut Bank will also attend, he said.

The group will visit Moody's Monday at 2 p.m. and Standard & Poors Tuesday at 10 a.m., according to McCauley.

The mayor will discuss the city's finances, and Meade will talk about development,

he said.

Last year, the city's rating was raised from a low Baa to Baa by Moody's. Standard & Poors, which had never rated the city, gave a comparable Triple B.

The higher the credit rating, the lower the city's cost of borrowing.

VNA Celebrates National Home Care Week

The Quincy Visiting Nurse Association recently celebrated National Home Care Week which was declared by the president and Congress to honor the professionals and volunteers who provide home health services.

A private, non-profit agency, the Quincy Visiting Nurse Association has been serving the community since 1905. It provides care to over 1200 families throughout the year.

Stephen Robbins, executive director, said, "Home health care, the oldest tradition of health care in this country, is becoming the choice for people seeking high quality, cost effective alternatives for themselves, their parents and their children.

"Technological advances, the sophisticated training of nurses, therapists and other caregivers, and the sky rocketing costs of health care in hospitals and nursing homes all combine to point to homecare as the wave of the future.

"The staff of the Quincy Visiting Nurse Association is proud to be providing services that keep families together, support the independence of our most vulnerable elderly and offer a compassionate and effective alternative to institutionalization."

For more information about the VNA and the services provided, call 472-2828.

License Board Briefs

The City License Board took the following action at Tuesday's meeting at City Hall.

- Granted a request from Auto Performance & Machine of Quincy, 93 Federal Ave., for a repair shop license to store 200 gallons of gasoline in tanks of cars. Christopher Baughman of 11 Tremont St., Weymouth, made the request.
- Granted lodging house license transfers to Daniel R. Dowling who purchased the 22 Bigelow St. and 10 Edgewood Circle establishments.

- Granted a request from D&R Repair, 30 Fayette St., for a license to store 160 gallons of gasoline in tanks of cars. A license was previously held by J&T Automotive Repairs. Recipient for the new permit was Peter Donovan.

- Referred to the health department reported complaints regarding conditions outside 56-60 Penn St.

87-Page Report Urges 'Major Changes' In Zoning Ordinances

An 87-page report recommending "major changes" in the city's zoning ordinances was submitted to council president Stephen McGrath Tuesday by the Task Force: Zoning Review-1986 which he created in April.

Attending the press conference in addition to McGrath were three City Councillors who serve on the task force, Thomas Nutley, chairman; Patricia Toland and Michael Cheney.

Two other members, Gregory F. Galvin, Planning Board member, and Richard H. Meade, Planning Director, could not attend.

"The changes are highly significant, major changes," said Councillor Toland.

Among the highlights, according to the members, are:

- Requiring an affirmative recommendation of the Planning Board and the issuance of a special permit by the Zoning Board of Appeals to allow multi-family residences and mixed use of a building within Business A, B and C districts.

- Recommending an increase in square feet per dwelling unit in Residence B, C and Planned Unit Development.

- Reducing the height limitations for buildings.

"I think some of the recommendations may be seen as a bit severe," said Nutley, "but for the most part they are reasonable."

"We want to make improvements in Quincy, and we need controls," said Cheney.

"If a developer were to look anywhere else, he (or she) would find much harsher bylaws."

Cheney noted that it would have cost the city $60,000 to $100,000 to commission someone to do the study.

Councillor Toland said, "Developers are one segment of the city which may find the recommendations severe, but we are responding to the cry of the citizens to retain the character of the city."

"There is still a long period until the implementation of recommendations," she said.

"Many of the recommendations are in a form which can be submitted as ordinance changes within six to eight weeks," said McGrath.

"A good portion of the recommendations will be introduced to the council by committee members opening up dialogue," McGrath said.

"I want to thank the committee very, very much for obviously a job well done," he said.

"It was a very, very difficult task. They conducted many meetings and hearings."

"People should rely on the feeling and recommendations of those who served on the task force," McGrath said.

"It's time to slow down and take a good, hard look at where we are," said Nutley.

Council Passes Appropriation Finn To Have Control Over Police Changes

By NANCY McLAUGHLIN

"I'm very happy that it's settled," said Police Chief Francis Finn after the City Council voted unanimously Monday night to appropriate $8,900 towards implementation of recommendations in a largely critical Police Report.

The appropriation, which was reduced by the council last week from $12,000 to $8,900, will go towards hiring some of the authors of the report as consultants, but any implementation will be done by the Police Department.

"Now we can get on with the business of addressing the report, and at the same time, move towards our stated goal of national accreditation," Finn said.

The 9-0 council vote came after Council president Stephen McGrath added an amendment to the appropriation order introduced by Mayor Francis McCauley. It specified that the Massachusetts Municipal Association, under whose direction the report was done, would serve as consultants to the Quincy Police Department and any advisory committee appointed.

"Any implementation of recommendations will be by the Chief of Police, the chief executive officer of the Quincy Police Department," stated McGrath's amendment.

The question of who would implement recommendations in the report had been a bone of contention with the Police Department which wanted to do the work itself. Several City Councillors backed the Police Department's request.

McGrath said that he held two meetings last week with Finn and his command staff as well as the mayor to clear up any misunderstanding over what services the MMA would provide.

"We were able to assure Chief Finn and his staff that the MMA involvement would not be as a watchdog which would take over the Police Department in implementing the report," said McGrath.

"The role of the MMA will be as a consultant, but any implementation will be by the Police Department."

McGrath also commended Councillor Richard Koch, Jr. and Councillor Michael Michael Cheney in helping to resolve the issue.

Councillor John J. Lydon, Jr., seconded McGrath's motion on the amendment.

"It's with pleasure that we put the issue to rest," Lydon said.

Councillor Thomas Nutley noted that the week's delay in a council vote "was well worth the wait" since the matter had been resolved.

"We wish the chief and his staff all best in the continuing effort to improve the services to the community," said Koch, who had suggested the Police Study.

Chief Finn said after the meeting that "the attitude in the department is very good." "Everyone is excited about the opportunity to go along with this."

"We've been working on a level funded budget since Mayor Arthur Tobin (was in office), and now we have the opportunity to move forward again."

"The contract implied that they (the MMA) were coming here to set goals and implement the recommended changes," said Finn.

"Under the statute, that's my job and that of my staff."

"We will implement changes, not anyone else," Finn stated.

"We will analyze the recommendations and those that make sense, we will certainly implement."

Those that have to go to collective bargaining will go there.

"Those that we don't agree with, we will give reasons for," Finn said.

"We're very happy that it's settled."

Presidents Place Resolves Referred To Committee

Three orders relative to the proposed $55 million Presidents' Place project in downtown Quincy were referred to the Downtown and Economic Development Committee Monday night.

The orders were in regard to abandonment of Faxon Ave., eminent domain landtaking and acquisition of the Norfolk County Courthouse.

A public hearing on the urban renewal plan is scheduled for Jan. 12, at 6:45 p.m. and on the eminent

Board Denies Wollaston Chinese Restaurant License

By DAN CONNELLY
Continued opposition from Wollaston Center residents, Council President Stephen McGrath, and the threat of a serious traffic impact, spelled doom to a proposed new Chinese restaurant at 687 Hancock St.

A request from Edwin Chin of Quincy, who sought the transfer of a common victualer license, held by Dandy Donut Shop, so he could open the Kiki Chinese Restaurant in Wollaston Center was denied Tuesday by the License Board.

At a Nov. 18 board meeting where Chin made his initial request for the transfer, he faced strong opposition. At his request his hearing was continued to Dec. 16 to enable him to obtain legal counsel. McGrath, who is the Ward 5 councillor, again told the board there is enough eating establishments in the center today and if a license is granted it would make things more difficult there for residents.

"This operation would have an adverse effect. We do have a real traffic problem there. Yes, I support the neighbors who are in opposition," McGrath said.

Chin's counsel, Atty. William Sullivan, told the board if his client was granted the license he planned to reduce the seating capacity to 28 patrons, provide a take-out order delivery service and install a new product on the market called an electric air neutralizer. This he said would eradicate any offensive cooking odors. He added this machine is being used successfully in a Newton restaurant.

Wollaston Theatre owner Arthur Chandler told the board he was not opposed to the license transfer after he learned the restaurant seating capacity was reduced to 28.

Mary Cleary, another Wollaston Center resident, told the board they questioned Chin's contention that in a survey he had commissioned the heaviest impact of customers to the restaurant would be in the evenings and weekends when automotive traffic has lessened. They also told the board it is not fair to those living in the neighborhood to grant yet another restaurant license.

Board Chairman John Gillis told Chin his restaurant would have a financial effect on a similar type restaurant in the center which has been there for two years.

Police Chief Francis Finn again stressed the serious impact on an already saturated traffic situation there and Acting Fire Chief Carl Valenti said the current traffic flow there makes it hard to get pieces of fire equipment through the intersection.

License Board Briefs

The City License Board took the following action at Tuesday's meeting at City Hall.

- Granted a request from the Quincy High School hockey team boosters club for a permit to conduct canning days Dec. 18, 19, 20. Petitioner for the permit was Marilyn Alebound.

- Granted Albert Cline of 15 Fowler St., Quincy, an auto repair license doing business at Al Cline Woodbine Garage, 18 Weston Ave., Quincy. Cline assured the board no auto body work will be done at the garage.

- Granted Richard Barrett of North Abington, the transfer of the common victualer, all-alcoholic license as held by Heritage Drive restaurant doing business as The Gazelle, to The New Gazelle, Inc., One Monarch Dr. Named as manager is William Charrier, Jr., of Marshfield. Barrett represented The Barrett Family restaurant chain.

Condo Inquiry Seen Hindering Appraisal Of Presidents Place

By DAN CONNELLY

While city and state officials continued their look into allegations concerning the construction of Captain's Cove condominiums on Southern Artery, some councillors said the inquiry may hinder approval of Presidents Place in Quincy Center.

Both projects, the $55 million condominium-and commercial complex in Quincy Center and the 303 unit Captain's Cove on Southern Artery are being developed by the Ricciardi Company of Quincy.

The initial allegations were made by Arthur Quinn, a former company employee who said there was possible building code violations at Captain's Cove, hazardous waste improperly buried at the site, and a retaining wall unsafe.

During a meeting of the City Council Monday night several councillors said approval of the proposed Presidents Place will be affected by the findings in the investigations of Captain's Cove.

Joseph LaRaia said: "I'm concerned about the stories over the weekend, and I think we should go very slowly. We are concerned about what was in the paper, hopefully they are not true."

Michael Cheney commented: "I share Councillor LaRaia's concern. I'd like a report on what happened from the building inspector and the Department of Environmental Quality Engineering (DEQE). Then we'll know if it is necessary to take council action."

After the council meeting adjourned Councillor Thomas Nutley said: "I think we should take each issue separately."

Council President Stephen McGrath said: "For the councillors not to be conscious that it is the same developer is not possible. I'm sure it will be resolved shortly. I'm not suggesting that it (Presidents Place) should be held up, but we want answers to questions. Ricciardi should be given a chance to respond."

Quinn denied a Stephen Ricciardi statement that he decided to take on the company after it refused to help him join a union. Quinn, who was an equipment operator at the site, said that while digging there in June he struck a buried tank containing chemicals. He said the developers refused to have the substance tested.

According to developer Stephen Ricciardi, the company's problem began last October when he received an unsigned letter he said came from Quinn demanding help in joining a union. The letter also said "I am loyal to the company I work for, whether my own or another. But if I decide to leave your company I no longer feel any obligations."

"This letter is a form of velvet-glove blackmail," he told Quincy Sun Ch. 8, "a kind of extortion. In other words if you don't do this for me I'm going to make claims," Ricciardi said.

Quinn told The Quincy Sun. "Mr. Ricciardi's allegations are completely false. I will rebut them at the proper time but upon the advice of my attorney and not until then."

"I have documentation to back up what I have said. Mr. Ricciardi has slandered me and I plan to take appropriate court action."

City Building Inspector Kenneth Johnson is investigating whether the developer violated Quincy regulations in building an 11th floor "penthouse" and a retaining wall longer than shown on the plans.

He also has questioned the wall's structural integrity, but Ricciardi said calculations will prove the structure is sound.

Johnson said in his review of the Captain's Cove site plans that are on file in his office "it shows a small storage area above the 10th floor. The actual structure is substantially larger."

Johnson said he is also looking into whether the 11th floor of the condo violates the city's 10 story height limit, and whether the retaining wall is safe.

The building inspector said he will meet with the planning director and the ward councillor Theodore DeCristofaro to discuss the matter.

"I'm looking at a set of plans that are in file in my office as the record set of plans. They don't depict what actually was built out there," he said.

Mayor Francis McCauley said someone did contact him and leveled some charges against the developer relating to the Captain's Cove situation, saying that hazardous waste was buried on that site prior to construction. This person, McCauley said, noted that a retaining wall was not safe and a penthouse apartment was constructed above the 10th floor.

"We are investigating the entire situation. When people level charges we have to investigate," he remarked.

He added that he expects to hear soon from DEQE on their probe whether hazardous materials were buried at that site.

7 Flee $70,000 Quincy Point Blaze

A two-alarm fire at 321 Washington St. caused an estimated $70,000 damage and forced seven tenants to flee the apartment-commercial building early Tuesday.

Fire Chief Carl Valenti said the fire began when one of the upstairs tenants, identified as Daniel Meyers, fell asleep in bed with a burning cigarette.

Meyers woke up and attempted to get the smoldering mattress downstairs and out of the house but it burst into flames at the bottom of the stairwell, Valenti said.

Meyers and the six other tenants were able to escape safely.

The fire was radioed in at 3:39 a.m. by Weymouth Police Officer Michael Lane who was driving by in his cruiser.

Lane said he ran to the rear of the burning building and helped get people out.

The second alarm was sounded at 3:47 a.m. All out was at 6:48 a.m.

Nepo Ames of Boston was listed as the owner of the building which also housed a real estate office and a hair salon.

Most of the building was gutted except for the hair salon which received heavy water damage, Valenti said.

License Board Next Meeting Jan. 6

License Board Chairman John Gillis announced that because of the coming holidays the board will not meet again until Jan. 6.

Gillis also stressed the board voted last week to allow licensed establishments in Quincy to remain open until 2 a.m. New Year's Eve.

An establishment must have both an all alcoholic license and a common victualer license to take advantage of the ruling, said Gillis.

The board also noted that all licenses that come under their jurisdiction that expire Dec. 31, are available for renewal at City Hall accompanied by a certified check for the fee.

Interfaith Coalition Seeks Help At Christmas Party

The Quincy Interfaith Sheltering Coalition, who will host this year's Central Baptist Church Christmas Day dinner for the needy, is seeking volunteers to put on the meal.

Nancy Powers, executive director of the coalition, said in a letter to fellow board members and volunteers:

"Traditionally there has been a Christmas Day Dinner served at the Central Baptist Church, sponsored by various groups. This dinner is for anyone who can not provide their own, either for financial reasons, or because of the lack of cooking facilities. Often many individuals attend who would otherwise be alone for the holiday. Last year about 85 individuals attended the dinner.

This year Central Baptist Church has asked the coalition to put on the meal. Since our clients are attending, and since, we have always just sent our clients for the past several years, we have agreed. Now we need your help!

We have many volunteers from the Jewish community to put the meal together on Christmas, serve, and clean up. We need volunteers to prepare pies and cook turkeys at their homes and deliver them all prepared. We will cook the rest of the meal Christmas morning at the church.

We also need people to donate turkeys, (we will need 8 to 10). The other needs include round paper table cloths in Christmas colors; paper goods including paper Christmas napkins, cups, plates, and plastic ware. Food items that would be used include: egg nog, cookies, and candies.

If you would like to be involved in any way, please, call the office immediately 770-3314, and let us know what you are interested in doing.

We hope you all have a very happy Holiday Season.

McCauley Readies Record

Mayor Francis McCauley will seek a fourth term.

That may not sound exactly like a news bulletin to some City Hall observers who have felt sure he would run again.

But they apparently were surer than the man himself.

McCauley actually made his decision to seek another term just a few weeks ago. His formal announcement won't come until the spring.

There has been some reports the past few months that McCauley might not run and take a job in the private sector instead.

But apparently you can file that under "S" -- for speculation.

As a three-term incumbent, McCauley can take his time officially announcing his candidacy for re-election.

He certainly doesn't need early exposure.

Mayor Amelio Della Chiesa, another penny-pincher and one of McCauley's all-time favorite mayors, used to wait until his birthday July 31 to make his re-election announcement.

McCauley plans to run a positive campaign and will put his record out DELLA CHIESA there for the voters to scrutinize.

He thinks its good enough to deserve a fourth term. So do a lot of political observers who think he is unbeatable this time around.

McCauley will stress two other major points: He has kept his promise to be a full-time mayor. His administration has been free of scandal and corruption.

The record, as he sees it, includes:

- Completion of the state mandated revaluation program in 1984.

- Implementation of the McCauley Tax Classification plan which he says has saved residential property tax payers millions of dollars in the past three years.

- Settlement of the General Dynamics property tax case. (Although some will argue Quincy might have gotten a better deal if it delayed the settlement.)

- Turning a city deficit of $10,968,000 into a surplus of $4,283,000 in 1986.

- Starting a $60 million replacement and modernization of Quincy City Hospital.

- A crack down on property tax delinquents which has yielded over $6.3 million in back taxes and interest in four and a half years.

- Implementation of a capital outlay program to meet the building and equipment needs of the city departments. Over $10,600,000, he will note, has been or will be spent from fiscal year 1984 through fiscal year 1987.

- Construction of a new city dog pound and a major addition and renovation of the Quincy police station which will be underway in the spring of 1987.

If he is re-elected, he would be the first mayor since Della Chiesa (1958-1965) to be elected to four consecutive terms.

Della Chiesa totally served 12 years as mayor -- eight under Plan A and four under Plan E. In Plan E, a city manager is actually the chief executive and the mayor is like the city council president elected by council colleagues.

Charles Ross is the Plan A longevity champ. He served nine years and three months.

Thomas Burgin served 7½ years.

McCauley, at the end of this current term will have completed six years, tying him with the late James McIntyre.

If McCauley is re-elected next year and decides to run again in 1989 and wins, he would have a record 10 years as Plan A mayor.

Is he thinking about that?

No, those around him say. He's only looking to next year.

But as a history buff, he might like to go down in Quincy history as the all-time Plan A champ.

JOYCE BAKER, long active in Republican circles, is being urged by friends to run for the Ward 5 City Council seat now occupied by Council President Steve McGrath. McGrath is considering a run for councillor at-large.

Baker is the second woman and second Republican being mentioned as a potential candidate for the Ward 5 seat. The other is Kathy Roberts, Republican state committeewoman.

BAKER

THERE MAY BE a Condon in the City Council at-large race next year. But it won't be Joanne, former Ward 6 councillor and mayoral candidate in 1985.

Her son, Michael who owns a limousine service and a taxi company, is thinking about making a run.

Condon, who is 27, virtually grew up in politics, helping his mother in her campaigns.

Will Ma run again sometime in the future?

"I don't know," she says. "Only the future will tell."

Readers Forum Likes Sun Supplement On Houghs Neck's 350th Anniversary

Editor, The Quincy Sun,

Since I have visited Houghs Neck for many years it was with great interest that I read your special edition on its 350th anniversary.

It was most enjoyable reading about the political, social, and historical highlights of this area.

When reading about Houghs Necks resident from the entertainment world, it brought to mind that my father, who spent his childhood in Houghs Neck, has often mentioned that Cary Grant used to come to this seaside community to visit a good friend. I guess even Hollywood appreciates a beautiful location.

Finn Commends 27 Police Officers, Personnel

By NANCY McLAUGHLIN
Quincy Police Officer Ralph Ames was among the first on the scene of a two-alarm fire at 28 Milton Rd., North Quincy.

He immediately determined that a 38-year-old woman and her three week old baby were trapped inside the home.

Ames stationed himself at the front door, prevented the woman's husband, John Lentini, and an unidentified person from entering the very hot and smoke-filled home and remained there despite heavy smoke, assisting the fire department's rescue personnel with their equipment.

He did not leave the porch until both the woman and her daughter had been found and removed from the building. Subsequently, Ames suffered smoke inhalation, was relieved of duty, and sent to Quincy City Hospital.

"Officer Richard Savard and off-duty Officer John Gileather, along with Officer John McTiernan and Officer Robert Ciriello played major roles assisting the medics, controlling the traffic and crowd, all of which facilitated this extraordinary rescue," said Police Chief Francis Finn.

"Officer Ames is hereby commended for his heroic and professional behavior under very adverse conditions," Finn said.

"Officers Savard, Gileather, McTiernan and Ciriello are also hereby commended for their professional and tireless manner and behavior," he said.

Also commended by Chief Finn during 1986 were:

Officer John Kelly, Jr., Officer Joseph Murphy, Officer David Schofield and Officer Paul Quinn: Officers Kelly, Murphy and Schofield responded to an early morning call of a woman assaulted by a man with a knife.

Upon their arrival, they rendered first aid to the woman. They were confronted by an individual who was armed with a knife with a 15-inch blade. The man fled to a back porch and threatened to commit suicide by pushing the knife into his stomach.

The officers learned that the man with the knife had attempted suicide four times before, and on the last occasion had pushed the knife into his stomach.

Officer Quinn arrived, was briefed on the situation, and positioned himself in the backyard below the porch where he remained for the three-hour duration of the incident in 27-degree weather.

The officers engaged in conversation with the man, calmed him down countless times and eventually succeeded in talking him into surrendering the knife.

"These officers counseled, at alternate times, the irrational and violent man until he surrendered the knife and gave up," said Finn.

"For their compassion, patience and professionalism, these officers are hereby commended," he said.

Officer Henry Breen and Officer Peter Turowski: Both officers responded to an emergency call of a woman needing immediate medical attention because she was having a baby.

Bay State Ambulance was notified and on route.

However, nature took its course and Officer Turowski proceeded to deliver the woman's baby while Officer Breen comforted her.

Bay State Ambulance arrived and transported the woman and her daughter to Quincy City Hospital.

"Officers Breen and Turowski are hereby commended," Finn said.

Officer Ronald Johnson, Officer Charles Middendorf and Officer Ernest Field: When the staging collapsed while a building company was constructing a new house, Officers Johnson, Field and Middendorf arrived on the scene in a matter of minutes.

They immediately rendered first aid and kindness beyond the call of duty until the ambulances arrived.

"Officers Johnson, Middendorf and Field are commended for their professional and compassionate actions," Finn said.

James McAvoy: A civilian employee of the Quincy Police Department, McAvoy was dining in a Boston restaurant when a woman began choking on a piece of food lodged in her throat.

After an unsuccessful attempt was made to help her, McAvoy quickly went over and took charge.

He utilized the Heimlich maneuver and the piece of meat was dislodged from the woman's throat.

"James McAvoy's quick action, training and professional manner reflects well on the Quincy Police Department," Finn said. "He therefore is commended."

Officer Gerald Gardiner,

Officer Paul Keenan, and Officer John Ryan: When a man suffered a fatal knife wound, initial questioning of witnesses provided the first name of the suspect and the nickname of his accomplice. The description of two vehicles was also obtained.

An investigation began and the vehicle and names and addresses of both parties were learned.

The residence of the suspect was placed under surveillance, and both of the suspects were arrested as they left the residence on foot, about two hours after the incident.

"Officers Ryan, Keenan and Gardiner are hereby commended," Finn said.

Officer Thomas Bolinder and Officer Lawrence Kelly: The two officers drove up an alley way adjacent to a building on fire, and got out of the car to alert an upstairs tenant who was sleeping.

While doing so, Bolinder had to smash a window and in the process received a laceration.

"For their alertness and professional behavior, each officer is commended," Finn said.

Sgt. Richard Curran, Officer Peter Kendall and Officer Robert Kelly: The three officers responded to a report of a father who had sexually abused his two daughters, and threatened to kill his wife.

"Our officers were also informed by a neighbor that the man was still inside the house and heavily armed," said Finn.

"Sgt. Curran devised a plan and along with Officers DiBona and Kendall, entered the house, arrested the man and seized several weapons including a 44 Magnum.

"These officers did all of this at no small risk to themselves," said the chief.

"For their bravery and exceptional professionalism, these three officers are hereby commended."

Officer Jeffrey Burrell and Officer Charles Santoro: The officers received a report of a person with a handgun threatening another person.

When they responded to the call, they were informed that the person with the gun had fled the area. They broadcasted a description of the person and the vehicle involved in the incident.

While searching for the culprit, they spotted the vehicle and stopped it.

The officers cautiously approached the operator, determined his identity and had him step outside the car.

They patted him down, found a fully-loaded .38 caliber revolver and five, 125-grain Nyclad Teflon hollow point bullets, and arrested him.

"For their alertness and professionalism, they are hereby commended," Finn said.

Officer Anthony DiBona and Officer Peter Kendall: The officers arrived at a family trouble call to find a girlfriend-boyfriend custody fight over the woman's three-week-old son.

Although she now claimed he was the father, he would not cooperate and release the child to her care.

The officers attempted to persuade him to release the child, but he became belligerent and would not allow anyone near the child.

The officers were eventually able to confront the man with the child outside the house, and convince him his decision was wrong.

"This situation placed the infant in great danger," noted Finn.

"For their patience, professionalism and diplomacy in the handling of this sensitive matter, Officers DiBona and Kendall are hereby commended."

Hedges Seeks Meals Tax Repeal

Rep. Charles Hedges filed a bill this week to repeal the 5 percent tax on meals of $1 or more which was scheduled to go into effect Jan. 1.

The 5 percent tax was enacted by the legislature to raise funds to help defray the increased cost of old age assistance because of the liberalization of the law voted last session.

Many complaints were raised against the meal tax and it was reported that there were attempts to sabotage the law.

Hedges said he hoped that increased taxes on liquor and dog and horse racing would be substituted for the meal tax.

Auxiliary Police Status To Be Checked By Council

The City Council adopted a resolve Monday night that its Public Safety Committee examine the status of the Auxiliary Police in light of the recent order they not be permitted to participate in patrols.

Police Chief Francis Finn ordered the patrols halted Saturday because of a legal opinion stating that a reserve officer can't operate without certain training.

"They've done a hell of a job protecting school playgrounds, working during the parades," said Finn, who noted that without the training, the city could be open to litigation.

Councillor Joseph LaRaia said, "I don't think enough consideration was given to having them continue to some extent.

"It's like telling Santa Claus to take his reindeer and leave.

"It's satisfying the law, but not the service. There's got to be a solution."

Councillor Michael Cheney said he has talked to Civil Defense Deputy Director Tony Siciliano who will try to work out an agreement with the police department and mayor's office regarding training for the auxiliary police.

DOLLS LIKE THESE are all set to be presented to girls at Christmas thanks to the Koch Club Dress-A-Doll Christmas Committee.

Koch Club Dress A Doll Program Continues

Mrs. Rita Kelleher of the Koch Club Dress-A-Doll Christmas Committee reports over 100 dolls have been received and prepared to date for presentation to girls at Christmas.

Twenty-four dolls were sent from Florida by Mrs. Priscilla Audlemon of Ocala who purchased them during the year at various yard sales then cleaned, groomed, dressed and packaged them for Christmas giving and requested her sister Mrs. Trudy Conboy of Quincy to deliver the items to the committee upon her recent visit.

The program has been conducted for the past 14 years with hundreds of dolls refurbished for delivery at Christmas time.

According to Mrs. Kelleher many of the women who are participating in the program have done so for a number of years providing both new and used dolls and refurbishing the used dolls donated for Christmas enjoyment for over 1,000 girls in the 14 years.

Mrs. Simone N. Koch and Mrs. Ginny Derringer originated the program.

Additional dolls are needed and persons may contact any of the committee members if they wish to donate new or used dolls.

Crime Watch

By ROBERT HANNA
Crime Prevention Officer
Quincy Police Department

Drug Abuse

Drugs are a major factor in crime, and some authorities believe that drugs are the principal cause of crime.

One magazine article on violent crime noted that it is estimated that more than half of all street crime is drug related.

Obviously the drug problem is serious. Some of you, unfortunately, will have a child with a drug problem. If you have a teenager with a problem, he or she needs help, and so do you. Your physician, even the child's pediatrician, can provide guidance once it is determined that a problem exists.

Recognizing The Symptoms

Because the parent is the most effective person to intervene in a child's drug problem, parents must be aware of the symptoms of drug abuse. First, drug use usually produces noticeable physical changes in the user — sleeplessness, diarrhea, dilated pupils, vomiting, involuntary muscular movements (twitching), runny eyes or nose, loss of appetite, sudden weight loss, craving for sweets, excessive thirst, sweating, shakiness, itching and of course the tell-tale needle tracks.

Drug use also may cause personality changes in the child. Temperament changes ranging from extreme happiness to the deepest of depression, may signal drug use. Uncharacteristic anger, radical changes in activity patterns or choice of friends, a sudden deterioration in physical appearance, sloppiness in dress or inattention to personal hygiene are all characteristic of drug use. School grades may drop and the child may lose interest in things that were once important to him/her. Such things as athletics and a change in dating patterns are common.

The drug user may always seem to be tired, coming home only to fall asleep. A drug troubled child may spend considerable time in the house, especially in a locked bathroom. A previously friendly and outgoing child may suddenly become secretive. A formerly easygoing child may become irritable and overly sensitive. The young user may be argumentative and have angry outbursts for no apparent reason.

There may be other evidence of drug use such as the presence of the burned ends of marijuana joints or more serious drug paraphernalia, such as a "works kit" with syringes, cotton, needles, a "cooker" (a metal bottle cap used for converting heroin or cocaine into a liquid so it can be injected), or small glassine envelopes tucked into a dresser drawer.

One thing that parents should remember, children like to imitate adults and do adult things. If your child watches you use drugs and/or alcohol or sees you smoking, he/she is likely to copy your behavior.

Church News

'God With Us' Sermon At Wollaston Congregational

The Rev. Elden D.J. Zuern's message will be "God With Us," at Christmas Sunday, Dec. 21, 10 a.m., worship service in Wollaston Congregational Church.

Karl Schwendenman will read the scripture, Matthew 1:18-25, and Irene Olson will welcome the morning worshippers. Serving as ushers will be Susan Greenough and Marge Schwendenman.

During each of the four Sundays in Advent the Church School children have lit a candle of the Advent wreath and shared the customs of the different countries Norway, China, Ireland, and this week Syria. Helium balloons with Christmas messages written in different languages will be released by the children at the conclusion of the service.

The Senior Choir, under the direction of Donald A. Reade, will be accompanied by flutists. The Junior Choir will sing under the leadership of Linda Walker.

The beautiful red poinsettias adorning the altar will be delivered by the Flower Committee to brighten the holidays for shut-ins.

The 7 p.m. Candlelight Christmas Eve service will be filled with scripture and carols, retelling the story of the birth of the Christ child. Both choirs will sing. Francis Williams will sing a solo of "O Holy Night." The lighting of the Christ candle and placing of the Christ child in the Creche will be done by a child of the Church School. The service will conclude with a candlelight ceremony in which all the worshippers will join together in celebration.

St. John's Christmas Concert Sunday

St. John's Church Choir will present a Christmas concert this Sunday, at 3 p.m. at the church, School St., Quincy Center.

The program, conducted by parish music director John Cice, will include medleys of familiar carols by choir and orchestra, and presentations by soloists and octet.

Following the concert, a social, hosted by the Parish Activities Commission, will be held in the church hall. Wassail and refreshments will be served.

Area residents are invited.

Christmas Sunday At Covenant Congregational

Christmas Sunday will be observed Sunday at Covenant Congregational Church, Whitwell and Granite Sts.

Sunday School will start at 9:30 a.m. The morning worship service will begin at 10:45 a.m. and a special Sunday School program will be held in the afternoon.

At the morning service Rev. Fred Lawson's sermon will be "Christmas/The Resurrection - The Love of God." The Acolytes will be Amanda LaCoste and Sarah Nelson and the fourth and final advent candle will be lighted.

The music will feature an organ offertory by the Minister of Music, Richard Smith, "Christmas Pastoral: From Heaven Above" by Pachelbel. He will also accompany and direct the choir in "Christmas Fanfare" by Martin Shaw and "And the Glory..." from Handel's "Messiah." A men's quartet, comprised of Robert Dano, Fred Lawson, Ken Nelson, and Stanley Nelson will sing

"O Tannenbaum," arranged by Robert Shaw.

A nursery for children age five and under is available. The attendants will be Mrs. Ida Taylor. The sanctuary will be decorated with poinsettias in honor or memory of various people whose names will be printed in the program.

At 4 p.m. the Sunday School program, "The Symbols of Christmas" will be presented by members of the Sunday School. The program will consist of readings, songs, narration and a special visual display created by Sunday School Supt. Robert Dano. Karen Nelson will accompany the children when they sing.

After the program there will be a Christmas party with refreshments, gifts and a visit from Santa Claus. Church families are requested to bring sweets and sandwiches.

On Wednesday, Dec. 24 at 7 p.m., a coffee hour will be shared in the fellowship hall, followed by the Christmas Eve service at 7:45 p.m. It will be a candlelight service with Rev. Lawson giving a meditation, "Twas the Night Before Christmas."

The music, provided by the choir, directed and accompanied by Richard Smith, will be: "Break Forth, O Beautiful Heavenly Light" by Bach, "The Holly and the Ivy" arranged by Boughton, "Hark, What Mean Those Holy Voices" by Bortniansky, and "O Holy Night" by Adam with the soprano solo by Luisa Dano, who will also sing "Weihnachtsabend" by Humperdinck.

Everyone will share in the singing of carols and the lighting of candles at the close of the service.

Other activities for the week include a trip to Newfields, N.H. for the Covenant Seniors, who will leave the church at 9 a.m. on Thursday, Dec. 18, and a dress rehearsal of the Sunday School program Saturday, Dec. 20 at 2 p.m. All those involved are urged to attend.

4 Choirs In Service

At Squantum Church Sunday

Four choirs will participate in a special Christmas worship service at First Church of Squantum, Bellevue Rd., Sunday at 10:30 a.m.

Child care and nursery will be provided during the service.

The young people of the church will sponsor a Christmas breakfast at 9:15 a.m.

Children in the Sunday School will be invited to the Baby Jesus' Birthday Party at 9:30 a.m.

On Christmas Eve, the young people will present their annual Nativity Pageant at 7 p.m. during the family service. The Christmas Eve Candlelight Service will be at 11 p.m.

Those planning to attend either of the services are invited to bring a little bell to jingle during the carols.

"But Why a Manger?" was the title of the sermon preached at the second service Sunday by Rev. Dr. Gene Langevin, pastor.

Erin Johnson, Adam MacMillan and Matthew Potter assisted the pastor in lighting the first three candles in the Advent wreath. Carols were sung.

Volunteer James E. Sumner played "Jesu, Joy of Man's Desiring" by J.S. Bach as an instrumental call to worship and later accompanied the Crusader Choir when they sang "The Gift of Love" by Johnson/Page. For the offertory anthem, the Chancel Choir sang Alfred Burd's "O, Harkens Ye." Mary Ruth Scott directed.

During the service, Doug and Allyson Barnum were received into church membership with the right hand of fellowship. The church has had a goal of bringing in 20 new members this year. The Barnums bring the number of new members for the year up to eighteen. Assisting the pastor with the welcoming ceremony were Stewart Scott, Board of Deacons; Pat Olson, Board of Christian Education; Carl Anderson, Board of Trustees, and Tom Williamson, Board of Benevolences.

Pat and Dana Olson were the greeters. Tor Wallin and Stewart Scott were the ushers, and Patti Hurd and Virginia Sorenson hosted the Fellowship Hour after the service.

During the first service, guitarists Robert Dixey, Steve Williams, Andy Ogilvie and Mary Ruth Scott accompanied the congregational singing. Bonnie MacRitchie and Scott Catton were the ushers.

Dr. Langevin preached on the subject, "What Can You Give?" based on the New Testament story of the wise men bringing gifts to Christ.

Christmas Celebration At Bethany Church

The Nativity of Jesus Christ will be celebrated with three services of worship at Bethany Congregational Church, Coddington and Spear Sts., Quincy Center.

Sunday, Dec. 21, at 10 a.m. there will be a Christmas Celebration in the sanctuary, which will be beautified with some 150 memorial poinsettias, later to be taken to members and friends confined to their homes, nursing homes or hospitals.

The service will open with a Christmas fanfare with Peter E. Krasinski at the organ accompanied by brass, tympani and chorus.

The Advent candle lighting ceremony will be led by Wendell and Nancy Cosgrove, their twin sons, Daniel and William, and Emily Ross.

The following persons will be received into the congregation as new members: Paula J. Aimola, John M. Andre, R. Terri DeLorenzo, Dorothy I. Mattson, Gary L. McLaughlin, George C. Nason, and Kathleen E. Nason.

The Cherub Choir will sing, "Away In A Manger." The Youth and Chancel Choirs will sing with solos by Curt Gifford and Amy Devin. The offertory anthem will be presented by the Chancel Choir and brass.

The Rev. J. William Arnold, senior minister, will preach the sermon "Come, Lord Jesus." The lay scripture reader will be Heather McLain.

Associate minister, the Rev. Joel F. Huntington will be the liturgist and offer the Christmas prayer. Pastor Arnold will also have a story for the children, "Pedro's Christmas Flower."

There will be no Sunday School classes. Children are encouraged to attend the worship service with their families. Nursery and toddler care will be provided under the supervision of Denise Fleming, Bethany's early childhood coordinator.

Following the worship there will be a fellowship hour with light refreshments in the Allen Parlor.

The service will be broadcast live direct from the sanctuary on radio station, W J D A, 1300 kc, at 10 a.m. Sunday.

On Wednesday, Dec. 24, there will be two Christmas Eve celebrations. A Family Service at 7 p.m., about 45 minutes in length, will include carols, and special music by the Children's Choir and the Bethany Folksingers.

Rev. Huntington will have a brief meditation, and Pastor Arnold will lead an action-scripture reading and have a story for the children.

At 11 a.m. there will be the traditional Christmas Eve candlelighting and carol service. Special music will be provided by Nancy Currier, cellist, Caroline Calabro, flautist, with Peter Krasinski at the organ console, and Pamela Wolfe, soprano soloist.

Rev. Mr. Arnold will have a brief meditation. The service will climax with the lighting of individual candles by each worshiper, prayers, carols and chimes at midnight.

All services are open to the community and visitors are most welcome. For information about Bethany's ministries and programs please contact the church office, 479-7300.

Family Service At United First Parish

United First Parish Church (Unitarian) will celebrate Christmas with a Family Service Sunday at 10:30 a.m., and a Candlelight Service on Christmas Eve, Wednesday, at 7:30 p.m.

The Family Service will be a service of music and carols with Dr. Sheldon W. Bennett, minister-elect, telling a Christmas story for children and preaching on "The Gift of Peace. The Youth Choir will sing "The Carol of the Beasts," under the direction of Sally Bohl. Christmas anthems by Schroeder will be performed by the church choir, and Norman Corey, the music director, will play organ music by Daquin, Frescobaldi, and Bach.

On Christmas Eve, the congregation is inviting the citizens of Quincy to join with them in a Candlelight Service for the singing of carols, readings from Scripture, and the lighting of candles.

The following Sunday, Dec. 28, Dr. Bennett will preach on "The Power of Light." The Church School will also celebrate in the spirit of Hanukkah.

Kiwanis Club To Assist Salvation Army

Members of the Kiwanis Club of Quincy will be assisting The Quincy Salvation Army Corps Saturday by manning one of the Army's traditional red kettles.

They will be located on Hancock St. in downtown Quincy opposite Cottage Ave. Members will take turns at the kettle from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Proceeds from the annual kettle drive are used to provide food baskets for parents who can't afford a special Christmas meal, toys for children living in poverty, friendly visits to shut-ins and more.

By this effort, Quincy Kiwanians, headed by their president, Jim Stearns, join with thousands of volunteers throughout the United States in aiding the Salvation Army's annual kettle drive.

Don Bosco Honor Roll

Four Quincy residents made the honor roll for the first quarter at Don Bosco Technical High School in Boston.

Those named are: Ekman Tsang, 12 Wollaston Ave., senior, first honors; Nicholas Demetriou, 33 Furnace Ave., David Gardner, 45 Grossman St., both sophomores, both second honors and Richard Powers, 31 Rawson Rd., freshman, second honors.

Santa To Visit Shut-Ins

The Koch Club will conduct its 30th annual Santa Claus visit to shut-in children Saturday and Sunday between 2 p.m. and 5 p.m.

This program is conducted for children who are shut-ins year round. Originally, the service was offered to families in Quincy. However, a number of telephone calls from parents in Braintree and Weymouth were honored and the South Shore is now included.

Only parents of the shut-in children may make the request for Santa's visit and the time will be arranged that is most convenient for the parents of the children to be visited.

Parents may contact Richard J. Koch, 241 Newbury Ave., North Quincy for a scheduled visit.

An Audio-Visual Program is probably the last thing you'd expect to see at a funeral home.

We believe the very special, very sensitive programs in our audio-visual library provide insights that can help the families we serve make some of the difficult adjustments they're likely to face.

These deal with subjects like finding the right words to explain death to a young child, and ways of coping with the loss of a spouse. We offer them to help our families, and anyone else who may be experiencing the pain of separation, work toward overcoming their grief and looking to the future with hope.

A THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK.

The Christmas Season is upon us once again, providing a time for family gatherings, fellowship with friends and taking time to remember and be remembered by others.

It is also a time to reflect on the meaning of Christmas and to give thanks at church and in home devotions for the many blessings that have been bestowed upon us in this past year.

Finally, it is a time to look ahead to the New Year that is to come in setting realistic goals to attain and then pursuing those goals like the Three Wise Men who diligently followed the shining star in the East.

But no matter how you celebrate the holidays with your family, or what your religion, the unified efforts of one and all in preserving the good will and cheer of this happy season all year round can help make every day seem like Christmas Day and help make the world a better place in which to live. If we can all work together to make one day of the year so very special, isn't there the possibility that we can work together to make every day something special, too?

Lois Damon, 31 Murder Victim

A funeral Mass for Mrs. Lois (Quintiliani) Damon, 31, of Trafford St., South Quincy, co-owner of the Dairy Mart store in Braintree where she was killed last Sunday morning, was celebrated Wednesday in St. Mary's Church, West Quincy.

She and her husband, William Damon, operated the store at 29 Hayward St., East Braintree for the past year and a half.

Braintree police and investigators from the Norfolk County district attorney's office are continuing to search for a suspect in the killing.

Assistant District Attorney Judy Cowin said they are seeking a knife at least five inches long, and a suspect who reportedly fled in a red Ford van.

Damon was stabbed and strangled by an intruder who reportedly sexually assaulted her and stole $800 from the store safe.

The murder occurred between 6:30 and 7 a.m. at the Dairy Mart when Mrs. Damon opened the store. Cowin said "several people who were in the area at the time have come forward and given us several good leads."

At the time of the slaying,

Mrs. Damon, who was a part-time aerobics instructor at Redirection for Women's Fitness of Quincy, was filling in at the store for her husband, who was ill.

Mrs. Damon was a parade marshal in the annual Quincy Christmas Parade of Nov. 30.

According to a friend, William Morrill of Quincy, for 12 years Mrs. Damon worked as a volunteer marching and color guard instructor at Quincy High School.

Morrill said a scholarship fund has been established in her name for students at the high school.

Donations to the fund may be addressed: Lois Damon, c/o Quincy Cooperative Bank, 85 Quincy Ave., Quincy.

Mrs. Damon is also survived by two daughters, Sheena Damon and Sara Jean Damon, both of Quincy; her parents, Leo and Florence (Coletti) Quintiliani of West Quincy; and a sister, Janice Gratta of Hingham.

Burial was in Blue Hill Cemetery in Braintree.

Funeral arrangements were by the Bolea-Buonfiglio Funeral Home, 116 Franklin St., Quincy.

S. REGINALD
STRILLCHUK

A funeral Mass for S. Reginald Strillchuk, 65, of Norwood, a retired advertising salesman for The Quincy Sun, was celebrated Tuesday in St. Timothy's Church, Norwood.

Mr. Strillchuk, affectionately known as "Reggie," died Dec. 20 at Norwood Hospital after a brief illness.

He was a member of the New Jerusalem Prayer Group at St. Timothy's Church of Norwood, and a member of the Norwood Hospital Parkinson Support Group.

He was born in New York City and had been a Brighton resident until he moved to Norwood 26 years ago.

Mr. Strillchuk is survived by his wife, Anne R. (Tomascello) Strillchuk; a son, Joseph A. Strillchuk of Orlando, Fla.; three daughters, Elaine B. Vigneau of Natick, Joanne M. Ahearn of Hudson and Jane M. Strillchuk of Randolph, a sister, Ruth Sokenis of New York City, and three grandchildren. Burial was in Holyhood Cemetery, Brookline.

Funeral arrangements were by the Gillooly Funeral Home, 126 Walpole St. (Route 1A) in Norwood.

Memorial donations can be made to the Norwood Hospital Parkinson Support Group, 800 Washington St., Norwood, MA 02062.

Dante Pettinelli, 71 Retired Police Detective

A funeral Mass for Dante A. "Dan" Pettinelli, 71, of Quincy, was celebrated Wednesday in St. John's Church, Quincy Center.

Mr. Pettinelli, a retired Quincy police detective and life long Quincy resident, died Dec. 14 at Quincy City Hospital after a brief illness.

A graduate of Quincy High School, Mr. Pettinelli was a former professional wrestler and semi-professional football player.

He joined the Quincy Police Department as a uniformed officer in 1941 and retired as a detective in 1968. He was given the Special Service Award for saving a drowning victim in 1950 and received the Eagle's Club Medal of Valor in 1952 after he apprehended a hit-and-run driver.

Mr. Pettinelli was a member of the Quincy Police Relief Association and the Torre Del Passeri Social Club in Quincy.

He is survived by his wife, Mary (Doyle) Pettinelli; two sons, John Pettinelli and Damian Pettinelli of Lewiston, Me.; a daughter, Patricia Caffrey of Mills; three brothers, Luigi Pettinelli, Guido Pettinelli and Roberto Pettinelli, all of Quincy; two sisters, Inez Mancini of Quincy and Eva Del Prete of Rockland; and eight grandchildren.

Burial was in Blue Hill Cemetery, Braintree.

Funeral arrangements were by the Keohane Funeral Home, 785 Hancock St., Quincy.

Mary Wholey, 90

A funeral Mass for Mary G. (Spellman) Wholey, 90, a Quincy resident for more than 50 years, will be celebrated at 9 a.m. today (Thursday) in Our Lady of Good Counsel Church, Quincy.

Mrs. Wholey died Dec. 14 at Quincy City Hospital.

She was born in Boston. Wife of the late William L. Wholey, she is survived by two sisters, Ann Yanus of Canton and Rose Devine of Jamaica Plain; and two cousins, Geraldine Hirtle of Weymouth and Ann Davis of North Carolina.

Burial will be in St. Mary's Cemetery, West Quincy.

Funeral arrangements were by the Keohane Funeral Home, 785 Hancock St., Quincy.

Oppose Patrolmen Reduction

Police Union To Study Proposals, Accreditation

The Quincy Police Betterment Association has appointed two committees, one to study the proposals of the Massachusetts Municipal Association and the other effects of accreditation in the police department.

"The purpose of these committees," said Association President Richard Crespi, "is to help the Quincy Police Betterment Association to formalize ideas and suggestions that will result in the best possible police service to the citizens of Quincy."

Crespi said the Betterment Association is not opposed to change but is strongly opposed to the MMA consultants study report recommending a reduction in the number of patrolmen.

"A reduction in patrolmen," Crespi said, "will result in an increase of crime."

Crespi said the association will seek highly respected individuals in the field of modern policing to assist its own committee members in making "a comprehensive and objective report" to association members.

Crespi added:

"These goals go beyond our requirements as police officers in the city of Quincy but are being done to show the citizens of Quincy that we are sincere and dedicated police officers who have the interests of the citizens in our hearts."

"We are not opposed to change that will result in a higher level of police service to the community to which we serve."

Crespi's statement also said: "The Police Union and its members want to be the most professional and efficient Police Department that it possibly can. The citizens and businesses of Quincy who have supported the police over the years deserve the best police protection possible and we are capable of providing such service."

"The Quincy Police Betterment Association has been, and will continue to be, cooperative and available to discuss any worthwhile suggestions that will improve our level of service to the community."

"The Massachusetts Municipal Association's Consultant Report to the City of Quincy recommended the reduction of the level of manpower within the patrolmen ranks. The Police Union strongly opposes any reduction in manpower within the patrolmen ranks. A reduction in patrolmen will result in an increase of crime. Less police presence gives confidence to one that a successful crime can be completed."

"If one asks themselves 'What is the true level of manpower within a Police Department?', the answer would be 'The level of Police service the community has grown to expect.'"

"In private industry, if one wants to save money and reduce costs, it would do two things—reduce manpower and consolidate operations. This would, in effect, cause a change in the services provided to its customers. For example, closing a branch of a bank because of less manpower available would make its customers go to another branch that is further away and, when they arrive, they would have to wait in line to be serviced."

"A reduction of manpower within the patrolmen ranks would cause a lowering of Police response time. People in need would have to wait until the Police had someone available to service their call. One might think Police could answer the priority call first but, what is the priority when you are the caller?"

"The Quincy Police Betterment Association represents the largest body of men in the Police Department. As of this writing, no one has asked its uniformed members working in the patrol division or its elected officers to be part of any committee studying the reorganization of the Police Department."

"Many of our members have many years of police experience working in the City of Quincy and have gone on to higher education and obtained degrees to become professional Police Officers."

"The Quincy Police Betterment Association will put this education to use to form our own ideas, suggestions and recommendations to be instituted where needed and when needed. When completed, this information will be made available to its members to assist its members in their police careers."

"The Quincy Police Betterment Association is in the process of obtaining the names of the most highly respected individuals in the field of modern policing and will obtain the services of these individuals to assist its own committees in making a comprehensive and objective report to its members."

Christmas Entrees That Can Be Prepared Ahead

About now, most of us are winding down our Christmas shopping and thinking about what to have for Christmas dinner. Hopefully, there is still some money left in the kitty to buy some food! Here are two entrees that can be prepared ahead of time, so the day won't be so hectic. One is lasagna and the other is a chicken roll up. Here are the recipes.

LASAGNA

1 pound of lasagna
1½ lbs of ricotta cheese
10 oz. of shredded mozzarella
1 Tbsp. of parsley flakes
(preferably fresh)

1 egg
1 cup grated romano cheese
½ to ¾ lb. munster cheese

Make a tomato sauce. While the lasagna is boiling, mix the ricotta in a large bowl with the egg, romano cheese and chopped parsley. Stir well until blended. Drain the lasagna and cool with water.

Slightly grease a baking pan. Start with a layer of tomato sauce, add a layer of lasagna strips, a layer of the ricotta mixture and then more sauce and the mozzarella and munster cheese.

Repeat the cycle until all the ingredients are used up with the lasagna on the top layer. On top of that put some extra sauce.

Bake uncovered in a 350 degree oven for about 40 minutes or until hot and bubbly. Let set at least five minutes and then cut.

CHICKEN ROLL UPS

enough flour to coat chicken

1 pkg. of chicken or turkey cutlets
1 pkg. of frozen broccoli spears
2 Tbsp. of butter
2 Tbsp. of flour
½ pint of cream or milk
2 Tbsp. sour cream
1 Tbsp. cooking sherry (optional)
2 slices of mozzarella or munster cheese

First, cook the broccoli and set aside seasoning it as you wish. Make the cream sauce by melting the butter, add the flour then the cream or milk, stirring constantly. Add the wine and the sour cream. Cook until thickened and set aside.

Lay out the cutlets. In the center of each one put a piece of cheese, then a broccoli spear. Roll the cutlet and then secure it with toothpicks. After that is completed, coat each one with flour, salt and pepper. In hot oil, saute each one turning until browned. Keep in a warming oven until ready to serve. Heat up the cream sauce and pour over each. Can be served with noodles, potatoes, rice corn on the cob or any other vegetable desired.

If made a day or two in advance, prepare the chicken rolls and saute them. The next day, put in a 250 degree oven until they are heated through. The lasagna just has to be covered and refrigerated until ready to bake. Good luck!

Morrisette Orator Places 2nd In National Legion Contest

The Morrisette Legion Post sponsored candidate in the American Legion's 49th National Oratorical Contest, placed second and won a total of $16,000 in prize money during the competing phases of the contest.

Austan Goolsbee, a student at Milton Academy, was judged the second place National Oratorical Contest winner for 1986.

In the Massachusetts competition, Goolsbee won a first place trophy and a $800 check.

According to Morrisette Post Cmdr. Henry Bradley, Goolsbee's prepared oration had to be based on some phase of the Constitution of the United States which gives emphasis to the attendant duties and obligations of a citizen to the U.S. government.

All contestants must be citizens, under the age of 20, and must be enrolled in a school commencing with grade nine and terminating with grade twelve.

Basketball Season Underway Raiders Hope To Turn Record Around

By TOM SULLIVAN
Eddie Miller started his 11th year as North Quincy boys' basketball coach Tuesday night when the Raiders faced Medford and he hopes to turn last season's 8-11 record around and maybe qualify for the Eastern Mass. Tournament.

"We only need to go 12-8 to make the tournament, but it will be another tough road as the Suburban League is stronger than ever and we must do well in our early non-league games if we hope to make it," he said.

North will play at Revere Friday night and will again play in the Christmas Tournament, this time at Weymouth North, on Dec. 26 and 27. Quincy, Weymouth North and Weymouth South will also play in the tournament.

The Raiders finished up well last season, winning their last three games, including a shocker over Brookline in the season's finale.

North is led by Captain Jim Phelan (5-10) and Dave Lawless (6-3), who were regular starters last year, and Joe DeGrandis (5-8), who worked his way into a starting role over the second half of the season as a sophomore.

Ted Stevenson (5-9), Bob Sylva (6-3), Dennis Cronin (6-0) and Mike Ainsley (6-0) sophomore, all are up from last year's junior varsity team which went 12-6 under coach Ted Stevenson.

Rounding out the varsity squad are Scott Sachetti (5-8), Larry Bollinger (5-11), Bob Sullivan (6-4), Matt Hughes (6-4) and Steve Patch (6-0).

Phelan, Lawless and DeGrandis will be starters and Stevenson, who practiced all year with the varsity last year, and Mike Ainsley, a standout sophomore athlete who had a fine football season and who is healthy after suffering a football injury, may be the other starters, although Sylva, who has looked good in scrimmages, and Cronin, who saw a little varsity action, could make the starting five.

"These are my top seven players, but the others are looking good and will see a lot of action," said Miller.

"The league is strong again and Brockton and Cambridge will again be the two powerhouses and Newton North will be stronger than in the past. The key to our success will be our first five games against Greater Boston League teams and the Christmas Tournament. We must do well in these games before the league opens."

Stevenson is back as junior varsity coach and Jed Phelan, a former North captain, is the new freshman coach.

Presidents Looking For Better Luck

The Quincy boys' basketball team opened its season Tuesday against Revere and second-year coach John Franceschini is hoping for a lot better luck than in his first season.

The Presidents finished with a 2-18 record, beating only Revere in their opening game and North Quincy late in the season.

It was a frustrating season with a lack of depth proving Quincy's downfall. In several games the Presidents led at the half or trailed by only three or four points. But they faded in the last two quarters.

"It was a tough season and we have only two varsity players back," said Franceschini. "We are young and very inexperienced, but we will be quick and will be strong defensively. We will have five seniors, two juniors and five sophomores in the varsity squad."

Leading the club are varsity returnees Tom Logan (6-2½), and Steve Austin (6-3) and Steve Davis (6-3), who played well for the junior varsity last year.

"These three will be starters and I have several promising boys battling it out for the other two starting spots," said the Quincy coach.

They are senior Pete Cannavo (5-9), junior Dan Biagini (6-0) and sophomores John Menz (5-9), Scott Campbell (5-9) and Oscar Jara (5-10).

Rounding out the squad are sophomore Jim Sugrue (6-1), a transfer from Abp. Williams; junior Scott Logan (6-1), brother of Tom; senior Keith McCray (6-3) and sophomore Billy Norton (6-3).

"All except Sugrue played junior varsity ball last season and I expect them to work into the varsity and give us plenty of help this season," said Franceschini.

"Austin and Logan should be good scorers from the low post and I took to Cannavo and Biagini to hit from the outside. We will be quick and I think we can cause some problems for the opposition with our defense, but we must get some scoring help."

"Our early non-league games will be the key to our success, as we must do well before our Suburban League season opens. The league will be awfully strong again with Brockton and Cambridge again dominating."

Quincy will be home to Somerville Friday night at 7:30 and will host Malden Tuesday night at 7:30. The Presidents will play in the annual Christmas Tournament, this year at Weymouth North on Dec. 26 and 27 against North Quincy, Weymouth North and Weymouth South.

Ray Papile, a former Quincy High player in the 1970's, is the new junior varsity coach and Bob Uhlar is back as freshman skipper. Two other Quincy graduates, Steve Priscella, who played at Boston University, and Doug Gutro, are volunteer coaches.

Early Sports Deadline For Next Week's Sun

Because of the Christmas holiday, The Quincy Sun will publish a day early next week.

Koch Club Basketball To Resume Jan. 8

The Koch Club youth basketball program held at the Atlantic Middle School gym Thursday nights will not resume until Thursday, Jan. 8, according to Simone J. Koch, director of the program.

A school Christmas play is scheduled for Thursday night resulting in the cancellation and the following two dates are the Christmas and New Year's Holidays.

Koch said that the program is enjoying one of its most successful seasons with 60 boys and girls registered and participating in the 7-9 age group while 26 are engaged in the 10-12 year old league.

The basketball program is one of the oldest activities of the organization and was initiated in 1949 at the original North Quincy High School gym. Hundreds of boys and girls have participated in the program during the past 37 seasons.

Have Potential But:

Inexperience Obstacle For Raiderettes

By TOM SULLIVAN

The North Quincy girls' basketball team, hoping to qualify for the state tournament for the fourth time in the last seven years, opened at Medford Tuesday and will be home to Everett Friday at 5 p.m.

Last season Paul Bregoli's Raiderettes finished at 17-5, the best record in history, and lost in the second round of the tournament. Bregoli lost four starters but he is cautiously optimistic about the team's chances. North ranked sixth in the Eastern Mass. Div. I coaches' poll.

"I'm not sure if we are that good, but this club has the potential to be a real fine team," Bregoli said.

Inexperience will be the major obstacle.

"Nancy Flukes, a junior guard/forward, is the only returning starter and she will have to carry some of the load, especially in the early season," the North coach said. "A fine offensive player, she can shoot outside, but is also strong enough to play inside." Flukes averaged 11.5 points a game last year as well as five rebounds and 3.8 assists. She holds the school record for foul shooting percentage for a season.

Co-Capt. Anne McGuigan, who saw a lot of action as sixth man last year, will be counted on to provide some scoring punch. She is a good shooter and strong rebounder.

The other co-captain, 5-4 Marybeth Maloney, will be counted upon to provide the floor leadership from her point guard spot. She saw considerable action last year and performed well. She is one of the best defensive guards in the Suburban League.

Senior guard/forward Maureen Donovan will be a starter. An excellent outside shooter, she proved she can score in last year's tournament game at Dennis-Yarmouth. A hard worker, she has improved considerably on defense.

The fifth starting position is currently held by 5-9 senior Tricia Koski, an excellent rebounder and a key defensive player. Although she will be counted upon for points, her main roles will be rebounding and defense.

Nancy Leonard, a 5-5 senior guard, is the best defensive player and will see a lot of action off the bench.

Lisa Mitten, a 5-8 senior forward, will also see considerable action and has been the best defensive rebounder in the pre-season. Rita Rooney, 5-9 junior, has been the most pleasant surprise. Although she has no varsity experience, she has fit in nicely during the pre-season. She learns quickly, is quick, plays solid defense and is a good rebounder.

Karrie Pistorino, 5-4 junior guard, is a pepper pot and Bregoli said she is the quickest player he has coached at this level. A fine defensive player, she has started to show she is more comfortable on offense.

Patty Feeney, 5-6 junior forward, will be expected to provide some outside shooting off the bench, and Kellene Duffy, a 5-4 sophomore, has been playing well in pre-season.

Also vying for varsity spots are juniors Stacey Welch, Melissa Miles, Kerri McDonald and Tarra Meyer, and sophomores Paula Tolson, Deirdre Murphy and Debbie Panaro.

"This will be an interesting year for us," said Bregoli. "Although we don't have a team of super players, we can be a very good team. We will be able to go deep into the bench this season because of the good overall ability of each player. This is a very unselfish group and their attitude is good."

"What we need to do is get a few early wins to give us confidence. Our pre-season has been good. We handled Hingham, last year's Old Colony League champ, easily. We played poorly in a loss to Cohasset but corrected a lot of errors and beat Woburn, last year's Middlesex League champion. I think we're ready to play."

Ken Panaro returns as junior varsity coach following a very successful 1985-86 season. Many of his players from last year will be playing for the varsity this season.

Tricia Meehan, who was a tri-captain at North in 1981-82 and who captained Fitchburg State College, replaces Simone Koch as freshman coach.

Harold Wears Mite-Squirt Crown

The Paul Harold Club, in last place in the league, edged Rogan Hennessy, 3-2, in the finals of the annual Mite-Squirt jamboree. Harold, with only one league win, won three straight jamboree games, including a shocking win over league-leading Quincy Surgical.

Robbie Firdell scored all three Harold goals and Patrick Coughlin had two assists and Brian Ehrlich, Patrick McGann and Joshua Wingate one each. Brian Bartkus and Brian Sullivan had Rogan's goals and Sullivan, Bartkus and Sean Lewis had assists.

Harold defeated Bo Car Printing, 5-3, in the semifinals as Arthur Carthas scored twice and J.J. Farrell, Paul Princiotto and Dan Clark once each. Princiotto had two assists and Clark, Carthas, Chris Geary, Peter Ehrlich, Mike O'Brien and Coughlin one each. Carthas scored his two goals on his last shift to win the game. Matt Chenette, David Rowell and Mike Luddy scored for Bo Car and David Doherty, Rowell, Jim Kelley, Mike Smith, Jim Cassinelli and Jeff Spear had assists.

Rogan Hennessy edged Lydon-Russell, 5-4, in double overtime with Bartkus having two goals and Sullivan, Steve Barrett and Lewis one each. Jason Fennelly, Sullivan and Bartkus had two assists apiece and Tom Moriarty and Michelle Melone one each. Bartkus won the game with his second goal in the second overtime session with

Sullivan assisting. Mike DesRoche scored two goals and Dan Donahue and Jason Healy one each for Lydon. Scott MacPherson had two assists and DesRoche, Mike Gallagher, Matt Jarnis and Donahue one each.

Sun Bantam Champ

The Quincy Sun is the Bantam House League jamboree champion by edging Burgin Platner, 3-2, in the final game.

Darren Murphy, Mike Bamber and Mark Cafano scored the goals and Steve Sumpter, Wayne Foley, Armando Mancini and Mike

Hughes had assists. Tom Gouthro and Jeremy Burm scored for Burgin and Kevin Morris and Jim Leonard had assists.

UCT Takes Pee Wee Title

League-leading UCT won the annual Pee Wee House jamboree with a 5-4 victory over Keohane's in the finals. Mark Walsh and David Mullen scored twice apiece and Bob Dunkle and Aidan O'Donoghue once each. O'Donoghue had four assists and Mullen three. Mike Christopherson had two goals and Mike O'Brien and Danny Grant one each for Keohane's and Christopherson.

John Lewis, Chris Connor and John Gladu had assists.

Pee Wee B's Move Into Second Place

Quincy's Pee Wee B team, sponsored by A&T Movers, moved into second place in the strong Greater Boston League open division by defeating Charlestown A team, 6-2, the second win over Charlestown.

"This is a great achievement and a total team effort that made it possible for us to rise to this position in a very tough division," said Coach Jim Gilmore.

Mike Christopherson had trick paced Quincy's victory. He scored twice in the first period and completed his "trick" in the second. Matt O'Toole assisted on all three with Steve O'Brien also assisting.

O'Toole added a goal of his own with Christopherson assisting for a 4-2 lead after two periods. Joe Zona added two insurance goals in the third period to put the game out of reach. Quincy goalies Sean Connelly and Eddie Gafanhao were outstanding, giving up just one goal each. Sean McCarthy, Mike O'Brien, Bobby Fitzpatrick and Sean McArdle also had assists.

Capt. Mike O'Brien led a strong defense and also outstanding were Shane Aboud, Karen McCabe, Mark Gilmore and John Gladu.

In their final game against first place Medfield's A team prior to the re-alignment of the open division, Quincy's "Killer B's" turned in one of their finest efforts but lost, 5-3.

Smith scored on a great pass from Sean Vermette in the first period and Medfield tied it 15 seconds later and scored again with 4:37 left in the first period. Ten seconds later Zona scored assisted by Fitzpatrick to tie the score.

With less than two minutes left in the second period Christopherson gave Quincy the go-ahead goal with McArdle assisting. Medfield tied it 33 seconds later.

Connelly turned in a spectacular third period, stopping all scoring bids as Medfield applied most of the pressure in Quincy's zone until a goal with 3:57 left broke the tie and Medfield scored an insurance goal 48 seconds later.

"This was our best game of the year," said Gilmore. "The Medfield coach praised both the sportsmanship and the superior level of competition of our players. The efforts of all made me proud to be the coach of this team and I'd like to single out Scott McClory, Aboud and Connelly for their performances in this game."

By a 12-1 vote of the board of directors, additions to the Pee Wee open division will include Somerville's A team and the Dorchester, Triboro and South Boston B teams for the second half of the league season.

Quincy will open the second half of the GBL season against Triboro Dec. 21 prior to the K. of C. Tournament at the Quincy Youth Arena during Christmas vacation.

Point Panthers Presented Runner-Up Trophies At Banquet

The Quincy Point Panthers of the Quincy Youth Football League held its annual awards recently at the Fore River Clubhouse at which time the players were awarded runner-up trophies.

Team members and cheerleaders were presented awards and many other individual trophies were presented.

Frank Brillo, who is stepping down as head coach after 27 years, was presented an autographed ball with a surprise money gift from the Panther organization and coaches and a videotape of the championship game.

The following varsity awards were made:

Varsity Players Trophy, voted by players, to Ken Staskiewicz.

Coaches Trophy, voted by coaching staff as the most coachable player, to Joe Crespi.

Most Improved Player, Evan Kiley.

12th Player, John Barkas. Coach Vinny Barrett Memorial Trophy, to Richie Burns, voted by the coaches as the player who best represented the Panthers team and organization on and off the field.

The following junior varsity awards were made: Players Trophy, David Jolley; Coaches Trophy, Noel DiBona; Most Improved, Josh Reidy; 12th Player, Brian Paige.

Other presentations included two $50 U.S. savings bonds which were anonymously donated to be given to a player and cheerleader demonstrating leadership. They were given to Tommy Norton for his outstanding play in the championship game and to varsity cheerleader captain Robin Parker for her leadership qualities.

League all-star trophies went to Staskiewicz, Burns, Joe Crespi, Ralph Bevilacqua and Mike Tempesta.

Five graduating cheerleaders, Parker, senior co-captain Beth Barter, Lina Russo, Jennifer Barnard and Kerry Wood received plaques.

The Most Spirited Cheerleader Trophy, voted by both squad members and cheerleader coaches, was won by returning co-captain Janet DiTullio. Runners up were Eileen Kelly and Robin Parker.

The two outgoing cheerleader captains, Parker and Barter, were given gifts from their squad and the varsity players gave the girls miniature Care Bears for their support throughout the season.

Varsity and junior varsity players gave sweaters and shoes to their respective coaches, Brillo, Bill Myers, Mike Dundale, Tom Donovan, Chris Shaughnessy and Tom Corliss.

The jayvee cheerleaders presented coach Kathy Myers with a personalized T-shirt and a Chicken Wire, complete with their own poem and balloons. Varsity coach Patti Myers was presented an engraved team picture plaque along with a balloon bouquet and money card from a costumed Panther.

Assistant cheerleader coach Tricia Shaughnessy was given a clock radio.

Among those on hand were members of the Quincy High coaching staff and Parents Club president Jerry Peretto.

Quincy head coach Jack Raymer lauded the Panthers for their successes throughout the years and asked for their support as they become eligible to play on the high school level.

Peretto spoke on behalf of the stadium lighting committee and explained that this was the first year of many more that the youth league will play night games.

Ward Two Councilor Ted DeCristofaro presented Brillo with a citation from the City Council for his long-time commitment to Quincy Point youth.

Mite B's Rebound, 5-3

Quincy's Mite B team came back from a 6-0 loss to Brookline to defeat Allston-Brighton, 5-3, avenging an earlier defeat, making its record 5-4 in the Greater Boston League pack as the season enters its second half.

Quincy built a 5-1 lead over Allston-Brighton, a team that dominated their earlier meeting.

J.J. Farrell opened the scoring for Quincy in the first period with assists for Jimmy Gallagher and Shawn Johnson, and it added another late in the second period when Robbie Callow knocked in a rebound with Mike Ryan and Chris Mattia having assists.

All-Bright retaliated with a score by Kerry Flaherty off what might have been goalie Brian Walsh's best save of the day. Tim Hunter scored Quincy's third goal with only seconds left in the period off assists by A.J. Carthas and John Ryan.

Quincy scored early in the third period when Callow connected on a long drive from the point, with assists going to DiMattia and Eric Griffin, and added its fifth goal when Carthas scored on a breakaway after being fed by DiMattia and Hunter.

The Brookline game was played mostly in the Quincy end of the ice at the Neponset rink in Dorchester, as the bigger and more experienced Brookline team built a 3-0 lead after two periods despite some intensive defensive play by Quincy.

The Mite B's earlier defeated Charlestown, 7-5, at the Quincy Youth Arena, after losing a 6-3 decision to league-leading Canton at Northeastern's Matthews Arena.

Hunter's hat trick sparked the victory over Charlestown. Hunter, Callow and Carthas scored in the first two minutes of the game with two assists for John Ryan and one each for James Kelley, Gallagher and Hunter. Charlestown rallied for two goals and Quincy led, 3-2, after one.

Quincy dominated the second period as Hunter added his second and third goals and Charlestown was awarded a penalty shot. Goalie Brian Walsh made a clean save. A penalty was called on a Charlestown player and Quincy took advantage as Gallagher scored a power-play goal with Joinsoun and Michael O'Brien assisting. Gallagher added his second goal a minute later and Quincy led, 7-2, going into the third period.

Charlestown came back with three goals but strong defense and goaltending in the final minutes enabled Quincy to hold on.

Quincy got off to an early 1-0 lead over Canton on Callow's unassisted goal, but Canton moved ahead with a pair of goals late in the first period.

Callow scored again in the second period, matched by Canton, but Canton scored three goals in a two-minute stretch of the third period to take a commanding 6-2 lead. Johnson added an unassisted goal for Quincy late in the game.

Mite A's Roll, 11-1

The Quincy Mite A's, sponsored by DAV #79, rolled by Somerville, 11-1, at Neponset last Saturday.

Brendan O'Brien put Quincy on top when he scored just two minutes into the game on a pass from Paul Princiotto. Somerville answered quickly but it was to be its only goal of the game. With two minutes left in the first period, Matt Logan passed to Mark Regan and Regan found daylight for the go-ahead goal making it 2-1.

In the second period, Danny Donahue scored on a nice pass from O'Brien. One minute later, Regan scored again, this time unassisted. Regan then set up David Rowell's goal and Steven Barrett scored on a pass from Donahue to make it four goals in four minutes. Jenna Nolan scored unassisted with 3:41 left in the second period and Tom Moriarty and Chris Grant contributed some fine passing.

In the third period, Jamie Murphy picked up a pass from O'Brien and found the top corner of the net. Danny Hughes scored twice, once unassisted and the second on a point pass from Nolan. With two minutes left to play, Jason Fennelly's goal made the final score 11-1.

Once again, Quincy's defensemen, Nolan, Hughes, Fennelly, Donahue, John Healy and Danny Stone, showed why they are called the "Awesome D," as they combined for four goals, three assists and effectively kept the puck out of their own end.

Goalie Mark Smith was sharp as he turned back to third period scoring drives by Somerville.

Quincy's record in the Greater Boston League is now 7-1-1. It will meet Milton this week in non-league action.

The Strypers will meet Dorchester Saturday, Dec. 20, at the Dorchester YMCA.

Fire Dept. Offers Tips For A Safe Christmas

With Christmas tree buying on the upswing the Quincy Fire Department has offered the following safety rules and precautions everyone should take in protecting families and their homes.

According to Acting Fire Chief Carl Valenti, by observing these common sense suggestions this Christmas will truly be a season to be jolly.

CHRISTMAS TREES
Buy one that hasn't dried out from prolonged storage. Cut end of tree one inch from the original cut. Stand the cut end in water until you take it indoors. Then place it securely in a stand that has a water receptacle for the base. Make sure you keep the stand filled by checking it daily. Don't forget, use a stand that will support the tree. Make sure it is away from fireplaces, radiators and stove and don't place it where it will block a door or exit. When the needles become dry and begin to shed dismantle and discard.

LIGHTING
Do not use candles on or near any yule tree. Use only electric lighting sets that are approved and carry the U.S. label. Before using the lights check for frayed wires, loose connections and broken sockets. Use only 15-ampere fuses on electrical circuits for lighting the sets. Remember, extensive holiday wiring is dangerous unless done by a qualified electrician. Avoid too many plugs into one outlet. Turn off all tree lights before retiring or leaving the home. Provide a switch some distance from the tree for controlling the tree lights.

DECORATIONS AND WRAPPINGS
Dispose of Christmas wrappings immediately after gifts are open. Decorate the home with non-combustible material whenever possible. If combustible material is used make sure it is flame-retarded. Remember, Santa Claus whiskers and clothing, cotton batting, and certain papers ignite easily and burn intensely. Use only if flame-retarded. Do not use the fireplace or stove to burn wrappings or decorations.

TOYS
Avoid buying toys operated by flammable liquids such as alcohol, kerosene, gasoline. Buy electric toys that are approved by the Underwriters Laboratories. Electric trains and other electric toys are not to be used under or close to a natural Christmas tree. An upset may cause an electrical spark.

GENERAL SUGGESTIONS

Don't smoke near the tree or decorations. Use a substantial fireplace screen to guard against flying sparks. Keep matches, lighters, and burning candles beyond the reach of children. Plan on what to do if fire breaks out such as an escape route and an alternate one. Have a fire extinguisher within easy reach. In case of fire, don't hesitate to call the department.

The city has an ordinance on the installation of smoke detectors in all residential property so make sure you have detectors in the locations required under the state Building Code. If you have any questions on these locations call the Fire Prevention Bureau of the Quincy Fire Department. Remember, it is against the law if you don't have them. And last, the use of unvented kerosene space heaters in any places used for residences is against the law.

Council Approves Scaled Down Marina Bay Plan

The City Council, acting in its capacity as a special permit granting authority, adopted the recommendation of the Planning Board Monday night regarding the Marina Bay Planned Unit Development Plan.

Councillor Thomas Nutley, in whose ward the project is planned, said that he held lengthy meetings with an ad hoc committee and the developers, O'Connell Brothers.

As a result, 15 conditions were agreed upon by the developers regarding the property known as the "football area," west of the boardwalk at Marina Bay, according to Nutley. It is to include mostly residential units and four small commercial units, he said.

The conditions include:
● Reduction of maximum dwelling units from 604 to 525, and provision of not less than 1175 parking spaces.

● The maximum size of Building A was reduced from 10 stories to eight stories and now six stories.

● Commercial facilities within this PUD site shall not include restaurants seating over 75 patrons, and any establishment dispensing alcoholic beverages for consumption by persons on the premises shall provide such service only at a table.

● All construction facilities shall use O'Connell Way for access to and exit from the site.

10 Residents Graduate At Wentworth

4 Quincy Residents Meet In London

Four Quincy residents, currently living in three different countries, met recently in London.

Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Grochowski of 2328 Quincy Shore Drive, North Quincy, who had toured England and Wales by car for three weeks, met their son, Christopher, and daughter, Sherri Ann, in London on the last day of their trip.

PFC Christopher Grochowski is stationed with the U.S. Army just south of Swinefurt, West Germany.

His sister, Spec. 3 Sherri Ann Payne is in the U.S.

Army stationed just south of Brussels, Belgium.

Their father, Stephen, a former Quincy Sun photographer, enjoyed taking pictures of castles, abbeys, the Cornish seacoast and the mountains of northern Wales.

Santa Claus To Anchor Sun Ch. 8 News

Santa Claus will make a Quincy television appearance on Quincy Sun Ch. 8 to guest anchor a special video news report on Tuesday evening, Dec. 23, at 5:30 and 7:30, and a repeat showing Wednesday morning at 10.

Included in the program will be holiday highlights of the past several weeks of events that happened in Quincy. They include selections from members of the Quincy Symphony Orchestra, the Eastern Nazarene Choral Society, members of the Quincy Point Congregational Church Choir. Also featured the video poster contest winners in the recent Quincy Christmas Festiva, parade.

On Christmas Eve, from 2 to 6 p.m., a program will salute the holiday with an encore showing of the Quincy parade, visits from Mickey Mouse and friends, Charlie Brown, Rudolph, Kermit and many others.

Scholastic Art Awards On Quincy Cable Systems

Talented junior and senior high school artists in Massachusetts will be featured in The Boston Globe Scholastic Art Awards Tuesday, Dec. 23, at 7:30 p.m. on Quincy Cablesystems Ch. 3.

The art awards is an annual competition which encourages young artists to pursue their creative talents. Last year, more than 240 works of art were chosen from over 5,000 entries to represent Massachusetts in the National Scholastic Art Awards competition.

The video was filmed at Faneuil Hall, Boston during the final state exhibit. It contains interviews with teachers, judges and students and reviews several outstanding art project by Massachusetts' young artists.

WEEK OF: December 18th

AQUARIUS — January 21-February 19
New interests dominate the week--you may find yourself involved in an educational or recreational program. Romance situation becomes more complicated--then you see where relationship is headed.

PISCES — February 20-March 20
Fine arts are highlighted through the week; you may be pursuing interests in painting, sculpture, or photography. Partner is more even-tempered. Financial review is a must.

ARIES — March 21-April 20
Enterprising Aries may develop a key idea at work that brings personal satisfaction and a possible bonus. Partner is unexpectedly generous and helpful, especially in a family matter.

TAURUS — April 21-May 22
Childhood dream may start to come true this week. Older relative provides emotional support. Fact-finding mission proves successful. Surprise invitation arrives after weekend.

GEMINI — May 23-June 21
Challenges stimulate you through this period, leading to personal accomplishment. A logical solution to a family dilemma is within reach; good time to put on your thinking cap.

CANCER — June 22-July 22
Joint effort bring results; you don't necessarily have to work with someone who thinks exactly the way you do. Small financial gains may appear after Monday.

LEO — July 23-August 22
Partner's accomplishments are highlighted over your own; be sure to offer support and congratulations as required. A good friend from the past returns to the scene.

VIRGO — August 23-September 22
Financial strain begins to ease. New relationship is off to a bright start. Leave time for expressing your thoughts to a special friend. Interesting coincidences occur on weekend.

LIBRA — September 23-October 22
Career path may take a slight detour, but you reach your goal nonetheless. You understand more than one point of view; don't feel compelled to take a stand.

SCORPIO — October 23-November 21
Pace quickens through the week and communications problems disappear by the weekend. Loved one shows a sentimental side. Friends respond to your upbeat and affectionate approach.

SAGITTARIUS — November 22-December 22
New beginnings are accentuated as the year draws to a close. A good week for making a head start on resolutions. Watch tendency to reveal too much information prematurely.

CAPRICORN — December 23-January 20
As the year draws to an end, collect debts and balance accounts. Prestige is highlighted now. Minor difference of opinion should be resolved. Reunions are positively spotlighted.

BIRTHDAY THIS WEEK
You're witty, extremely generous, not always practical. You sometimes promise more than you can deliver, but those who love you know your heart's in the right place. Career shifts may take place over the next eight months; you may find yourself involved in something you always wanted to do.

BORN THIS WEEK
December 18th, actor Ossie Davis; 19th, Host David Susskind; 20th, actress Irene Dunne; 21st, actress Jane Fonda; 22nd, composer Richard Bennett; 23rd, actor Harry Guardino; 24th, actress Ava Gardner.

Shipyard Rezoning Goes To Committee

The City Council voted Monday night to refer to its Ordinance Committee for proper advertising the proposed rezoning of the General Dynamics Quincy Shipyard site from Industrial B to Planned Unit Development.

The action came after the Quincy Planning Board forwarded its recommendation to the council that the zoning change be adopted.

The change had been suggested by Councillor Theodore DeCristofaro, in whose ward the closed shipyard is located, so that the council would have control over what goes in there.

But before that rezoning took place, DeCristofaro wanted to add Industrial B to Planned Unit Development so that shipbuilding would be allowed.

That amendment was approved by the council last week.

Several shipyard union officials have been concerned that the zoning amendment would harm their chances of buying the shipyard.

The employee buyout committee has made a joint bid with a company which would build a $100 million power plant.

It is among 17 bids made for the shipyard. General Dynamics is expected to make a decision shortly.

McCauley: 'No Surprises' In Mid-Term Address

Mayor Francis McCauley said that his mid term address to be delivered Monday morning, Jan. 5, has "no surprises yet."

"It will be relatively brief," said McCauley, "and will include a quick review of 1986 and look ahead to 1987." The address will be given in the Council Chambers where City Councillors will be sworn into office.

Councillor Stephen McGrath is expected to be reelected council president.

Mayor To Meet With Police Study Consultants

By NANCY McLAUGHLIN

Mayor Francis McCauley said he expects to meet in mid-January with the consultants who will help implement recommendations in a Police Report.

McCauley said he has appointed Robert Quinn of the City Solicitor's office as the representative from the mayor's office on an implementation committee.

Council president Stephen McGrath said he has not yet appointed a representative from the council.

"Several councillors have expressed interest," said McGrath. "But it's still up in the air as to who will be on the committee."

"It has been suggested that there should be two City Councillors on the committee, rather than just one."

Members of the Police Department command staff will round out the committee.

The committee was suggested by the Massachusetts Municipal Association under whose direction the largely critical study was completed.

Purpose of the committee will be to review recommendations, assign priorities and suggest implementation strategies.

The City Council voted unanimously last week to appropriate $8,900 towards implementation of the report.

The appropriation, which was reduced by the council from $12,000 to $8,900, will go towards hiring some of the authors of the report as consultants.

But any implementation will be done by the Police Department.

Passage of the order followed meetings held by McGrath with Police Chief Francis Finn and his command staff as well as the mayor to clear up any misunderstanding over what services the MMA would provide.

"We were able to assure Chief Finn and his staff that the MMA involvement would not be as a watchdog which would take over the Police Department in implementing the report," McGrath said.

"The role of the MMA will be as a consultant, but any implementation will be by the Police Department."

Food, Toys Donated

A Brighter Christmas For Several Hundred Needy Families

By DAN CONNELLY
Several hundred Quincy families are assured of a happier Christmas thanks to the generosity of clubs, organizations, and residents, who dug deep to help the needy.

Because of the charitable efforts of so many, local organizations were able to distribute 220 food baskets, thousands of toys, serve meals, distribute articles of needed winter clothing and provide shelter for the homeless.

The Koch Club, Quincy Lodge of Elks, Salvation Army, and the Quincy Interfaith Shelter Coalition were joined by churches, other organizations and individuals who all made it possible to help the less fortunate.

The Koch Club of Quincy and its Charitable Committee, now in its 31st year, provided 75 food baskets to needy families in the Quincy area. They were distributed through the Department of Social Service, Atlantic Neighborhood Center, Southwest Community Center, St. Vincent de Paul and a number of other groups concerned with those in need of assistance during Christmas.

The baskets consisted of turkeys, hams, canned goods, fresh fruit and vegetables and wrapped toys for children according to age. The purpose of the additional food is to provide a sufficient amount for the holiday season rather than the day.

According to Thomas F. Nestor, the club's charity committee was only able to accomplish this extensive project because of the assistance of many organizations, families and individuals.

Richard J. Koch, executive director, said the program which has continually expanded since it started in 1956 would not be possible without the loyal support of organizations, families and individuals who annually contribute food, toys, or funds.

Koch said those who provided assistance included Bank of New England, the Squantum Yacht Club, Sacred Heart Youth Organization, South Quincy Social Club, Telephone Pioneers of America, both Thomas Sherwin and Neponset chapters.

New toys for presentation to boys and girls in the Quincy area were donated by the YMCA, Sacred Heart Youth Organization, the North Quincy Catholic Women's Club and the Francis W. Parker School, Koch said.

Koch went on to say the Woodward School for Girls in Quincy provided the materials and Christmas wrapped 300 gifts for distribution.

Christ Child Figure Returned To Manger

A plaster figure of the Christ Child, stolen last Friday, has been returned to the creche in Hancock Cemetery, Quincy Sq., in time for the celebration of Christmas Thursday.

"No one seems to know how it got back," said Richard Koch, Sr., executive director of the Park, Forestry and Cemetery Departments, who said the figure was returned sometime on Saturday.

"But it's back in time for Christmas, anyway."

Koch said the arms of the figure were damaged when it was dropped or smashed.

"We hope to be able to fix it after the holidays," said Koch.

"It's too bad because it was in the best condition of all the figures."

The 20-inch long statue had been placed in the creche by students who participated in a Nativity Pageant at First Parish Church across the street recently.

Koch said the Christ Child figure had been stolen about four or five years ago and was found in the marshes of Houghs Neck.

"The statue has brought joy for many years to the children who participate in the Nativity Pageant," said Koch.

"It's nice to see it back."

"I'm sure the children will be happy."

"I'm glad someone had the heart to bring it back."

"It's not just the figure - it's what it represents."

John Crowley Completes

A.F. Training

Airman John C. Crowley, son of Martha F. Crowley of 45 Norton Rd., Quincy, has graduated from Air Force basic training at Lackland Air Force Base, Tex.

During the six weeks of training he studied the Air Force mission, organization and customs and received special training in human relations.

In addition, airmen who complete basic training earn credits toward an associate degree through the Community College of the Air Force. He is a 1984 graduate of Quincy High School.

Happy 105th, Max

Max London quietly marked another birthday Tuesday. His 105th.

He doesn't consider it any big deal. For him, it was just another day.

And, that may be the key to his longevity secret. One of them, anyway.

"He doesn't get excited over anything," says his son, Jack, owner of Quincy Furniture on Hancock St. in downtown Quincy. "He takes one day at a time and always has."

Max founded the business in an unheated barn behind the present location in 1920.

And he continued to put in a full day every day until he was 103. He now lives in retirement with a daughter, Frances Spivack in Stratford, Conn.

Max's philosophy has been:

"There are good days and there are bad days. You just hope there will be more good days."

Max still smokes an occasional cigar. When he was a youngster of 50 or 60 he puffed five or six a day.

However, he has never touched liquor. Not even a sip.

"Nothing ever bothers him," says Jack. "Even a snowstorm. When it snows, he says, why shovel it? Leave it alone, it'll melt."

Jack's wife, Ruth, says her father-in-law really is a wonder who would have health experts shaking their heads in disbelief.

"He ate all the foods they tell you not to," she says. "High cholesterol. He liked plain butter without the bread. He'd drink the cream instead of the milk."

"And, he never walked. He would even take his car to go from this store just down the street to Remick's."

And, she adds: He's amazing. He apparently has the right kind of genes. And he never worries about anything."

He is still mentally alert and gets around. And still likes to talk to people.

"One of the most amazing things about him," Ruth notes, "is that at 105 his face is free of wrinkles."

"Women would pay thousands of dollars to know that secret."

Happy birthday, Max.

ANOTHER INDICATION THAT Joseph LaRaia is running for mayor: A fund raiser is scheduled for Jan. 19 at Grill 29 Restaurant at the Quincy Bay Inn.

Tickets are $50 per person.

But the interesting part about the tickets to political observers, is the fact that the tickets say "The LaRaia Committee invites you to attend an election year fund-raiser."

And an accompanying card refers to the committee as the LaRaia Election Committee.

Not the LaRaia Re-Election Committee.

LARAIA

RON IACOBUCCI HAS two announcements coming up.

IACOBUCCI

On Jan. 20 at the Neighborhood Club, he will officially announce his candidacy for City Councillor at large. There has been little doubt he would run.

So, perhaps more newsworthy item is this: He and his wife, the former Jeanine Lewis of Quincy, are expecting their first child Feb. 10.

NATURAL CHRISTMAS TREES are still very much in style.

Loren Strout of the Winfield House Christmas Tree lot reports he sold more than 11,000 of them as of Monday of this week. He has only a few left for stragglers.

In addition, more than 4200 natural Christmas wreaths were sold.

Obviously, Strout says, a lot of people still prefer natural trees over artificial ones.

"The natural trees are now cultivated and pruned and are better shaped than ever before," Strout says. "And they have that Christmas-like aroma artificial trees just can't match."

His trees come from New Brunswick and Maine.

'Game Of Quincy'

Lions Club

Novel Gift Idea

Have you or someone you know always wanted to be the wealthiest wheeler-dealer in town?

Well, the Quincy Lions Club thinks it has the solution - at least in fun.

For $14.95, you can purchase the club's "The Game of Quincy," similar to Monopoly only with Quincy businesses rather than Boardwalk or Park Place.

The game, for ages 12 and 70, can accommodate up to six players.

It is described as "a fast paced, action-packed game of skill, strategy, and the 'luck of the dice' where two to six players 'wheel 'n' deal' their way around their own town, buying up, trading and selling local business properties that actually exist."

"The Lions Club in Millis had such a game a year and a half ago," said Don Uvanitte, project chairman. "So we picked up on it as a fundraiser."

"It's for people who have everything," said Richard Butler, club president. "This is the gift for them."

The club hopes to make $17,000 on the games. The money will go back in the community to such areas as eyesight conservation research, drug awareness, diabetes, and the Boy Scouts.

The games are available by calling Uvanitte at 471-4700; Butler, 471-2026; or Harold Crowley, leader of Troop 5 Boy Scouts, at 471-6881.

They can also be purchased at Frank Evans Co., 343 Newport Ave. or in the office of Mayor Francis McCauley at City Hall.

Some of the games are on display, though not for sale, at Granite Cooperative and Colonial Federal Savings Banks.

"We ordered 1200 games so it is a limited edition which won't be repeated," said Uvanitte.

"The games make a great Christmas present," said Butler.

Central Students Score High In Math League Competition

Students at Central Middle School have entered the competition in the Continental Math League which invites young people all over the United States to compete in six separate competitions.

Each set consists of six problems with special emphasis for each grade level.

Round one has been scored and returned to the schools.

Grade eight tied nationally for first place with 353 schools competing. Students in this grade with perfect scores are Lap Wai Cheng, Sarah Goodman, Brian Hayden, Susan Beers, Thomas Manning, Jodie Trafton, Dean Tantillo and Allen Wong.

Grade seven placed 18th in New England with 47 schools entered in the competition.

Sixth graders with perfect scores are Christie Richmond and Edward Wong. The students in this grade placed fourth in New England with 48 schools in the competition. They placed 18th in the nation with 292 schools competing.

Students will continue the competition for five more rounds each of which includes six problems with the timing of thirty minutes each round.

The competition has continued to generate enthusiasm and pride in accomplishment.

A Brighter Christmas For Several Hundred Needy Families

Troop No. 21 assisted in the workshops to clean and refurbish the used toys and the Alice Burke School of Braintree collected and provided non-perishable food and toys for the program.

Koch said also over 2,000 toys were refurbished, packaged and delivered to social services, church and community organizations for the needy in Boston and Cambridge.

During the past year, and especially in the past several weeks, tons of used clothing have been delivered to agencies for distribution, Koch said. The club also purchased and delivered 30 dozen woolen men's and women's socks to the guests of the Long Island Shelter. This program will continue until Little Christmas on Jan. 6, he said.

As always the Quincy Lodge of Elks Sunday distributed 145 Christmas baskets with turkeys and all the trimmings for a fine holiday meal.

About 30 club members, with their own cars and trucks, loaded the packaged baskets from Charlie's Mini Market at 247 Atlantic St., for distribution.

"The money for preparing the baskets was donated by the members," said lodge secretary George Alcott. "It's the Elks way of expressing the true spirit of Christmas by helping people. We hope our efforts will make this holiday a little bit happier for the people who need a helping hand," said Alcott, chairman of the distribution program.

About 200 families received food and toys from the Quincy Temple Corps of the Salvation Army in Quincy.

Families that applied to the Salvation Army visited the 6 Baxter St. headquarters to select toys they wrap and give to their children.

Parcels of food including canned goods, and vouchers for meats and vegetables according to family size were also distributed.

New Salvation Army

Quincy commander Maj. Paul Carlinio and his wife spent all day Monday morning and supervising the Army's famous Red Kettle Christmas fund drive in various sections of the city.

The Carlinios came to the Quincy corps this summer, replacing Capt. Gerald Stephens.

Money from the Army kettles that helps pay for the toys and food distributed is reported doing fairly well this holiday season, said a Army spokesperson.

The Quincy Interfaith Sheltering Coalition, which host this year's Central Baptist Church Christmas Dinner for the needy.

Nancy Powers, executive director of the coalition, said this dinner is for anyone who can not provide their own, either for financial reasons, or because of the lack of cooking facilities. Often many individuals attend who would otherwise be alone for the holiday. Last year about 85 individuals attended the dinner.

Quincy's Yesterdays

A Shivering Santa Comes To Town

Sub-zero temperatures and near gale force winds brought Quincy and the South Shore to a virtual standstill as the New Year

Dec. 23-29

1962

24 Years Ago

Thermometers outside the Observatory on the Blue Hills registered minus eight degrees and wind gusts were clocked at 81 miles an hour.

Doors blown open by the wind touched off burglar alarms at Jordan Marsh Co. on Willard St., West Quincy; Hayne Junk Yard on Intervale St., South Quincy; and the Bargain Center.

Plate glass windows were smashed at Gilchrist's in the Parkingway; Whiteman's Department Store and the Fruit Basket on Billings Rd., Norfolk Downs.

GROSSMAN PLANS DEVELOPMENT

Bernard Grossman, treasurer of Grossman Industrial Properties, said work will start in the spring on two large retail stores with parking facilities across the New Haven right of way from the Ross Parking Area.

Grossman said the $11 million development would be undertaken with Turnstyle Stores, a division of Jewel Tea Co. The 12-acre tract would provide parking for 1,000 cars off Granite St.

HIGH SCHOOLS SPLIT

The North Quincy High School basketball team romped to its fourth straight Greater Boston League victory, a 55-47 squealing of Everett.

Ted Stevenson had 16 points, Dave Olson 14 and Tom Kiley 10. Bob DeBoer and Rich Erieson also started for the Raiders.

Meanwhile, Quincy High School dropped a close 81-79 decision to Chelsea, despite 22 points from Ken DiBonna and 19 from Peter Mariano.

The Chelsea pair of Lou Perkins (45) and Steve Karll (27) accounted for all but nine of their team's points.

Hearing To Be Held On Koch Challenge

Quincy's Board of Registrars will probably meet Dec. 29 or 30, to discuss a legal challenge regarding the residence of City Councillor Richard Koch, Jr., according to City Clerk John Gillis.

The challenge was brought by John Walsh, who ran for Ward 6 councillor.

At issue is the fact that while Koch was living in Quincy when he was elected more than a year ago, he has since moved to Cape Cod.

The meeting of the four-member Board of Registrars, comprised of two Democrats and two Republicans, will be held in the Council Chambers and will be open to the public.

After Christmas The Family Still Has To Eat

Okay now, you're feeling pretty relaxed and happy with yourself because you finally got your Christmas shopping done! Right?

And, you've already prepared your Christmas dinner and the last thing you want to think about is another recipe. But, the family still has to eat after Christmas so here is a favorite chili recipe of mine that you'll find easy to prepare and different after all the Christmas fare. In this recipe I've used ground beef and ground pork, but you can make it totally with ground beef if you so desire.

CHILI WITH A TWIST

1 Lb of ground beef
1/2 Lb ground pork
1 large can tomatoes
1/4 cup soy sauce
1/4 cup cooking sherry
2 medium onions
1 stalk celery, cut up fine
2 to 3 Tbsps chili powder

1 can of red kidney beans a bay leaf garlic powder
2 to 4 Tbsps olive oil

In hot oil, saute the onion, bay leaf and celery. Add the beef, pork, garlic powder and cook covered for about 20 minutes. Add the wine, soy sauce and cook for another 10 to 15 minutes. Add the tomatoes, beans and chili powder and cook until steaming hot. Serves at least six. Serve with chowder crackers or any kind you desire.

(Marie D'Olimpio is the author of "Simply Italian-And Then Some," a collection of her own recipes. Copies of the book are available at That's Italian, Franklin St. and Previte's Market, Summer St., both in Quincy, and Joy of Cooking at South Shore Plaza.)

Virginia Labadie, 68

A funeral service for Virginia P. (Holmes) Labadie, 68, of Quincy, was held Tuesday at Bethany Congregational Church, Quincy.

Mrs. Labadie, a nurse's aide at Quincy City Hospital for almost 20 years, died Dec. 20 at home after being stricken ill.

Mrs. Labadie who retired from her hospital position in 1979, was a member of the Martinson Street Senior Citizens Club.

She was a lifelong Quincy resident.

Wife of the late Charles W.

Labadie, she is survived by three sons, Charles R. Labadie and James F. Labadie, both of Quincy, and William F. Labadie of Rockland; a daughter, Marcia L. Lincoln of Rockland; and 13 grandchildren and eight great-grandchildren.

Burial was in Mount Wollaston Cemetery.

Funeral arrangements were by the Joseph Sweeney Funeral Home, 74 Elm St., Quincy.

Memorial donations can be made to the American Diabetes Association.

Samuel Wakeman, 78 Managed Bethlehem's Fore River Shipyard

A funeral service for Samuel Wakeman, 78, of Cohasset, who managed four shipbuilding facilities for Bethlehem Steel, including the Fore River Shipyard in Quincy, was held Monday in St. Stephen's Episcopal Church.

Mr. Wakeman died Dec. 17 at home after a brief illness. Born in Riverton, N.J., he grew up in Quincy and later moved to Hingham before moving to Cohasset in 1973.

Mr. Wakeman began his career in shipbuilding at the Bath Iron Works in Maine. He also managed the old Hingham Shipyard and once in East Boston.

He supervised the building of the 16-inch guns and the installation of the armor plate on the 35,000-ton battleship USS Massachusetts.

During Mr. Wakeman's 31-year career in shipbuilding, he supervised the construction of the first American flag passenger lines built after the war, the Independence and the Constitution, and the Manhattan, the largest commercial vessel ever built in America at that time. He was also the manager of the Fore River Shipyard during the construction of the USS Bainbridge, the first nuclear-powered guided missile frigate, and the heavy rapid-fire cruisers, the Des Moines and the Salem.

He graduated from Cornell University in 1930 and the Harvard Business School in 1932.

He was captain of the 1929 Cornell University football team and won the Sellers trophy. In 1982, he was inducted into the Cornell Athletic Hall of Fame.

He won the men's winter sports championship of the Lake Placid Club of New York. He was the only entrant to place in every event. He placed first in the cross-country ski race.

He is survived by his wife, Frances (McElwain) Wakeman; a son, Samuel Wiley Wakeman of Cohasset; three daughters, Nancy Wakeman of San Francisco, Judy B. Ferenbach of Brooklyn and Susan Wakeman Davis of Wellesley; and four grandchildren.

Burial was in Forest Hills Cemetery, Boston.

Memorial donations may be made to the Community Center, 3 North Main St., Cohasset, MA 02025.

Arrangements were by the Sparrell-McNamara Funeral Service of Cohasset and Norwell.

A THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK

The Christmas Season, more than any other time of the year seems to hold a special significance to each of us. To some, it is the joy of giving; to others, the security of family traditions, the music of Christmas Carols, the hanging of the greens, trimming of the Christmas tree, or the wonder and joy in the eyes of a small child. But more than this, to each of us it is the warmth and joy of real friendships. As we approach this holiday, we are humbly grateful for the blessings of the past year... The best Christmas wish that we at the Deware Funeral Home can give to you is that the same star that guided the Wise Men to the manger and shone on the shepherds on the rocky hills of Bethlehem will lead you, too, throughout this glorious Christmas Season...

To all of our friends... Seasons Greetings!

What Is Crack?

Crack is the street name for a purified, smokable form of cocaine that is potentially very addictive.

Crack is freebase cocaine which may be as much as 90-97 percent pure, about five or six times stronger than most cocaine in powdered form. Crack, also called "rock," is usually smoked in glass water pipes and soda cans or bottles which have been made into crude water pipes.

What Does Crack Look Like?

Crack appears in small, hard chunks which look like soap shivers, plastic chips or ungrated parmesian cheese. Its color can range from white to beige, and it has no distinctive odor.

How Is Crack Sold?

Crack is sold on the street in a variety of packages such as plasticine envelopes, aluminum foil, and tiny, clear plastic vials resembling perfume samples. Each contains 2 to 3 small chunks of the drug totalling one-tenth of a gram, an amount that can usually be shared among 2 or 3 users. The cost ranges from $20 to $50 in Massachusetts, which is relatively inexpensive compared to $100 to $120 for a gram of much less potent powdered cocaine. A small amount of crack will yield a large volume of drug sales: one ounce yields over 280 doses.

What Are Cracks Effects?

Because it is smoked, crack is absorbed into the bloodstream very quickly and reaches the brain in 3 to 5 seconds, versus 2 to 5 minutes for cocaine which is snorted. The user experiences an immediate rush and then a short intense high with feelings of euphoria, power and self-confidence. This 7-12 minute high is followed by a severe crash characterized by depression, anxiety, and a strong craving for more of the drug.

Crack, like snorted cocaine, stimulates the central nervous system. Pulse and blood pressure increase dramatically, sometimes resulting in cardiac arrest. Insomnia and difficulty focusing attention are common. With continued use, reported psychological effects include paranoia, anxiety, hallucinations and suicidal thoughts.

Why Is Crack So Dangerous?

Smoking crack allows large doses of cocaine to be absorbed into the bloodstream and brain, greatly increasing the risk of cocaine overdose or poisoning. Symptoms include nausea, vomiting, and irregular breathing. Convulsions, coma and death are also possible.

In addition, crack's short term effects -- the immediate rush, the intensity of the high, and the desire to avoid the depressive crash -- combine to produce a drug which can cause strong dependency and addiction after a relatively short period of time. Violent, paranoid, irrational behavior, sometimes induced by hallucinations has been reported in chronic users. Despite these documented dangers, crack is especially tempting to young people because its low cost per dose and smokable form make it affordable and easy to use.

Users of crack expose themselves to serious health risks with each use, as well as to the threat of becoming dependent on the drug after a brief period of use.

How Do People Support This Habit?

This habit is supported by breaking into home, robbing and stealing from people like you and me. This is another good reason why you should become involved in Neighborhood Watch.

*The Information on crack was obtained from the Mass. Dept. of Public Health.

CHRISTMAS IN CHURCH

lights the way to the spirit and brotherhood of Christmas

The Christmas Story

Luke, 2, 1-14. At that time, there went forth a decree from Caesar Augustus that a census of the whole world should be taken. The first census took place while Cyrenus was governor of Syria.

And all were going each to his own town, to register.

And Joseph also sent from Galilee out of the town of Nazareth into Judea to the town of David, which is called Bethlehem - because he was of the house and family of David - to register, together with Mary his espoused wife, who was with child.

And it came to pass while they were there, that the days for her to be delivered were fulfilled.

And she brought forth her first-born Son, and wrapped Him in swaddling clothes, and laid Him in a Manger, because there was no room for them in the Inn.

And there were shepherds in the same district living in the fields and keeping watch over their flock by night.

And behold, an angel of the Lord stood by them and the glory of God shone round them, and they feared exceedingly.

And the angel said to them, "Do not be afraid, for behold, I bring you good news of great joy which shall be to all the people; for today in the town of David a Savior has been born to you, Who is Christ the Lord.

And this shall be a sign to you; you will find an infant wrapped in swaddling clothes and lying in a manger."

And suddenly there was with the angel a multitude of the heavenly host praising God and saying, "Glory to God in the highest, and on earth peace among men of good will."

Christmas Masses At St. John's

Two Christmas Eve Services At Bethany

There will be two Christmas Eve celebrations Wednesday, December 24, at Bethany Congregational Church, Coddington and Spear Sts., Quincy Centre.

A 45-minute family service at 7 p.m. will include carols and familiar scripture readings. The Children's Choir will sing "Angels We Have Heard On High" a traditional French carol, and the Bethany Folksingers with guitar will sing Sr. Miriam Therese Winter's composition, "The Christmas Ballad."

The Advent and Christ candlelighting ceremony will be led by Ronald and Jacqueline Rivers and their children, Jason and Kimberly, and by Tammy Vozzella.

The Rev. Joel F. Huntington associate minister, will have a short meditation entitled, "A Wondrous Thing." The senior minister, Rev. J. William Arnold will lead an action-scripture reading and have a story for the children.

At 11 p.m. there will be the traditional candlelighting and carol service in the sanctuary. A prelude of organ, flute and cello music will begin 20 minutes prior to the service at 10:40 p.m.

Peter E. Krasinski will be at the organ console, with Caroline Calabro, flautist, and Nancy Currier, cellist.

Pamela Wolf, soprano soloist will sing three special selections: the aria "Ich Folge Dir" from Bach's "St. John's Passion," "Carol of the Birds" by John Jacob Niles, and "O Holy Night" by Adolphe Adam.

The advent and Christ candlelighting ceremony will be led by Lisa Coolidge and Shirley Pyne.

Pastor Arnold will have a brief meditation. The service will climax with the lighting of individual candles by each worshiper, prayers, carols, and chimes at midnight.

All services are open to the community. Visitors are most welcome.

Some last minute gift suggestions

There is still time to give just a few more things in the real spirit of Christmas. And all they cost is a little of you. You can probably think of many more, but these are just a few suggestions to start with

- ★ Ask someone who's far from home (or has no home) to share your Christmas dinner
- ★ Use your mistletoe generously
- ★ Say thank you a lot
- ★ Take one of your favorite presents to that kid in your class you suspect Santa might miss
- ★ Take a thermos of hot chocolate to your school crossing guard
- ★ Pick someone up and take them with you to Christmas services
- ★ Put out bread crumbs for the birds and nuts for the squirrels
- ★ Pull out your mother's chair for her when she sits down to dinner
- ★ Offer to say "grace" yourself
- ★ Invite someone who has no fireplace over to enjoy yours
- ★ Call your doctor and ask how he's feeling
- ★ Help the little kids in your neighborhood build their first snowman (if there's snow)
- ★ Tell someone you love them

Merry Christmas from the people who care

Koch Club Toys For Christmas Drive Continues

Since 1971, the Koch Club has collected and distributed new and used toys to organizations in Quincy, the South Shore and Boston areas where the need is the greatest.

Troop 21, Boy Scouts of St. Ann's, have been working at one of the Koch Club's Santa's Workshops cleaning, fixing, checking and packaging used toys for delivery to social service, community and church organizations in the Boston area. Volunteers from the Sacred Heart Church Prayer Group and Koch Club also participated in the toy refurbishing project.

The Woodward School For Girls each Christmas season wraps some 300 gifts for presentation to children in need in the Quincy and South Shore area.

Students of the Francis W. Parker School and Sacred Heart School, North Quincy have donated new and used toys for the past decade to the program. Children of the Alice Burke School in Braintree are also participating in the project.

This year the friends of the Y.M.C.A. and the North Quincy Catholic Women's Club provided new gifts Christmas wrapped and tagged for Christmas distribution.

In the past 15 years over 10,000 new and used toys have been reconditioned and distributed to agencies serving families in need of assistance at Christmas.

What Christmas . . . And Chanukah Mean To Me

Students in Quincy public schools again this year were invited to submit articles on the theme "What Christmas Means to Me" and "What Chanukah Means To Me."

In addition this year, students at St. Joseph's School also contributed articles.

The Sun is happy to share their thoughts with you at this season. Publishing these articles has become a tradition to which all of us at The Sun look forward to and, we hope, you do, too.

We were again swamped with entries and, because of space limitations, we are sorry that we cannot publish every one.

So many others were worthy of publication, too. We will publish some more next week.

To all who participated we wish to extend season's greetings and a happy, healthy New Year. Thank you all, most sincerely.

Christmas is a beautiful holiday. It is a time to give and to share and also to receive presents from others. I like when my family and I listen to Christmas carols while we decorate our tree. I only wish that all the people in this world that are not as fortunate as we could enjoy Christmas as much as we do.

Angela Favalano
Atlantic Gr. 7

What Christmas means to me. I go to Chicago on an airplane to see my mother and brother. Even though I may forget all the gifts I get, I'll never forget my mother and brother. That's what Christmas means to me.

Mark Repovich
Atlantic Gr. 7

Hanukkah is a holiday to light candles. At home we take turns. Next we open presents. Unless they aren't wrapped. Kindness to people that care about you. Keep love in your heart. At my house Hanukkah is a tradition.

Alyssa Cobban
Montclair Gr. 4

Christmas is a time for giving and loving, and decorating the trees and Christmas Caroling and playing in the snow. Christmas is a great holiday.

Paul Arnstein
Webster Gr. 3

Santa is fat
He's a jolly good man
He goes everywhere
Including Japan!

Kelly Keegan
Montclair Gr. 3

Holiday Greetings

May the spirit of the first Christmas inspire you with hope and love.

Attorney and Mrs.
George Burke

I like Christmas because you get together with your relatives. You open presents and play and have joy with people.

Michael Pringle
Atherton Hough Gr. 3

Chanukah is a nice and thoughtful holiday. I like Chanukah in every way, gifts and presents don't mean to me in a way, because Chanukah is a very special holiday!

Michael Santoro
Merrymount Gr. 5

Hanukkah is celebrated for eight days and comes every year. When we are all at the table together we take turns lighting the menorah. When we are finished eating we open our presents. Our relatives come over and they get presents, too. After we play a game with the dreidel.

Julie Silverman
Montclair Gr. 4

Hannukkah means lighting eight candles, one each night and putting the shmosh in the middle. We give one present each night for eight nights. We make dreidels and play with them, and we sing songs.

Miriam Lenson
Lincoln Hancock Gr. 5

I don't know what Christmas means to me. Maybe it's the presents or the candy canes, cranberries, sugar plums, or the lasagna. It might be the Christmas tree or the customs like hanging stockings, singing carols, or eating Christmas dinner. Now I know, it has to be all of them.

Christopher Hamill
Squantum Gr. 5

Christmas means to set up the Christmas tree and get presents under the tree. Then Santa Claus comes on Christmas Eve and puts more presents under the tree. On Christmas Day I get to have my presents. I'm happy that I have my family.

Shannon Jette
Webster Gr. 3

Every morning we wake to see our presents under the Christmas tree. We say thank you for the gifts we get. I think Christmas means caring and giving to people. We eat and mother drinks tea. We look in our stockings and see what we have. I am thankful for love and all the great things that God has brought to me.

Laura Marden
Atherton Hough Gr. 5

I like Christmas because families get together and have a nice Christmas dinner. They sit down and open presents. And because of the happiness of seeing each other.

Ross Magnoli
Webster Gr. 3

Christmas is the time of the year to love and care and share. I am glad that I have the nicest parents and teachers.

Belinda McGrath
Lincoln Hancock Gr. 3

Chanukah means a lot to me. It means that you get presents like Christmas. But in the old days you would get presents on the New Year but not Chanukah or Christmas. Now getting back to the subject. How did Chanukah start? I will tell you how it started.

In Jerusalem the Jews were happy until the Syrians came. The Syrians made the Jews bow down to idols (or fake gods). One Jew went to bow to the idol and another Jew killed her for doing this. The Jew said "Follow me to Freedom." The Jews fought for a long time, sort of like the American Revolution. If the Syrians did not have to fight the Greeks, the Syrians would have won. When the Jews won they went to the temple and broke all the idols. They wanted to go light the menorah, and there was only one can of oil and they thought it would last for one, or two days, but it lasted for eight that's the whole story.

Adam Chansky
Atlantic Gr. 7

Hiding something just to see Santa Claus at night. Christmas is a time to love one another.

Jamie Carini
Lincoln Hancock Gr. 3

Families celebrating Christmas together. People giving sharing, caring and love. Families decorating the tree and putting the angel on top of the tree. They think of Jesus and go to church. The children going on sleighs down the hill and hearing Christmas carols.

Stacy Medeiros
Broad Meadows Gr. 6

Having my family and all my Aunts and Uncles and Cousins together for one big meal; having my grandfather and dog come to life. My dog died when she was two years old. Having candles in windows and on Christmas trees. I would like to go to the North Pole with Santa Claus. The best thing I would like to happen, is have everybody come to life again, particularly the ones I love.

Kate Kleimola
Furnace Brook Gr. 3

It's time to remember baby Jesus. It's also a time for decorating the tree, and sitting by the fire, opening gifts and giving gifts. I think it's the best time of the year. It's also exciting, fun and a time to spend with your family. My favorite part is when Santa Claus comes down the chimney. And that's what Christmas means to me.

Carolyn Rolfe
Furnace Brook Gr. 3

On Christmas Eve, neither my sister nor I can sleep because we're so excited. On Christmas morning, we get up at 6:00 a.m. and open our presents. My sister and I love the pretty lights and the decorations. Every Christmas, we go over to my Nana's house and have a turkey. Christmas is a lot of happiness, and that's what Christmas means to me.

Kelli Holbert
Snug Harbor Gr. 5

A time for sharing with your family, and getting presents. I like Christmas because I get to go to New Hampshire. I like giving presents to my relatives and them giving me presents.

John Downey
Lincoln Hancock Gr. 5

Christmas is the holiest day of the year. It is Jesus' birthday. On Christmas day I eat chicken, rice, peas, eggnog, and cranberry sauce.

Laura Ravida
Lincoln Hancock Gr. 3

Sharing love and joy with family and friends. Giving gifts to family and friends is one way of showing Christmas spirit. I also enjoy trimming the Christmas tree with such things as colored ornaments, lights of all different colors, tinsel, candy canes and garland. The main reason we celebrate Christmas is because it was the day Jesus Christ was born.

What Christmas Means To Me . . .

What Christmas means to me is getting together with your family and spending the day together. Every year we all get together and decorate the tree. On Christmas day we open the presents together. But most of all, I like to be with my family.

Wendy Melon
Athenron Hough Gr. 5

It means being loved and to be cared for. But some kids don't have parents so people give Christmas to those kids. That means giving. And loving is the strongest thing about Christmas cause the Lord Jesus made it possible. If He wasn't born it would be just another work day so be thankful.

Ashley Davis
Athenron Hough Gr. 5

The day that Jesus was born. It is the time when you get gifts and presents. You go to bed and the next morning you would play with your toys. You can go out and get gifts for your family. It is fun because you can go to your friend's house and share your gifts. Christmas is fun. Every week you would go to church and watch them light the advent candles. You could go to your grandmother's house and eat. It is fun!

Richard McLaughlin
Parker Gr. 4

Every year about 100 million people are getting Christmas trees and putting up their Christmas lights. A lot of people like to go out and sing Christmas carols.

In town, you can see people rushing around and shopping, but most of all what Christmas means to me is Jesus' birth.

Kerrin Wysocki
Athenron Hough Gr. 5

What Christmas means to me is a time for happiness and rejoicing. Also a time for worshipping God the Father.

Jane Colton
Athenron Hough Gr. 5

What Christmas means to me is putting up the Christmas tree, going out in the snow, decorating my home in Christmas colors and ornaments. It also means going Christmas shopping in the cold weather and opening presents on Christmas and thanking God for everything.

Sean Perkins
Athenron Hough Gr. 5

It means peace and joy and presents too. A Christmas tree is used to celebrate Christmas. And Christmas means skating, skiing, sledding, snowmen, snowballs, and snow forts. That's what Christmas means to me. "The End."

Warren Fong
Parker Gr. 5

On Christmas night Jesus was born. He was born in a stable. People celebrate Christmas every year. People buy Christmas trees and put presents underneath it. Every year it usually snows out. Santa comes every Christmas. He leaves presents for us. He goes all around the world leaving presents. On Christmas it is color. Santa comes at night when everybody is asleep. He doesn't want anybody to see him. You have to go to bed early on Christmas night. Santa comes down the chimney. He has magic reindeer.

Dennis Ready
Parker Gr. 3

A lot of fun. It lets the children that don't have any money have what they want. It will let the people that have some money but can't afford to buy gifts have them. Do you know why we have Christmas? It is because that's when Jesus Christ was born.

Matthew Knowles
Parker Gr. 3

First my family has breakfast. Then we go to church. Then we open our presents. I like Christmas because it's a day of happiness and joy. I like Christmas for hundreds of reasons. I like to put angel hair on the mantel. Christmas is a lot of fun. Sometimes my parents' friend comes over. One of the best things I like about Christmas day is nobody fights with me.

Meg Goodwin
Parker Gr. 3

Christmas Waiting
Through patches of green Christmas trees
I search the one for mine to be
And when I find it, I take it home
And let it stand there patiently.
I put the presents underneath
And let them wait there patiently
And I'll stand around the tree, impatiently
But willingly waiting for Christmas.

Darrell Earnest
Squantum Gr. 5

I wish that all the poor could have a good home, and a big tree for Christmas, and that they could have as good a time as my family does.

Kevin Nickerson
Squantum Gr. 5

My favorite holiday is Christmas. Christmas is giving, sharing, appreciating, sharing and loving. Christmas is when Christ was born. Is Christmas your favorite holiday?

Warren Rhodes
Squantum Gr. 5

Christ's birthday
Helping around the house
Remembering people
Iceicles
Snow sticking to Tree cutting Making gifts
Asking for toys
Sharing things

Megan Bougher
Squantum Gr. 5

I think Christmas is a great holiday. Every night before Christmas I sneak downstairs and watch my mother and father put the presents out. In the morning at 6:00 I go down stairs and open my presents. Getting presents is one of the great things. I also like it when the family gets together.

John Monti
Parker Gr. 3

It means having fun, but it is a sad time too for somebody. I like decorating the tree and putting the lights on top of the tree. My sister plugs it in. In the morning I get my presents.

Rene Sirois
Parker Gr. 4

To me Christmas means putting up our tree and decorating it. It is fun. At night I sit by the tree and gaze at it. We always spend at least two days to put up all the decorations. But what Christmas really means to me is giving and being with my family.

Scott Joyce
Athenron Hough Gr. 5

I wish on Christmas all people would join hands and feed the hungry people of the world, and that there would be peace and freedom in the world.

Patrice Macklin
Squantum Gr. 5

Christmas is my favorite time of year because I like sledding and playing in the snow. But what Christmas really means to me is remembering Christ and thinking about how lucky I am.

Joseph Leona
Squantum Gr. 5

Christmas is a time for love and laughter when everybody gives love and gets love back. Christmas is fun. I know all children like to have Christmas. I like giving presents, and receiving presents. Christmas is a great holiday to have!

Amy Hecker
Squantum Gr. 5

Christmas is fun, to everyone.
The girls and boys are full of joy.
They are so pleasant,
When they open a Christmas present.

Alta Lee
Squantum Gr. 5

I wish that all the hungry people in Africa and other places in the world could have nice houses and food, so that the men and women and children could have a beautiful Christmas just as everybody I know has!

Keith Deshler
Squantum Gr. 5

Christmas is when you give, and when you receive. Christmas is when you put up your Christmas tree, and decorate it. Christmas is Jesus' birthday.

David Scott
Parker Gr. 4

Christmas means to me joy and it reminds me of Jesus being born on the 25th of Dec. Christmas also means opening presents & eating Christmas cookies & spreading peace around the world. That's what Christmas means to me.

Christmas is happy, when families get together to celebrate Christ's birthday. Christmas is my favorite time of year, not because I get ten million presents, but just because it's a happy time.

Jaime Spacco
Parker Gr. 5

You celebrate Jesus' birthday. And when Santa comes and gives you toys. On Christmas you leave cookies for Santa. And a carrot for the reindeer. And Christmas is my favorite holiday.

Shylo Schuboth
Merrymount Gr. 3

Christmas is to some, giving and receiving Jesus and religion, songs and carols, trees and wreaths, ornaments and tinsel, but to me there is more. There's the happy times, the love, the happy faces, the sharing. Don't those times when you decorated the tree, hung the stockings, wrapped the gifts, and opened yours on Christmas still ring in your mind for many months to come? There's more to Christmas, much more than some think.

Jennifer Pieters
Squantum Gr. 5

Christmas is a wonderful time of year! Christmas is a time of year when snow is falling and people are playing. People are giving presents and when they give you your present, they think of love. The decorations are very pretty and colorful.

Kerry Oneto
Squantum Gr. 5

A day of peace,
A day of love,
A day of receiving and giving gifts;
A day to remember the baby Christ.

This is Christmas to me! Kevin Nys
Squantum Gr. 5

To have a good time. And to think about what Jesus did for us. To think about others. To give not receive.

Siobhan Gowan
Merrymount Gr. 3

The day Jesus was born. All the people followed the star to where he was born. They gave him gifts of all things. So the day Christmas comes that is Christ's birthday. That's why people give to one another to celebrate Christ's birthday.

Stacey Knight
Merrymount Gr. 3

Christmas means to me a lot of love and gifts. I like it because my family is together and it is nice. I like the tree it is very nice. Best of all I like the ornaments, they are nice and bright. I like being together with my family.

Michael Ferguson
Merrymount Gr. 3

We really celebrate Jesus' birthday. Every Christmas my family and I put little statues next to the fire place. The statues are statues of Jesus and his mother, father, and other people who came to see Jesus.

What Christmas Means To Me...

Christmas is a time for love. Christmas is helping other people. Give the best present in the world, that is, your kindness and love to one another.

Mark Toepfer
Snug Harbor Gr. 3

I love Christmas because Jesus was born that day. That day is December the 25th. All our presents are loaded under our Christmas tree.

Justin Elwood
Snug Harbor Gr. 3

Christmas means presents, birthdays, Jesus, trees, people, Christmas carols, Santa Claus, joy, families, uncles and aunts.

Kelly Spaur
Snug Harbor Gr. 3

Christmas is a time for sharing and caring. It's a time for joy. Christmas is special because you get gifts. It's Jesus' birthday. We give him love and care. Jesus is God's son. Jesus was special to God. God gives us love and care.

Robert Rose
Snug Harbor Gr. 3

Christmas time means I have to go Christmas shopping for presents. It means Jesus' birth. St. Nickolas comes at night. I can't wait until school vacation. I will make a lollipop tree.

Shawn Hearn
Lincoln Hancock Gr. 3

Joy to the World. Christmas is giving and loving. I wonder what Christmas means to other people? O well everyone knows what Christmas means to me.

David Sullivan
Lincoln Hancock Gr. 3

For caring, loving and sharing. It is a time to spend with your family, not just present and a time of no school. Most of all I think you should think about Jesus' birthday and when he was born. I hope you have a Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year.

Kerri O'Neill
Lincoln Hancock Gr. 5

Celebrating with my family. I like to watch the Boston Celtics. I also like to get presents and give presents. I like to go to my grandmother's and eat a big meal.

Justin Ackerman
Lincoln Hancock Gr. 5

My whole family celebrates Christmas by giving and sharing. At night my grandmother cooks a big dinner for us. We have fun on Christmas. Christmas morning I like to look at my presents for about 3 minutes then I open them. I play with my toys all day long. And then when all my cousins and family go up to my grandmother we all give each other presents. I like that.

Nicole Gulizia
Atherton Hough Gr. 5

Christmas Eve is what I like best. Because of the excited heart in my chest. From the thought of opening my present. And eating all that I could. And boy I would!

James Crowley
Atherton Hough Gr. 3

When Christmas comes I'm happy with glee. Because I know what I want will come to me.

On Dec. 24th I'll sleep well covered from my toe to my car.

Christmas is the best time of the year!

To me it means a time for joy and happiness throughout the whole world. It's a time to celebrate Jesus' birthday by showing him we thank him for dying on the cross for us so we could be alive this day. We also celebrate Christmas by opening presents and eating a big turkey dinner.

Eric Lo Porto
Lincoln Hancock Gr. 5

Christmas means giving and getting gifts. I especially like to see my brothers face on Christmas morning. After we open our gifts, my family goes over my grandmother's house for a big turkey dinner. When we go home my sister my brother and I have snowball fights and we go sledding.

Eric Brooks

Christmas means a lot to me. Like decorating our Christmas tree. Christmas has a lot of joy for every girl and boy. Christmas to me has love, caring, and lots of sharing. It's the time of the year for families to have lots of cheer.

Rhannon King

Christmas time means I have to go Christmas shopping for presents. It means Jesus' birth. St. Nickolas comes at night. I can't wait until school vacation. I will make a lollipop tree.

For caring, loving and sharing. It is a time to spend with your family, not just present and a time of no school. Most of all I think you should think about Jesus' birthday and when he was born. I hope you have a Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year.

Kerri O'Neill

Celebrating with my family. I like to watch the Boston Celtics. I also like to get presents and give presents. I like to go to my grandmother's and eat a big meal.

Justin Ackerman

My whole family celebrates Christmas by giving and sharing. At night my grandmother cooks a big dinner for us. We have fun on Christmas. Christmas morning I like to look at my presents for about 3 minutes then I open them. I play with my toys all day long. And then when all my cousins and family go up to my grandmother we all give each other presents. I like that.

Nicole Gulizia

Christmas Eve is what I like best. Because of the excited heart in my chest. From the thought of opening my present. And eating all that I could. And boy I would!

James Crowley

What Christmas Means To Me . . .

Christmas is the best time of year. I like to decorate the tree. I can hang my stocking. When it snows outside I like to go outside and play in the snow. I get up early in the morning and open my presents.

Gregg Constantino
Lincoln-Hancock Gr. 3

A time of sharing, loving, caring and being with friends of your own. But the most important part is celebrating Jesus' birthday. HAVE A NICE CHRISTMAS EVERYONE!

Anne Hurlbous
Lincoln-Hancock Gr. 3

I like celebrating Christmas with my family. I like waking up and peeking in the living room to see what I got. Then I rush in my mom's room and I wake her up. Then I wake up my brother. My brother and I open up all our presents. Later all of my relatives come over and we celebrate Christmas thinking about Jesus.

Eric Lowe
Lincoln-Hancock Gr. 3

This was the day that Jesus was born in a stable in Bethlehem. It also means that Santa Claus comes to your house and puts presents under the decorated Christmas tree in your house. It also means that it is a time of sharing and caring with your family and friends.

Jack Leskow
St. Joseph Gr. 6

A very special time of year. When people get each other presents. People think that that's all Christmas is, but they are wrong. Christmas is really the celebration of Jesus' birthday. Christmas is the biggest holiday all year. And the believers of the Catholic faith come together and have a special mass and sometimes sing happy birthday to Jesus. Christmas is a warm time to year in the church. But it's very cold and snowy outside.

I love Christmas, it's my favorite time of year. Happy Birthday dear Jesus. I love you for all good you do. Jesus please continue to love me and all my friends as I will still love you.

Justin Silverio
St. Joseph Gr. 6

Christmas is a very special holiday. Christmas is when Jesus was born. Everybody should be really grateful to God and to the Holy Family. Christmas is a time to share gifts and also to see some of your family and friends.

Everybody loves to receive gifts from everyone. But I think it's better giving than receiving gifts from people.

When you start to decorate the house it starts to look pretty, but when you put up the tree and decorate it it looks beautiful. "Christmas to me is such a loving holiday that we all can share, together."

Patricia Fitzgerald
St. Joseph Gr. 7

Giving, sharing things. The most important thing to me is that we all get together and my family puts gifts under the Christmas tree, decorate our house and we enjoy everything. And the most important thing it's about is Jesus' birthday.

Mike Carney
St. Joseph Gr. 3

It's Christmas time right now and the best part of Christmas is sharing, giving. I can't forget the snow so light and the sun shining brightly. The lights are so pretty on houses...oh ready for Santa Claus to come right down the chimney with that big, big toy bag for kiddies. It's the time to say thanks for friends.

Sean Joyce
St. Joseph Gr. 3

Seeing the houses joyfully lit up with happy families decorating the Christmas tree awaiting the arrival of Santa Claus. Christmas is a time for joy, the happiness of giving, and the happiness of helping our fellow man. Christmas is a time for families to be together and enjoy this wonderful time of year.

Dennis Roberts
Central Middle Gr. 7

Getting together with family and close friends I haven't seen for a long time. I don't think gift giving is the most important part anymore because that's not what Christmas is about. I wish everybody could stop fighting for that day.

Chris Olsen
Central Middle Gr. 7

Because it is a time of loving. I like when my cousin comes to my house. We play with our toys. Then we eat a Christmas dinner. Merry Christmas to all!

Jason Gross
Lincoln-Hancock Gr. 3

A time for joy and caring. It is also the time when we celebrate the birth of Jesus. Christmas is a time to give presents. It's when Santa comes. Merry Christmas and Happy New Year.

Robert Churchill
Lincoln-Hancock Gr. 3

A time to love and share, have fun opening gifts and waiting for the coming of Jesus, the Son of God. It is fun to wait for Christmas time because it's fun to think about it.

Julie Simon
St. Joseph Gr. 3

About sharing presents and it's a time to get together with your family. I think Christmas is about being good to people. I feel Christmas is a time to care for other people. I like Christmas because the houses are decorated and all the trees are decorated with pretty lights, and through the windows you can see the Christmas trees. I like getting presents from Santa Claus too.

Justina Leskow
St. Joseph Gr. 3

The gathering of families and friends. The love and joy we share on this very special holiday is uncomparable to any other love and joy.

The thing that makes Christmas special to me is the giving and receiving of the many gifts we get from those whom we love. The surprising moments of opening them and the joyous moments of seeing what we have.

Jodi Pacheco
Central Middle Gr. 7

Christmas to me is not just exchanging gifts, but it is the remembrance of what Mary, the Mother of God, gave us, Jesus. Christmas makes me realize how fortunate I am to have my family, and friends. Christmas to me, is the best holiday, because I spend time with my family, doing fun activities like decorating the house, or baking sweet smelling cookies. But best of all, Christmas is that special day, when my family and I run down to the Christmas tree to exchange gifts.

Stephanie Olsen
Central Middle Gr. 7

To share, to give other people presents, to love each other and to have fun with other people. It also means to be kind to other people.

John Manning
Furnace Brook Gr. 3

When my whole family, grandparents, aunts, uncles, cousins, parents travel 40 miles to cut down our own trees, then driving home in a caravan of green trees with wheels...people singing as they pass, "White Christmas" on the radio, the smell of my Christmas tree as I walk into my warm house. The smell of the cookies and breads my mother and I make for gifts.

When I was only two or three, I had very huffy fantasies. They were mainly about a man in red.

Who carried a sack as heavy as lead. He worked on cold and snowy days.

and owned many reindeer who escorted his sleigh.

Though on a winter night called Christmas Eve, he left toys and presents for little girls and boys.

Who finally could share Christmas joys.

Ellen Barrett
Central Middle Gr. 7

A time for giving. It also means a time for sharing and expressing. People may think you only have to do these things once a year, but deep down in our hearts, we know it should be like this everyday.

Jennifer Stein
Central Middle Gr. 7

Christmas means love as an adoptive child. I have an especially loving cherished family. Christmas becomes the happiest time with all of us together. Most of all I'm glad that my family can be together having a good time at Christmas.

Rebecca Stiemann
Central Middle Gr. 7

Under the evergreen tree. Are presents waiting just for you and me.

Some are large, some are small. But, eager hands await them all. Each has a bright colored bow. A tag that tells to whom it shall go. Thank you Santa for all the toys. We will always try to be good girls and boys.

Melanie Moffett
Central Middle Gr. 7

Time for family and friends to get together and exchange gifts. Time for people all over the world to give and receive gifts and decorating houses with lights and a Christmas tree. Celebrating Jesus' birthday. A time for caring and sharing. Christmas is a special day for everyone.

Lisa Confalone
St. Joseph Gr. 5

To care, and love people. It means to share and make people happy. Send presents to a friend, take time to talk to someone, say hi and smile, give them a card to show you care. A little love from your heart goes a long way, and that's what Christmas means to me.

Nicole Kalafatas
St. Joseph Gr. 5

It's giving and receiving gifts. It also reminds us that was the day Jesus was born and he became our Savior and on Christmas morning when my family goes down at the morning when we are opening gifts I say a little prayer in my mind thanking God and Jesus for the gifts and I thank God for giving us Jesus. It is also a time for thanking God for wonderful things, like a house, food and family. On Christmas morning I always think of people that don't have things that we do. And God gave us the best gift of all Jesus. And everyone has that gift.

Heather McLeod
St. Joseph Gr. 5

Christmas to me is a time of joy and giving. Everyone gives presents to everyone else and everyone has a lot of fun.

One of the fun things about Christmas is putting up your Christmas tree. We haul up all ornaments from the cellar and put them on the tree. When it is finished it looks beautiful with all its lights and decorations.

I think some people forget the real reason we celebrate Christmas. Christmas should be celebrated as the day that the Savior, Jesus Christ was born. So this Christmas give thanks to God and say Happy Birthday to Jesus!

Chris McHugh

What Christmas Means To Me . . .

Christmas is a very special holiday. It's the time Jesus was born. It's a time to see relatives. Most people don't stop to think what the meaning of Christmas is, it's the time Jesus was born. Christmas is special to me because even if I didn't receive anything I would still enjoy it because it's the most joyous time of the year.

Jason Simon
St. Joseph Gr. 7

Christmas is gift-giving and being generous, not just receiving presents. On Christmas you must give of yourself to make others happy. If you take, take, take, that does no one good but you. I don't know what you think, but I have formed one opinion. Christmas is a time for giving, and making others happy.

Michael Donnelly
St. Joseph Gr. 7

Christmas means getting gifts and having a Christmas party, going outside to play with the snow. That is what Christmas means to me.

Kim Tow
Parker Gr. 5

To me Christmas is to share, celebrating and having so many presents. Christmas is the happiest day in all the year. You can have so many toys. Every year my father buys a Christmas tree. Every year my aunt, uncle, cousins visit us.

Ting Tse
Parker Gr. 5

Christmas means on Christmas Eve occasionally glancing out your window to see if Santa's coming, feasting on holiday cookies, and walking down the street to see if there are any carolers, or to see the beautiful decorations on people's homes and to notice the blink of the lights on people's trees. But most of all it's having family gatherings and realizing how much God has really blessed us with people we love.

Andrea Donnelly
Atlantic Gr. 7

Christmas is a time to hang up a tree and start to ski. When you go to bed dream of a red man in your house giving you presents and goods. It also is a time to hang up a stocking and start talking.

Matt Chenette
Atherton Hough Gr. 5

Christmas means sharing and rejoicing. The day of Jesus' birth. Is a day of great worth. For all of us, Here on Earth.

Jeanna Pezzulo
Atherton Hough Gr. 5

Christmas is a fun time. It's a time to open presents and eat pheasants. It's a time to set up tree and sing to them. It's a time to hand up our stockings and start talking. Then you go up to bed, dream good dreams in your head. When you wake up you go to the tree and party.

Donald Bullens
Atherton Hough Gr. 5

It is a time to see my entire family. I get a lot of presents. It is a time of giving and sharing. I also get a big break from school.

Ken Korzeniowski
Parker Gr. 5

Sharing, giving and getting presents. It means being with your family and having fun. Christmas is my favorite holiday. I love it! We get a vacation too!

Jason Picardi
Parker Gr. 5

Christmas is to me like a family reunion, and about love and happiness because we're together.

Karen Brigette
Parker Gr. 5

For loving and sharing. Christmas to me is the giving season. It is when you get together with your family and sing songs. I think the best time is when we go get our Christmas tree. We cut it down and put it in my living room. Then we decorate it with colored bubbles and nice lights and when you plug it in the Christmas spirit shines out.

Tammy Coull
Atlantic Gr. 7

Christmas means a lot, to me. Christmas is Christ's birthday. I like the nice red and green lights. I like the songs. I like hanging my stockings. But the best part is the night Santa comes. And I will pray on that night.

Angie Attardo
Snug Harbor Gr. 3

I go over my Grandmother's house for Christmas. I help her decorate the tree, too. I dress up for Santa Claus so he will like me. Santa Claus brings me lots of toys and things I want for Christmas.

Latoya Chandler
Snug Harbor Gr. 3

Christmas is a time to be with your family, your aunts and uncles, cousins, sisters, brothers, Moms, and Dads. Christmas is a joyful day. And all the kids like it when St. Nick brings them toys. One of my favorite Christmas carols is The Little Drummer Boy. I like it when we hang our stockings up and when we decorate the Christmas tree with lights and ornaments. But the best thing of all, is when you sit down at your dinner table and eat your most wonderful Christmas dinner. It's Christ's birthday, the church bells ring, and it snows. Little girls wear pretty little dresses, little boys wear nice tuxedos and red ties.

Mary Kelly
Snug Harbor Gr. 3

On Christmas Day I go over my grandmother's house. It's time to give love and have fun. Every Christmas I go over my aunt's house and decorate her Christmas tree and her house with her.

Lee Shaw
Snug Harbor Gr. 3

To be kind, loving, and to receive gifts with joy. Giving gifts and seeing people open them with a certain happy gleam in their eyes is also part of the happiness that goes along with Christmas. Christmas is a time for peace too. Love, peace, giving, kindness, joy and happiness are all parts of Christmas that you can enjoy.

William Degan
Atlantic Gr. 7

Christmas to me is time for sharing with your family. I spend it with my family at my grandparents' house. We get toys and clothes. We have decorations hung up. We have our Christmas tree up and our ornaments on it. We hang our stockings up and we leave cookies and milk for Santa and a carrot for Rudolph. Then we go to bed and wake up at 7:00. In the morning my mother goes down and checks everything out and then we can come downstairs.

Amy LaPlume
Snug Harbor Gr. 3

Christmas means joy and thanks to my family, my aunts, uncles. My brothers and I like to open our presents. My tree is nice. My grandmother does not know what I bought her.

Leona McNair
Snug Harbor Gr. 3

Christmas is a time for sharing. It is a time for helping people. It is a time for joy. It is a time for gifts. It is a special time to celebrate.

Randel Noble
Snug Harbor Gr. 3

Christmas is a time to celebrate Jesus' birthday. We'll never forget him. We'll spread joy and happiness around the world. We give Him our love and care because He's special. My family gets together Christmas Eve and has a big dinner.

Stephen Shaw
Snug Harbor Gr. 3

Christmas is to celebrate and share with others, being nice to people, kind to people, and to parents.

Heather Archibald
Snug Harbor Gr. 3

A time of giving and a time of sharing. Houses glisten with beautiful decorated trees. A delicious apple pie scents the air. Lots of beautifully wrapped gifts sit under the lighted tree. Christmas music flows through the air. That's what Christmas means to me.

Lauren Rodriguez
Parker Gr. 5

Christmas means toys. Christmas means joys. Once for Christmas I got a cat, in a big fat hat. I could see the Christmas tree. Laughing with the ornaments with glee.

I could dream of a Christmas fudge sundae with cream.

I could see the Christmas lights shining very very bright.

I could see the Christmas presents with pretty pleasant bows.

Best of all, Christmas means Happy Birthday to Jesus.

And it means happiness!

Winnie Fong
Parker Gr. 5

Christmas is exciting because you receive a lot of presents and love from your family. There are a lot of pretty colors on people's houses. Another fun thing is you get to decorate your own Christmas tree.

Matthew Howarth
Parker Gr. 5

A joyous time when friends and relatives visit. It also means putting up the Christmas tree and decorating it. Another thing it means is giving presents and receiving them, but it means more. It means celebrating the birth of Jesus. It means singing, carols and joyful songs. It means being happy and thoughtful about Jesus' birth.

Rachel Taylor
Parker Gr. 5

Christmas means Santa Claus, who's jolly and has holly with a hat as red as a rose. His nose is like a carol. His beard is white as the snow. His tummy is as round as a circle and as big as two pillows. He brings toys to everyone, young and old to make everyone happy like him.

Ka Ling Tam
Parker Gr. 5

Christmas is a day of my dream. It's peaceful and cheerful. My mother will set up a Christmas tree. Friends and relatives join together, enjoy the dinner, and receive gifts. Santa Clause joins us too while we are taking pictures. After dinner we will take a walk on the street which is covered with snow. Even the power lines and the trees are decorated multi-colored twinkling lights. I hope this year's Christmas will have more excitement than I thought.

Decorating Christmas trees with bright lights and colorful ornaments. It's also a time for people to search for presents to give to their friends and families. Christmas also means sharing the love and happiness of the holiday and spreading peace all around the world.

Mai Mai Ng
Atlantic Gr. 7

To me Christmas is the celebrating of Jesus Christ's birthday. It is a time that all the people are happy and gay. It is also a time of giving and receiving. People sometimes go out with family and friends visiting different places singing Christmas carols, looking in awe at beautiful decorations and lights. In the Christmas season friends and family become closer than ever. By buying Christmas trees, decorating them, shopping and just being together. Children sometimes think of Christmas as a time to get Christmas presents from "Santa Claus." Although, as they mature they learn the real meaning of Christmas - Jesus. After all Jesus is the reason for the season.

What Christmas Means To Me . . .

It is more sweet than tea. Christmas is as nice as fresh air, and more yellow than a pear. Christmas is a time for sharing, and a little bit of caring. So if you decide to smile, you're on the right mile!

Kellie Coughlin
Webster Gr. 3

Christmas is the day that Jesus Christ was born. It's a time for giving and receiving presents and time for getting together with your family. You might think Christmas is just to get presents. You're wrong. It is to celebrate Jesus' birthday.

Shannon Gerraughy
Webster Gr. 4

Christmas is giving and receiving presents with your family and friends. Christmas is a holiday you don't forget with your family including your dog.

Josie Olivier
Webster Gr. 4

Christmas season is to give love and joy to everyone. A time to share with others.

Catherine Chin
Montclair Gr. 4

Christmas is a time for sharing, giving, loving, and putting joy on sad faces. I wish everyone peace.

Karen Manna
Montclair Gr. 4

Christmas is a time for sharing love and joy. Jesus was born on the first Christmas. He was born in a manger on the first Christmas. We celebrate Christmas because it is Jesus' birthday. If Jesus was not born we would not have Christmas. And that is what Christmas means to me.

Julie Freitas
Webster Gr. 3

It was Christmas Eve night, in the sky the stars were bright. My brother and I were snug in our beds, and thoughts of new gifts danced in our heads. When all of a sudden we heard a big bash, and ran down stairs as quick as a flash! What did we see under our big tree? Ribbons and bows on boxes for my brother and me. We heard a bell jingle and ran to the door, to see Santa in his sleigh taking off with a roar!

Lisa Denaro
Montclair Gr. 3

Christmas means love, happiness, and the birth of Jesus, carols, evergreen trees, sharing and giving-not getting. I hope that every person in the world doesn't think that Christmas is toys and gifts. It's when our family and mine get together.

Megan Mathews
Montclair Gr. 4

Christmas is fun because you get lots of presents from Santa. He always brings what I want. One time my nana gave me a castle and I left a note and Santa put it together. It was fun.

Stacey Oakes
Lincoln-Hancock Gr. 3

I love Christmas very much. I think it's really great. You can get lots and lots of toys. Some for girls and some for boys. Christmas means everything nice to me, WOW!! There's Santa! Golly gee!

Richard Mooney
Lincoln-Hancock Gr. 3

Santa is this guy. He comes on Christmas Eve. And brings toys to all the good boys and girls. Nothing can stop him, rain or snow. Twenty or so days until this man comes. Any bad children no toys for them, so be good!

Joey Tucker
Lincoln-Hancock Gr. 3

A time for giving and getting gifts. A time for eggnog and Christmas trees. Wreaths and stockings clutter the house. Lights and scenes fill our hearts with love, because Christmas is the best time of the year.

Tim Ross
Atlantic Gr. 7

Christmas means giving and sharing the things you get that morn. Christmas means singing and caring, about when Christ was born. Giving, Sharing, Singing, and Caring, what fun it sounds to me, As we all shout out with glee.

Erin Hughes
Atherton Hough Gr. 5

Christmas means a lot to me because my whole family goes over to my grandmother's and we eat together. I also like to put the lights on the Christmas tree and on my house. That is why I like Christmas.

David Taylor
Atherton Hough Gr. 5

Christmas is time for sharing and giving. Christmas eve is my favorite because everybody is happy and people decorate their tree. The best of all, I like seeing houses lit up.

Jessica Young
Atherton Hough Gr. 5

Time for giving and receiving, hanging the stockings above the fireplace, while listening to music. We decorate the house just right. The children wait for Santa's flight.

Rachel Walls
Atlantic Gr. 7

Giving, and receiving presents. Everyone with smiling faces and laughing. Having my family together for Christmas dinner. Unwrapping the presents that are in pretty paper. Having people saying, "Merry Christmas." I like seeing the Christmas tree all lit up. I like seeing the lights in Quincy Square and other places with my mother. But what Christmas really means to me is the giving and receiving of presents to or from people you care about.

Michelle Tasney
Atlantic Gr. 7

Christmas is a time when families get together with each other to celebrate. Christmas is a time when almost everyone is jolly and happy. Children get to open their presents and toys. I love seeing the lights and decorations in Quincy Square. Every Christmas we go to our grandmother's house and have a delicious dinner. I love Christmas!

Nicole Glover
Snug Harbor Gr. 5

The smell of trees-happiness-getting gifts-giving gifts-and maybe snow! Singing songs, decorating the tree-hanging stockings-eating lots of food!

John Price

Christmas means a lot to me. It is love and joy-fun-giving and receiving-sending cards-going to church-a time of sharing and caring and helping.

Jackie Sapienta
Snug Harbor Gr. 5

Christmas is a time for peace and loving. Christmas is my favorite holiday. I like getting presents and sending cards. I always go over my grandmother's house for Christmas Eve. We open presents over there and then we have candy. After that, we go home and go to sleep. Then we wake up and open our presents and go to church. After we come home from church, I will play with my toys. I am getting a skateboard for Christmas. Christmas is my favorite time of the year.

Scott Graham
Snug Harbor Gr. 5

Christmas is a fun holiday to me, because children get toys and clothes. I like Christmas Eve because I go to my grandmother's house, or sometimes I stay home for a turkey dinner. My favorite thing to do is help my parents put up the decorations and decorate the tree.

Melissa Tornberg
Snug Harbor Gr. 5

Because it is full of joy and glee. Christmas is giving and getting presents. At Christmas you give love to your family and they give it back. At Christmas you sing carols and have a feast. Christmas is the best time of the year.

Nicole Darvina
Merrymount Gr. 5

Christmas means the Savior (Jesus) was born. I mean Santa will come. It is a special day. God had a son and Mary had a son. Mary was blessed by God.

Mary became the holy mother of Jesus. I enjoy seeing my grandparents on Christmas day. I hope the poor strike it rich so they can get food and drink. I hope the sick people get well, and I hope for miracles. Jesus was born to make the people go in the path of God.

But Christmas means a lot of special things like Jesus was born. Spending a day with your family is the most special thing of all.

Douglas Brown
Merrymount Gr. 5

The week before Christmas everyone is excited and busy. My mother makes lots of pies and cookies. The whole family helps put up the tree. We put up our stockings on Christmas Eve. My father videotapes us when we put them up. On Christmas Day we, the twelve kids sit on top of the staircase and say "WE WANNA GET UP!" My father takes a picture and we open our presents. At 2:00 p.m. my mother dishes out the turkey and relatives come over. Then it's time for bed.

Because it reminds me of Jesus and God. It reminds me of love and people who love me. It doesn't make me happy because of the presents I get. On Christmas I think a lot about my aunt Donna who died a few years ago. I just hope that on this day I'm happy and jolly. I just hope that my aunt remembers about me, my brother, mother, and my father.

What Christmas Means To Me . . .

Christmas means a time for love and to share gifts. To give some milk and cookies to Santa-to light up the Christmas tree.

Paul Vukosa
Parker Gr. 4

It means giving and receiving presents. It also means that people should care for others. During Christmas time people should be thankful for all the gifts they get. They should also realize that other people are not so fortunate. Decorating the tree and making the house pretty inside and out. Making pies and goodies with my mother.

Jennifer Lavery
Parker Gr. 4

It means loving and giving. Having the family get together all in one night and have a happy time. With cookies and with people laughing and singing, having a great time with the family. With cookies shaped like angels and Christmas trees, and ice cubes shaped like little Santas. Christmas is a lot of fun. I love to see all the lights on the houses. I love Jesus' Birthday.

Karen Shea
Parker Gr. 4

Christmas is for giving and receiving. There are a lot of decorations.

There are Christmas trees with decorations and ornaments.

Most people go to church on Christmas Day.

Christmas is a time for joy and happiness.

I like Christmas, and I hope you do too!

Jed Kingsbury
Parker Gr. 4

Because it is a time for giving and sharing. I like getting and sharing gifts, and having fun singing Christmas songs.

Robert Chaisson
Parker Gr. 4

I love Christmas because I get a lot of presents. I get to look at Christmas lights and Hanukkah lights on people's houses. Setting up the Christmas tree and decorating it is what Christmas means to me. I like to hang up my stocking. We also get to have snowball fights, build a snowman, and go sledding. I just love Christmas.

Amy Chan
Squantum Gr. 5

Christmas means decorating the tree and putting lights in the windows. I like to receive presents and give presents. I enjoy going to my aunt's Christmas parties. But, what I like best of all is the love and the joy.

Jennifer Cantillo
Squantum Gr. 5

It's for friendship. It's for loving and caring. And it's for Jesus. It's a nice holiday. You put up Christmas trees and you hang ornaments. It's for presents. And it's for hope. It's for the whole world. It's a time when people get together and open presents. A lot of people celebrate it. I celebrate with my family.

John Leonard
Merrymount Gr. 3

What Christmas means to me is best told in this song.

When I was but a youngster Christmas meant one thing. That I'd be getting lots of toys that day. But I learned a whole lot different when mother sat me down and taught me to spell Christmas this way.

C is for the Christ Child born upon this day.

H is for the herald angels in the night.

R means our redeemer.

S is for the star that shone so bright.

T is for the three wisemen they who traveled far.

M is for the manger where he lay.

A is for all he stands for.

S means shepherds came, and that's why there's a Christmas day.

Kim Barry
Merrymount Gr. 3

At Christmas time I love giving, shopping, and wrapping presents for other people.

Decorating the house is always fun, too. Buying the tree and making it put things under it is very exciting. Those are all nice, but my favorite part of Christmas is getting together with all my relatives to share (our) toys and the Christmas dinner.

John R. McCarthy
Squantum Gr. 5

Christmas means many things to me. It means presents, joy, happiness, and giving. It means the beautiful Christmas tree that towers over me. It means Santa and his sleigh. It means going out in the snow to play. It means spirit and religion. Mostly it means love. For without love, none of these things would have been created.

Aimee Farina
Squantum Gr. 5

What Christmas means to me is legends and seeing the whole family together, sledding, and the Christmas dinner. We usually have corn, lasagna and other things for dinner. The thing I like the most is shopping for gifts for my family and friends. My best friends and I exchange gifts, and it's really fun seeing their faces. That's what Christmas means to me.

Heather Feeley
Squantum Gr. 5

Sometimes I feel sad Cause I think of homeless people Right when I get over them I start to think Of all the little Orphans that are out of a family Gee I wonder sometimes if I could do anything to help. Every time I think of them I think of what I have and wish I could share it with them.

John Kelley

Santa the happy fat jolly man At the frozen North Pole in a colorful house New gifts for good girls and boys To read the letters from girls and boys

And off he goes saying HO—HO—HO.

Randy Chu
Broad Meadows Gr. 7

Christmas means to love and care for others. Jesus was born on Christmas so we celebrate the birth of Jesus. When Christmas comes we give and receive gifts. We get Christmas trees and decorate the Christmas trees. There are lots of ornaments. We have lots of goodies.

Alexis Chiavarol
Webster Gr. 3

Christmas is a special in the year for loving and happiness besides Jesus' birthday. It is also when you buy gifts for people and people buy gifts for you. Don't forget Santa won't come unless you're asleep.

Michael Eddy
Merrymount Gr. 3

No one's around On Christmas night Everyone's sleeping waiting for Little old Saint Nick except the police!

Keith Norris
Broad Meadows Gr. 7

I feel sad about Christmas, because homeless people and orphans can't spend Christmas with anybody else. I feel sad when I see Toys for Tots. I feel sad for people who are ill and dying. For people who are in hospitals, for starving people also for people who will die this Christmas from terrorism and people wars.

There is a special thing that I love to see. It starts with a "C."

And it ends with an "E."

Can you guess what it is?

It's my Christmas tree!

Nicole Noseworthy
Broad Meadows Gr. 7

I can see Santa's sleigh I hear his jingle bells And I smell some cookies And taste them in my mouth.

I would love to kiss Santa's chubby cheeks

Only if he didn't leave so quick.

Kerri Mahoney

Sharing is important for Christmas and it doesn't mean toys and Santa. The best thing is God is coming. Families get together. Santa and his reindeer get together and bring toys to kids.

Mark Regan
St. Joseph Gr. 3

Christmas means to me a joy in every way and to be with my family too. Christmas is a happy time for people everywhere. I like Christmas the best. Not just because we get gifts from our families. Because everyone and their love can care.

Leah Campanale
Montclair Gr. 3

A wonderful sight. It brings love, and friendship. Christmas is a day when people get together and have fun. Christmas is a happy and joyful day. Christmas love is inside you. You have to feel the love in Christmas. I know some people don't have Christmas because they don't believe it. Christmas love is everywhere and in you too. I wish everyone who doesn't like Christmas will find the love. Love is everywhere and you know it. Merry Christmas to all and a good night.

Christmas means happiness in my life. It is a time of bright lights, pretty trees, and ornaments. Stockings are filled with gifts.

Nicole Giannan
St. Joseph Gr. 3

Christmas to me means a time of waiting and preparing for the coming of Christ our Saviour. It is a time for remembering the birth of Jesus, and why God sent Him into this world. It is also a time for family members to get together and exchange gifts to show their love for one another.

Melissa Marrone
St. Joseph Gr. 8

I like to wake up on Christmas morning and take just a little peek down the stairs to look at the presents. Then I come right back up the stairs to wake up my mother, my father and my sister, Amy. We all go downstairs to open our presents. After we open our presents we get dressed and we go to my grandparents' house. All my relatives are there.

What Christmas Means To Me...

Time for giving and not to be greedy. It's a time to give to and love to people around us. People should forgive one another and to be happy. There is snow on the ground, and children make snowmen out of it. Colorful decorations are put in houses and on streets. People go from house to house to sing Christmas carols. There are millions of Christmas trees with presents under them. Christmas is a wonderful holiday to be happy.

Raymond Lee
Atlantic Gr. 7

Christmas is the day when Santa Claus and his reindeer give toys to children. It's also a holy day. Jesus' birthday. Christmas is a loving and sharing day with snow falling from the sky. Christmas is my favorite day of the year.

Kathy Kabilian
Atlantic Gr. 7

To go on an annual trip to see beautifully decorated houses. It is eagerly waiting for my father to tell one of his old Christmas stories. Most of all, I enjoy being with my family sharing Christmas joys.

Heather Curley
Atlantic Gr. 7

I like Christmas because I like toys, games and trees. I like to wrap presents. I like to unwrap presents too. I like to hang things on the tree and have fun.

Jenna Nolan
Atherton Hough Gr. 3

Christmas caroling to old people. Helping them by giving money and food. Rich people share with others. It is fun to visit your grandmother and grandfather.

Sharing presents with others. Try to be nice to each other. Merry Christmas to all. All people try to have a nice Christmas. Sharing Christmas with others. Michael Kenney
Furnace Brook Gr. 3

I like to help my father and my mother decorate the tree and the house. I like to eat the Christmas dinner before I open my presents and celebrate Christmas.

Stephen Finn
Furnace Brook Gr. 3

It is not just receiving gifts. It's giving them. Christmas is a time for fun. It's a time for being with your family. I like Christmas. I like decorating our tree. Christmas means a lot to me. Everyone looks forward to Christmas. I hope you have a Happy Christmas!

Tracy Rowderink

Loving, caring, and having fun. The most important things about Christmas is not fighting or hurting people's feelings.

Joanne Brooks

We like to raise money for the Quincy Children's Hospital. Then we go to church and go home. Then we have a fun time with our family.

Nicole Mattson
Lincoln-Hancock Gr. 3

I like Christmas because it is a merry, jolly holiday. And not because we get presents, it is the feast that I like. Santa Claus is a nice fellow. He is my best friend.

Christmas means a time for loving and caring. It's a time for being nice to others. It's a time for decorations and Santa Claus.

Paul Blanchard

Jesus Christ's birth in Bethlehem. When the little drummer boy drummed on his drum as a present to Jesus, and when the wise men gave Jesus gifts and they started our tradition every Christmas on December 25. That's what Christmas means to me!

Christina Amate
Furnace Brook Gr. 3

Love and joy and being with my family on Christmas Eve. We give and receive gifts on Christmas day. It is great to find gifts under the tree. We like to decorate around our house. We always leave some milk and crackers for Santa and carrots for the reindeer. Christmas is my favorite time of year.

Anthony Chella
Furnace Brook Gr. 3

Having my family come to my house to eat dinner, and listen to music and dance a lot. But I want my Mom, my Grampa, my uncle, my five dogs, and my five cats, to come and share joy and happiness with me again.

And that's what Christmas Means to Me.

Keri Schweinberg
Furnace Brook Gr. 3

Christmas means to me snow, Santa Claus, and gifts. The one that is important is Santa Claus, because he brings gifts and candy. Santa's elves make all the toys for all the children.

Ruben Austria
Furnace Brook Gr. 3

A lot of joy and having fun with your family. Gifts are fun to open and sometimes you will get happy if you get a good gift. Christmas means love, and I love my mother, father and sister.

Daniel Wong
Furnace Brook Gr. 3

Because there is a parade before Christmas. On Christmas day we get toys and lots of gifts. We bake lots of things like Christmas cookies and Christmas cakes.

Jennifer Flaherty
Furnace Brook Gr. 3

Christmas means Santa Claus and lights to me. I like him because he brings nice gifts to me and he is my favorite Christmas person. Santa Claus brings me everything I ask for. He never forgets what I have asked him for. One Christmas Eve I woke up and got out of my bed. I saw Santa Claus touching some of the Christmas ornaments, and I tipped back into my bed so Santa would not see me because he would take all my gifts back. That's what Christmas means to me.

Erin Fitzpatrick
Furnace Brook Gr. 3

My family and I are going to get a Christmas tree. When we get it, we will put ornaments on the tree. I will put the star on the top. Then the tree will look beautiful. The house will smell like pine. When we get the tree, we will put presents under it. Then we will invite the rest of my family to come and share dinner and good cheer with us. That is what Christmas means to me.

Michael Griffin
Furnace Brook Gr. 3

When my family comes to celebrate Christmas to get a lot of toys and have lots of fun with all the toys we get, it's what Christmas means to me. Then the kids give our parents their presents to open. We eat a real big meal for supper but we eat at two o'clock. The adults talk for an hour or two. Then they all have to go home. That's the sad part. That's what Christmas means to me.

Jessica Duffy
Furnace Brook Gr. 3

I think it's fun receiving gifts, but it's also fun to give gifts. Because it's fun to watch people shaking the box and listening and wondering what it could be. I think it's greedy to receive a gift and not give a gift back. Instead I think you should also share with others like your friends and relatives. That's what I think the spirit of Christmas is.

Richard Gould
Broad Meadows Gr. 6

Is the night before when we have all our friends over to our house for a party. Santa comes to see us all. One year he even put me to bed. The next morning I see all the pretty presents under the tree. It also means the birthday of Jesus. It means love and sharing.

John Cheverie
Furnace Brook Gr. 3

I like when Santa Claus and the reindeer fly through the air. I have a Christmas party at my moms and dad. We open our presents. I like when Jesus was born because it tells that the gate to Heaven is open. I like the Christmas lights and the best part of Christmas is when we decorate the tree. We have a box full of ornaments. We have a crystal for the top of the Christmas tree. This is what Christmas means to me, joy and happiness.

Bernard Mullen
Furnace Brook Gr. 3

I would see Santa Claus and his elves. He would help me decorate our Christmas tree and have the whole family over. On Christmas Eve we open our presents. That's what Christmas means to me.

Brian Molina
Furnace Brook Gr. 3

Snow falling from the sky. Then we go sledding down many hills. Then when my friend and I get tired, we go into the house and have hot chocolate and cookies. We go to play games and then we go back outside, sled down hills. Christmas means lights in the window. Christmas means trees glowing in the home.

Christopher Gacia
Furnace Brook Gr. 3

Christmas wrappings, bright decorations, a star on a Christmas tree. Presents for all and Christmas cheer. Visiting friends and relatives, sharing the Christmas spirit.

Janet DiTullio
St. Joseph Gr. 8

Christmas means giving, receiving, and sharing. Christmas isn't just giving and receiving, it's when the Son of our Lord was born of the Virgin Mother of God. Christmas is in a way a birthday party, for Jesus of course.

Jason Dalrymple
Atherton Hough Gr. 5

Christmas is a very joyous time of the year. It is a time for giving. It is a time for loving and caring. Every Christmas morning when I wake up and open my presents, I feel sad when I think about the kids who don't have enough money to get Christmas presents. So I am always thankful for the Christmas presents I get.

Richard Howard Jr.
Atherton Hough Gr. 5

The day of happiness and kindness to others. Christmas Eve is the night that Christ was born and the three wise men came to the manger. Around Christmas every home has a Christmas tree strung with colored popcorn and glowing lights.

George Duncan
Central Middle Gr. 7

My favorite time of year. I love Christmas because I get and can give presents. I love to decorate our tree with beautiful lights. Hanging up stockings and singing carols are also things I like to do. Christmas is a time when I get together with my family.

Christina Lee
Central Middle Gr. 7

For giving, receiving, loving and caring. Christmas time is a fun time. Trees so tall covered with lights fill the houses with joy. Little kids dream of getting a big toy on Christmas day. Christmas is the most fun time of year. Christmas is fun because it's filled with surprises. Warmth from the people fill the air during Christmas time. That's why Christmas is the most fun time of year.

John MacNeil
Central Middle Gr. 7

It means love and kindness. It means getting together to celebrate Jesus' birthday or being helpful to others. It also means playing with toys and giving and not just getting.

No Name
Central Middle Gr. 7

Christmas means fun and laughter. It means getting gifts under the tree and decorating the tree. It means falling snow and lights wherever you look. Christmas means the most of all is giving and sharing. Sharing and giving with all your friends and family.

Karen Regar
Broad Meadows Gr. 3

Sharing, caring and kindness. Christmas is giving and sharing how much you love one another. Christmas is when friends and relatives spend a day out of the year with you. It is when enemies forget their differences and friends become closer. Also, when ever the latest gift means a lot this is what Christmas means to me.

Jennifer Linscott
Broad Meadows Gr. 7

Christmas to me is a pleasure holiday. I like to decorate because I like to put up lights on the windows and the trees inside the house. I like to shop but I hate to wrap the present. I like giving more than receiving. That's what Christmas means to me.

Brian Clifford
Broad Meadows Gr. 7

A day of joy and happiness. We celebrate Christmas as the Lord's birthday. One thing about Christmas, is roast beef in giblet sauce, and I like olives. I like all the things I get for Christmas. The End.

Roland Frenette
Broad Meadows Gr. 7

Christmas is a beautiful time of the year. It's a time for love and giving between family and friends. When you give to someone it tells you that they love you and that you're special to them.

Erica Papkey
Broad Meadows Gr. 7

Love, joy, caring and traditions. They all make Christmas. If it wasn't for Christ's coming we would not have this joyous holiday. Presents are not what make Christmas fun. The spirit of Christmas which is loving and caring should be all that you need. So that is what Christmas means to me.

Tonia Popowity
Broad Meadows Gr. 7

I like Christmas for the things that it brings. Like toys, gifts, presents and so. I also like the sound of Santa saying Ho, Ho, Ho! I also like to see the tree put up with care and before I know it Saint Nicolas will soon be here.

What Christmas Means To Me . . .

I like Christmas because you can go Christmas caroling. I go to the nursing home. The best part is that they give you candy when you leave.

Marci Galligan
Atherton Hough Gr. 3

I like when Santa brings toys for good boys and girls and leaves charcoal for the bad. But I especially like Santa's red cherry nose.

Kristin Gupilli
Atherton Hough Gr. 3

Santa and his sleigh bells ringing so clear. With Rudolph very near. He and his friend reindeer. Having fun flying so high in the sky.

Shawn White
Atherton Hough Gr. 3

Christmas means joy, peace, love, and lots of other things. I like the toys and gifts. I also like the sound of Christmas bells and songs.

Joey Carr
Atherton Hough Gr. 3

Christmas is special to me! And that's clear you see! Hearts filled with hugs and kisses! And dreams that will bring you good wishes! So here's a Merry Christmas to you! Good luck to you through and through!

Jennifer Harper
Atherton Hough Gr. 5

It means to me to celebrate my mother's birthday and Jesus' birthday. We decorate the tree for fun and then on Christmas day we all give presents to the whole family including my grandma and grandpa.

Michael Mullen
Lincoln Hancock Gr. 5

Christmas means love and giving. Christmas is a holiday that's warm and friendly, not like outside. Outside it's cold and unfriendly. Christmas is a very special holiday.

Fanny Cheng
Lincoln Hancock Gr. 5

A time for joy and love and giving gifts. It is a time to celebrate the birth of Christ. Also, it is a time for thanks. I think it is a very good day to go to church.

Matthew Jarnis
Furnace Brook Gr. 3

Red and green, Happiness and joy, Trees and toys.

As far as I can see,

That's what Christmas Means to me.
James Daley
Furnace Brook Gr. 5

Giving to others as well as receiving. It is also a time for caroling. Dreams and wishes come true, all for me and all for you. Yes, Christmas, Christmas, Christmas time, a giving, giving, giving time to others and those you have never met.

Thomas Buche
Furnace Brook Gr. 5

Some new fun to begin. Also, the life of Jesus to remember.

Christmas is the time to play in snow, and to return home with a cheery feeling. Christmas is to give love and act like a cooing dove.

Jerwyn Austria
Furnace Brook Gr. 5

A time for sharing, A time for gifts, and a time for caring.

Christmas is a wonderful time. You know what, it's simply fine!

Sue Sullivan
Furnace Brook Gr. 5

When a young baby boy was born in a manger. Then three wise men came following the brightest star. They came with gifts fit for a king. When they got there from climbing the dunes, they gave him the gifts and said, "You are the king." Then they left. From that day on we have been happy and joyful at Christmas.

Charles Billikas
Furnace Brook Gr. 5

A time to celebrate the birthday of Jesus Christ. You should think of the poor at Christmas and be glad that you are so fortunate. Christmas is a time to give and receive. But don't be too greedy! You should think of Christmas as a celebration and birthday; not your birthday! Don't expect to receive presents because you shouldn't think of yourself only. You should remember your family. Christmas is a wonderful time of the year, I hope that you have a Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year!

Wendy Lovendale
Furnace Brook Gr. 5

Christmas makes me think about Jesus and when He was born. I think about all the people that are homeless and I think about toys, lights, and putting up the tree and decorating it.

Stephen Miller
Atherton Hough Gr. 5

I like Christmas because it is full of love and you laugh and have lots of fun opening your presents. It's like you're never left out of anything and you always have to pick which present to open first. My favorite tradition is having brunch and everybody has it at my house. Then Christmas is over and you have to wait another year.

Jaime Graham
Atherton Hough Gr. 5

Just look at the people they're sharing, caring and loving. Look at the presents and all the trees decorated with reds and greens. Children laughing people singing. That's what Christmas means to me.

Kellie Powers
Atherton Hough Gr. 5

Christmas is a time for giving gifts to other people. It is a time for love, care, and happiness. A time to get together with your family and friends. A time to carry on traditions.

James Menz
Atherton Hough Gr. 5

To me Christmas means Santa and snow on the rooftop. Christmas is a joyful time of year. The Christmas tree is decorated and stockings are hung up on the fireplace. Christmas is a time for giving, fun, and laughter. That's what Christmas means to me.

Christine Neamtu
Furnace Brook Gr. 3

I like Christmas because everybody gets gifts and love. Everybody sings songs and meets other people. Christmas is a time to think of Jesus and where He was born. Every year people go with their families and have fun. That's what Christmas means to me.

Steven Caswell
Broad Meadows Gr. 6

On Christmas night I saw a sight it was a sleigh not far away. A Christmas man all dressed in red with presents to bring to kids in bed.

Darlene Magee
Broad Meadows Gr. 6

It means that a birthday is coming. That is Jesus'. That is the day that Jesus was born. Christmas is a time for sharing also.

Faith Raimondi
Furnace Brook Gr. 3

I think giving is better than receiving, and that the most important boy was born on December 25 in Bethlehem. When Jesus was born he was born in a stable in Bethlehem there was no room in the inns.

The three wise men followed the star to find Jesus. They had gifts for him. There was a fourth wise man he finally came when Jesus did. He searched for 33 years.

John Foley
St. Joseph Gr. 6

Christmas means a lot to me. I am glad we all celebrate Christmas. We can remember God and his birthday. Christmas is a time to be happy and joyful, so have fun. Merry Christmas.

Lisa Jacquard
Webster Gr. 3

Santa comes tonight you know. Leaving gifts and bits of snow. He smokes a pipe with that good smell. And if you're sick, it will make you well. Giving is good and so is sharing. It makes me feel like really caring.

Eric Buckley
Broad Meadows Gr. 6

Christmas is special to me because it is Jesus' birthday. Christmas is special to me because it is a time when I get a Christmas tree and put ornaments on the tree. Christmas is my favorite holiday because my family gets a lot of gifts.

IF YOU'RE A SENIOR CITIZEN, AND YOU'RE WILLING TO SPEND FIVE MINUTES
READING THIS,
WE'LL GIVE YOU TODAY'S CABLE FOR A MONTH, FREE.

Until now you probably thought that cable wasn't for you. That it was just an extra expense. If you'll be good enough to spare us your time, we've got some facts that may well change your mind.

There's always something good on today's cable.

You'll always find programs to entertain you, inform you and keep you in touch, just when you're in the mood. Cable's even got programming especially for seniors. You don't have to watch more, you just enjoy it more.

CABLE ISN'T JUST MORE TV.

BASIC.
THE HEART OF
THE CABLE DIFFERENCE.

People often think that cable must be expensive. But the fact is that the essence of cable, Basic Cable, is really a bargain. For $11.25 a month you get great reception on the channels you're getting now, plus 33 fascinating new channels. Here's just a taste of what they offer:

- Senior Spotlight with local personalities and senior issues
- Senior Nutrition and Senior Exercise
- The Discovery Channel with the world of nature and science
- Senior Smarts and the Senior Dating Game
- Classics from the golden days of TV and Hollywood
- Lifetime with tips on finance and life extension
- C-Span with coverage from Congress
- News, 24 hours a day, world, financial and local
- Country and Classical music, The Home Shopping Network
- Economics of one and two person households
- National Geographic Explorer Series every week
- Plus The Weather Channel and documentaries not seen on ordinary TV

If Basic is the heart of cable, Senior Service is the soul. Our people go out of their way to provide thoughtful, courteous and prompt service to everyone. But especially to senior citizens. Just listen to what some of our senior subscribers have to say about us:

"Senior Smarts has done a great deal to add to the enjoyment of senior citizens and helps to keep them young, active, and important."

Steve Marx

"Let me thank you for your good service and especially for providing such good TV as Mother Angelica."

Mary A. Mahoney

"I'm pleased beyond words...I find your working crew polite, efficient and you keep your word!"

Phyllis Acebo

"It is really a pleasure to deal with honorable people. Thank you very much."

Joe and Esther Ross

We could tell you about cable for hours, but there's no substitute for first hand experience. That's why we're making this special offer to senior citizens only. We'll install cable and give you a month's Basic Cable service, all for free. You can sit back and see what Basic Cable's got for you, without spending a cent.

A GUARANTEE,
NOT A GIMMICK. We don't want you to rush into anything. We're giving you a month's free service to help you make up your mind. If, at the end of it, you're not completely satisfied, we guarantee we'll remove your cable and that will be that. So, what have you got to lose?

If you'd like, to give cable a try, please give us a call at or 471-9611 today. One month after installation, you'll see why some of our happiest subscribers are seniors. Because you'll be happy too.

Raiders Defeat Medford, But Bow To Everett

The North Quincy boys' basketball team opened up last week and broke even in games with Greater Boston League opponents.

Ed Miller's Raiders defeated Medford, 66-45, in their opener, but bowed to Everett, 67-62, in the second game.

North Quincy will play in a Christmas tournament Friday and Saturday night at Weymouth North. The Raiders will face host Weymouth North at 8 p.m. Quincy and Weymouth South also will play with the consolation game Saturday night at 6 and the championship game at 8.

North will host Somerville Tuesday night at 7:30.

Dave Lawless and Bob Sylva were the offensive stars in both games. In the opening night win they had 16 points each. Ted Stevenson had 12 points and Capt. Jim Phelan played outstanding defense.

Lawless scored 23 points and Sylva 22 against Everett as the Raiders were outscored, 20-8, in the third period which proved fatal.

All games at 7:30 unless otherwise noted.

Everett had a 31-24 lead at halftime.

Presidents Get Off On Wrong Foot

The Quincy boys' basketball team hopes to rebound from a 2-18 season, but the Presidents got off on the wrong foot last week as they lost two games to Greater Boston League foes.

John Franceschini's Quincy team had a bad shooting night and dropped its opener to Revere, 62-39, and then lost to Somerville, 57-45.

The Presidents will play Weymouth South Friday night at 6 p.m. in the Christmas Tournament at Weymouth North. North Quincy and Weymouth North also will meet. The consolation game will be Saturday at 6 and the championship game at 8. Quincy will play at Arlington next Tuesday at 7:30.

Quincy hit on only 29 percent of its shots in the opener and trailed, 44-21, at halftime.

Steve Austin had 13 points, Tom Logan scored nine and had six rebounds, Steve Davis played strong defense and Dan Biagini had a fine all-around game.

Steve Cannavo scored 10 points to lead the Presidents

North Swimmers Off To Impressive Start

North Quincy's swim team opened the season in fine fashion last week with two impressive victories.

Bill Walker's Raiders defeated Newton South, 95-76, despite being undermanned due to the flu, after opening up with an easy 105-62 decision over Blue Hills Regional.

North will go to Newton North for its next meet on Tuesday, Jan. 6.

Fred Cawthorne won both the 200-yard freestyle (2:18.5) and the 500 freestyle (6:24.6) in the Newton South meet in addition to anchoring the winning 400 freestyle relay team. The relay team, with Bradley Waltermire, Derek Borek and Paul Nitschke joining Cawthorne, won in 4:18.1.

The Raiders' other winners were Matt McCusker, diving (165.35 points); and Waltermire, 100 freestyle (1:02).

Second places went to Waltermire, 200 freestyle; Jason Moriarty, 200 individual medley; Nitschke, 500 freestyle, and Moriarty, 100 breaststroke.

Taking thirds were Nitschke, 200 freestyle; Harry Towle, 200 individual medley; Chris Burke, 50 freestyle; Kevin Heffernan, diving; Towle, 100 butterfly; Borek, 100 freestyle; Burke, 500 freestyle; David MacKay, 100 backstroke, and John Donlan, 100 breaststroke.

North won the opener over Blue Hills despite three wins by Blue Hills' Rich Potts.

North Quincy's winners were Waltermire in the 200-yard freestyle (2:19.6); Moriarty, 200 individual medley (2:48.8); Eric Giordano, diving (182 points); Brian Ramos, 100 butterfly (1:20.7); Cawthorne, 500 freestyle (6:19.7); Moriarty, 100 breaststroke (1:14.6, and the 400 freestyle relay team of Burke, Nitschke, Cawthorne and Waltermire (4:17.4).

Second places went to Cawthorne, 200 freestyle; Ramos, 200 individual medley; Derek Borek, 50 freestyle; McCusker, diving; Borek, 100 freestyle; Waltermire, 500 freestyle; MacKay, 100 backstroke, and Donlan, 100 breaststroke.

Taking thirds were Nitschke, 200 freestyle; McCusker, 50 freestyle; Burke, 100 freestyle; Nitschke, 500 freestyle; and George Javros, 100 backstroke.

First Ladies Lose Opener, But Rebound Over Somerville

The Quincy girls' basketball team, under new coach Doug McFarlane, broke even in two games against Greater Boston League teams last week.

The First Ladies dropped their opener to 59-34, but bounced back to defeat Somerville, 45-35.

Quincy will play Weymouth South at 5 p.m. Friday in the opening round of the Christmas Tournament at North Quincy. North Quincy and Weymouth North will play in the other game. The consolation game will be Saturday at 5 and the championship game at 7. The First Ladies will host Arlington next Tuesday at 12:30 p.m.

Kristin McGhee and Gayle Morrell scored eight points each against Revere but Quincy trailed, 28-13, at the half. Sue Parry had a fine all-around game and Linda Walsh chipped in with six points. The big difference was at the foul line where Revere hit on 23 of 32 shots.

In the win over Somerville, combined for 15 rebounds and five steals and Ginny Duggan turned in an excellent all-around game.

North Girls Get Off To Winning Start

The North Quincy girls' basketball team, hoping to make the Eastern Mass. Tournament for the fourth time in seven years, got off to a fine start in that direction last week with two victories over Greater Boston League teams.

Paul Bregoli's Raiderettes, who lost four of their five starters from last year's 17-5 team, breezed past Medford, 56-17, and then defeated Everett, 41-42.

The North girls will host a Christmas Tournament Friday and Saturday and will face Weymouth North Friday night at 7. Quincy and Weymouth South will play in the other game and the consolation game will be Saturday at 5 p.m. and the championship game at 7. The Raiderettes will be at Somerville next Tuesday at 12:30.

Bregoli used all 16 of his players against Medford as North never trailed after Tricia Koski grabbed an offensive rebound and scored the season's first basket.

North led, 11-4, after one quarter and increased its lead to 24-12 at the half. Marybeth Maloney made two steals for layups, the last at the buzzer.

The Raiderettes completely shut down Medford's offense in the second half, holding the Mustangs to five points. North outscored them, 18-1, in the third quarter and it was a breeze from then on.

Nancy Flukes had 13 points and five rebounds. Rita Rooney, named the "Balducci Player of the Game," had 12 points and seven rebounds and Anne McGuigan had nine points. Sophomore Kellene Duffy, Patty Feeney, Nancy Leonard, Karrie Pistorino and Lisa Mitton also played well.

Everett looked ready to blow out the Raiderettes after having lost a heartbreaker to Newton North take a 16-8 first quarter lead.

North changed from a zone to a man-to-man defense in the second quarter and stayed in the game with the hot shooting of Maureen Donovan, who hit for 10 second quarter points on five-for-five shooting after scoring four in the opening session.

McGuigan and Flukes had four points each as North pulled into a 26-26 halftime tie.

The Raiderettes pulled ahead, 37-34, after three quarters behind the shooting and playmaking of Flukes and McGuigan. Defensively, North's quickness and pressure tactics from the guards began to wear down Everett's outstanding Rotondo sisters. Maloney, Leonard, Pistorino and Duffy took turns harassing Everett's guards.

Everett twice closed to within three in the final quarter but the Raiderettes fought off the Crimson Tide thanks to the playmaking of Flukes, the inside offensive play of McGuigan and the full-court pressure of Maloney and Pistorino.

McGuigan scored nine of her career high 17 points in the last quarter and dominated the boards, with 11 rebounds and two blocked shots. Donovan had a career high 16 points, Flukes 11 points and a school-tying eight assists and Koski seven points.

"Except for the first quarter against Everett, we played excellent ball in both games," said Bregoli. "I was especially impressed with the defense. Some of our younger players were able to gain valuable experience. Gradually, some of the sophomores and juniors will be making bigger contributions, especially during our Suburban League schedule."

North's Veterans Nucleus Makes Jago Optimistic

-TOM SULLIVAN

The North Quincy hockey teams just missed winning the Suburban League title and have qualified for the state tournament each of the last three years after an absence of 23 years and coach Kevin Jago feels this year's team will do well with a good nucleus of veterans.

The Raiders, who made an excellent showing in the recent Quincy Youth Arena jamboree, opened their season last week against Revere, and won, 6-3. They will be at Everett Saturday night at 7:30 and next Tuesday will host Malden at 9 p.m. at the Youth Arena.

The past two seasons North finished just one point out of first place in the Suburban League and three years ago finished only two points out.

"We have a fair nucleus and everyone has improved since the start of practice," said Jago. "We did well in scrimmages against Weymouth North and Weymouth South and I was pleased with our showing in the jamboree. We defeated Norwood, 4-0, and Plymouth-Carver, 2-1. Scoring six goals in 24 minutes was a good sign."

Junior Brian Mahoney, who saw a lot of action last season, has the inside track on the goalie spot and two promising sophomores, Steve Sugarman and Jeff McClorey, have looked good in practice.

Paul McGrath, a sophomore who saw a lot of ice time last year as a freshman, heads the defensemen and is joined by senior Michael Tenney, sophomores Richie Connolly and Joe Keegan and freshman

All home games at North Youth Arena.

John Keegan, Joe's brother.

"Our main concern is defense with three sophomores and a freshman," said Jago. "But they all are improving all the time."

The white line is made up entirely of senior veterans, co-captains Mark Simonelli and Mark Zimmerman and John Pacino.

The red line has three juniors, Billy Dineen, Jay Rodriguez and Matt Furtado, and a promising third line comprises senior David Young and two freshmen, Brian Zimmerman and Sal Mangano.

Others striving to make the varsity are senior Joe Boti, junior Bob Thomas and sophomores Jim Leonard and Bobby Kane.

"I expect the white and red lines to do well, especially the white line with his experience," Jago said. "I must be able to use the third line from time to time because if we have to go with just two lines we will be in trouble. The third line has done well in practice and if I can use them to give the other two lines a rest, we could do all right."

Jago has Rick Avery back as junior varsity coach and varsity aide, who works with the defensemen and has earned Jago's praise for his work.

Dick Tapper is back as freshman coach and the freshmen will play a separate 10-12 game schedule.

Mite A's Win 2

Quincy's Mite A team, sponsored by DAV #79, won its third and fourth straight games, defeating Belmont, 7-1, last Saturday and Dorchester, 7-4, Sunday. The team is now 9-1-1 in the Greater Boston League.

Belmont jumped out in front with a goal at the first period buzzer, but Quincy tied it in the second period on Mark Regan's goal.

Quincy's defensemen, Jenna Nolan, Jason Fennelly, John Healy, Danny Hughes, Danny Stone and Danny Donahue pulled together to keep the puck out of reach during two straight Quincy penalties in the first period and another in the second.

Quincy exploded for six goals in the third period. Ronnie McGann scored the first on a pass from Steven Barrett, then 30 seconds later scored again on a pass from Jamie Murphy.

David Rowell scored to make it 4-1 and five minutes later Chris Grant scored with Brendan O'Brien and Paul Princiotti assisting. McGann completed a hat trick and Regan scored his second goal with an assist for Healy.

Tom Moriarty and Matt Logan contributed fine playmaking and goalie Mark Smith was outstanding.

Dorchester jumped off to a quick lead with goal 20 seconds into the game. O'Brien tied it with an unassisted goal eight seconds later. It was O'Brien again on a beautiful point pass from Donahue for the go-ahead goal.

Dorchester, hoping to avenge an earlier defeat, tied it up late in the first period.

The second period was three Dorchester penalties and two for Quincy. Rowell scored the go-ahead goal on a centering pass from Regan, then Regan took passes from Rowell and Nolan to put Quincy up, 4-2.

In the third period Dorchester scored twice to make it 4-4 but Smith made a spectacular save to rob Dorchester of the go-ahead goal and Murphy put Quincy ahead with passes from Barrett and Donahue.

Fennelly passed to McGann, who made it 6-4 and O'Brien completed a hat trick for the final goal.

Quincy will play in the Santa Claus tournament at Hingham's Pilgrim Arena, facing the undefeated Scituate Seahawks in the first round Friday.

Squirt A's Win Pair

Quincy's Squirt A team, sponsored by South Boston Savings, won two games over the weekend, defeating Canton, 4-3, and South Boston, 5-3.

In the Canton game Brian Wood opened the scoring for Quincy with Brian Connolly assisting. Canton tied it up late in the first period and took the lead with 35 seconds left in the period.

Canton widened its lead to 3-1 with a goal with three minutes left in the second period. Quincy came back with two goals in less than two minutes to tie the score. The first was scored by Connolly with Joe Carinci and Wood assisting and Jim Keegan had the tying goal with 40 seconds left in the period. Jamie Schatzl and Andrew Vermette assisting.

Carinci scored the winning goal in the final period with an assist for Wood.

In the South Boston game it wasn't until midway in the second period that Schatzl put Quincy in front with an assist for Jim Keegan.

Brian Connolly followed with two unassisted goals.

Wood rounded out the scoring with two goals in the third period. Connolly and Jay Evans assisting.

Joey MacLennan was outstanding in both games.

Correction

In listing the Quincy Point Panthers' selections to the Quincy Youth Football League's all-star team in last week's edition of the Quincy Sun, the name of Bobby Crespi was omitted. Crespi had an excellent season as he played his fourth and last year for the league runners-up.

Sylvia Hopes To Get Quincy Icemen Back In Groove

By TOM SULLIVAN

Bob Sylvia started his 23rd season as Quincy High's hockey coach and the veteran skipper hopes to rebound from his worst two seasons. The Presidents opened the season against Somerville last week and lost, 4-1.

Quincy will host Malden Saturday night at 7:50 at the Quincy Youth Arena and Monday will play at Medford at 8 p.m.

Sylvia has led many of his teams into the state tournament but the Presidents haven't made it for the past four years and they won only three games each of the past two seasons.

"We may have our troubles this season, depending upon how strong the Suburban League is, but I am much more hopeful for the future than I was a year ago," said Sylvia. "Last year just one freshman came out for hockey and our freshman coach, George Peachey, worked with Bob Troup with the junior varsity. I was very discouraged with our future but this year 16 candidates came out for the freshman team and will play a 15-game schedule.

"If we had no freshmen reporting this year, it could have meant the end of the sport here. However, we have mostly juniors on the varsity and, with a fine looking freshman group, our outlook is much brighter for the next few seasons."

Last winter the Presidents finished at 3-15-1 and didn't have a win in the Suburban League.

"We weren't blown out of any games and lost several close games," Sylvia said. "We just gave up too many cheap goals and this year we must make the other teams earn their goals and not give up cheap ones.

"I know we'll give up goals, and we must score ourselves. I think if we play good defense and not give up a lot of cheap goals, we will be competitive."

Greg Chambers, a junior, has the inside track on the goalie spot and is backed up by Joe Straughn and Neil O'Callahan, who played.

jayvee hockey a year ago.

"Greg is a forward/defenseman who turned to goal when he knew we needed a goalie," the Quincy coach said. "He is a gutsy kid and I think he will prove adequate. Straughn and O'Callahan are improving and should help."

The defensemen are Jon Berton, Shawn O'Neil, Wayne Chambers, Chris LaForest and Rich Manupelli, all of whom have done well in practice.

Quincy's top line, the green line, comprises Adam MacGregor, Chuck Quigley and Paul Scolia. Sylvia will depend on this line for scoring punch.

The red line is made up of Tim Hall, Rod Davis and Hank Miller and the white line has Kevin Provenzano, Brian Taylor and Joe Cotter. Also trying for varsity spots are Ricky Ames, Michael O'Brien, Dan Hurley, Dave Kraunelis, Scott Sterling, Don Burke and Karl Staskywiec.

The only seniors on the three lines, defense and in goal are Straughn, Manupelli, MacGregor, Hall and Provenzano.

Quincy lost to Walpole and tied Milton in the recent jamboree held by the Youth Arena. "Walpole has one of the best looking teams I've seen," Sylvia said.

"This is a hard working group with a fine attitude. The green line, I know, will produce and the white and red lines must produce more than last year. The boys on these lines must have 6-10 goal seasons. These boys know where they are at and they want to make up for the past two seasons."

Peachey is enthused about the excellent freshman turnout and is looking forward to playing a full schedule.

The freshman goalies are Fred Regan and Craig Galligan, the defensemen are Joe Derry, Dave Melly, Jeff Bina and Kenny Staskywiec, and the forwards are Dave Pitts, Steve McInnis, Scott Curtin, Brian Gannon, Michael Baniban, Mark MacLennan, Steve Sumpter and Paul Shine.

QUINCY'S Bob Barrett, the finest quarterback ever to play for Curry college, receives the trophy as the team's Most Valuable Player from coach John Doherty at the team's annual awards banquet.

Key Role For B.C.

John McManus of Quincy played a key role in the Boston College High cross-country team winning its first state Catholic Schools championship this fall.

McManus finished sixth as the Eagles' runners placed fourth, fifth, sixth, seventh and eighth.

The victory was especially sweet as it reversed an early-season defeat by league rival Xaverian. It marked the first time in 16 years that the Eagles had defeated Xaverian. The early season loss to Xaverian was the only blemish on an otherwise perfect season for B.C. High.

Quincy Art Assn. Donates 50 Paintings To Hospital

The Quincy Art Association recently presented to the administrators of Medfield State Hospital 50 oil paintings by members of the art association.

The presentors were Kay Hansen, the current president, and Marilyn Reisberg, former president, of the Quincy Art Association.

Accepting the paintings on behalf of Judith Joseph, Chief Operating Officer of Medfield State Hospital, were Jay Mitchell, director of Core and Administrative Services, and Dr. Donald Dellario, director of Organization and Program Development.

Betty Gehling, Director of Volunteer Services, initially contacted the Quincy Art Association to request that a mural be painted on the wall of the ward which housed patients from the South Shore area.

After the request was made, money was appropriated from the State Legislature, as a result of Gov. Michael Dukakis's effort to improve treatment for the mentally ill.

Buildings were being renovated at Medfield State Hospital and plans for the patients to be re-located into these buildings were made for within the year.

Once again, the Quincy Art Association was contacted and asked rather than painting a mural, to do some oil paintings that would enhance the beauty of the areas.

The result of their efforts was the contribution of 50 paintings.

According to Medfield State Hospital, the donation has been received with great enthusiasm from all concerned.

Marvin McNally, former Director of the South Shore Unit and now the newly appointed Director of Clinical Services, said that it was an especially appreciated gift to have an organization from the community participate in the creation of the new hospital environment.

FIFTY OIL PAINTINGS were recently donated by the Quincy Art Association to Medfield State Hospital. ## STARSCOPE

By Clare Annswell

WEEK OF: December 25

AQUARIUS — January 21-February 19
Friction on the homefront can be avoided if you take on a diplomatic role. Higherups are admiring your initiative and your leadership abilities. Joint venture pays off.

PISCES — February 20-March 20
Overdue praise comes from a higherup, and relationships with co-workers improve gradually. Reunions bring with them a healthy share of nostalgia. Financial news-brightener comes unexpectedly.

ARIES — March 21-April 20
Partnerships are highlighted, but be sure to discuss all matters involving joint finances. You may be involved in a new and possibly offbeat assignment. Children seek your encouragement.

TAURUS — April 21-May 22
Events that you sponsor this week prove especially noteworthy. Interesting projects needs more research before you agree to sign on. Sports events and fitness programs are in the picture.

GEMINI — May 23-June 21
Careful research can lead to important discoveries. Family functions are more relaxed thanks to your gracious touches. Good time for planning career or personal goals.

CANCER — June 22-July 22
Look into new opportunities for earning added income. You may find yourself campaigning for a candidate or a favorite cause. Romantic situation appears to be on a steadier course.

LEO — July 23-August 22
Self-confidence soars thanks to recent accomplishment. Good week for brightening wardrobe or sprucing up home setting. Be careful to allow enough time for visits and appointments.

VIRGO — August 23-September 22
Week includes some pleasant adventures, surprise announcements, and a renewal of a commitment. An exciting job can be yours for the asking; be sure to ask the right person.

LIBRA — September 23-October 22
Behind the scenes activities suggest a boost in prestige and possibly a reward. An injured friendship shows signs of recovery; don't rush the healing process.

SCORPIO — October 23-November 21
Good week for keeping a journal or diary. You hear some delightful stories and anecdotes, and have a talent for recording them. Intimate evening may prove unexpectedly crowded.

SAGITTARIUS — November 22-December 22
Critical relatives become more supportive. Events include a blend of quite reunions and large-scale gatherings. Be sure to find time to express your feelings to a loved one.

CAPRICORN — December 23-January 20
Financial planning is highlighted now. Supervisor is eager to hear your plans and willing to give you a chance. Love life perks up and you project a very positive image.

BIRTHDAY THIS WEEK
When you set your sights on a goal, you persevere with determination. This year sees you redesigning some of your blueprints—especially those related to career and education. Personal relationships and new commitments are accented, and travel is brightly spotlighted toward mid-'87.

BORN THIS WEEK
December 25th, singer Barbara Mandrell; 26th, actor Alan King; 27th, actress Marlene Dietrich; 28th, actress Maggie Smith; 29th, actress Mary Tyler Moore; 30th, actor Russ Tamblyn; 31st, John Denver.

Optimistic Credit Rating Will Be Raised

By NANCY McLAUGHLIN

Mayor Francis McCauley said he is optimistic that the city's credit rating will be raised after visits to two financial rating firms in New York City last week.

But he said the city will probably have to wait until March to receive an answer from Moody's and Standard & Poors.

"They both said they would let us know when we go to borrow $8.5 or $9 million for renovation and addition to the Police Station and a new Animal Shelter in March," McCauley said.

"It was a good trip," said McCauley, who explained that the group met for about two hours with each firm.

Making the trip with McCauley were new Planning Director Richard Meade, the mayor's executive secretary Peter Kenney, auditor Robert Foy, and representatives of Shawmut Bank.

"We updated them on where we have come from since a year ago," said McCauley. "I think the numbers were very good."

McCauley said updates were given on Presidents' Place, Crown Colony Place and Marina Bay, all major developments in the city.

"They asked a lot of questions about General Dynamics and the future of the shipyard in terms of usage, employment and taxes.

"We said we were hopeful someone would go in there."

McCauley said he told the two firms that Quincy's future is bright.

"We have a lot of development, but we're taking steps to control it," he said.

"Bob Foy told the firms that we are in better financial shape now than when we had a Double A rating in the early 1970s," according to McCauley.

"I'm optimistic, but we have to wait."

Faulty Christmas Lights Seen Cause Of $100,000 Fire

Faulty lights on a Christmas tree are thought to be the cause of a three-alarm fire which caused an estimated $100,000 damage to a single family home in Wollaston Saturday.

There were no reported injuries, according to Acting Fire Chief Carl Valenti.

Janice Cawley of 225 Pine St., was alerted to the late morning fire by smoke alarms which went off in the family room, Valenti said.

Mrs. Cawley ran into the room, saw the Christmas tree going up in flames and took her children Scott, 4, and Laura, 2, outside to safety, said Valenti.

Her husband, Richard Cawley, was not at home at the time, according to Valenti, who said the tree was a fresh one, not artificial.

The flames extended to the kitchen area, and there was heavy heat and smoke damage to the upper floors, Valenti said. The house is uninhabitable, he said.

The first alarm came in at 11:30 a.m., the second at 11:33 a.m. and the third at 11:36 a.m., according to Valenti. All out was at 1:06 p.m.

Valenti said that six engines, three ladder truck companies, one rescue and one special ladder truck responded to the fire. Milton and Weymouth covered the Quincy stations, Mutual aid from Boston, he said.

QUINCY FIREFIGHTERS hose down the rubble from a three-alarm fire on Pine St., Wollaston, which caused an estimated $100,000 damage to the home of the Richard Cawley family.

Pilot Whale Beaches In Squantum

A 12-foot male pilot whale found dead Christmas morning on a rocky shore in Squantum may be a straggler from two mass strandings on Cape Cod, authorities are speculating.

Earlier this month 76 whales died during two mass strandings on a 20-mile stretch between Eastham and Wellfleet on Cape Cod.

According to Greg Early, assistant curator of the New England Aquarium in Boston, the 1,200 pound whale was not tagged and there was no way to determine if it was one of about 25 whales pushed back into the water during the first mass beaching.

Early said there had been a report Wednesday a lone whale was swimming close to shore in the area just south of Boston.

Police were notified of the beaching about 8 a.m. Thursday.

Coast Guard and Quincy police officials attempted to push the whale back into the water but were unsuccessful. The carcass was taken to the city dump later Christmas Day.

Last week during the second stranding, 37 whales died, some by lethal injection to prevent prolonged suffering.

Fourteen of 16 dead whales examined to date from the Cape strandings were infected with a flu virus. Researchers are currently studying what role, if any, it played on the mammals' behavior.

For $1,687,000 County To Sell Old Courthouse To City

By NANCY McLAUGHLIN

The Norfolk County Commissioners have notified Mayor Francis McCauley of their intent to sell to the city the Old Quincy Courthouse at 20 Coddington St. for about $1,687,000.

The city would then sell the courthouse to the developers of the proposed $55 million Presidents' Place in Quincy Sq., according to McCauley.

"The property, consisting of a 50,271 square foot parcel improved with a 28,500 square foot building is surplus to the needs of the county," stated the commissioners.

"Proceeds from the sale will be used to supplement ever-increasing budgetary demands," they stated.

It was noted that the land and building are currently leased to the city to house its junior college.

"Considering the public nature and years of service of that institution, proposals providing accommodations for the Quincy Junior College in redeveloping the property will be one of the significant considerations," the commissioners said.

The Boston Valuation Group determined the market value, according to the commissioners.

McCauley said that the market was in the same ballpark as the two appraisals by the city of $1,560,000 and $1,515,000.

"Whatever the cost, it will be passed on to the developers," noted McCauley. "It won't cost the taxpayers a cent."

The commissioners noted that the public will have the opportunity to provide input in the matter at a hearing in Quincy at least 45 days, but no more than 60 days, prior to any sale.

McCauley said he expected that the three appointed representatives for Quincy on the matter would be discussing the situation in the near future.

The city's representatives are Assistant City Solicitor Robert Quinn, Principal Planner Kevin Shea and Administrative Assistant to the mayor, Arthur Foley.

An order regarding acquisition of the Norfolk County Courthouse was submitted to the City Council in mid December and referred to the Downtown and Economic Development Committee.

Koch Challenge Hearing Continued To Jan. 8

By BOB BOSWORTH

The Board of Registrars voted Monday to reschedule to Jan. 8 a hearing to determine whether Richard Koch Jr. will remain on the city voting list and in his city council at-large seat.

The hearing will be at 10 a.m. in the City Council chambers.

City Clerk John Gillis said the board voted for advisement to give members time to "study the laws and (city) charter and then they will come up with a decision."

The hearings have resulted from a complaint filed Oct. 28 by John J. Walsh, 36 Surfside Lane, Squantum, charging Koch has relinquished his right to vote in Quincy since he moved to Brewster last April.

Describing Koch as an "absentee legislator," Walsh charged Koch had "illegally and or incorrectly registered."

Koch was not present at the hearing. Gillis said Koch called Monday morning informing him he could not attend the hearing.

Gillis gave no reason why Koch was absent.

If the board votes in favor of Walsh, Koch's name would be removed from the city voting list and his seat vacated. The City Council would then meet to fill that vacancy.

Ron Iacobucci, who has been the only City Council-at-large challenger the last two municipal elections is considered to be the likely appointee if there is one.

Koch is midway through his third two-year term. He has said he will not seek reelection.

Appearing before the board, Walsh said Koch "has, since on or about April 26, 1986, not on one occasion, utilized the premises at 164 West Elm Avenue in Quincy for residential purposes."

Walsh added "although an individual may live in more than one community, they can only have one legal residence for voting purposes."

Board members include Gillis, John Papile, Louise Randall and Charles Sweeney.

Public Safety Committee To Meet Jan. 5

The Public Safety Committee

tee of the Quincy City Council will meet Monday, Jan. 5, at 7 p.m. in the Council Chambers at City Hall.

Topic will be a resolve introduced by Councillor James Sheets requesting that parts be kept on hand for the immediate repair of signalization equipment.

Granite Co-Op Declares Dividend

Granite Co-operative Bank announces that the Board of Directors has declared a cash dividend of 10 cents per share. The dividend is payable Jan. 15 to stockholders of record as of Dec. 31.

This dividend is the third paid by Granite since its conversion from mutual stock in April, 1986.

1986 In Review

For The Most Part It Was An Upbeat Year

By NANCY McLAUGHLIN

The year 1986 was a largely upbeat one for the city.

Development played a big role as estimated construction for the fiscal year almost tripled over last year's.

Plans were announced for the $55 million Presidents' Place project proposed for downtown Quincy.

Construction continued at Marina Bay, North Quincy, and plans moved forward for Crown Colony Place, West Quincy.

Ground breaking ceremonies were held for the $57 million replacement facility at Quincy City Hospital.

In an effort to control development, the City Council voted to impose height and density limits, and the Council's Task Force for Review of Zoning Ordinances came out with an 87-page report urging "major changes" in zoning ordinances.

The city won a major victory when a jail was sited in Boston rather than Moon Island in Squantum.

It suffered a loss when General Dynamics Quincy Shipyard closed its doors after 102 years.

Quincy also bid farewell to a beloved son, former Mayor-Senator Thomas Burgin.

Some of the highlights of 1986 were:

JANUARY

Plans were unveiled to turn the Bargain Center and nearby property into the "Copley Place of downtown Quincy."

The $45 million project, later to be known as Presidents' Place, would include retail, commercial and residential space, Mayor Francis McCauley announced at a news conference.

McCauley said that the Ricciardi Company of Quincy had purchased the Bargain Center property for about $3 million and would join with Campanelli Industries of Braintree in developing it.

The Boston Five Cent Savings Bank would finance, and be the principal tenant, of the 225,000 square foot project.

Planning Director James Lydon said it was the single largest development project ever in downtown Quincy. "It's the Copley Place of downtown Quincy," he said.

Lydon said the project would stretch from the Old Elks Building on Hancock St. to the Bargain Center, and from there down to the old Quincy District Courthouse on Coddington St.

If other properties are not purchased privately, urban renewal could come into force and the city could take some land by eminent domain, said McCauley. The old courthouse, which provides classroom space for Quincy Junior College, was among the properties being considered for the project.

Stephen Ricciardi of Ricciardi Co. said the Bargain Center had up to a year to vacate the building. Maxwell Van Dam, Martin Ross and Joel Clark had operated the Bargain Center, a Quincy Square landmark, for 49 years.

Building 19 announced that it would liquidate the Bargain Center's entire inventory at the Quincy Sq. location.

The city bid farewell to a beloved son after the death of former mayor-senator Thomas S. Burgin who died at age 83 after a battle with cancer.

He was laid to rest at Mt. Wollaston Cemetery overlooking the city he loved and served during a distinguished political career which spanned 38 years.

"His occupation of the mayor's office over five terms was marked in Quincy by what was called in an early FORMER MAYOR-SENATOR Thomas S. Burgin, whose public service spanned nearly four decades, died in January at the age of 83.

"Tom's personality was the large reason for that, and Quincy citizens will thus recall Tom as an individual who, by simply being himself, helped to produce over a long period of time what was in the main, a happy and peaceful community," stated Reardon, also a former Massachusetts Supreme Court Justice.

The eulogy by Judge Reardon, who had recently undergone throat surgery, was read by Forrest I. Neal, Jr., another close friend and former chairman of the MBTA, during a simple but touching memorial service at United First Parish Church, Quincy Sq.

The music and other details of the service, attended by more than 170 people, were specified by Mr. Burgin before his death.

During inauguration ceremonies at Quincy Vocational Technical School, Mayor Francis McCauley said he would introduce a home rule petition to increase the term of office of mayor from two to four years.

McCauley, who was sworn into his third term, also proposed that the terms of office of city councillors be increased from two to four years.

"In recent years, there has been a trend in this country both at the local level with mayors and at the state level with governors and constitutional officers throughout the country to increase the terms of office to mayors and governors from two years to four years," said McCauley.

The home rule petition would have to be adopted by the council, signed by the mayor and sent on to the legislature.

Ward 5 Councillor Stephen McGrath, who was unanimously elected City Council president, proposed the creation of committees on

'Citizen Of Year' Nominations Deadline Today

Today (Wednesday) is your last chance to have a voice in who will be Quincy's "Citizen Of The Year" for 1986.

All nominations must be in The Sun office, 1372 Hancock St., Quincy Sq. today.

After nominations close, a judging panel will be selected to make the final choice from the nominations submitted.

Last year's winner was Tony Siciliano, Deputy Director of Civil Defense and Auxiliary Police Chief. He was selected from among 31 nominees.

The award was established last year by The Sun to recognize an individual for outstanding community service.

The honor may be for a single achievement or for community service over a period of time.

Anyone receiving one nomination will be considered for the award. The award will not necessarily go to a person receiving the most nominations. The judging panel will make the final selection.

The name of the winner will be made in January.

Here is the opportunity for you to voice your opinion as to who is Quincy's "Citizen Of The Year" for 1986.

Today is the final opportunity.

Siciliano For City Council?

If you're waiting for a fresh new face to appear on Quincy's political scene, there may be one coming up.

Tony Siciliano is thinking of making a bid for City Councillor at-large.

As Deputy Civil Defense Director, Auxiliary Police Chief and friend of those who need help in a snow storm, hurricane, flood, etc., his face isn't exactly new.

But politically it is. And fresh, too. "I'm giving it serious thought," he says.

Right now he's checking for any potential conflict problems.

His civil defense and auxiliary police jobs are non-paying. No conflict there.

But he is also a paid foreman in the General Services Division of the Quincy Police Department. And that is what he is checking out.

"So far," he says, "I haven't run into any indication there would be a conflict."

I've been told I can run. I just want to be sure before I do."

One of the most popular figures in the city, Siciliano would have to be considered a serious contender if he tosses his hat into the council at-large ring.

SICILIANO

WELL, Brian Buckley has done it again.

BUCKLEY

AND FRIEND
she's at least an 11.

The coordinator of the Quincy Youth Commission and Quincy Council on Aging came up with another celebrity Christmas card this year.

This one featured a photo of himself with Bo Derek taken during a visit to the area.

On a scale of 1 to 10, Buckley says

In past years, Buckley's cards have shown him with Bob Hope, Rafer Johnson of Olympics fame, Bobby Orr, Reggie Jackson, Rodney Dangerfield, Carroll O'Connor and Jerry (The Beaver) Mathers.

He just talks them into posing with him. "They've all been great," he says.

Buckley already has his eye out for next year's Christmas card co-host.

Wonder if Princess Di is going to be in the area?

MOST EYES WILL be on the University of Miami and Penn State football players in the Fiesta Bowl Jan. 2.

But a delegation from Quincy will also be watching Hurricanes drill team member Andrea Cavrich just as closely.

A freshman at the University of Miami, she is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Cavrich of Wethersville, Conn. Mom is the former Ann Marie Gacia of Quincy.

Members of the Gacia family are going to the game, including Andrea's grandmother, Pearl, long active in the Emblem Club.

WJDA staff announcer Bill Coleman is proudly handing out cigars. He and his wife, Deborah are the parents of a son, their first child, born Christmas Day at Brigham and Women's Hospital where she is a nurse.

Casey James arrived at 12:06 a.m. and weighed in 9 pounds, 10½ ounces.

Proud Pop is the son of Ken Coleman, the radio voice of the Boston Red Sox, who got his career start at WJDA. His late uncle, Bill, was also with WJDA.

SUN CH. 8's Frank Cammarata will make his "network debut" on an upcoming Spenser episode. He plays one of several detectives rooting for a colleague trying to win $3 million on a wheel-of-fortune game show. The episode will be shown in six or eight weeks.

CAMMARATA

OBSERVATION via the Quincy Kiwanis Club newsletter (and from wherever they got it): "Diplomacy is the art of letting someone else have your way."

The Christmas Spirit At Grill 29

Editor, The Quincy Sun:

As members of the Braintree Hospital Stroke Club, we would like to publicly thank Grill 29 of the Quincy Bay Inn of North Quincy for the beautiful Christmas Cheer and Good Will they showed to us on Tuesday, Dec. 9.

We were invited for a dinner at their expense. A bus was sent to pick us up and bring us to their restaurant where we were treated like royalty. The food was fabulous and the entertainment was an accordion player who was super. He played Christmas carols and old time songs while we ate.

After dinner he took the time to teach those who were able to dance a little, some line dances. The host and hostess, plus the waitresses treated us with great respect and dignity.

We believe that this is what would be called at this time of the year, the "Christmas Spirit" and again cannot say enough about them except, thanks again and again.

Enjoys Sun (Quincy) In California

Editor, The Quincy Sun:

Whenever my Quincy Sun copy arrives I read it from cover to cover including classified section.

Over the years I have seen many changes in Quincy through the eyes of your paper.

I have read of the death of long time friends, and also the good things like marriages, promotions, new births in the family.

I especially miss this time of year. The annual Thanksgiving morning game at the stadium (now with lights) and Quincy decorated for Christmas.

One of the changes which had a big impact on myself was the closing of The Bargain Center. My mother, aunt, cousins, and my wife and many friends have all worked at The Bargain Center in our time, so there are memories.

Thank you again for your great paper. It keeps me close to Quincy.

A 'Thank You' From United Way

Editor, The Quincy Sun:

The efforts of thousands of area residents and the local media paid off recently in a record-breaking fund-raising drive for the United Way of Massachusetts Bay. We raised over $42.2 million—generating 3.2 million new dollars over last year—making the local United Way drive one of the best in the country.

The residents and employees of United Way's South Region (21 communities south of Boston) were especially generous. Contributions totalled $1,011,012—a whopping 107 per cent of the area goal!

Last year, more than 100,000 residents of the South Region were served by United Way agencies. Chances are, that number includes our families, our friends, our neighbors, and ourselves.

Contributions to United Way benefit the hungry, the homeless, victims of domestic violence, cancer research, drug and alcohol abusers, senior citizens, families needing day care, and more. This record-breaking campaign, therefore, offers hope to the entire community.

Our appreciation and thanks extend to all who gave of their time and resources to the United Way...the best way to help so many.

education, state and federal funds and human services.

Stephen J. Durkin, 29, was unanimously elected vice chairman of the Quincy School Committee and said he hoped to restore programs such as Project Outreach and to keep a watchful eye on class sizes.

A home rule petition dropping the requirement of an MD degree for the city's health commissioner was approved by the City Council, signed by the mayor and sent to the legislature for its approval.

The state Fire Marshal's office offered a $1,000 reward for information leading to the arrest and conviction of an arsonist responsible for a series of fires in North Quincy.

Local motorists appeared to be taking heed of the new state law and buckling up before going for a drive. Of 236 motor vehicle violation complaints issued by Quincy Police from Jan. 5 to 11, only three were for seat belt violations.

Councillors Richard Koch, Jr., James Sheets and Theodore DeCristofaro were named chairmen of key committees by council president McGrath.

Koch was named chairman of the finance committee, Sheets of the ordinance committee, and DeCristofaro of the Public Works Committee.

The body of an unidentified man was found in the basement of a Sea St. dentist office at 234 Sea St. The office was listed to a Dr. William L. Mahoney.

Anthony (Tony) Siciliano, Deputy Director of Quincy Civil Defense, was selected as The Quincy Sun's first

"Citizen Of The Year."

Super Bowl Fever was sky high in Quincy, and local merchants offered everything from "Berry the Bear" T-shirts and bumper stickers to cupcakes and other goodies for fans of the New England Patriots about to face the Chicago Bears.

Deaths during January included Edward Faiella, 83, professional athlete in the 1930s and the New England light heavyweight wrestling champion; Josephine Koury, 79, novelist and owner of Koury's Clam Stand on Wollaston Beach; Robert F. Forde, 47, Quincy Police Officer and Dr. Casper J. Budrick, 71, podiatrist in the city for 50 years.

February

Mayor Francis McCauley said he would submit a request for a $19,500 appropriation to the City Council for a study of the Quincy Police Department.

The study would take about four months to complete, McCauley said.

Councillor Richard Koch, Jr., suggested the study in a resolve in January after he questioned some ticketing practices.

The study would be conducted under the direction of the Massachusetts Municipal Association which would bring in consultants with experience in police matters, McCauley said.

Such things as organization and structure, as well as personnel and management would be covered the mayor said.

The question of staffing one man cars would also be among the matters looked at, said McCauley, who added that he and the City Council would be kept informed about the study.

"The study doesn't mean there is anything wrong," noted McCauley, who said the consultants would also report to the architect working on plans for a new police station.

"Studies can be useful. They should be done periodically," according to McCauley, who said that it is done with the hospital and schools through the accreditation process.

"We're not singling out the Police Department," he said.

Acting Fire Chief Carl Valenti said he would remain in that position at least until a new civil service list was established in the late winter or spring of 1988.

The announcement ended speculation which arose when it was learned that Valenti did not pass the second part of the Civil Service exam given the summer before. He had passed the first part.

Valenti, whose score on the second part was 65.7, was

Tasty Hors d'oeuvres For Your New Year's Party

Here are a couple of hors d'oeuvres you can serve at your New Year's party and that can be made ahead of time. With the new roadblock law, I may have an adult pajama party! If you're having breakfast guests, how about some bacon and egg calzone?

First, you could prepare a ham and asparagus roll which is simple and can be made ahead. Marinate some asparagus in your favorite kind of dressing. Roll them in thin slices of cooked ham. Chill. Then you could make a quiche the day before.

SPINACH & RED PEPPER QUICHE

1 medium red pepper (cut up)
1-10 oz package frozen chopped spinach (or one small fresh bag)
½ cup grated cheese
¼ cup flour
1 cup milk
5 eggs

salt and pepper to taste

A couple of slices of orange cheese to decorate the top

1 tsp of chopped onion
Heat oven to 325 degrees. Grease baking dish. In a large bowl, beat the eggs, add the milk and flour. Mix until blended. Then add the rest of the ingredients mixing well. Add strips of cheese on top resembling a flower. Bake for 40-50 minutes. If you use muffin tins to fill individual quiche, they will take about 25 minutes or until the cheese melts. This recipe can fill two dozen muffin cups. You can also use broccoli instead of spinach.

MORNING AFTER CALZONE

Easy dough for one calzone
1 pkg dry yeast

1 cup water
1 tsp salt
1 tsp sugar
2 tbsp oil
2½ cups flour

Put the dry yeast in a large bowl. Add warm water and mix for a couple of minutes. Add the oil, salt and sugar and blend. Add the flour and beat about 20 times. Roll on a floured board with a floured rolling pin. Fill with the following:

FILLING FOR BREAKFAST CALZONE

1 pound bacon
5 eggs
¼ cup water

1 egg to brush on top of calzone

Fry the bacon. Drain and then cut into pieces. Add the bacon to the unbeaten eggs and dry until done. Roll out the dough and put the eggs and bacon in center. Roll and brush top with the egg. Bake in a 400 degree oven for 25-30 minutes.

If you refrigerate, just put the calzone in a warming oven (250 degrees) until heated through (about 15 minutes). Happy New Year!!!

Self Help Group For Sight Loss

VISION Foundation, Inc., a support organization for people coping with sight loss, sponsors a self-help group which meets in Quincy the first Monday of each month at 7 p.m.

Residents of nearby cities or towns are also welcome to attend.

The Quincy group is one of 18 such groups meeting across the state. The groups encourage visually impaired people of all ages and backgrounds to share information, provide emotional support and suggest solutions to common, everyday problems.

"The impact of sudden vision loss can be staggering," says Marshall Weimann, Manager of Self-Help Groups, who has been blind for nearly eight years. "People ask if anyone can understand how they really feel, whether anyone else has gone through this experience, how do they cope? We try to answer these questions in our group meetings."

Each self-help group is led by a visually impaired group coordinator. Transportation is provided to and from each meeting within the general geographic area. The coordinator also serves as a role model for group members.

"We believe in the value of problem-solving by example and in the strength gained through shared experiences," adds Weimann.

If you would like to attend, or be a volunteer driver for a self-help group meeting, call Marshall Weimann at VISION Foundation, (617) 926-4232 or toll free: 1-800-852-3029.

By self-improvement.

Since individuals make up the whole of society, you can simply start with No. 1 - yourself ... You either add desirable or subtract undesirable traits and objectives. You know what they are - better than anyone else. Difficult? Indeed not - not if you really want a Happy New Year ...

How can you do it? Just try to be a little bit better. Have good thoughts, do more good deeds, think more of others, less of self. You will have a better year. You can't miss when someone says - as we are saying right now - "Have a Happy New Year." ... Reply, "I certainly will," it's a grand feeling ... a great way to start a Happy New Year! ...

Crime Watch

By ROBERT HANNA
Crime Prevention Officer
Quincy Police Department

Drugs And Crime

Recently three men were arrested, two in Quincy one in Randolph, for housebreaks. These three men are responsible for more than 50 housebreaks on the South Shore. All three are drug addicts trying to support their habits through crime.

Drug use is responsible for a large portion of crime that occurs in the street. Many of these crimes, housebreaks, robbery, larceny are committed by people that are strung out on drugs and need more money to buy more drugs. Other crimes are committed by people that are under the influence of drugs and don't know what they are doing.

As you may have read in last week's column, crack is a very addictive drug because of the immediate rush that the user gets and the user also gets the feeling of euphoria, power and self-confidence. The only problem is, that this feeling only last from seven to twelve minutes and then the user experiences a severe crash followed by depression, anxiety and a strong craving for more of the drug.

Where the initial effects of the drug only last from seven to twelve minutes, it is easy to see that once addicted it would cost the user hundreds of dollars to keep the high that he/she needs, and that would be on a daily basis.

You can see from this that the only way an addict can support a habit is through a life of crime.

You can help us combat this drug problem by calling our Drug Information Line. If you have any information on drug use or sales call us at 328-4527. When you call this number you will reach a Quincy Police Narcotics Officer. If you have any information on drug use or sales this officer will take the information without asking you to identify yourself.

If you would like any information on drug use and its affects the officer that answer will be glad to assist you in any way he/she can. We all have to work together to combat the drug problem that is ruining our children.

Remember: Crime Doesn't Pay, YOU Do!
Note: We wish to thank the gentleman on Whitwell St. that gave us the tip that led to the arrest of the two housebreakers last week. If it were not for concerned citizens like yourself, who will become involved, the job of the police officer would be much more difficult.

Holy Communion At Bethany Church

On the first Sunday in the New Year, Jan. 4, Holy Communion will be celebrated in Bethany Congregational Church, Coddington and Spear Sts., Quincy Center.

This symbolizes the desire to be "in communion with the Lord" at the beginning and throughout the year.

The Lord's Supper will be observed both at the 9 a.m. chapel service and at the 10 a.m. sanctuary service.

The Rev. J. William Arnold, senior minister, will preach the Communion meditation at both hours. Rev. Joel F. Huntington, associate minister, will serve as liturgist.

William F. Greene will be the lay scripture reader during the chapel service, and Kenneth Fernald during the sanctuary service.

The Chancel Choir, under the direction of Peter F. Krasinski, organist, will sing as an offertory anthem during the 10 a.m. service. "As With Gladness Men of Old" by Kocher.

The Sunday Church School with classes from pre-school through eighth grade will also meet at 10 a.m. Nursery care for babies and toddlers will be provided during the late service, under the supervision of Denise Fleming. Bethany's professional early childhood coordinator.

A fellowship hour will be held in the Allen Parlor at 11 a.m.

The Administrative Committee, with Louise Forsyth, moderator, will meet at 7 p.m., in room 3 of the Parish House.

The Youth Fellowship, under the leadership of Rev. Huntington, will meet at the church, Sunday evening at 7 p.m.

For additional information concerning Bethany's ministries and programs please contact the church office, 479-7300.

First Parish Minister To Serve In Alaska

LOG CABIN CHURCH in Anchorage, Alaska, will be the next assignment of the Rev. Dr. Cynthia Edson, former interim minister at United First Parish Church (Unitarian), Quincy Sq.

The Rev. Dr. Cynthia Edson will soon be trading the Church of the Presidents, Quincy Sq., for a church in a log cabin made of spruce in Anchorage, Alaska.

Rev. Edson completed her term as interim minister in Quincy recently, and will begin her new assignment in Alaska in February.

The wood structure was originally built for a congregational group and purchased by the Unitarian Universalist fellowship in the mid-1960s, according to Rev. Edson.

"None of the three other UU groups in Alaska have ministers, so I'm looking forward to some travel on weekends off to visit groups in Fairbanks, Juneau and Sitka," she said.

Daughter of William G. Edson of South Braintree and the late Catherine Jane (Wishart) Edson, she became interim minister at United First Parish in September, 1985.

A Merrill Fellow at Harvard in 1983, she served six months as minister of Essex Church in London's Kensington borough, and was interim minister in Beverly for 18 months.

Before going overseas, she had been minister of the Unitarian Church of Bangor, Maine, and taught advertising at Husson College in Bangor, and speech and interpersonal relations at the University of Maine at Orono.

She has also done consulting in overseas living.

New Year Masses At St. John's

The Church of St. John the Baptist, Quincy Center, will celebrate the Solemnity of Mary the Mother of God with Masses New Year's Eve and

New Year's Day. Masses will be Wednesday, Dec. 31 at 4, 5:30 and 7:30 p.m., and Thursday, Jan. 1 at 8 and 10 a.m. and 12:10, 4 and 5:30 p.m.

There are no confessions on Wednesday.

Program For Children With Asthma

A 12-week Physical Conditioning and Asthma Education Program for children with asthma will begin Friday, Jan. 16, at the South Shore Y.M.C.A. in Quincy.

The program, which is beginning its 12th season, is jointly sponsored by the Norfolk County-Newton Lung Association and the South Shore Y.M.C.A.

The program is open to any child with asthma between the ages of 6 and 13. It includes a swimming program, and conditioning exercises and activities. A therapist will also be on hand to teach special breathing, relaxation and daily coping skills.

Interested parents are asked to contact Joseph Stone at the Norfolk County-Newton Lung Association, telephone 668-6729.

8:30 A.M. Guitar Service At First Squantum Church

The First Church of Squantum, 176 Bellevue Rd., will celebrate its guitar service at 8:30 a.m. and traditional service at 10:30 a.m. this Sunday.

A pot-luck dinner will be held Friday, Jan. 16 at 6:15 p.m. The church's annual meeting will be held after the supper at 7 p.m.

Rev. Dr. Gene Langevin gave a sermon on "Two Roads to Christmas" at Sunday's regular morning worship service.

The scripture for the morning was the story of the three wise men, Matthew 2:1-12, and the text for Dr. Langevin's sermon was "Where is he who has been born King of the Jews? For we have seen his star in the East and have come to worship him." (2:2)

The Crusader Choir sang "Let Us Go to Bethlehem," a Spanish-American carol arranged by Roy Ringwald. The Chancel Choir sang "I Heard the Bells on Christmas Day" by Henry W. Longfellow with music by J. Baptiste Calkin. Mary Ruth Scott directed both choirs.

The hymns for the morning were "O Come, All Ye Faithful," "What Child is This, Who Laid to Rest," "God Rest You Merry, Gentlemen," and "Angels We Have Heard On High."

Sandra Stohlberg and her daughter Deborah were the greeters for the morning. Stewart Scott and Tore Wallin were ushers and Grace Holmes and May Lewis hosted the Fellowship Hour after the service.

4-Year Mayor, City Council Terms Rejected

appealing the grade but that was expected to take several months. Passing grade was 70.

McCauley said that Valenti would take the Civil Service Test for chief again in March of 1987.

Deputy Chief Joseph Jackson passed both parts of the test, according to McCauley, but said last summer and more recently that he is happy with his position and is not interested in becoming chief.

There had been speculation that Valenti would ask to be returned to his former position of deputy chief.

"What really convinced me to stay was overwhelming support from all the officers and men who wanted me to stay and be their chief," said Valenti. "That swayed me."

The City Council voted 8 to 1 against McCauley's home rule petition which would increase the terms of mayor and councillors from two to four years.

"The phrase, 'if it ain't broken, don't fix it,' is very appropriate," said council president Stephen McGrath. "The system we have is a good system."

McCauley predicted that four year terms would eventually become a reality in the city, though he said he had no plans to resubmit the petition.

"Change comes hard," said McCauley. "This isn't a radical proposal. In the majority of cities, it is working well."

The council voted to request that the Planning Board study the feasibility of recommending that the General Dynamics Quincy shipyard be rezoned from Industrial B to Planned Unit Development.

"If the yard is sold, we'll have input in what goes there if it is designated PUD," said Councillor Theodore DeCristofaro.

A Finnish firm, the O.Y. Wirsala AB of Helsinki, a leading maker of ice-breaking vessels and cruise ships, indicated an interest in the yard, as did a Houston consulting firm that wanted to build passenger ships.

Meanwhile, the next to last ship, the 1st Lt. Jack Lummus, was christened at the shipyard.

The city, which has no insurance on its public buildings, had to pay from its own pocket to repair $100,000 in damage to the Quincy Vocational Technical School following a three-alarm fire.

"The insurance premiums are so high that we find it better to self-insure our buildings," said McCauley.

The fire started in the spray booth of an auto body classroom at Vo Tech, according to Deputy Chief Thomas Gorman.

A traffic crackdown continued in Quincy Sq. and a two-week limited moratorium on ticketing for overnight parking was called by Police Chief Francis Finn.

The moratorium enabled residents who did not have off street parking to obtain the proper overnight parking permit or to make other parking arrangements.

No major cuts were anticipated in the city's fiscal budget for 1986. A $29.8 million budget was reviewed by the School Committee.

Animal advocates met with Mayor Francis McCauley who agreed to advertise dogs in the Quincy Pound for adoption, as was done by other communities, and to have reports on the animals available at City Hall.

The silver plated bowl presented to Ruth Gordon by the city of Quincy was obtained by the Quincy Historical Society after a $300 bid at an auction of property from Miss Gordon's estate in New York.

"Emily Hoskins Day" was proclaimed in Quincy in honor of the three-year-old Illinois child who was cured of cancer at St. Jude's Children's Research Hospital and "adopted" by Sterling Middle School students who arranged for her visit here.

Deaths during February included: J. Henry Johnson, 78, former attorney for Boston Edison and Co. and an active Masonic leader; Earl F. Gynan, 64, radio announcer; Angelo P. Bizzozero, 94, retired president and owner of Ernest Bizzozero Memorials of Quincy and a former president of the City Council; and Gilbert Adams, 69, an Army corporal during World War II and a prisoner of war in Japan for four months.

MARCH

Mayor McCauley said that the $92,017,245 city budget scheduled to be submitted to the City Council in April would include proposed pay raises for the mayor, City Council and School Committee.

McCauley said he was proposing the raises for the positions of mayor and city councillors to make them comparable to other cities.

The school committee raises were proposed by member Frank Anselmo at a recent meeting of that body.

McCauley proposed a raise from $40,000 to $50,000 a year for the position of mayor, and an increase from $6,500 to $9,000 a year for city councillors.

The mayor's salary would be increased in $5,000 increments Jan. 1, 1987 and Jan. 1, 1988.

The city council raises would go into effect Jan. 1, 1987.

School committee salaries would be increased from $100 to $200 per month.

Council President Stephen McGrath said that he would reserve comment until the budget was before the council.

The mayor's salary was increased from $25,000 to $40,000 in January, 1984, said McCauley.

But the amount was still less than that of many city department heads under him would earn as of Jan. 1, 1987, said McCauley, and lower than that of a number of mayors in other cities.

McCauley said that nine positions in general city government average $49,078, twenty eight school department positions average $45,977 and 98 individuals in the Police Department earned over $40,000 during calendar year 1985.

"Mayor is a full time position," said McCauley. "We have to effect an increase in salary to keep in line with the people he supervises."

"The gap over city employees earning over $40,000 is widening."

"I think the raise is reasonable, and we can afford it in the City of Quincy," he said.

McCauley also noted that the city council has many responsibilities, and that he favors the school committee raises as well.

Former Quincy School Supt. Lawrence Creedon was charged with the alleged rape of a woman in Quincy. A second man was also being sought.

Creedon pleaded innocent at Quincy District Court to charges of rape and indecent assault and battery on a person over age 14.

The sentence for the first offense was a maximum of 20 years, and for the second offense, five years, according to Police Capt. David Rowell, Chief of Detectives.

Creedon was released on personal recognizance and was to return to Quincy District Court in April for a pretrial conference.

He had been arrested by Detectives Thomas Healey and Russell Miller outside his Viden St. home when the alleged incident reportedly took place.

Police were acting on a complaint by a woman who said she was picked up by the two men in Boston's South End.

Creedon resigned as school superintendent in July, 1984, as the Quincy School Committee was proceeding to investigate sexual misconduct charges brought against him by a high school student and two former students. He denied the charges.

The City Council voted unanimously to appropriate $19,500 for a study of the Quincy Police Department.

Councillor Richard Koch, Jr., who had suggested the study, said he was looking forward to positive results.

Mayor McCauley said he didn't plan to act at that time on the suggestion of Councillor Michael Cheney that a computer consultant be hired to review problems the Data Processing Department had encountered.

Cheney was referring to errors in parking tickets, commercial property tax, real estate, and W-2 forms which had occurred recently.

McCauley said he did not consider the problems to be major.

Acting Fire Chief Carl Valenti asked the assistance of North Quincy residents in helping investigators track down the person or persons responsible for setting a series of fires in the city.

The city learned it would receive a $3,757,648 net increase in state aid in fiscal 1987.

General Dynamics would have a good chance of selling the site for reuse as an industrial park or redevelopment as an industrial park or a mixed use complex, according to a study done for the corporation by Temple, Barker, & Sloan Inc.

The probability of attracting a single major industrial user was not considered likely, however, the study stated.

Spring began and the city had only spent about half of its $300,000 snow removal budget.

The School Committee voted 5 to 2 to reopen the Wollaston School and create a 10th school district to ease overcrowding at the elementary level.

But Mayor McCauley, who voted against the proposal as did School Committee member Mary Collins, said the committee would have to come up with the $300,000 to $600,000 needed to renovate the school which was closed in 1982.

"I feel that it's not necessary at this time to reopen the school," McCauley said.

Anthony (Tony) Siciliano, described as a man who had given Quincy 18 years of dedicated service "from the heart" was honored as The Quincy Sun's first "Citizen of the Year."

Plymouth State College's senior All-American halfback Joe Dudek of North Quincy was presented the ECAC Div. 3 New England Player of the Year Award for the second straight year.

Quincy developer Peter O'Connell was presented the "Irishman of the Year" award by the Friends of the Kennedy Library, and Atherton Hough custodian James "Red" Riley was honored as it's "No. 1 leprechaun."

Deaths during March included Getta A. (Mills) Short, 79, operator of the former Dillon Store on Rock Island Cove, Hough Neck; Ruth F. (Crout) White, 80, retired owner and operator of Crout's Bike Shop, Quincy; Rev. John J. Tierney, 74, former pastor of St. John the Baptist Church, Quincy Center; Joseph P. Connolly, 46, the first Boston firefighter to die in the line of duty in five years.

APRIL

"We can save the Quincy shipyard," said Cong. Brian Donnelly during a visit to Quincy.

"It's not going to happen tomorrow, but I think we're starting to see some light at the end of the tunnel."

"For the first time in a long time, the pieces are starting to come together," said Donnelly of the yard which was scheduled to close in the spring.

"We could be building ships by this time next year."

"The yards which survive this decade will prosper in the 1990s."

"The time frame is the most difficult thing."

Some of the pieces which Donnelly referred to involve a state study, work for the yard, buyers, and incentives for shipbuilding.

More questions were raised than answered during an hour long public hearing by the City Council and Planning Board on amending the zoning for General Dynamics by General Dynamics to sell the yard because Industrial B, which allows heavy industry, would not be allowed under PUD designation.

The questions involved whether the rezoning of the shipyard:

- Would hamper efforts by General Dynamics to sell the yard because Industrial B, which allows heavy industry, would not be allowed under PUD designation.

- To what extent the shipyard would have legal nonconforming rights to continue the current use even if it were rezoned.

- Whether the City Council could strike out the Industrial B restriction from the PUD Zoning Ordinance.

Councillor Theodore DeCristofaro said he had proposed the amendment so that the City Council and city would have input into what goes into the yard.

Atty. James Brown, who represented General Dynamics, objected to the proposal.

"General Dynamics believes this to be a well-intentioned proposal, but one which is inadvertently harmful to the future use of the shipyard," Brown said.

The next week, a decision by General Dynamics not to convert the Quincy shipbuilding yard for Navy nuclear submarine repair work drew sharp criticism from union members and disappointment from city leaders.

According to a report, General Dynamics chairman Stanley Pace, in a letter to top Navy officials, rejected the proposal, saying the project would not be profitable because the investment required to qualify the yard for nuclear submarine overhaul work could not be recouped until the late 1990s.

George O'Kane, president of the Local 5 Shipbuilders Union, said he and his union membership were "shocked" over General Dynamics' latest decision.

Meanwhile, businesses like Ma's Lunch, which catered to the shipyard workers, faced an uncertain future.

"It's devastating - like a family splitting up," said Zaida Shaw, manager of the family owned business which opened in 1952.

Taller buildings were opposed at a public hearing on proposed zoning amendments regarding dimensional and height requirements.

The amendments concerned limiting the height of buildings, increasing the area per dwelling unit in Planned Unit Development sites, and increasing the minimum lot area per dwelling unit in Residence D.

No action was taken by the Planning Board or City Council.

City Council President Stephen McGrath formed a special City Council Task Force for review of the Zoning Ordinances.

The council's Finance Committee reviewed the budgets of city departments. It also requested that the mayor review the budget figures to reallocate funds to reopen the Wollaston School after a resolve was submitted by Councillor Patricia Toland.

A $1.1 million loan fund for city businesses was established.

Quincy patients rallied in support for Dr. Archie Keigan of Braintree whose medical license was suspended by the state for "improperly prescribing drugs to 13 people addicted to narcotics in 1980

City Wins Battle Against Jail

(Cont'd from Page 12)

and for not filing required reports and records on cases."

Mayor Francis McCauley and Quincy City Hospital director Mark Mundy flew to Washington to attempt to resolve some unanswered questions regarding QCH's request for FHA insurance.

Five neighborhood youths were arrested in connection with a fire at the Snug Harbor School which caused an estimated $70,000 damage.

A resolve was adopted by the City Council to offer its support to the Quincy legislative delegation in its efforts to have Moon Island removed from final consideration as the site for relocation of the Deer Island Jail.

A 20-year-old Weymouth man, James Quinn, was fatally stabbed during an argument involving a car blocking a street in Quincy Point.

The Mayor's Commission on the Status of Women completed a study on the seriousness of the problems faced by Quincy's homeless.

At least seven people lost a total of nearly $1,700 after responding to ads in local papers and being promised apartments or mortgages from a man who failed to deliver.

Carl Soderstrom of Quincy was named "National Humanitarian of the Year" by the National Association of Letter Carriers for his "numerous actions demonstrating care for needy members of the Greater Boston community."

The Veterans Stadium Lighting Committee started its drive to raise $100,000 by June 15 to have the lights ready for the 1986 Quincy and North Quincy football season.

Deaths during April included Stephen J. Riley, 72, longtime Quincy businessman and real estate broker; Bayard Warren, 72, former part-owner in the Quincy Adams Boatyard; and Edward F. Hanson, 16, North Quincy High School student.

A logical appraisal of the facts as well as a strong showing of opposition by Quincy were cited by local officials as major factors in the governor's decision to site a jail in Boston rather than on Moon Island off Squantum.

"I'm delighted with the governor's selection," said Mayor Francis McCauley. "It makes a lot of sense."

"The Suffolk County Jail should go to Suffolk County, not here in Norfolk County."

"The area on Southampton St., Boston, is available for a jail."

"There was also a strong showing of opposition by the citizens of Quincy."

"The taking by eminent domain of Moon Island (which had been owned by Boston) also sent a clear message to the governor that we were very serious about our opposition."

"We would have continued that opposition had Moon Island been chosen," he said.

McCauley noted that Gov. Michael Dukakis was proposing the creation of a 500-acre economic development district around the Southampton St. incinerator site, with some $40 million in economic assistance available.

He thanked the people of Quincy "who worked so hard to carry a message to the governor about Moon Island."

The mayor also praised the efforts of Rep. Michael Morrissey and Ward 6 Councillor Thomas Nutley, who with McCauley, cosponsored a Citizens Rally in North Quincy against the siting.

"We argued right along that by all objective criteria established by the Secretary of Administration and Finance that the Southampton St. site was the best," said Morrissey, who was present for the governor's announcement in Boston.

Also attending the press conference was Sen. Paul Harold. "Logic and good judgment won out," he said.

Nutley also savored the city's victory.

"I am just delighted that the governor listened to the public input by everybody and had concern for Quincy and the heavily populated area of North Quincy and the impact a prison would have had on us."

Mayor McCauley said he was in the process of forming a task force, suggested by Rep. Morrissey, to control the future of Moon Island.

A five-alarm blaze of suspicious origin caused an estimated $4 million damage to the former Kincaide Building, Quincy Sq.

Officials continued to investigate the cause of Quincy's first five alarm fire since 1962 as the building at 1621 Hancock St. was being demolished by a wrecking crew.

Thirty residents of the 20 apartments on the top floor escaped unhurt, but were left homeless and many businesses lost their inventories as well as their places of operation.

Furniture City, which was to have opened for business soon, and Harry the Greek's, both located on the first floor, were heavily damaged. Kincaide Furniture had gone out of business a month before.

Second floor businesses included Caricatures Unlimited, James Vella, Public Accountant; Lola Kilduff, electrologist; Shipbuilders Workers Union Local 90, Northeast Collection Agency, Kingdom of God Prayer Community and Atty. Joseph Prone.

A portion of the more than $2 million the city received after the sale of 200 Newport Ave. could be used to revitalize the site of the former Kincaide Furniture Building, said Arthur Foley, the mayor's administrative assistant.

The money was repayment of a $1 million UDAG grant which was awarded in 1984 and was to have been paid back over 15 years. It also included such things as interest and a share of the profits which were part of the agreement.

The final ship, the Sgt. William R. Button, was christened by General Dynamics Quincy Shipbuilding Division, a month before the 102-year-old yard was scheduled to close.

"We will watch her go with sadness, knowing that a great era is coming to an end," said Gary S. Grimes, General Dynamics corporate vice president and general manager.

Meeting behind closed doors at Quincy Vocational Technical High School, about 70 salaried workers at General Dynamics Shipyard overwhelmingly voted to contribute toward a $100,000 study of the feasibility of a worker buy-out of the yard.

The action cleared the way for the study to be done for the state by the Industrial Cooperative Association of Somerville.

The City Council voted to impose a limit of 110 feet above grade for buildings built in the city, as part of an amendment introduced by Mayor McCauley in January.

It also increased the square feet per dwelling unit in areas zoned for Planned Unit Development from 250 to

Mayor, Council Raises Voted

(Cont'd from Page 13)
1,000. The mayor had proposed 2,000 square feet.
The $54 million Presidents' Place project took a major step forward in two areas.
The first was the end of an era with the closing of the Bargain Center, a landmark in Quincy Square for 49 years, which was to be included in the project.

The second was approval by the City Council for the city to apply for a $780,450 Massachusetts Community Development Action Grant for revitalization improvement projects related to President's Place.

The city Council passed a $91,962,245 budget which included raises for the mayor and council. Councillor Joseph LaRaia attempted to block the raises.

The council made only two cuts totalling $55,000.

Judge Gordon A. Martin, Jr., in Quincy District Court found probable cause against former Quincy School Supt. Dr. Lawrence P. Creedon and Dennis M. Anderson of Boston.

The plea pleaded innocent to rape and indecent assault and battery charges in connection with the alleged rape of a woman in Creedon's home. The case was sent to the Grand Jury.

City Councillor Richard Koch, Jr., who moved to Cape Cod, said he would serve out his two year term.

Building Inspector Allan MacDonald said he would retire from his position after 35 years with the city.
Everything from old lead-based paint to a .32 caliber handgun were brought to the city's first Household Hazardous Waste Collection Day.

City Clerk John Gillis received the James R. McIntyre Award at the annual Law Day ceremonies at Quincy District Court.

Brian Donahue of Quincy signed as a free agent with the New York Jets and participated in their rookie mini-camp.

Deaths during May included Winfred A. Shattuck, 94, who was the youngest power engineer in the state when he was first employed by the former Eastern Massachusetts Street Railroad Co. of Quincy; Mary C. (McNamara) Sweeney, 70, a retired clerk at Quincy District Court; William J. Dillon, a U.S. Marine veteran of the Vietnam War and a Spanish translator in the Kennedy administration; Valentino Coletti, 81, a retired auto mechanic and owner of Coletti Auto Repair.

JUNE

"If everything falls into place, we could be back in operation in January," said George O'Kane, president of Local 5 of the Shipbuilding Workers Union at General Dynamics Quincy Shipyard which had closed recently.

"I'm really optimistic," said O'Kane. "All of a sudden, the momentum is moving in our direction."

"We had a good turnout Sunday (at a union meeting in which a worker buyout of the yard was discussed)."

explained O'Kane.

"People seemed positive in approach, and they wanted us to go ahead with the feasibility study."

"We were competing with some heavy stuff, the Celtics game, but we had a good turnout of upwards of 600 members."

"The House Committee on Merchant Marine and Fisheries voted to accept an amendment, offered by U.S. Rep. Gerry Studds, to a 'Build and Charter' bill authorizing $852 million for construction of new naval vessels."

Studds' amendment included passenger vessels to be used in coastwise trade, which are the likeliest candidates for contracts at the Quincy shipyard, within the category of vessels eligible for funding under the bill.

"That's a step in the right direction," said O'Kane.

"And the state came across with funding (for the feasibility study)."

"Now our only problem is finding shipbuilding."

O'Kane was among several union officials who travelled to Washington, D.C., to seek help with a federal program that provides government assistance for domestic ship programs.

Developer Thomas Flatley was among the other business people who expressed interest in buying the shipyard.

Plans for the $8 million addition and renovation of the Quincy Police Station at Southern Artery and Sea St. were presented by the architects to the City Council's Public Safety Committee.

Architect Martin Kretsch of DiNisco and Kretsch, showed a scale model of the station with a basement and three floors.

The addition would be located at the current front of the station, and the entrance would be moved to what is now the back of the building, he said.

Below ground parking for police vehicles would be located on the Broad St. side of the building, according to Kretsch.

Plans called for the location of the entrance as far away from the busy intersection of Southern Artery and Sea St. as possible, he said, and for the continuance of the architectural tradition of the city, including the use of granite.

The construction would be in two phases, each expected to take about a year, and plans were expected to go out to bid at the end of the year, he said.

Councillors Thomas Nutley and Patricia Toland said they were concerned about the appearance of a blank wall facing Southern Artery.

"That's something we can work on in the next several weeks," Kretsch said.

Plans were also announced for an eight-story building with two levels of underground parking, one floor of retail space and 90 to 100 rental units at the site of the former Kincaide Building in Quincy Sq.

"This should provide a much needed shot in the arm for the area," said Mayor Francis McCauley who arranged a meeting with one of the owners, Barry Goldman, at City Hall where the plans were announced.

Goldman said that he was concerned about the recent talk of taking the site (by urban renewal), according to McCauley, and told those at the meeting that he wanted to work with the city to produce a building on the site which would be good for the owners and in the interest of the city.

Mayor McCauley said that he would veto a City Council order regarding density in Planned Unit Development areas because he felt it was not adequate.

And if his veto was not overridden by the council, McCauley said he would introduce stronger measures.

Council president Stephen McGrath urged the mayor to use $340,000 in surplus personnel funds in existing departments to help fund the proposed reopening of the Wollaston School.

McCauley, who had opposed the reopening, said McGrath's request was "somewhat surprising and discouraging."

"The city still has a way to go before the free cash account has an adequate balance as a hedge against unforeseen expenses," he said.

The mayor was among a group of Quincy officials who visited Washington, D.C., to seek federal funds for the cleanup of Boston Harbor and Quincy Bay.

McCauley also joined about 150 mayors of major U.S. cities in San Juan, Puerto Rico, for a conference to reaffirm positions on federal responsibilities in cities.

Kenneth F. Johnson, Jr., 26, of Squantum, was appointed to succeed Allan F. MacDonald who was retiring as building inspector.

Ward 1 Councillor Michael Cheney considered the closing of the Palmer Pub, a trouble spot in Adams Shore for a number of years, as boding well for the future of the area.

Bernard Cardinal Law visited Quincy to attend St. Anthony's Festival Mass at St. John's Church, Quincy Center.

North Quincy's Joe Dudek received a big welcome in Colorado when he signed with the Denver Broncos.

Back in Quincy, M.L. Carr, a member of the Boston Celtics for six years, brought his "M.L. Carr Challenge: Stand Tall Against Drugs" program to Broad Meadows Middle School.

The Quincy Bowling Little Loop held its 32nd and last dinner at the Montclair Men's Club because the league was disbanding due to difficulty in finding available alleys.

The Houghs Neck 350th Birthday celebration opened with an awards day at the Atherton Hough School.

Deaths during June included J. Vincent Smyth, superintendent of Quincy cemeteries and former Ward 6 City Councillor; Dr. William S. Altman, 83, former chief of radiology at Quincy City Hospital; Joseph R. Nolan, 69, a member of the Pearl Harbor Survivors; Martha L. (Birchby) Boyden, 79, descendant of Capt. ## Ground Broken For $57 Million Hospital Facility

Ramsden Jr., 62, general executive director of the South Shore YMCA in Quincy; Edward P. Walsh, 95, an usher for the Boston Red Sox who did not miss a home game in 12 years; Kent Osborne, 41, vice president of operations for Boston Gear Co. of Quincy; Dorothy J. (Dinegan) Flate, 76, a kindergarten teacher at the former Thomas B. Pollard School for 19 years.

JULY

Groundbreaking ceremonies were held for the $57 million replacement facility at Quincy City Hospital.

Mayor McCauley took part, as did the QCH Board of Managers, city, state and federal officials.

The project was scheduled to replace approximately two-thirds of the buildings and patient beds at the hospital.

The new facility would contain 180 medical/surgical, 14 intensive care, 20 pediatric and 20 mental health beds. The majority of the 234 beds in the new facility would be in single rooms with private toilet facilities.

In addition, 25 hospital departments would also be housed in the new buildings, including emergency department, laboratory, EEG, EKG, respiratory therapy, rehabilitation medicine, pharmacy, social service, communication services, admissions, security, central sterile supply, housekeeping, the chapel, education center and materials handling.

Construction was scheduled to start in August, and to take approximately 36 months to complete.

Following approval by the QCH Board of Managers and the Quincy City Council, Mayor McCauley had signed a final bond issue of $60.2 million to pay for the new project which also included purchase of capital equipment to update present and new patient services and programs.

QCH was the first public hospital in the United States to receive Federal Housing Administration Mortgage Insurance which insured the bonds and has the lowest interest rate ever achieved through the program.

General Dynamics Quincy Shipyard extended its deadline for proposals from Aug. 15 to Sept. 30, after requests by the employee buyout committee. Mayor Francis McCauley, Sen. Paul Harold, Rep. Thomas Brownell and others.

The extension would allow the employee committee extra time to complete a feasibility study due Sept. 15, on whether or not to submit a proposal.

"The steering committee is very, very pleased," said George O'Kane, president of Shipbuilding Workers Union Local 5. "It would have been a very bad move if they sold the yard before we could have submitted a proposal."

According to Evelyn Murphy, General Dynamics spokesperson, no date had been set for a decision on the sale of the shipyard.

To date, 76 brokers, 41 developers, 30 industrial users and eight consulting firms with interested investor clients had shown an interest in the yard, she said.

The City Council voted 7 to 2 to override Mayor McCauley's veto of a council order regarding density in planned unit development areas.

Councillors Richard Koch, Jr., and James Sheets were the only ones to vote against overriding the mayor's veto of an order which increased the square feet per dwelling unit in PUD areas from 250 to 1,000.

"I hope the council will scrutinize each individual PUD and be extremely cautious in granting permits," said McCauley.

Areas zoned PUD must apply to the City Council for a special permit.

The J.F. White Contracting Co. of Newton said it hoped to begin filling Swingle's Quarry, West Quincy, within the next four to six weeks, according to Quincy's Public Works Commr. Paul Anderson.

Anderson had met with officials of J.F. White after he expressed displeasure with the company which was hired several years ago to fill in the quarry.

The company began draining the quarry in May, 1984, in search of the body of Paul Gooch, 17, of Brockton, who died in June, 1983, after jumping into the water from a 50-foot ledge. His body was never found.

J.F. White had drained the quarry but it had since filled again with 60 to 80 feet of water from rain and springs.

Quincy officials enlisted the aid of Cong. Brian Donnelly in their effort to get federal funds to clean up Boston Harbor and Quincy Bay.

The state Ethics Commission cleared Mayor McCauley and aides of any wrongdoing relative to real estate transactions after he took office in 1982.

The commission conducted an investigation and ruled they violated no conflict of interest laws by investing in millions of dollars of real estate.

McCauley named seven people to a task force to control the future of Moon Island.

A three-alarm fire of suspicious origin destroyed the W.C. Canniff and Sona Monument Co. at 84 Penn St., West Quincy.

Asians or Pacific Islanders represented the largest group of non-white people living in Quincy, according to a race and language report submitted by the city to the state.

More than 10 people who filed complaints with the Attorney General's office against a man who took money to find apartments and low interest mortgages and then failed to deliver learned they apparently wouldn't be getting their money back.

A $780,450 state grant was awarded to Quincy for area improvements to the $54 million Presidents' Place planned on the site of the old Bargain Center.

Park Department personnel worked with school department employees in an attempt to remove extensive graffiti discovered at the Ruth Gordon Amphitheatre and sections of the roof at the Pageant Field Pavilion.

Officials from American Cablesystems and the New England Sports Network went to U.S. District Court in Boston to seek a temporary restraining order to stop four Quincy bars from receiving satellite signals without paying the local company a fee.

Construction Up $84 Million, Shelter Still Sought

(Cont'd from Page 15)

AUGUST

Quincy's shelter for the homeless hoped to find a permanent home of its own at the current site of the Registry of Motor Vehicles, Broad St., Quincy Center.

The registry was requesting proposals for the lease of some 7,600 square feet of office space in Quincy.

If the registry was successful in finding a new location, the Interfaith Sheltering Coalition intended to talk with the mayor about renting the city-owned building as a shelter and occupying it by next January or February.

"There is a strong possibility of locating a permanent shelter for the homeless at the Broad St. site," said Mayor Francis McCauley.

"Quincy owns the building. The Registry is a tenant at will.

"Its lease expired a couple of years ago, and they're looking at different locations.

"The coalition has expressed an interest in the location if the registry decides to leave," he said.

According to McCauley, the Registry pays $40,000 a year in rent to the city.

The Registry must remain in Quincy, according to the law, but needs more office and parking spaces, McCauley said.

"Everything is very much contingent on the registry getting a new location," he said. "We don't intend to ask them to leave."

The registry has unsuccessfully searched for a new location before, McCauley noted.

McCauley said that if the registry does move, and an agreement is reached between the city and coalition, it must be approved by the City Council.

In the past, the council has supported the coalition which was started in March, 1984, and is comprised of 45 churches, seven social service agencies and many individuals.

Estimated construction in Quincy for the fiscal year almost tripled over last year's figures reflecting what Planning Director James Lydon called a "building boom."

"We've come a long way," said Lydon, referring to the building department's year and report whose figures indicate there was more construction in Quincy for fiscal 1985-1986 than in any other year so far.

Estimated construction costs increased over $84 million from last year to this year. In fiscal 1984-1985, $47,552,410 was the total for estimated construction. The figure is $132,172,186 for fiscal 1985-1986.

"For the most part, success in this area is due to Quincy's efforts way back in the early 1980s to foster a construction boom which today has resulted in the lowest rate of unemployment that we've ever had," said Lydon.

Figuratively, Lydon said the city has effectively diversified itself from a past blue collar image.

This move has added over 10,000 new jobs and literally millions in new tax revenues, he added.

Kenneth Johnson, Jr., appointed building inspector two months ago, said that the city's construction growth is due also to the hard work of Allan MacDonald who retired after many years as building inspector.

Johnson added that $31 million of the $84.619,776 increase in estimated construction costs is attributed to the expansion of Quincy City Hospital under the category in his report of "other alterations."

"But that still leaves over $50 million of an increase and that sure is wonderful news for Quincy," Johnson said.

A group of Quincy residents, representing civic organizations in various sections of the city, united and launched a petition drive for 16,000 signatures to curb development density and effect change in present building ordinances.

Mayor McCauley said he was not happy with all of the group's proposals but "could live" with the overall package.

At a press conference, Arthur Chandler, president of the Quincy Citizens Association, said the group was "not opposed to development as such, but any development must not be done at the sacrifice of the quality of life."

The "Save Our Quincy" petition drive would gather as many signatures as possible to support the group's proposal of a height limit of six stories, or 60 feet in all areas, and an increase in the square footage per dwelling unit and business, he said.

Validated parking payments to the city for fiscal year 1986 increased 26 per cent over fiscal year 1985.

The money goes into a revolving accounting for the city's parking division, McCauley said, and would allow two additional people to be hired in fiscal 1987.

About 325 people attended a moonlight cruise held as a fundraiser by the Workers Buyout Committee of General Dynamics Quincy Shipyard.

Sen. Paul Harold said he would meet soon with the governor to coordinate the state's commitment to assist in an employee buyout of the shipyard if the final report on a feasibility study was favorable.

The Rev. Cynthia Edson, minister, and historic First Parish Church leaders expressed concern over possible structural damage when the former Bargain Center was demolished to make way for the proposed

Urban Renewal Plan Delayed

$55 million Presidents' Place nearby.

Acting Fire Chief Carl Valenti said he was not sure how he would find the time to study for the Civil Service exam for chief in March, 1987.

M. Jane Gallahue, 48, a native of Quincy, was named by Mayor McCauley as the city's new health commissioner at a salary of $37,500 a year.

The position had been vacant since the death of Dr. M. Grace Hussey in January, 1985.

The city of Quincy learned that it received $5,759,950 in fiscal 1986 from the Mass. Lottery Commission, an increase of $1,158,165 over fiscal 1985.

Bruins Hall of Famer Bobby Orr stole the show at the Stadium Lighting Committee's all-sports day at Elks Field where $5,000 was raised, bringing the total to over $36,000.

Work began shortly thereafter at Veterans Memorial Stadium on the installation of permanent lights.

Deaths during August included Dr. George A. Molla, Jr., 64, a dentist in South Quincy for 36 years; Carl A. Magnuson, 78, retired director of health services at the Quincy YMCA; George J. Schools, 87, well-known for bringing food to Wollaston firefighters; Mary L. Frawley, 68, past president and founder of the bowling league of St. Mary's Church, West Quincy; Martin P. McKeon, retired assistant director of community affairs in marketing for the MBTA; Catherine M. (Hamilton) Dennis, 73, recipient of the Houghs Neck Community Council's Good Neighbor Award in 1966; Thomas V. Morrissey, Sr., 78, retired personnel director for Quincy City Hospital and former Quincy purchasing agent; Domenic Angelini, 97, the oldest member of the Torre Dei Passeri Club, Quincy; Quincy Police Sgt. Michael P. Barry, 53, recipient of many commendations; Milton L. Saffer, 67, co-owner of Saffer's Auto Salvage for many years.

SEPTEMBER

Architectural concerns by the Citizen's Advisory Committee resulted in delay of presentation to the City Council of the city's urban renewal plan in connection with the proposed $54 million Presidents' Place project in downtown Quincy.

"The Citizens Advisory Committee raised some questions about the architecture," said Mayor Francis McCauley. "We want to be sure the project is compatible with Quincy Sq."

"Before we go forward with the urban renewal plan, we want to be sure we are comfortable with the project and the architecture."

"Instead of Sept. 15, the presentation of the plan to the council will probably be put off until mid-October," McCauley said.

The urban renewal plan would enable the city to take by eminent domain any of some 14 properties near the Bargain Center that are not sold voluntarily by their owners.

The 225,000 square foot project, being planned by Ricciardi Co. of Quincy and Campanelli Industries of Braintree, was scheduled to have retail and office space as well as residential condominiums.

Chairman of the Citizen's Advisory Committee, Leo Kelly said his group was not happy with the design at all.

"We want the project to be more compatible with the historic surroundings," said Kelly.

"The elements are there to make it a very advantageous project as far as the historical significance of the area," Kelly said.

"But we haven't really seen that in the renderings or plans so far," he said.

"One building is very modern, very 'office building' looking. It's not what you'd like to see done."

"The condominium is too overbearing for the historical buildings which surround it," he said.

"Along with providing jobs for people, the project could really be a catalyst for bringing the historical significance of the area together," said Kelly.

Robert DeMarco of Campanelli Industries told the Quincy Center Business and Professional Association that a $40 million annual payroll would be generated by employees and condominium owners at Presidents' Place.

In addition, the retail portion of the multi-use project would produce $8 to $10 million in sales, he said.

An update on the project was given to the group by DeMarco, fellow developer Stephen Ricciardi of Ricciardi Co. and Kevin Shea of the city's Planning Department.

The 40-minute presentation was well-received by the group.

"I can't envision anyone against a $50 million-plus building project which will bring people down here," said QCBPA president Robert Quinn.

Councillor Joseph LaRaia proposed that the mayor consider taking by eminent domain privately owned land on Chestnut St. and turning it into a municipal parking facility to provide more parking for the area.

The proposal was in the form of a resolve which was approved by the council.

Massachusetts Shipbuilding, Inc., a company formed by the Quincy Shipyard Employee Buyout Committee, said it intended to make a bid for the full General Dynamics shipyard property.

"The final reports of the feasibility study show that we are able to bid on the shipyard," said George O'Kane, president of Shipbuilding Workers Union Local 5.

"We feel we have a very good bid. Then it's up to the company (General Dynamics)," said O'Kane.

A preliminary report on the feasibility study stated that by such things as reducing the size of the yard, obtaining wage concessions and selling one third of the property, the shipyard would be competitive.

Mayor Francis McCauley said he did not intend to reopen the process of upgrading for city employees in the Hospital, Library and Public Employees union.

The City Council's Ordinance Committee voted to request that the mayor take such action because some city employees had said they did not receive adequate notification of the process.

"The procedure worked well," said McCauley. "Plenty of notice was given by the union and the city."

that the city's landfill in West Quincy would no longer accept commercial rubbish disposal as of Oct. 6, in an effort to extend the life of the landfill until spring, 1987.

The action, which could be reversed in April, would ensure that the city had adequate space for its household refuse within the legal limits of the landfill, McCauley said.

Council president Stephen McGrath reiterated his call for reopening of the Wollaston School.

Barry Goldman, an owner of the former Kincaide

Building in Quincy Sq., said he would build a 10 story, rather than an eighty story, structure on the site of his burned-out building.

Raises were approved for six department heads. Mayor McCauley announced that Quincy was over $4 million richer in its free cash surplus for 1986.

A cyanide scare at a Quincy drug store turned out to be a false alarm when aspirin tablets thought to be laced with the poison were instead coated with a common buffer.

For the first time in its history, Quincy City Hospital began charging fees for those who used the visitors parking area for an extended period.

Mary Bradford, director of community programs for the Quincy Community Action Organization, was awarded the seventh annual "Citizen of the Year Award" by the South Shore Coalition for Human Rights.

The Pollard School Playground was named the Francis Keegan Recreational Area in memory of the principal of the Pollard School for 13 years.

A memorial museum dedicated to the cruiser USS Quincy was officially opened at City Hall.

Over $10,000 was raised for the James McIntyre Memorial Scholarship after a clam bake at Marina Bay.

A giant parade with five bands, 800 marchers, and costumed characters climaxed Houghs Neck's Summer-long celebration of its 350th birthday.

The Quincy Sun-Gerry Lewis pledge center and telethon committee officially reached and passed its 10-year $1 million goal after the labor day telethon and other events.

The Veterans Stadium Lighting Committee turned on the permanent lights after months of fundraising.

Suntaniquette Motto: 'Making You Look Good'

By DAN CONNELLY

When Joseph Zucco of Stoughton was looking for a second location for his indoor suntanning business, 75 Parkway in Quincy Center seemed a natural.

Today Zucco hasn't regretted that decision he made three years ago as Suntaniquette continues to uphold that industry's motto: "Making you look good is what we do best."

Zucco explained that one of the most important considerations in a tanning environment is to take special care with each client.

"Customers are looking for confidence. I must have confidence in my salon's service," he said.

"Because a lot of people are wary about skin reactions, providing a safe and healthy salon requires careful management and monitoring of the length of a customer's session," Zucco added.

"Now during their introductory visit we explain exposure times. We advise a limited period and then lengthen it, depending upon skin complexion and their wishes. The majority of our customers respect our judgment because they realize we have only their best interest in mind," said Zucco.

His two salons (the other located at 301 North Main St. in Randolph) utilizes only

Joint Venture Bid For Shipyard

the all-time collegiate scoring leader, was one of seven athletes honored as New England Athletes of the Year by the New England Collegiate Athletic Conference.

Deaths during September included Quincy Police Officer Joseph L. McClory, retired Quincy Firefighter Edward Pettinelli, one of four brothers who served in the Quincy fire and police departments; Esther P. (Pearce) Weeden, 84, an officer of the Quincy City Hospital Auxiliary for more than 30 years; Kathryn E. Gunning, 73, Houghs Neck civic leader; William A. O'Connell, 78, Quincy civic leader; Retired Atty. John J. Doyle, Jr., 72.

OCTOBER

A joint venture bid for the 102-year-old Quincy Shipyard was made by the employee buyout committee and a company which would build a $100 million power plant.

Massachusetts Shipbuilders, Inc., a corporation established by former managers and the unions representing the workers of the shipyard, made the bid with Reilly Athy Associates, a private investment group formed for cogeneration energy development to purchase the yard.

The plant would provide power for the city and for private users.

Under the joint venture arrangements, the shipbuilders would establish an employee-owned enterprise that would use 110 acres of the 180 acre shipyard to do ship construction and repair work.

The private energy development group directed by Reilly Athy Associates of 20 Ashbureton Place, Boston, intended to establish a cogeneration station powered by enriched coal on 35 acres.

The cogeneration station would provide local utility companies with electrical power, while furnishing steam to the shipyard and other local industries.

The joint venture agreed to enter negotiations to sell or lease to the Massachusetts Water Resources Authority a portion of the shipyard to be used primarily as a staging area for the construction of new wastewater treatment facilities on Deer Island.

The new shipbuilding corporation, Massachusetts Shipbuilders, would initially focus on Naval ship repair work and would create 300 to 450 jobs. Ship construction contracts currently under negotiation would create an additional 1500 new jobs.

The bid by Mass Shipbuilders was expected but the participation of the other parties was not.

Reaction among local officials to Mass Shipbuilders' bid ranged from some reservations to outright opposition.

There was no consensus reached during the City Council's Environmental Control Commission meeting on the employee buyout proposal.

"We'll have to wait and see," said committee chairman Michael Cheney.

General Dynamics said that it would make a decision on selling the 102-year-old shipyard about 30 to 45 days after the Sept. 30, deadline for bids.

"Every one of the (17) bids is being evaluated on its own merit," said spokesperson Evelyn Murphy.

The City Council voted unanimously to approve a $250,000 appropriation order submitted by Mayor Francis McCauley for the reopening of the Wollaston Elementary School.

The school, which was closed amidst much protest in 1982 due to declining enrollments, was scheduled to reopen in the fall of 1987.

"This has been one of the most emotional issues in my 12 years on the City Council," said Councillor John Lydon. "It means an awful lot to the parents in the area."

"I share the delight that Councillor Lydon expressed, and congratulate the parents for keeping the matter before the mayor's attention," Councillor Patricia Toland said.

City council President Stephen McGrath also praised the "parents working with the City Council and School Committee in a positive way."

Plans to relocate a permanent shelter for the homeless at the city-owned Registry of Motor Vehicles building on Broad St. hit a roadblock.

Mayor McCauley said he learned from John Bradshaw of the state's Capital Planning Department that the registry was talking about redeveloping for a new location in Quincy.

That would mean another delay in the building becoming available, in addition to the four months to a year it would take for renovations to a new registry location.

The registry, which rents its building from the city, had had three locations under consideration after an earlier advertisement, according to McCauley, but apparently was not able to reach agreement with any of them.

"That takes the registry building off the market for a while," said McCauley. "I don't know if it might be resurrected."

Mrs. Nell Slawson of Saville Ave. said she would talk to developers of the proposed $54 million Presidents' Place project about relocating to another home.

Mrs. Slawson had held a mini-protest earlier in the year protesting the possible taking of her home by urban renewal to make way for the project.

State Sen. Paul Harold announced the award of a $236,000 grant to the city of Quincy for engineering and design work for improvements at five major traffic congestion points in Quincy Center.

A spring construction start was planned for the $8 million addition and renovation of the Quincy Police Station and $400,000 construction of a new animal shelter.

Sen. Edward M. Kennedy said Quincy's General Dynamics shipyard was the best in the country, and labeled President Reagan's "Star Wars" policy a drain on the U.S. economy, during a visit to The Quincy Sun.

Officials were investigating the cause of a two-alarm fire in Squantum which claimed the life of a 15-and-a-half month old baby boy.

The State Department of Education signed a lease for another five years at 1358 Hancock St., Quincy Sq.

Dee Dee's Lounge, one of four Quincy bars sued by American Cablesystems and the New England Sports Network, agreed to stop using its satellite dish to receive pay channel programming. The lounge would subscribe to Cable TV instead.

Mayor McCauley signed legislation approved by the City Council establishing a special account for rehabilitation of the sewer system with money contributed by developers. The home rule petition was introduced by Councillor James Sheets.

Over 100 people attended a reception held at new City Hall to welcome Southeast Asians to Quincy and inform them of services available.

The Mayor's Commission on the Status of Women in Quincy suggested that Child Care be established in the schools.

A 25-year-old Quincy woman, Cathleen Leary of 511 Newport Ave., received a heroism award from the MDC for her bravery in pulling a man from the wreckage of a smoking truck after the vehicle he was driving overturned on Quincy Shore Drive.

The Rev. William McCarthy, pastor of St. John's Church, Quincy Center, was selected as the 36th annual "Citizen of the Year" of the Quincy Jewish War Veterans Post.

Gov. Michael Dukakis dedicated the Richard M. Reilly Overlook, in memory of Reilly who was killed by an auto while crossing that street in 1982.

Deaths during October included Lester H. Glasser, 85, of Wollaston, long-time Quincy civic leader, former Quincy deputy taxpayer and contributing writer for The Quincy Sun; Dr. Edward Tinney, 73, former Quincy dentist; James F. Shaw, 65, of Quincy, a retired Quincy High School teacher and a high school football official; Ruth (Stoddard) Asher, wife of the late James D. Asher, owner and founder of radio station WJDA; Gabriel V. Mottla, 77, retired lawyer and law author.

Study Critical Of Police Dept., Finn To Rebut

NOVEMBER

Police Chief Francis Finn said he would rebut a 208-page report which criticized the Quincy Police Department for such things as lack of strong leadership and use of favoritism in assignments.

"We are going to analyze the report and we will rebut it," Finn told The Quincy Sun.

"We will rebut it with our own written report."

The report was conducted under the direction of the Massachusetts Municipal Association at a cost of $19,500 to the city.

It had been suggested by Councillor Richard Koch, Jr. "I hope this will be a constructive, positive step in improving the Quincy Police Department," said Koch.

Mayor Francis McCauley said, "I hope the chief looks at it not as something overly critical of him."

"We've always had a good

FRANCIS FINN

working relationship with the chief and we'd like to work with him in implementing some of the ideas in the study."

The report also criticized the Police Department for:

- Lacking "a cohesive, coordinated management team."
- "An organizational structure which is clumsy and outmoded."
- "Poor utilization of resources."
- "No ongoing program of internal control."

- "Field operations conducted in a routine, traditional and reactive fashion."
- "An unusually high per capita cost of policing."

It offered recommendations to achieve improvements.

Mayor McCauley noted that the report praised the department's juvenile division and detective bureau.

He also said he was considering "bringing people on board" to implement some of the changes.

Finn formed a 16-member committee from within the department to study the report.

One of the committee's first actions was to formally reaffirm the Police Department's intention to seek national accreditation.

Mayor McCauley requested that the City Council approve a $12,000 appropriation order to hire the authors of the report to institute recommendations.

But Finn told the council's Public Safety Committee, "We really want to do it ourselves."

He submitted a 68-page report to the mayor and the council with "examples of actions that will be taken to comply with the recommendations of the MMA."

"We have opted to take a positive approach to the study and present a plan of action that will address not only the deficiencies enumerated by the MMA, but also will enable us to look into every area of our managerial and operational policies."

"We will then bring them into compliance with the most up-to-date in contemporary policing."

The City Council got its first official look at the proposed Presidents' Place project now estimated at $55 million, but the reaction wasn't entirely favorable.

While councillors generally favored the project, questions were raised about the building design, the future of Quincy

Junior College, parking, land taking and power of the council in regard to the project planned for downtown museum.

The urban renewal plan and land disposition agreement were sent to the council's Downtown and Economic Development Committee, chaired by Councillor Patricia Toland.

Quincy residents went against statewide trends in only one of the ballot questions in an election which drew a local turnout of 58 percent, or 26,591, of the city's 45,432 registered voters.

By a narrow margin of 12,796 to 12,004, local residents voted in favor of limiting public funding of abortions.

The rest of the state voted to reject the proposed constitutional amendment.

James Lydon, Quincy's Planning Director for the past seven years, announced that he would step down from that position to work for the Ricciardi Co. of Quincy at double his current salary of $38,726.

Ricciardi said that Lydon, who had worked closely with the Presidents' Place project, would not work on any Quincy projects for at least a year.

Mayor McCauley announced that Richard Meade, a 17-year employee of the Planning Department, would become the city's Planning Director.

Former Quincy School Supt. Lawrence P. Creedon entered a plea of innocent on charges of rape and conspiracy to rape during a brief arraignment in Norfolk County Superior Court.

His case and that of a Boston man, Dennis M. Anderson, were continued to Dec. 5, for a pre-trial conference.

Four Quincy firefighters risked their lives in the dramatic rescue of a 34-year-old North Quincy woman and her three-week-old daughter from a two-alarm fire at their home.

Lt. Paul Daley, Firefighters John Martell, Timothy Pettinelli and Daniel Sullivan saved the lives of Dianna Lentini and her daughter, Paige.

Mrs. Lentini's husband, John, 38, and children Janna, 6, and Alexander, 2½, were able to flee the fire.

City Personnel Director David Smith, chairman of the nine-member Committee for Permanent Location for the Homeless, said it looked "very promising" that the registry of Motor Vehicles would be able to find a new location.

That meant that a shelter for the homeless at the site of the registry could become a reality after all.

Over 70 units marched the 2.8 mile route before an estimated crowd of 300,000 spectators at the 35th annual Christmas Festival Parade in Quincy.

The Planning Board voted unanimously to recommend a proposed amendment to allow industrial B uses in Planned Unit Development areas.

A chemical spill drill was simulated at the Procter & Gamble plant in Quincy Point.

Snug Harbor Court in Germantown was renamed in memory of the late City Councillor "Jim" Crowley.

A section of land off Bellevue Rd., Squantum, was dedicated in honor of the late Quincy Police Sgt. Michael Barry.

Deaths during November included Louise G. Skeels, 93, a former flutist with the New Orleans and Boston Women's Symphonies; Louis C. Tozzi, 76, founding owner of the Knotty Pine Restaurant, Quincy, and Tacia's Restaurant, Randolph; Elvira A. "Vera" Olsen, 92, past president of the Bryan VFW Post Auxiliary.

DECEMBER

The City Council voted unanimously to appropriate $8,900 towards implementation of recommendations in a largely critical Police Report.

The appropriation, which was reduced by the council from $12,000 to $8,900, will go towards hiring some of the authors of the report as consultants, but any implementation will be done by the Police Department.

"I'm very happy that it's settled," said Police Chief Francis Finn.

"Now we can get on with the business of addressing the report, and at the same time, move towards our stated goal of national accreditation."

Finn said.

The 9-0 vote came after council president Stephen McGrath added an amendment to the appropriation order introduced by Mayor Francis McCauley.

It specified that the Massachusetts Municipal Association, under whose direction the report was done, would serve as consultants to the Quincy Police Department and any advisory committee appointed.

"Any implementation of recommendations will be by the Chief of Police, the chief executive officer of the Quincy Police Department," stated McGrath's amendment.

The question of who would implement recommendations in the report was a bone of contention with the Police Department which wanted to do the work itself. Several city councillors backed the Police Department's request.

McGrath said that he held two meetings with Finn and his command staff as well as the mayor to clear up any misunderstanding over what services the MMA would provide.

"We were able to assure Chief Finn and his staff that the MMA involvement would not be as a watchdog which would take over the Police Department implementing the report," McGrath said.

Chief Finn said after the meeting that "the attitude in the department is very good."

"Everyone is excited about the opportunity to go along with this."

Mayor McCauley said he expected to meet in mid-January with the consultants who will help implement recommendations in the report.

An 87-page report recommending "major changes" in the city's zoning ordinances was submitted to council president Stephen McGrath by the Task Force: Zoning Review-1986" which he created in April.

Task force members are City Councillors Thomas Nutley, chairman; Patricia Toland and Michael Cheney, Gregory F. Galvin, Planning Board member and Richard Meade, Planning Director.

"The changes are highly significant, major changes," said Councillor Toland.

Among the highlights, according to the members are:

- Requiring an affirmative recommendation of the Planning Board and the issuance of a special permit by the Zoning Board of Appeals to allow multi-family residences and mixed use of a building within Business A, B

Raiderettes Win Christmas Tourney

By TOM SULLIVAN

The North Quincy girls' basketball team, following a big overtime victory over previously undefeated Revere, the top team in the Greater Boston League, won the North Christmas Tournament last Saturday with a 39-32 win over Weymouth South in the title game, for Coach Paul Bregoli's 80th win in seven years.

The Raiderettes had defeated Weymouth North, 38-30, in the semifinals, while Weymouth South just got by Quincy, 53-50.

North Quincy improved to 5-0 and Bregoli's hopes of going into the Suburban League schedule with a 6-0 record would be fulfilled with a win yesterday (Tuesday) over Somerville.

The North girls open the league season Saturday at Brookline at 12:30 and will host Brockton next Tuesday night at 7:30.

As far as Bregoli is concerned, the tournament was anti-climactic after a thrilling win over Revere. The Raiderettes appeared to have a letdown after that game and sputtered in both tournament victories.

In the title game Weymouth South had a 7-6 edge after a quarter and held onto a 17-16 edge at halftime. North took a 29-25 edge into the final quarter but Weymouth took a 30-29 lead with 6:15 left in the game.

North's defense tightened, not allowing another Wildcat basket until the final 41 seconds. Nancy Flukes, named the tournament MVP, took control and scored six of North's final 10 points.

Flukes finished with 13 points, eight rebounds, five assists and five steals. Anne McGuigan, who also had a fine tournament, had 11 points.

In the semifinals North Quincy pulled out to a 9-0 lead, keyed by the playmaking of Marybeth Maloney and Lisa Mitton had a basket and several rebounds after McGuigan went to the bench with two quick fouls.

North extended its lead to 23-13 at halftime but the Maroons quickly cut the gap to three points behind Colleen Quinn, who ran off seven points in a row. Flukes and McGuigan widened the lead to 33-24.

Flukes had 16 points and eight rebounds, Maureen Donovan had nine points and five steals, Koski had four points and four blocked shots and Nancy Leonard had a fine game.

North received a total effort in the 57-56 overtime win over Revere.

North took an early 14-11 lead thanks mainly to the offense of McGuigan and Flukes. Tricia Koski had a big three-point play.

Each team was sloppy in the second quarter with many turnovers. McGuigan had the only basket but the Raiderettes hit on seven of nine foul shots.

Revere took an early third quarter lead with five straight points and took a 36-31 lead into the fourth quarter. Revere held the lead until midway in the quarter but two baskets by Donovan and four points by Flukes tied it at 44-44. With 1:46 left Revere went up by two but a 15-footer by Karrie Pistorino tied it. With a minute left North again was down by two but Donovan tied it at 48-48 with 31 seconds left to send the game into overtime.

Revere took a 56-55 lead when Pistorino was fouled and made the first shot. Donovan rebounded the missed second shot and was fouled and calmly sank the front end of the 1-and-1 to give North the pulsating victory.

McGuigan led all scorers with a career-high 19 points, hitting on seven of eight free throws, and had 10 rebounds. Flukes scored 16 points and had eight rebounds, Donovan had nine points and Pistorino six.

"Our Revere win was really big and the tournament was almost an anti-climax," said Bregoli. "We seemed to play only as well as we had to in the tournament. Everyone who played (11 or 12 in each game) contributed something. Our bench did a nice job with Rita Rooney, Deirdre Murphy, Patty Feeney, Kellene Duffy and Lisa Mitton all playing well."

In addition to Flukes, who was named MVP for her 29 points, 16 rebounds, eight assists and seven steals, McGuigan was named to the all-tournament team.

QUINCY PATROLMEN Joseph Murphy, left, John Kelly Jr. and Stephen O'Brien finished the recent 11th annual 26.2-mile Marine Corps marathon in Washington, D.C. It was O'Brien's first marathon, Murphy's second and Kelly's third.

North Defeats Quincy In Christmas Tourney

The North Quincy boys' basketball team snapped a three-game losing streak when it defeated Quincy, 66-55, last Saturday night in the consolation game of the Weymouth North Christmas Tournament.

North improved its record to 2-3, while Quincy fell to 0-5.

Host Weymouth North won the championship, edging Weymouth South, 45-44.

Joe DeGrande paced Ed Miller's Raiders with 20 points, Bob Sylva scored 17 and Mike Ainsley and Ted Stevenson scored six each.

For luckless Quincy Steve Austin had 18 points, Tom Logan 11 and Steve Davis nine.

In the semifinals last Friday North Quincy lost to Weymouth North, 67-56, as the Maroons jumped off to an 18-5 lead before the Raiders cut the gap to 31-24 at halftime.

Ainsley paced North Quincy with 14 points and Sylva scored all 10 of his points in the first half.

Weymouth South had no trouble getting by Quincy, 65-35, as Logan led the Presidents in scoring with 13 points.

Earlier in the week Revere had defeated North Quincy, 65-60, the Raiders being outscored, 19-4 at the foul line.

Sylva scored 19 points.

Dave Lawless had 16 and Stevenson 15, while Jim Phelan played a strong defensive game.

Malden topped Quincy, 68-63, as fouls plagued the Presidents, who lost three starters on fouls. Malden capitalized, hitting on 14 of 16 foul shots. It was 58-58 with less than four minutes left but had to finish without Austin, who had 19 points, and Logan, who had 14.

Saturday night North Quincy will host Brookline at 7:30 and next Tuesday will be at Brockton at 7:30.

Quincy will be home to Waltham Tuesday night at 7:30.

North Swimmers Win 3rd Straight

The North Quincy swim team improved its record to 3-0 in non-league meets as it easily defeated Dedham, 108-61, last week.

Bill Walker's Raiders will open their Suburban League season next Tuesday at Newton North. Next Thursday, Jan. 8, they will host Framingham South at 6 p.m. at the Lincoln-Hancock School pool.

Eric Giordano scored more than 180 points in diving for the third straight time, helping him qualify for post-season tournament action to spark North Quincy. He won with 185.3 points.

Fred Cawthorne was a double winner for the Raiders, winning the 200-yard freestyle in 2:16.4 and the 500 freestyle in 6:19.

Other North winners were Jason Moriarty, 100 breaststroke (1:15.2) and the 400 freestyle relay team of Ralph Willard, Bill Earley, Erik Gustafson and Derek Borek (4:59.6).

Placing second were Bradley Waltermire, 200 freestyle and 100 freestyle; Moriarty, 200 individual medley; Matt McCusker, diving; Brian Ramos, 100 butterfly; Chris Burke, 500 freestyle, and David MacKay, 100 backstroke.

Taking third places were Paul Nitschke, 200 freestyle and 500 freestyle; Ramos, 200 individual medley; Burke, 500 freestyle; Michael Iacobacci, diving; Willard, 100 butterfly; Borek, 100 freestyle; Harry Towle, 100 backstroke, and John Donlan, 100 breaststroke.

North Looking For Offensive Punch

North Quincy's hockey team, which missed the Suburban League championship by a single point the past two years and has been in the state tournament three years in a row, has lost three straight games following an opening night victory over Revere.

The Raiders were shut out in two straight games.

Kevin Jago's North team will host Medford Saturday night at 7:50 at the Quincy Youth Arena and will play at Peabody at 4 p.m. next Tuesday.

Following successive shutouts at the hands of Somerville (6-0) and Greater Boston League powerhouse Arlington (1-0), the Raiders dropped a 4-3 squeaker to Everett last Saturday.

Mark Zimmerman had two goals and Jay Rodriguez one. Matt Furtado had three assists and Billy Dineen one.

North turned in a fine performance against Arlington but could not overcome a early score, despite an excellent 32-save performance by goalie Brian Mahoney.

Blue-liner Paul McGrath played tough defense throughout the game.

North's defense had a tough night against Somerville and Jago shifted Furtado, one of the Raiders' top scorers, to defense.

Quincy's hockey team, hoping to rebound from a 3-15 season, is off to another slow start and took an 0-3 record into this week's games.

Bob Sylvia's Presidents will play at Peabody Saturday at 6 p.m. and Monday will host Revere at 6:10 at the Quincy Youth Arena.

Last Saturday's scheduled game with Malden at the Youth Arena had to be called off due to a large crack in the ice. Officials decided it would be dangerous to allow the game to be played. It will be rescheduled at a later date.

In their previous game the Presidents lost to Everett, 6-3, despite a fine effort by goalie

Greg Chambers, who was peppered with 40 shots. Everett jumped off to a 4-0 first period lead and Quincy couldn't quite come back.

Paul Scola, Joe Cotter and Bryan Taylor had Quincy's goals and Adam MacGregor had two assists.

Earlier Quincy lost to perennial Greater Boston League power Arlington, 7-1, despite another good performance by Chambers, who had 32 saves.

Scola scored the lone goal for Quincy to tie the score at 1-1, but Quincy's defense couldn't stop Arlington's forwards, who continually skated in on Chambers.

George Peachey's Quincy freshman team was defeated by Somerville, 5-1, in its opening game. Quincy fell behind, 4-0, early, but played Somerville on even terms after that.

Steve Sumpter scored Quincy's goal with Joe Derry assisting. Fred Regan and Craig Galligan played well in goal after Somerville's fast start.

A year ago Quincy couldn't have a freshman team as only one freshman reported. This year the team has a 15-game schedule.

the top with a 6-0 win over Newcomb Farms. Tom Sullivan had a hat trick and Mark Smith, Mike Smith and David Rowell a goal each. Brian Beaton had two assists and Jeff Spear, Jim Cassinelli, Jim Kelley and David Doherty one each.

Balducci's topped Rogan Hennessy, 8-4, as Mark Regan had a hat trick, John Holler and Eric Wood two goals each and John Barron one. Bill Barron had three assists, Matt Watkins and Kevin Regan two each and John Barron, Holler and Bruce Stenberg one apiece. Tom Moriarty scored twice and Sullivan and Barrett one each for Rogan. Barrett had two assists and Bartkus, Cooper and Ray Laverty one each.

The standings: Quincy Surgical 4-2-2; BoCar, 4-2-2; Rogan Hennessy, 4-4-2; Balducci's, 3-2-2; Lydon-Russell, 3-3-2; Newcomb Farms, 3-4-0; Harold, 2-6-0.

• Executive Hockey

DiMattia Blocks Penalty

Shot For Sailmakers Win

Goalie Ralph DiMattia made a fine play in blocking a penalty shot with one second left in the game to preserve a 4-3 victory for DiMattia's Sailmakers over South Shore Bearing in Executive Hockey League action at the Youth Arena.

Skip Manganaro, Jim Conso, Jim Connolly and Mark Matanes scored for DiMattia's with assists for Ed Lenihan, Manganaro, Rich Gibbs and Connolly. Jack Aldred, Steve Dymant and Frankie Guess scored for South Shore and Charlie Chambers had an assist.

Artie Boyle had a hat trick and his dad, Art, had a goal and two assists as Beacon Sports defeated Bob White's Place, 8-5. Kevin Jago, Joe Verlicco, Jamie Pontromoli and Mike Jago scored the other goals. Kevin Jago and Chuck Behenna had, two assists apiece and Pontromoli, Art Boyle and Verlicco one each. # Quincy Girls Bow To Both Weymouths

The Quincy girls' basketball team, which upset Malden earlier in the week to make its record 2-1, didn't fare as well in the North Quincy Christmas Tournament last weekend, losing both its games to Weymouth North and South.

The First Ladies will play at Waltham next Tuesday at 5 p.m.

Quincy made a fine showing in the tournament opener but lost to Weymouth South, 53-50, a big fourth quarter rally just falling short. Trailing, 42-30, after three quarters, Quincy outscored the winners, 20-11, in the finale but ran out of time.

Gayle Morrell, who had an outstanding tournament and was named to the all-tournament team, paced the First Ladies with 22 points and added eight rebounds.

Quincy appeared to have things under control in the consolation game as it led, 8-0, after one quarter, but things began to come unglued as Weymouth North's pressure defense forced many turnovers.

Leading, 19-16, going into the fourth quarter,

Quincy was held to seven points while Weymouth scored 15 for the 31-26 win.

Morrell had 11 points and Julie Coste contributed six.

Quincy earlier had defeated Malden, 40-33, as Gayle Morrell scored 15 points and pulled down 17 rebounds while twin sister Patti had nine points and eight rebounds.

Trailing by five points with three minutes left, Coste hit two jump shots to help Quincy pull ahead. Ginny Duggan had a fine game and had five steals, three in the final quarter.

Kiwanis Hockey Tourney Set For Feb. 16-22

The 14th annual Quincy Kiwanis International A Level Youth Hockey Tournament will be held Feb. 16-22 at the Quincy Youth Arena.

The AHA-sanctioned games will feature teams in the Squirrel, Pee Wee, Bantam and Mite divisions for a minimum of three games.

Teams already registered come from New York, Canada, Rhode Island, New Hampshire and Connecticut as well as greater Boston and the South Shore.

For information, contact Beverly Reinhart at the Quincy Arena 479-8371.

Proceeds from the annual event help to support the many charitable activities of the Quincy Kiwanis Club.

Phelan Familiar Name At North

Phelan has been a familiar name in North Quincy boys' basketball with four brothers captaining the Raiders.

Jim is the current North captain and he was preceded by Jed, the first of the four, who is the new North freshman coach. Jed was followed by Bill "Wink" and John. Now Jim is the last of the line.

"I think this is unprecedented around here," Coach

Eddie Miller said. "Jed, Wink and John were all fine leaders and excellent players and Jim fits into the same mould. I am going to miss having a Phelan around."

Woodward School In Shoot-Out

The Woodward School will participate in the Boston Celtics Easter Seal Basketball Shoot-Out Jan. 19.

The statewide event, sponsored by Zayre and co-sponsored by Ch. 56, will raise funds for Easter Seal services for people with disabilities.

Kevin McHale of the Boston Celtics is honorary chairman of the event and will present autographed Celtics basketballs to the statewide winners at the Celtics game March 20.

Each student participating in the shoot-out will ask friends, neighbors and relatives to pledge a specific amount for each basket he or she makes. During the event, students shoot baskets for a three minute period and then collect money for Easter Seals based on pledges received.

All proceeds from the event are used to fund Easter Seal services for people with disabilities. These include therapeutic swim programs, stroke clubs, an equipment loan program and Easter Seal Home Health Care.

• Bantam House

Burgin Widens Lead

Burgin Platner extended its Bantam House League to four points by defeating Johnson Motor Parts, 4-0, while runnerup Quincy Sun bowed to Doran & Horrigan, 7-2.

Scot Curtin, Armando Mancini, Steve McInnis and Chris Lewis scored for Burgin and Jeff Connor and Curtin had two assists apiece and Bob Loughlin and McInnis one each.

Ken Staskyewicz, Jamie Tapper and Rich Keddy had two goals each and Duane Keegan one for Doran. Staskyewicz had three assists.

Jim McCarthy two and Brian

Mantville, Scot Flaherty and Tapper one each. Darren Murphy had both the Sun goals and Mickey Dunning had an assist.

The standings: Burgin Platner, 6-1-0; Quincy Sun, 4-3-0; Doran & Horrigan, 3-4-0; Johnson Motor, 1-6-0.

• Pee Wee House

Keohane's Moves Up

Keohane's moved to within one point of UCT in the Pee Wee House League with a 7-2 victory over Colonial Federal while UCT was upset by last place Bersani Brothers.

Mike Christopherson had a hat trick, Chris Connor two goals and John Bertrand and Chris McCallum one each for Keohane's. Bertrand, John Jarnis, Billy McCallum, Sean Hynes, Chris McCallum and John Gladd had assists. Sean Vermette and Shane Young scored for Colonial and Matt O'Toole and Jimmy Smith had assists.

Kevin Mantville had two goals and Mark Gilmore, Joe Zona and Sean McCarthy one each for Bersani and Scott Wysocki, Zona, McCarthy, Steve Keddy and Sean McArdle had assists. David Mullen and Aidan O'Donoghue scored for UCT and Mark Walsh had an assist.

The standings: UCT, 6-3-1; Keohane's, 4-2-4; Colonial Federal, 3-4-3; Bersani, 3-7-0.

YMCA Sponsoring Vermont Ski Trip

The South Shore YMCA is sponsoring a weekend ski trip to Smuggler's Notch, Vermont, for youth, ages 12-17 years for the weekend of

Jan. 30-Feb. 1, at the "Three Mountain Lodge."

The fee of $140 includes two nights lodging, food and hot chocolate upon arrival on Friday night, two breakfasts, one dinner, transportation to and from Smuggler's Notch. For registration information call Bob Quigley, Youth Director, at 479-8500.

Central Presents Christmas Musical

"The Gift," a Christmas musical by Roger Emerson and Richard Derwingson, was presented recently for two evening performances at Central Middle School.

It was under the direction of Mrs. Marion Clancy, vocal teacher.

Seventy-two students performed in the play. Fifteen band members accompanied the show under the baton of Bernard Goldstein. Classes 6-1, 6-2 teachers Patricia Drew, Mrs. Jeanne Healy, and James Piccini did the scenery. Mrs. Mary Scheiss, photographer, and a seventh grade English teacher did the publicity photos.

The plot of the musical concerned the plight of a disadvantaged family at Christmas and what a middle school group of students did to help them have a happy Christmas.

Leads, and soloists were Dean Morris, John O'Connor, David Ziolkowski, John Drohan, Erin Twomey, Sarah Goodman, Brian Hayden, Steven Parsley, Irene Luts, Regina Murphy, David Thompson, Joel Campbell, Judy Goodman, Pauline Lam, John Jarnis, Shana Cobban, and Jana Cocio.

CHORUS LINE of Christmas Elves were a high point of Central Middle School's show, "The Gift."

DAVID ZIOLKOWSKI and the chorus sang "I Am The One" at Central Middle School's Christmas musical, "The Gift."

MUSIC MAKERS during Central Middle School's Christmas show, "The Gift," were clarinets, Jeannette Currie, Alison Hurley, Maureen Cully, and flute, Carrie DiTullo.

'Camcorder Workshop' To Be Held Jan. 10

The Quincy Recreation Department and the Quincy Community Television Council will co-sponsor a special "Camcorder Workshop" Saturday, Jan. 10.

City Recreation Director Barry J. Welch said:

"The camcorder is the latest photography rage, and many families are expected to receive this item as Christmas gifts. Through the efforts of the Community Television Council and director Ed Fiddler, a basic course of instruction has been developed in an effort to assist the many new owners in the basic principles of operation of this equipment. Common problems and techniques as well as questions from the operators will be included in this program. There seems to be a very strong need for this type of activity to expand the growth of camcorder use as a hobby."

The program will be conducted from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. at the community television studio of American Cablesystems, 81 School St.

Quincy. Registration will be via telephone either at the Quincy community television office at 471-9609 or the Quincy Recreation Department at 773-1380, ext. 204. Advance registration is required and enrollment will be limited.

There is a $10 registration fee which will be refunded if a participant wishes to produce a piece for airing on community ch. 3. Ed Fiddler, program director, and the Quincy community television staff will instruct at the workshop. Additional information can be obtained by calling either 471-9609 or 773-1380, ext. 204.

Jim Pansullo Honored By St. Margaret's Hospital

Jim Pansullo of Quincy, noted radio and television reporter was honored by St. Margaret's Hospital, Dorchester, with the 1986 Caritas Award.

The presentation was made yesterday (Wednesday) at the hospital's annual Caritas Award Dinner at the Charles River Country Club.

The award, originated by St. Margaret's, is given annually to an individual who has demonstrated an outstanding commitment to strengthening family life, and whose own professional career represents the highest standards of integrity.

Pansullo, who presently works for WEEI-News Radio in Boston, has held a lifelong interest in medical and health related issues.

program called "The Candidate" he and his co-host, noted cardiologist, Dr. Roman DeSanctis, won the prestigious Blaksley Award for best radio program concerning the heart.

The dinner, sponsored by the Women's Auxiliary of St. Margaret's, brings together people from within the hospital community, as well as many friends and supporters outside the hospital.

The auxiliary has been active over the years in raising money via special events for the hospital. Members volunteer many hours throughout the year by providing assistance in a variety of ways throughout the hospital.

In 1975, following a heart attack, Pansullo turned something of personal interest in to a professional achievement. In a special state-of-the-art sunlamps which transmit a process that is the key to safe tanning.

Suntaniquette Motto: 'Making You Look Good'

"We also supply fully developed, success-oriented products that contain a formula which triggers the natural tanning response and primes the skin for deeper, faster tanning," he added.

Suntaniquette is strategically positioned across from the Ross Parking Garage. This is ideal because it can accommodate customers who want to shop in downtown Quincy stores prior to or after a suntan session.

To appeal to the clientele the salon decor and customer amenities were emphasized prior to our opening, he said.

"Here at Suntaniquette we are well prepared to field customers' questions regarding the intricacies and latest technology of indoor tanning," he added.

One of the most important considerations in any tanning environment is cleanliness. This is quite evident in the six rooms, equipped with lay-down beds, and controlled from a front desk monitor, to guarantee safety.

Tabled in the salon corridor is a console (it looks like a large television set) but instead is a face tanner.

Many of Zucco's customers, who are planning ahead for a vacation in Florida or Aruba, come to Suntaniquette for a good base. This avoids burning on the beach and gives you a great vacation.

Suntaniquette's high-performance can be simplified in time: One half hour session is equivalent to slightly over three hours basking in a hot sun on the beach.

So if you have not yet experienced having an indoor tan why not surrender yourself to getting it the easy, safe way at Suntaniquette, whose hours of business are from 9 a.m. to 8 p.m., five days a week. On Saturday they close at 4 p.m.

"By providing evening hours," Zucco said, he "can offer clients tanning at their own convenience, not ours."

O'Brien Named To Hospital Board

Mayor Francis X. McCauley announces the reappointment of three members of the Hospital Board of Managers and an appointment to fill the unexpired term of board member Lawrence O'Donnell who resigned in October.

Reappointed to five year terms on the board were John W. Kane, 164 Atlantic St., David B. Macintosh, 293 Whitwell St., and Mrs. Gertrude Buckley, 22 Doane St.

Kane was appointed to the board by Mayor McCauley in January, 1982.

Macintosh, originally appointed to the board by Mayor Joseph LaRaia in 1977, was reappointed to a second five-year term in 1982 by Mayor McCauley.

Mrs. Buckley was appointed to the board in May, 1985 to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Mrs. Rosemary Wahlberg.

McCauley appointed William J. O'Brien, 162 Elliot Ave., to fill a vacancy on the board. His term will expire on the first Monday in January 1990.

O'Brien is the president and chief executive officer of the Olympic International Bank and Trust Company of Boston.

A graduate of Christopher Columbus High School and Bentley College, he is married and the father of four children.

Faiella's Insurance 'All In The Family'

Faiella's Insurance at 146 Washington St., in Quincy, is truly all in the family.

Pamela Faiella, 23, of Abington started it all in July 1984, when she opened her own agency. Soon after brother Paul joined the firm. Both had grown up in an insurance atmosphere. Dad, Louis Faiella of Quincy is a veteran employee with the state Insurance Commissioner's office.

"The past two calendar years have been good," said Pamela. "Not only has business prospered but the firm won a trip to New Hampshire and topped that with a fishing trip to Mexico in insurance-related competitive programs."

Pamela, who proudly admits to "loving this business despite the many headaches affiliated with it," has the zeal to succeed and the credentials to prove it.

Her career in the business began when she clerked part-time in an agency while attending high school. After graduation, she worked full time with firms in Quincy, Brockton and Braintree.

This on-the-job training prepared her for eventual business independence. And when Paul decided to follow in his sister's footsteps, "I was tickled pink. He's good at it and has the correct personality and keen mind to succeed," she said. Right now Paul is studying to obtain his broker license.

While the insurance business is sometimes described as on the top of this country's list of hard to understand professions by us lay people, it is essential to the well being of the individual, business world and government.

"So the only way to stay ahead of the game," says Pamela, "is to keep yourself updated on the ever changing state and national insurance rules and regulations by attending seminars and taking courses."

Pamela, who is knowledgeable in her field, speaks before numerous insurance functions. She also has integrated her firm in a number of worthwhile community projects.

One of those endorsed this past fall was a high school Most Valuable Player of the Week Award in football. Participants in this program included both Quincy high schools and surrounding community schools.

A player was selected each week for his outstanding performance and presented a trophy and certificate after each game.

As the firm faces the New Year its policy will continue; providing assurance they will render positive insurance needs to the community, said Pamela.

Building Permits Issued For City's Biggest Project

and C districts.
• Recommending an increase in square feet per dwelling unit in Residence B, C and Planned Unit Development.
• Reducing the height limitations for buildings.
"We want to make improvements in Quincy, and we need controls," said Cheney.
"It's time to slow down and take a good, hard look at where we are," said Nutley.

The first two building permits were issued for Crown Colony Place, West Quincy, the largest project in the city at some two million square feet.

According to Building Inspector Ken Johnson, the first building permit was issued to Linpro Companies for a five-story, 125,000 square foot office building at an estimated construction cost of $4.5 million.

Another permit for a three-story, 40,000-square-foot office building at the site at an estimated cost of $1.7 million was issued to Bay State Milling Co. for use as its office headquarters, according to Johnson.

Johnson said that he did not know when building construction would start, but noted that the permits must be used in six months.

The project is being planned by the Musaid Al-Saleh family of Kuwait on the site of the Old Colony Crushed Stone land off Centre St.

Nell Slawson, the Saville Ave. home owner who was fighting any move to acquire her property to make way for the proposed $55 million Presidents' Place, appeared to have won a major battle, if not the war.

Developers of the Quincy Sq. project, the Ricciardi Co. of Quincy and Campanelli Industries of Braintree, decided to build the project around Mrs. Slawson's home, according to Mayor McCauley.

McCauley explained that Mrs. Slawson and the developers had been negotiating to find her a comparable home in the area, but had not met with success.

Meanwhile, three orders relative to the project in downtown Quincy were referred to the Downtown and Economic Development Committee of the City Council.

While city and state officials continued their look into allegations concerning the construction of Captain's Cove Condominiums on Southern Artery, some councilors said the inquiry might hinder approval of President's Place.

Both projects, the $55 million condominium and commercial complex, in Quincy Center and the 303-unit Captain's Cove on Southern Artery are being developed by the Ricciardi Co. of Quincy.

The council voted to refer to its ordinance committee for proper advertising the proposed rezoning of General Dynamics Quincy shipyard site from Industrial B to Planned Unit Development.

The council also voted in favor of an amendment to allow Industrial B uses in Planned Unit Development areas.

Mayor McCauley said he was optimistic that the city's credit rating would be raised after visits to two financial rating firms in New York City.

A two-alarm fire at 321 Washington St. caused an estimated $70,000 damaged and forced seven tenants to flee the apartment-commercial building.

Quincy officials formally turned over a stretch of Willard St. in West Quincy, termed one of the city's busiest and most dangerous roads, to the MDC which promised an extensive traffic enforcement effort.

Residents urged speed traps for Palmer St. in a survey initiated by Ward 1 Councillor Michael Cheney.

The City Council paid tribute to four firefighters, 1.

Paul Daley and Firefighters Daniel Sullivan, John Martell and Timothy Pettinelli, who made their way through flames and thick smoke to save the lives of a woman and her daughter in a fire.

Mrs. Alice Scribner, 75, of Quincy Center, was installed as the first woman commander of the Quincy Veterans Council.

Phyllis Berlucchi of Adams Shore was appointed dog officer.

Several hundred Quincy families were assured of a happier Christmas thanks to the generosity of clubs, organizations and residents who dug deep to help the needy.

A plaster figure of the Christ Child, stolen from the creche in Hancock Cemetery, was returned in time for the celebration of Christmas.

"I'm glad someone had the heart to bring it back," said Richard Koch, Sr., executive director of the Park, Forestry and Cemetery Departments.

"It's not just the figure-it is what it represents."

Deaths during December included George A. Wilson, 88, retired Quincy High School principal; John J. Quinn, 63, a 24-year member of the Quincy City Council; J.

Edward Grindle, 56, past chairman of the Snug Harbor Residents Committee; Wilho A. (Jake) Ahola, 62, former co-owner of Ted's Home Bakery, West Quincy; Lois (Quintilian) Damon, 31, co-owner of the Dairy Mart Store in Braintree where she was murdered; S. Reginald Strillechuk, 65, retired advertising salesman for the Quincy Sun; Dante A. (Dan) Pettinelli, 71, retired Quincy police detective; Samuel Wakeman, 78, who managed four shipbuilding facilities for Bethlehem Steel, including the Fore River Shipyard, Quincy.
